Voters Debate School Resource Officer Article

The warrant article that would add funding for a school resource officer elicited considerable debate at Monday night’s town deliberative session. It was one of the few articles that attracted any comment from the public.

The session attracted 63 residents.

It was not the dollar amount of article 8 that garnered discussion but whether the position should be part time or full time.

Resident Kathy Wagner asked why one budget committee member was opposed to recommending the article, and Budget Committee

School Board to Amend Security Article to $170,000 at Deliberative

JAY HOBSON LONDONDERY TIMES

In its review for the second time of a proposal geared to increase school safety, the School Board heard from School District Business Administrator Peter Curro that the district had come up with a $213,000 plan that did not add to the tax rate.

Currently placemarked at $1, the school safety warrant article, article 10, was presented at the previous week’s board meeting with a price tag of $475,000.

The board met Tuesday night, Jan. 29, to continue its discussion of school safety concerns that have arisen since the shootings at Newtown, Conn.’s Sandy Hook Elementary School, and warrant article 10, which would fund renovated entrances, cameras and other safety additions in Londonderry schools.

School board member Leitha Reilly had expressed concerns at the earlier meeting that a $475,000 price tag might cause the measure to fail, and asked if it were possible to look at solutions that would be less costly. The Jan. 29 meeting was called to discuss that topic.

Curro’s reduced proposal was the result.

The $213,000 figure will be funded by absorbing some of it in the current budget, amending Articles 7 and 9 downward, and absorbing $20,000 in the operating budget.

According to Curro, the communications aspect, at $43,000, would include cell and landline phone enhancements, radio enhancements and installation of panic buttons.

Enhancements to building access would include installation of a card access system district wide and the installation of door monitoring systems this summer, for a cost of $170,000.

Curro said the $43,000 for communication would

Juster, Saur Honored at Town Deliberative Session

JAY HOBSON LONDONDERY TIMES

Following an a cappella rendition of the National Anthem by Rising Harmony - a Londonderry High School group composed of Cailey Blatchford, Erin Conti, Steph Conti and Rachel Hanson - Volunteer of the Year and Citizen of the Year honors were awarded Monday night at the opening of the town’s Deliberative Session.

Volunteer of the Year honors went to Assistant Moderator Bob Saur, who according to presenter Tom Dolan, is a Trustee of the Trust Fund, the assistant town and school moderator, a member of Londonderry Trailways and the Master Plan Steering Committee, and devoted worker with the Boy Scouts and a former member of the Lions Club.

Citizen of the Year honors went to Londonderry High School English teacher Steve Juster, with the award presented by Town Council Chairman John Farrell.

“[This award goes to someone who has been] longstanding in the community, has been an educator for 32 years, been mentor for students and faculty, coached girls soccer and tennis, was very much involved in drama club and master of ceremonies at pep rallies,” Farrell said. “He’s the one that brought Pantene Beautiful Lengths for hair cutting, and I understand they set a record this year, and he’s been involved in the Granite State Challenge.”

Farrell quoted Londonderry High Assistant Principal Art Psaledas, “I think the best way to state his (Juster’s) importance to the school is by simply stating that he is the heartbeat of Lancer Nation. He manages through his interactions with students, his teaching, pep rallies, and has increased the student spirit tenfold, actually creating what we now call Lancer Nation. Mr. Steve Juster is to Londonderry High School what Bob Dylan is to music lyrics - he’s the man.”

Fire Chief Kevin MacCaffrie, who is retiring, was also honored.

“...I’d like to thank all the men and women of the Londonderry fire department for supporting me and especially, it’s been my honor and privilege to serve the citizens of Londonderry for the last five years in the capacity of fire chief,” MacCaffrie said. “I wish you well, and I know the fire department I’m leaving will continue to take care of every one of you with heart and soul.”

Recognized for past service on the Budget Committee were Martin Suguin and Richard Dillon, and for their work on the Conservation Commission, George Herrmann and Ken Henault.

Also honored were: Dan McLeod and Deanna Mele for their work on the Dog Park Committee; Brian Farmer and Elizabeth Lee for their work on the Londonderry Arts Council; Warren Jennings for his work on the Manchester Airport Authority; Don Moskowitz for his work on the Southern New Hampshire Planning Commission; Gail Moretti for her work on the Solid Waste and Environment Committee; Matthew Newman for his work on the Zoning Board of Adjustment; and for their work on the Dispatch Service Study Committee, Steve Chasin, Ed Nolan, Brendan Burns, John Velliquette, Bradley Osgood, Steve Young and Lisa Whitemore.

Bob Saur, right, was awarded Volunteer of the Year by the town at Monday’s Deliberative Session. The award was presented by Town Councillor Tom Dolan.
The fourth annual Teacher Talent Show at Londonderry High School showed off some of the school faculty’s lesser known skills.

English teacher Steve Juster was Master of Ceremonies at the Thursday evening, Jan. 31, event, held to raise money for the school’s Math Club.

Judging the contest were four members of the school’s Community Service Club: Anthony Ferrara, 18, Colleen Kennedy, 18, Tyler Mitchell, 17, and Meghan Kelly, 17.

The festivities were opened with the singing of the National Anthem by a cappella group Rising Harmony, featuring Cailey Blatchford, Erin Conti, Steph Conti and Rachel Hanson.

Economics teacher Casey Roop opened the contest with two original songs, played on an acoustic guitar. Roop was followed by the band Simplicity is Genius, with Carl Downing playing bass and Jeff Allard.

The next few songs were hard rock, and had the audience bobbing heads along with the beat. Camera flashes gave the darkened cafeteria a concert hall strobe appearance.

Teachers Amity Ferraro, Scott Milne, and Matthew Smith were accompanied by Brad Humpherys on guitar as they sang the Taylor Swift song “We Are Never Ever Getting Back Together,” to applause and shouts. This group was judged the eventual winner.

Guidance Counselor William Prince brought back memories of the ‘60s as he played electric guitar, donned a harmonica holder and accompanied himself on keyboard. Shouts and applause followed his performance as well.

The last act of the evening featured “The Hip Hop Line” dancers, met by the cheers of their student audience.

In a raffle held that evening, Corey Lamalva, 14, won a watch and Farrah Ashe, 17, won a high definition video camera, and in a gag raffle, Brianna Burns won the opportunity to take an extra final exam.

An added feature of the evening was an art show featuring the talents of teachers in various media. Paintings, photographs and woodworking pieces were on display.

According to math teacher Mike Wenger, who organized the event, approximately $500 was raised for the Math Club.

Being Prepared

In the past few weeks, we’ve had almost everything a New Hampshire winter likes to throw at us.

We’ve had a heavy snowfall, black ice, frigid temperatures, lots of days with no snow, and 50 degrees and sunny. And let’s not forget the high winds, which provided the usual falling trees and tumbling power lines.

But the snow flurries on Super Bowl Sunday created a pretty scene nevertheless – especially as the gathering flares covered up the brown leaves left over from autumn’s leaf fall and empty garden beds. It was a brief reminder that nothing’s much more scenic than a New England winter.

We get a bit of everything here, and we learn, or should learn, to be prepared for that dose of everything when it comes. In the current break in heavy weather, it’s a good time to make sure our preparedness levels are where they should be – because we hear that snow is on the horizon once again.

That means stocking up on batteries, lamp oil, extra bottles of water and food that doesn’t require cooking, as well as a battery-operated radio and, when possible, a working generator. Power outages thankfully have not been frequent in recent months, but they have come to be a fact of life in New Hampshire, and a professionally wired in generator – ready for the next blackout that is sure to come – will go a long way toward making things comfortable when power lines are down.

Because as sure as New England weather is unpredictable and extremes are likely, as sure as we’re going to have to be prepared for sub-freezing nights followed by unseasonably warm days, we’re going to get the unexpected.

Regardless of what Punxsutawney Phil saw or did not see last weekend, it’s still winter. So use this season of changes to make sure your emergency supplies are up to date and ready to use. Keep them in a handy place, fill the generator and oil lamps, and be ready for whatever Old Man Winter hands out. It doesn’t take much effort to keep your supplies up to date. Making sure flashlights work and generators have gas when you know a storm is coming is just common sense.

And when winter is just a memory and we’re enjoying the summer sunshine, don’t pack away those emergency supplies. Because, as we all know, wind and electrical storms are part of a New England summer as well.

Woodmont Commons

To the editor:

I am writing to hopefully get the attention of the citizens of Londonderry. You should be aware of what the Woodmont Commons project is. If not, come to the Planning Board meeting on Wednesday, Feb. 13, at 7 p.m. at the Town Hall.

I can tell you at the meeting I attended last month there is so much at stake here that will affect everyone, no matter where you live in town.

What do you think of at least two roads coming out of the project onto Gilcrest Road? Don’t think it can’t happen – it is on the site plan and was confirmed to me by the Woodmont Commons team.

If you ever use this road to come and go to Route 102, you must think this could not have been well thought out. Well, neither do I.

It is almost impossible to exit from existing homes to get onto Gilcrest except maybe on Sunday morning.

This is only a very small issue and there are many, many more. Get involved before it is too late. You will be paying for this long after the project is completed.

To the editor:

Melanie Packard was awarded the American Red Cross (ARC) Certificate of Merit ‘for selfless and humane action in the saving of a life.’ “The highest award given by the American Red Cross to an individual who saves a life by using skills and knowledge learned in an ARC health and safety services course,” signed by President Obama.

L-Town Garage made a $1,000 donation to Pan-Tene Beautiful Lengths – a lot of money for a small local business.

Sandra Lagueux was recognized for her work with the Trailways project.

We have a fabulous community in Londonderry of community and civic-minded people. It’s nice to recognize some of these accomplishments publicly every now and then!

Ski Team Support

To the editor:

The Londonderry High School Alpine Ski Race Team needs your help.

The Alpine Ski Team was started six years ago to give skiers with racing skills, and those who wanted to acquire those skills, the opportunity to compete against other high schools in the disciplines of slalom and giant slalom. The team has been run as a club and has been self-funded since the winter of 2007. The progress that has been made by the coaches and athletes in establishing themselves as a competitive team and the steady growth of the club since 2007 demonstrate there is support for the programs becoming a fully funded varsity sport within the Londonderry school system.

What is the varsity ski team? Do they race against other schools? These are some of the questions the team has faced over the past six years.

The high school ski team works to turn skiers into racers. Part of the philosophy is to help racers reach their highest potential within the sport of alpine skiing, and acquire strong fundamental skills and good sportsmanship. For some athletes the ski team is their only high school sport.

The Alpine race team has been funded as a pay to play sport since 2007. The first year a booster club was created to aid in transportation and individual needs. First priority was to raise money to buy racing rifles. This eliminated the need to borrow from other high school teams.

Over the years the booster club would address the needs of the team through various fundraising. The Londonderry Gate Chasers booster club also provides scholarships to seniors who meet the academic criteria set by LHS.

The racers focus on learning the skills needed to compete in slalom or giant slalom. Slalom is a shorter technical course with lots of gates and tight turns; giant slalom is set with gates further apart and is a faster and longer course. Both are thrilling to compete in and require significant training on and off the mountain.

Physical, mental and athletic conditioning is a must for ski racers to excel. Some of Londonderry’s racers have continued their racing into college, including the U.S. Air Force Academy ski team in Colorado.

The LHS varsity ski team has steadily improved in a very competitive division 1 slate of ski programs. Against 16 teams the girls ranked third (beating Pinkerton Academy) in 2012. Over the continued on page 5

Chairman Dan Lekas said it was personal opinion.

Resident Don Moskowitz asked if the school resource officer would be stationed, and Police Chief William Hart responded that if he had two resource officers, the new one would be deployed at Londonderry Middle School, while if there were a third, he or she would work at the three elementary schools and at Moose Hill Kindergarten.

Moskowitz suggested that the school resource officers could be rotated among all schools and that administrators in the schools be armed at that time. Assistant Moderator Bob Saur struck the gavel, however, and reminded Moskowitz and those present that their comments had to stay focused on the article being discussed and not on implementation.

School Board member Nancy Hendricks spoke in favor of the article and said she was “exceptionally pleased” to see it on the 12 ballot.

School Superintendent Nathan Greenberg thanked the council and the police chief for proposing the article and said it was appropriate and would provide additional safety to the schools and students.

Town Council Chairman John Farrell reminded the residents that the money was not in the budget because it would put the budget over the default amount; as a result, it is presented as a warrant article.

Discussion centered on the part-time versus full-time status of the resource officer and amendments were submitted to make the officers part time, but failed due to lack of a second. Resident Al Baldasaro withdrew his second when he learned the police chief, as part of his job, controls the hiring of officers and determines the full-time status of his employees.

Also amended was article 13, which now asks voters to take $20,000 from the general fund to conduct a zoning ordinance audit. The amendment was offered by Arthur Rugg and seconded by Mary Wing Soares, and was approved. The original article asked voters to raise and appropriate $20,000.

Article 2, $200,000 for the Expendable Maintenance Trust Fund and $150,000 of the June 30 Fund Balance toward the appropriation; article 3, the operating budget of $27,525,281; and article 4, to raise and appropriate $710,000 for the Capital Reserve Fund and authorize the June 30 fund balance in the amount of $400,000 toward this appropriation, were moved to the warrant without debate.

Article 5, to establish a Capital Reserve Trust Fund for future equipment replacement at the Cable Access Center of $100,000, and to authorize the use of the June 30 fund balance for this purpose, attracted some debate. Mary Wing Soares made a motion to increase the amount to $250,000, seconded by Bob Napolitano, but the motion failed after Drew Caron, Director of Cable & Technical Operations, said he could make do with the $100,000 figure.

Farrell also assured residents that any needed town service would be funded, i.e. if something were to malfunction and was necessary, the town would find a way to fund it.

Also moved to the warrant without debate were Article 6, to raise and appropriate $490,423 from the police outside detail for police outside details and funded from users of police outside detail services; article 7, to raise and appropriate $2,661,129 for defraying the cost of construction, payment of the interest on any debt, management, maintenance, operation and repair of newly constructed sewer systems; and article 9, to approve cost items in the collective bargaining agreement between the town and Londonderry Executive Employees Association.

Finally, article 10, to approve the cost items in a one year extension of the collective bargaining agreement between the town and the AFSCME 3657; article 11, to authorize the town to hold a special meeting if articles 9 or 10 is defeated; article 12, to raise and appropriate $500,000 to be placed in the Road Maintenance Trust Fund and to authorize the use of the June 30 fund balance in the amount of $250,000 towards this appropriation, were sent to the warrant and unchanged and undebated.

And article 14, a citizen’s petition to raise and appropriate $227,000 to fund the paving of one mile of the Rail Trail in North Londonderry created by Londonderry Trailways, was sent to the warrant unchanged.

Voters will decide on the warrant articles, including article 1, election of town officers, March 12.

Only Two Contested Races

The deadline to file for public office for the Town and School District closed at 5 p.m. Friday, Feb. 1. Candidates are as follows:

• Town Council, two three-year seats: incumbents Tom Dolan and John Farrell.
• Budget Committee, two three-year seats: Mark Aronson and Ted Combes.

School District Deliberative Session Friday at LHS

Jay Hobson
Londonderry Times

The Londonderry School District deliberative session takes place Friday, Feb. 8, at 7 p.m. in the Londonderry High School cafeteria.

Article 1, election of officers, will be voted on March 12. The following articles will be up for discussion at the deliberative session:

- Article 2 asks voters to raise $4 million for renovation and construction for all buildings in the district as deemed appropriate, and authorizes the issuance of not more than $4 million in bond and the appropriation of $410,000, the first bond payment.

- Article 3 asks the voters to raise and appropriate an operating budget of $66,052,167 for fiscal year 2013-2014. If the budget is not approved, the default budget of $67,129,706 will go into effect. The estimated tax impact of the operating budget is $12.97 per thousand. The default budget tax impact is $13.30 per thousand.

- Article 4 asks the voters to accept federal grants and other funds to support the school lunch program and federal program and appropriate such funds in a special revenue fund that includes the lunch program at $1,408,482 and federal projects at $1,495,500, with those funds self-supporting through federal, state and local revenue sources. The estimated tax impact is zero.

- Article 5 asks voters to raise and appropriate $300,000 to be placed in the School Buildings and Maintenance Trust Fund. The intended use of the funds is for major one-time capital costs for district facilities, including roofs, paving, boilers and small renovations. The estimated tax impact is 9 cents per thousand.

- Article 6 asks voters to, according to RSA 198:4-b, allow the school board to retain year-end unassigned general funds in an amount not to exceed, in any fiscal year, 2.5 percent of the current fiscal year’s net assessment pursuant to RSA 198:5, for the purpose of having funds on hand to use as a revenue source for emergency expenditures and over-expenditures under RSA 32:11:1 to be used as a revenue source to reduce the tax rate.

- Article 7 asks voters to create under RSA 35:1 an Equipment Acquisition and Replacement Capital Reserve Fund for the purpose of acquiring buses, vehicles and large capital equipment. The fund would be known as the Vehicle Capital Reserve Fund. Further, the article asks voters to have the school board as agents to expend and to appropriate $200,000 to be placed in the fund. If approved, the school board would be agents to expend the fund and to authorize the use of the amount from the June 30, 2013 unreserved fund balance, available for transfer on July 1, 2013. The estimated tax impact is 6 cents per thousand.

- Article 8 asks voters, under provision of RSA 35:1, to raise and appropriate $46,000 to create a vehicle and large equipment capital reserve fund for the purpose of acquiring buses, vehicles and large capital equipment. The fund would be known as the Vehicle Capital Reserve Fund. However, the School Board intends to amend this article at deliberative session to $100,000 (see story page 1).

- Article 9 asks voters, under RSA 198:20-c, Ill, to establish an expendable trust fund for the purpose of maintaining health insurance funds for the benefit of employees and retired employees of the school district, to be known as the Benefits Trust Fund, and to raise and appropriate $50,000 to be placed in the fund and to appoint the school board as trustees of this fund, and to authorize the use of that amount from the June 30, 2013 unreserved fund balance available for transfer on July 1, 2013. Estimated tax impact is 1 cent per thousand.

- Article 10 asks voters to raise and appropriate by an amount not to exceed $200,000 (see story page 1).

- Article 11, a petition article, asks voters to raise and appropriate $8,500 to establish a varsity ski team at Londonderry High School. If approved, the cost of running the program will become part of the annual operating budget in subsequent years. Estimated tax impact is 1 cent per thousand.

- Article 12 would allow the school board to convey an easement over property at Moose Hill School to Orchard Christian Fellowship (for the construction of a connection to the public sewer line).

Dyslexia is an impairment in your brain’s ability to translate written images received from your eyes into meaningful language. Also called specific reading disability, dyslexia is the most common learning disability in children. Dyslexia usually occurs in children with normal vision and normal intelligence. Children with dyslexia usually have normal speech, but may have difficulty interpreting spoken language and writing.

Dyslexia is characterized by a delay in the age at which your child begins to read. Most children are ready to learn reading by kindergarten or first grade, but children with dyslexia often can’t grasp the basics of reading by that time. The cause of dyslexia seems to be a malfunction in certain areas of the brain concerned with language. The condition frequently runs in families.

When your child is young, prior to entering school they may exhibit signs including talk-talking, adding new words slowly or difficulty rhyming. Once your child begins to read, most children are ready to learn reading by kindergarten or first grade, but children with dyslexia often can’t grasp the basics of reading by that time. The cause of dyslexia seems to be a malfunction in certain areas of the brain concerned with language. The condition frequently runs in families.

Children with dyslexia need individualized tutoring. Treatment for dyslexia often involves a multisensory education program. Emotional support of your child on your part also plays an important role.

be paid with current budget appropriations and article 10 would be amended to $170,000.

He also noted that Article 7, the small equipment article at $200,000, would be amended down to $100,000, and Article 9, the Benefit Trust article, would be amended down from $50,000 to zero.

Curro said that according to this scenario, that would leave a $20,000 gap, which could be found in the operating budget.

Reilly asked what the change in the tax impact would be, and School Superintendent Nathan Greenberg said that due to the amended articles, there would be no change in the tax impact.

School Board member John Robinson said he liked the plan and it was “spot on.”

Board Chairman John Laferriere added, “I really like the way you’re trying to fund this.”

Greenberg said the plan takes into account Police Chief William Hart’s directive of “layering” the security system.

School Board member Nancy Hendricks said she wanted to be able to see each of the buildings assessed, with that data brought to the school board.

Greenberg responded that the high school and middle school had already been assessed – the high school in 2005 – and the rest of the schools would undergo a threat assessment by the Londonderry Police Department this year.

Curro said future plans include that threat assessment by the police department and school lobby areas addressed based on the threat assessments, and said funding building security would be added to the strategic plan. Continued training and cooperation with the police and fire departments and an enhancement of camera surveillance systems districtwide are also among future plans.

The school board approved the plan unanimously. The article will go to deliberative session at the current one dollar amount and will be amended there by the school board, with a vote taken at that session to replace the $1 with the new amount of $170,000.

In other matters at the meeting:
• State Representative Al Baldasaro, R-Londonderry told the board New Hampshire was the safest state in the country for the last four years. He said one reason for that, when it comes to Londonderry, is that it is home to one of the largest gun clubs in the state, with over 150 members.

“I’m just hoping that before you spend all this money, you really think about it,” Baldasaro said.

In answer to a question by School Board member Steve Young regarding armed employees, Baldasaro said that perhaps teachers who are licensed to carry guns should carry them in school because perpetrators would think twice before entering a school if they knew someone were armed inside and didn’t know who the armed person was.

Londonderry Police Captain Gerald Dussault had addressed the issue of guns in schools at the previous meeting by saying, “I would be terrified to send my officers into a situation where other people were carrying guns inside the school as well as the perpetrator.”

Baldasaro said the police were a good resource, “but they show up after the fact.”

• After the meeting resumed following an interruption caused by a fire alarm set off by burned toast, Curro responded to a question by the board about whether the board could revisit and change its vote after an article were amended at deliberative session. Curro said the board could immediately take a vote to change its acceptance of an article but could not change the amended article, only its recommendation about it.

• Curro told the board he had received a voice mail from School District Moderator John Michels’ wife, who said that for personal reasons, her husband would not be able to attend the deliberative session and thus could not serve as moderator.

Contacted after the meeting, Michels’ wife said her husband is hospitalized with pneumonia, and his illness will prevent him from attending the deliberative sessions on Feb. 4 and 8.

Curro said school district clerk Ron Campo will open the meeting and entreat names for moderator, a nomination and vote would take place, and the person chosen would be the moderator for that night.

Reilly asked about the qualifications for the post, and Curro said the person had to be at the meeting and be a registered voter. The person is not required to know the law.

Curro said Michels has a set of instructions that would be available, and in the past, Bob Saur has served as assistant moderator. He said Saur has been informed of Michels’ absence and is ready to serve as moderator if chosen.

The school district deliberative session is 7 p.m. Friday, Feb. 8, at the Londonderry High School cafeteria (see related article page 6).
Woodmont Commons Meetings Continue Feb. 13

The Woodmont Commons planning team will be meeting with the planning board on Wednesday, Feb. 13, at 7 p.m. in the Moose Hill conference room in the second floor of the new developer's office, which is adjacent to the Woodmont Commons lobby and cafeteria at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 12, with a snow date scheduled for 7 p.m. Feb. 19.

According to Matthew Thornton, Elementary School Principal, Carol Mack, this will be the first year all the elementary schools will be participating together.

“There was some federal legislation that changed the way things move,” Mack said. “We established this wellness committee, so we started a district wellness committee.” Mack said. “So we established this wellness committee about five years ago, and part of that was to have things sort of bubble up from the schools, good, healthy initiatives, wellness incentives, so that’s how it started.”

She said that in the past, the town’s three elementary schools had separate programs but this year they will be joining together.

“Matthew Thornton has done a really good job of putting together a wellness committee,” Mack said. “Lynn Peters has been our chairperson and has done a wonderful job putting it together.”

She also noted the help of parent volunteer Danielle Barrett, a pharmacist concerned with health awareness.

“When you get people who are genuinely excited about wellness, you never know where it’s going to go. It was Danielle who came up with the design of the brochure and the slogan ‘Good Health-It’s Elementary,’” Mack said.

She said that last year many of the kids from the Pay It Forward Club at Londonderry High School helped with the fair. Every year some of the participants donate free items, she added, noting that Cabot Cheese will donate cheese, Coca-Cola will donate water and Stonyfield Farm will donate yogurt. “This year they’re going to have a milk mustache booth and kids will get a milk mustache and have their picture taken,” Mack said.

“We grew out of the space here and the other two elementary schools got excited about what we were doing so we decided to pool our resources and now we’ll be over at the high school lobby and café, so we’ll have room for demonstrations and all the booths,” Mack said.

She noted that a dentist will be handing out free toothpaste.

“The kids will be given clues by the vendors that the kids will have to get at each booth, and will eventually answer a question once all the clues are found. It’s going to be a really fun night,” Mack said.

Elementary School Wellness Fair Set for Feb. 12

The annual Elementary School Wellness Fair will be held at the Londonderry High School lobby and cafeteria at 7 p.m. on Thursday, Feb. 7.

The Famous “Good Health-It’s Elementary” event will be held at the Woodmont Commons, 603 acre property proposed for development as the town’s first Planned Unit Development (PUD). A PUD has its own master plan. According to a draft of the Woodmont Master Plan, open space, transportation and infrastructure conversations may include transportation and infrastructure standards, street type and standards, pedestrian infrastructure standards, and bicycle, street light signage and landscape standards. Maintenance standards include environmental impact mitigation or avoidance.

As of press time Tuesday, Feb. 5, no further information was available. On Wednesday, Feb. 6, after the Londonderry Times went to press, the developers planned to provide a draft of what they intend to include in the Feb. 13 presentation, so that planning board members will have a chance to review the documents and formulate comments or questions for the meeting, and inform the public as well.
Pantene Donors Honored With Gift Cards at Londonderry High

Jay Horson
Londonderry Times

Last month over 170 young ladies and young men donated their hair to providewig makers with real hair for wigs for cancer patients.

English teacher Steve Juster, who has been running the Pantene Beautiful Lengths event at Londonderry High School for the past seven years, said Granite Ridge Energy has been a supporter of the project from the beginning. “Every year Granite Ridge gives a gift card to our donors,” Juster said, noting that this year Granite Ridge’s Karen Beliveau was unavailable to attend the rally. “I thought, ‘oh well, we just couldn’t connect,’ but Karen called and said, we believe in the cause, and she arranged to come and give out these cards.”

And last week, Beliveau was at the school to give out $50 Simon Mall gift cards to the following: Rebecca Wilcox, Coleen Burpeau, Taylor Collins, Sydney Countie, Jacki Geisler, Amy Lagasse, Gillian, Kayo, Caleb Moscoso, Jess Morrissette, Elizabeth Mak, Ana O’Brien, Niki Skov, Juliette West, Shicora Pearce, Lynda Dominguez, Alyssa Fitzgerald, Gemma Caruso, Samantha Gannon, Kendall Pope, and Alicia Fitzmaurice.

After receiving the gift cards, the donors were reminded once again of the special quality they possess to give a part of their comfort level so that others could feel more comfortable during a trying time in their lives.

Gemma Caruso, 16, became emotional as she told of her grandmother in Connecticut, who was diagnosed with an aggressive form of breast cancer last January and died of the disease in November.

Niki Skov donated her hair because her sister donated the year before and Niki cut it. She said she knew that she would donate the next time and she did, 11 inches. She said her grandmother had six forms of cancer and had died.

Caleb Moscoso, 15, who plays tenor sax in the LHS band, planned to cut his hair and decided to wait until it grew long enough to be able to donate at the Pantene event. He was one of the few young men who donated hair.

Juster said the event all started with a pep rally, when he thought, “How could we harness this energy for good?” The Pantene pep rally for hair donations was started, with one young women stepping forward during a rally and donating her hair on the spot. As the years went by, more and more donors have stepped forward.

Top Spellers Fifth grade students Akolam Wambu and Luke Pascarelli came out as the last two contestants from the 20 students competing in this year’s South Elementary School Spelling Bee, held last week. Luke was the eventual winner in the eighth round, spelling “amateurish” correctly.

The Londonderry High School Drama Club presents “Footloose” at the Derry Opera House on West Broadway in Derry Feb. 14 and 15 at 7 p.m., and Feb. 16 at both 2 and 7 p.m. Tickets are $15, and $10 for students, seniors and staff.

Val Psoinos, guidance counselor and Drama Club advisor, said the play was popular in theaters in the 1980s and starred Kevin Bacon.

The story centers around teenager Ren McCormack and his family, who move to a small midwestern town from Chicago. McCormack tries to fit in but can’t believe he is living in a place where rock music and dancing are illegal.

The cast has 42 members.

Katie Aramento, 17, plays Ariel Moore, a troubled teen with a jealous boyfriend. “We have a really talented cast and I think it’s going to be a great show,” she said. “Each role is rewarding in its own way. I’ve been in drama all four years (at LHS) and every year I hope for the best as to what part I get.”

Aramento is no stranger to acting - she’s been on stage since she was 5 and is a member of Nashua’s Peacock Players.

The other female lead is Rusty, Ariel’s best friend, and is played by Amelia Fabiano, 17. “I’ve been acting at the high school for the past two and a half years and it’s really fun,” she said. “I’m also with the Peacock Players and it helps me with the acting I do here. I was in the production of ‘All Shook Up’ a couple of years ago and I knew I wanted to act.”

Brandon Feliciano plays Ren, the male lead in the Londonderry High School student production of “Footloose.” He rehearses with fellow cast members in a song and dance routine. The play opens Feb. 14. Photo by Chris Paul.
The Lancers suffered their fourth loss in their previous five games with a 68-46 downer at Exeter High School on Tuesday, Jan. 29. The host Blue Hawks won every quarter, holding leads of 10-6 after one period, 25-17 at the half, and 48-26 rolling into the final quarter.

The victory ended a three-game losing skid for the host Exeter side, which moved to 3-7 on the campaign. Londonderry slipped to 3-6 in Division 1 despite receiving points from a dozen different players, including a team-leading 10 from sophomore Marc Corey. But coach Jeff Gustavson’s Londonderry crew rebounded beautifully last Friday, Feb. 1, in the Ball Family Trophy contest against Pinkerton, collecting a 65-55 victory and returning to the winning track.

After outscoring its host by a single point in the first quarter (15-14), the Londonderry bunch put up 22 more points in the second stanza and held a 37-29 lead at halftime.

The hosts turned things around in the third period by outscoring Londonderry by a solid, 17-10 margin, but the Lancers tacked the win comfortably away by outscoring the Astros by an 18-9 tally in the decisive fourth quarter.

Taylor Simpson and Max Coleman each netted 17 points for the victors, with Simpson also pulling down four rebounds. Brendan Enwright contributed 12 points and four boards for the winning side.
LHS Lady Cagers Trounce Exeter, Fall to Pinkerton

BIG rivalry games can bring out the very best in some athletes, but they can also apply the kind of pressure that sometimes makes skilled athletes perform in less than characteristic ways.

When it headed into its Friday night, Feb. 1, Ball Family Trophy contest against the arch-rival Pinkerton Academy Lady Astros in Derry, the Londonderry High girls’ basketball squad had won four straight games and held a more than impressive 9-2 Division I record.

And with many folks in Division I hoop circles thinking the Lady Lancers would be able to thump the undefeated Pinkerton, many folks were watching to see if that would happen. But it didn’t.

The Lady Astros made absolutely everything difficult for Londonderry in the head-to-head contest, and the Lady Lancers had trouble hitting virtually any shots. And the final product wound up being a 35-44 Pinkerton win.

“It’s good for a regular season game to get this kind of hype, but sometimes you kind of over-hype yourself,” said LHS coach John Fagula. “And (Pinkerton) did a great job against us tonight.”

The hosts led 12-8 after one quarter, and by a 22-14 margin at halftime. The Lancers had driven their divisional record to difficult for Londonderry in third quarter, and out-scored its stumbling guest five of the 20 shots it hit four of the 17 shots they attempted from the floor in that quarter and trailed 36-29 when the stanza was over.

And the fourth quarter brought more of the same kind of frustration for the LHS crew, which hit just five of the 20 shots it attempted from the floor in that period.

Star junior guard Aliza Simpson had the quietest 11 points she may ever have in the game, and reserve guard Jordan Marette also scored 11 points. Jaime King contributed nine.

The Lancers had driven their divisional record to up nine assists, grabbing seven steals, and pulling down six rebounds.

She was aided points-wise by Casey Evans with 17 points and Jenna Connolly and Katherine Dznis with nine apiece. All in all, 10 Lady Lancers contributed points to the effort, and the victors threw down a total of eight, three-point shots.

The LHS crew blasted out to a 21-7 lead by the close of the first quarter, and by halftime the locals were up by 18 points at 35-17.

Coach Fagula’s Londonderry force exploded for 29 more points in the third quarter, and out-scored its stumbling guest (six losses in a row) by an amazing 43-21 tally overall in the second half.

Aliza Simpson had a superb overall game, netting 18 points, dishing out 14 assists, grabbing seven steals, and pulling down six rebounds.

An uncharacteristically rough night for star junior guard Aliza Simpson was just one of the frustrations which dogged the LHS girls’ hoop squad in its road game against Pinkerton late last week.
Despise a bunch of record performances, the Londonderry High girls’ track and field squad fell just short of a state championship at the Division I title meet at Dartmouth College’s Leverone Fieldhouse in Hanover this past Sunday, Feb. 3.

Coach Sue Johnson’s Lady Lancers rewrote four school records, which is more than a little pleasing and impressive. But the talented LHS squad narrowly lost what everyone expected to be a heated race for the D-I crown with the Bishop Guertin Lady Cardinals of Nashua. The BG bunch tallied 74 total team points while the Lady Lancers were just one behind with 73.

The LHS boys also had a positive day in their title meet, finishing fourth (36 points) out of 17 scoring teams behind the now two-time champs from Pinkerton (78), Nashua North (75), and Concord (38).

GIRLS
“We knew it was going to be close on paper, with BG and us pretty much tied, and Winnacunnet not far behind,” said LHS coach Johnson. “The kids really wanted it, especially the kids who did so much scoring for us.”

The Londonderry crew’s event wins came in the 4x200 (new school mark of 1 minute, 47.46 seconds), thanks to the work of Farrah Ashe, Kristen Bourque, Hannah Brownstein, and Maeve Holland, and the 4x800 relay (9:46.34), due to the performances of Makayla D’Urso, Sydney Lagueux, Madison McKivergan, and Sami Tocman.

Other new school records were set by Bourque in the 300-meter dash (second place, 41.56), Amanda Szymanski in the 600-meter run (second, 1:36.95), and the 4x400 relay quartet of Ashe, Bourque, Holland, and Morgan McGrath (second, 4:05.19).

Other second places came from McGrath in the 1000 and Patty Driscoll in the shot put, Yorgelis Ortiz tied for third place in the high jump, and the 4x800 team of Grant McAuliffe, Matt Selinka, Keith Perry, and Josh Leahy (8:35.27).

Londonderry also registered a third place in the 4x200, Leahy took a fourth place in the 1000 and Damon Kilgore was fourth in the 3000, and Zach Joy claimed sixth place in the long jump.

BOYS
The fourth-place Lancer guys received wins from Starlin Ortiz in the 1000-meter run (30:36.95), the 4x200 (new school mark of 1 minute, 47.46 seconds), thanks to the work of Farrah Ashe, Kristen Bourque, Hannah Brownstein, and Maeve Holland, and the 4x400 relay (9:46.34), due to the performances of Makayla D’Urso, Sydney Lagueux, Madison McKivergan, and Sami Tocman.

Other new school records were set by Bourque in the 300-meter dash (second place, 41.56), Amanda Szymanski in the 600-meter run (second, 1:36.95), and the 4x400 relay quartet of Ashe, Bourque, Holland, and Morgan McGrath (second, 4:05.19).

Londonderry also registered a third place in the 4x200, Leahy took a fourth place in the 1000 and Damon Kilgore was fourth in the 3000, and Zach Joy claimed sixth place in the long jump.
Lancer Grapplers Experience Some Intense Ups, Downs

Coach Jim Marron's Londonderry High wrestling squad had a real peaks-and-valleys kind of week last week, falling to the arch-rival Pinkerton Astros by a slim margin before splitting a pair of decisions in Manchester over the weekend.

In the Lancers' head-to-head match against those rivals from Pinkerton at LHS on Wednesday, Jan. 30, the hosts raced out to a fast lead and held advantages much of the way.

But following John DiSessa's impressive pin win at 182 pounds - which gave Londonderry a 36-27 lead - Pinkerton got a decisive victory at 195 pounds and then received forfeit wins at 220 and 285 pounds to collect a 43-36 match victory.

The LHS crew was forced to compete without standout Kyle Byrd and Xander Coburn due to injuries, and their absences doubtless hindered the Londonderry effort. But coach Marron still liked his team's chances rolling into the rivalry match.

"We matched up well against PA," said Marron. "We came out with a very aggressive attitude and that put us up 18-0. We led 30-18 after (the) 152 swing, and a pin at 170 would have sealed a victory for us, with John DiSessa winning his 100th career victory at 182."

Amir Daouk (106-pounder), Mitch Rose (113), and Ryan Cabezas (120) all bagged pin victories in their bouts to send Londonderry out to an 18-0 lead.

Pinkerton sophomore standout Jean-Luc Lemiux collected a win via pin at 126 pounds, and Dakota Krol pulled off the same feat for the Astros at 132 pounds, with Brenden Sullivan matching that accomplishment at 138 pounds to knot the match score at 18-18.

In the Lancers' head-to-head match against those rivals from Pinkerton this past Saturday, Feb. 2, the Lancers went up again thanks to pin victories at 145 (Will Bean) and 152 (Jon Young), with Pinkerton coming back with a forfeit win from Tony Messina at 160 and Dylan Barreiro with a slim 1 point win at 170.

DiSessa notched that big, 100th career victory at 192 to buoy the LHS effort, but a major decision victory by Kevin Ell (13-0) at 195 and the aforementioned, meet-ending forfeit wins in the heavier classes got PA the match victory.

Then at Manchester Memorial High last Saturday, Feb. 2, the Lancers had their ups against the host Crusaders (47-24 win) but their downs against Division II opponent Bedford (49-25 loss).

"Several of our wrestlers failed to make weight for today's competitions," said coach Marron. "We had to forfeit 126, 170, 220 and 285. Giving up 30 points is difficult to overcome for our young wrestlers, but through that they faced the challenge and fought hard."

The Lancers who went unbeaten on the day included Daouk, Rose, Young, and DiSessa.

LHS Gymnasts Take Third in Salem

With lots of folks focusing on the head-to-head battle between the girls' gymnastics squads from Pinkerton Academy and Salem High at the latter school on Thursday, Jan. 31, the Londonderry High School gymnasts put forth a solid performance under the radar.

The two-time defending state champs from Pinkerton won the meet handily (137.3 points), with Salem second (132.6), and Londonderry third (124.9), with Salem second (132.6), and Londonderry third (124.9), with the LHS bunch having top-three finish in any of the events, but the locals did receive strong vaulting performances from freshman Jordan Dufresne (8.15) and Maddie Baumann (8.05).

The squad's top scores on the uneven bars came from senior Ali Yennaco (7.4), Dufresne 7.0, and Baumann (7.2). Senior Miranda Marchetti did fine work on the balance beam (8.2), and in the floor exercise the LHS bunch had top performances from Marchetti (8.6), junior Steph Pestka (8.25), freshman Jill McInerney (8.2), and sophomore Kayla Robbins (8.0).

"Our girls did an amazing job on Thursday night, and they all had a great spirit about the meet," said LHS assistant coach Rachel Myers.

And just about everything went great for the Lady Lancers in their home meet this past Monday, with the hosts notch- ing a score of 125.6 to best the runner-up squad from Dover (112.55).

Second places were snared by Dufresne on bars, McInerney on beam, Robbins in the floor exercise, and Marchetti in the all-around. Thirds were notched by Raymond on vault, Marchetti on bars and floor, and Yennaco on beam.
Despite Coburn Goals, LHS Hockey Bested

St good junior forward Eric Coburn netted two goals and assisted on two others, but his production didn’t quite wind up being enough in a 5-4 loss to the surging Salem High Blue Devils at the Salem Ice Center last Saturday, Feb. 2.
