Town Forest Named After Resident Kent Allen

ALEX GUITTARR
LONDONDERRY TIMES

In honor of his hard work and dedication to the town of Londonderry, the Town Council has decided to pay tribute to one of its most beloved residents.

On May 4, the Town held a dedication ceremony at the Town Forest for Kent Allen, officially renaming it The Kent Allen Forest.

Serving as the caretaker for Londonderry's cemetery since 1970,

Allen took on the role of sexton twelve years ago, doing his best to keep the graves in respectable shape. On top of this, he has also dedicated countless volunteer hours to cleaning up the paths in and around the forest now synonymous with his name. He also constructed benches throughout the area that were made out of maple trees that had fallen in his efforts.

Tensions Reach a Boiling Point Over Stonehenge Housing Project

ALEX GUITTARR
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The latest Planning Board meeting got off to a heated start as dozens of residents voiced their outrage over the Council's business with First Londonderry Association, LLC (FLA).

During the May 3 board meeting, the Moose Hill Council Chamber was packed with members of the community, who came to attend a reconsideration of a March 8 decision against FLA to deny their site plan for a workforce housing rental project on Stonehenge Road.

FLA was using the state's workforce housing law to develop a series of multi-family housing units on the plot of land. The plans were initially denied by the zoning board due to traffic safety concerns, but the ZBA eventually decided to overturn this decision, which brought it to the Planning Board in March. The Planning Board initially denied FLA for the same reasons before approving reconsideration at their April 5 meeting.

It is believed by many at the hearing that FLA's desire to sue the town over the matter is what encouraged the reconsideration vote.

The board first called forward FLA's representatives, attorneys John Radigan and Steve Per-now, to issue their stance on evidence that led to the initial denial of the site plan, those being a series of pictures that featured a tractor trailer attempting to turn onto Stonehenge Road and fourteen calls to the Police Department in the last couple of months concerning this area.

Pernow noted that he had a traffic study, which addressed concerns over traffic in the area, and that a tractor trailer of that nature would be a rare occurrence. As for the police record, he stated that only five of the fourteen calls had anything to do with traffic.

Pernow stated that con-

Solid Waste Committee Seeking To Recruit New Members

ALEX GUITTARR
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The recent meeting of the Solid Waste and Environment Committee (SWEC) not only focused on the environment, but more so on membership.

On May 8, the Londonderry SWEC met for its monthly meeting, hoping to not only continue its efforts of keeping the town ecologically minded, but also to drum up new members for the committee.

Member Jocelyn Muller could not be present due to illness, while Bob Kerry was forced to leave early due to a family emergency. However, before his departure, Kerry did bring up where the town's new Sharps Kiosk (a cart where residents can toss out their used sharp medical instruments, such as needles). The original kiosk was on the first floor of Town Hall, but was removed temporarily for a number of other installations, including a recycling display and a vending machine, before the town eventually settled on a POW monument. The new Sharps kiosk should be placed on the second floor by July.

After Bob left, the remaining members delved into other topics. For one, Gary Stewart noted that there seemed to be a "resurgence of energy" in the Beautify Londonderry program, a subcommittee to SWEC that focuses on cleaning up local residences of trash and brush. Stewart believes the new energy can be attributed to new leadership in the program, new T-shirts and a new banner.

High School Hosts Program To Educate Seniors On Technology

ALEX GUITTARR
LONDONDERRY TIMES

As we grow older, many of us may find it harder to adapt to the latest technology. But Roger Sampson with the Londonderry High School is offering up a solution.

On April 26, Sampson teamed up with Todd Wicker and six LHS students to host a Senior Citizen Technology Outreach program at the Londonderry Senior Center. Sampson himself is head of the LHS IT department and teaches the school's computer repair program.

The outreach program, which lasted about two and a half hours, focused on assisting the twelve seniors present at the meeting, out of the sixteen who had signed up previously, with their GPS's, iPad's, cell phones and computers. Sampson noted that the idea came from board member Nate Greenburn and that the program was a major success, with all the students performing admirably and every one of the senior's problems being fixed.

Although he was happy to help the seniors, Sampson said the program was also geared towards the students. He would actually like to make it a part of the school curriculum, as it not only serves as a learning experience, but he also noted that "most of [the students] don't have an outlet where they can do some community service work." He said it would go a long way towards preparing students for college.

Board member Nancy Hendrick was eager to mention that she works with the elderly all of the time and said that "senior citizens are starved for help with their technology." She also applauded their efforts in helping seniors with social media, as she wanted to start "bridging that gap between our youth and our seniors."

Two of the students who worked at the program, Ryan Barrett and Lizzie Niven, were also present at the meeting with Sampson and were invited up to speak with the board on their experience with the seniors. Niven said that she really enjoyed the experience.

She assisted seniors with social media, while Barrett helped them with their smart phones. Niven noted that she had a particularly fulfilling time with the second woman she worked with, who was very grateful for the assistance and even took notes during the program. As for what they learned, they both realized the need for strong communication and patience when dealing with seniors, with Niven stating that you mustn't "tell them, but teach them."

Sampson hopes to do another outreach program on May 10.

School Board Hears Concerns on Budget From Business Administrator

ALEX GUITTARR
LONDONDERRY TIMES

During the School Boards most recent meeting, School Business Administrator Peter Curro delved into budget matters. As with the previous meeting, Curro noted that the board is cutting it close with the budget, scrubbing the general ledger every fortnight.

Curro predicts that that they will end the fiscal year at around ten to twenty five thousand dollars under budget, but has shown concern over the recent surge of retirements, which involves paying the retirees for vacation days not used, as well as salary and benefits, and the last winter maintenance of the season. As long as there are no more surprises, the budget may still stay on track, albeit barely.

During the meeting, the retirement of Lorraine Arbore was announced by board member Leitha Reilly. Arbore, who spent four decades as an educator and twenty eight of those years in Londonderry, was a Special Education teacher.

She took joy from her profession knowing that she could both help students grow academically and gain confidence in themselves. She also faithfully volunteered for the Special Olympics.

While announcing future board meetings, Chairman Lekas noted a public hearing will be held alongside the usual meeting on May 16 to ratify the election results of the 2017 Annual School District Meeting, which was delayed due to inclement weather. This meeting is being held simply to clarify the legality of the postponements to residents.

After the Student Council report from Carolyn Hill, Nancy Hendricks announced that she had attended her first meeting with the Board of Directors of the New Hampshire School Board Association. She noted that several D.C. representatives were present at the meeting, where concerns over school funding, special education funding and charter schools were raised. Hendricks said that she was willing to testify in Concord over the latter matter.

All that and more can be found inside your free weekly newspaper, the one you're holding in your hands right now.

Nutfield Publishing - which publishes the newspaper you are reading one, now - takes pride in offering the single most comprehensive, accurate and by-partisan source for community news and events in its five towns. And our readers say they appreciate that we deliver the most important local information to their homes every week.

That doesn't even touch the advertising side - where to buy groceries, where to find a plumber or a landscaper or a lawyer - it's all in these pages.

If you're looking for up-to-the minute information about the latest national crisis, we suggest you check out the Internet or turn on the TV. But if you want to know what's happening in your back yard, the town where you live, our reporters and advertising have been busy all week making sure you have that information literally in your hands.

A newspaper is the voice of its community, the heart of its towns, and its importance was not lost to the writers of the Bill of Rights, when they made certain that Freedom of the Press was part of the foundation of the United States, "We The People".

But as with any other institution, a newspaper can only survive when those support it serves through advertising and donating to keep it going and fighting for you.

We know it's easy to take something free for granted. But if you didn't hear about the special meeting, the large apartments coming or the Girl Scout sign-up night, chances are you didn't look inside our newspapers. If you want to know what's happening, we're your source. If you want to advertise your services to as many local residents as possible, you don't need to look anywhere else. When you find those services and that information you were seeking, let them know you saw it in our newspaper.

And if you think your favorite hair salon or restaurant should advertise, let them know about how much you enjoy getting it every week and that it is done by your business. The more advertisers that run in the paper, the more pages we have to give you more stories and photos about your town, your kids, and friends.

We're locally owned, locally operated, locally based community newspapers. Together, we can continue to keep the tradition recognized by our founding fathers alive.

Planning Board passes the Stonehenge Complex

To the Residents:

Traffic and Safety are non-issues along Stonehenge road, so it appears.

The Planning Board wants people to attend meetings, they just don't want our input, because, you know, we live in the area, we deal with the issues that exist, day in, day out, we understand the neighborhood. This input does not matter when compared to high priced lawyers and traffic engineers.

Time will tell if the traffic engineer did a thorough job or if the traffic engineer, who was paid for by the Developer, simply did  $2+1 = 4$ , as dictated by those that employed him. Lets keep records and remind those folks on these boards and Town Council that perhaps local residents do have valuable input.

To the traffic engineer's credit he did say Stonehenge/Rt 28 is in FAILURE and will remain in FAILURE regardless of any improvement offered by the Developer. The right hand turn lane wont work for those needing to turn left for highway access.

Now that the Planning Board has forced approval of the Project on Stonehenge Road, when will the Town address the safety concerns along Stonehenge? Many of the town councilors have stated their hands were tied with approval. Some of the councilors may have contributed to the poor choice of this site being selected from the get go many years ago.

What will the Town Council do to address this issue? It is real, it exists, and it won't get better with additional traffic.

If the Town Council really wishes to help the residents who have expressed concern over traffic and safety issues along Stonehenge, when will they a). pay for lights at Rte. 28 and get the State to install them ASAP, b) fix intermediate intersecting roads and adjust speed limits accordingly, c) fix the Mammoth Road intersection?

The Town has forced this poorly sited development upon existing residents. When will the TC do something in support of the impacted residents? I call upon the TC to please step up and help.

If the TC doesn't wish to help, maybe we need to vote people off TC and find new people who are willing to help?

We don't need further studies - failed/ near failure intersections have been identified by the Developer. We need action. Please fix the intersecting roads along Stonehenge.

Affected resident,
Greg Stanley

Imbroglia Conbrio

To the editor,

As near as I can gather from the article of April 27, by reporter Alex Guitart, First Londonderry Associates (FLA) LLC is going to court because the Planning Board voted against FLA's plans to build a 288 unit housing project. Actually, that is not quite it. They are going to court because Ted Combes and Al Sypek voted residents' interests.

You see, apparently something like 600 residents were against the FLA project and when Combes and Sypek learned that, or did not learn that, they figured (or not) that if they voted against the FLA project, those 600 would vote for them, thus giving them a better chance of being elected to the town council or staying on the town council.

Surprise, surprise, politicians voting such as to get elected, voting such as to stay in office, or voting such to win favor with the majority of voters. Will wonders ever cease?

Looking at it from FLA's point of view, those politicians, or would-be politicians, voted against FLA's project for "personal gain." I assume - of course everything is far away from certainty when businessmen have projects in the works and profit is up for grabs - that FLA recognizes that the "personal gain" for Combes and Sypek was being elected to the town council or staying on the town council.

Note: some would say there is no personal gain in serving on the town council - that it causes headaches, sleepless nights, divorces, incipient madness, and other malignancies too horrible and too numerous to mention (the present councilors being excepted, of course). Well, that is why there are doctors and psychologists. On the other hand, civic-mindedness can not always be denied.

Where was I? Oh yes, FLA apparently thought that serving on the town council was a "personal gain" and that Combes and Sypek should have voted in favor of the FLA principals' personal gain instead of their own personal gain. Did the article mention when Combes and Sypek went to work for FLA LLC?

In summary, actually that three-sided situation - a business with plans, politicians with plans, residents with plans, and a planning board with plans (FLA might assert that a planning board should have no plans) - defies summary. I can only hope that readers are thankful I made the situation, imbroglia conbrio, clear to them.

Poultry Producers Gets Go Ahead From Planning Board

ALEX GUITTARR
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Poultry Products Northeast, which is seeking permission to build a distribution facility here in Londonderry, recently brought their case before the town Planning Board.

As the second of two agenda items at the board's May 3 meeting, PPNE's goal was to convince the board to approve the waivers and conditional use permits they needed for the build, as the land they wish to use happens to contain over thirty four thousand square feet of wetlands, some of which leads into the center of the property.

PPNE had already discussed the matter with the Londonderry Conservation Committee on April 25th. Several concerns were raised at that meeting, primarily over the damage to the wetlands and whether or not economic gains were the only objective of the build. However, the Conservation Committee still approved a recommendation for the project, as PPNE not only sought to not use more land than deemed necessary and mitigate damage to the wetlands, but also would make a $168,000 donation to the state's Aquatic Resource Mitigation Fund.

The distribution facility itself will be built on a twenty six acre property at 31 Jack's Bridge road. It will hire roughly two hundred and thirty new employees across three different shifts and have one and two story tall facilities. Most of the land will be used initially, with some land kept empty for a time until PPNE desires to expand the facility. No live animals will be brought to the building, as its sole purpose is to package, prepare and deliver already butchered products.

At the Planning Board meeting, PPNE was represented by Hayner/Swanson Inc. President and Principal Engineer James Petropulos, who is responsible for the building of the facility, and Bill Conrad, Chief Operating Officer for PPNE. Petropulos began the presentation by explaining what PPNE sought out of the subdivision and site plans and providing a background on what PPNE does. He noted that scheduling was altered around traffic patterns to avoid AM and PM peak hours and that the project, which he hoped to begin this summer, would take roughly nine months to complete.

Alongside six varying waivers, PPNE also sought two building permits: one for permission to drain and build on the wetlands and one requesting a reduction to the number of mandatory parking spaces needed for a facility.

Although the board saw no problem with the subdivision request, leading to them unanimously approving it, questions were raised about the site plan. For one, Board Member Giovanni Verani mentioned how landscaping of the area will leave those who view the property from the northern side with a view of a rather blunt wall of stone. Although he did not see a way around the construction of the wall, Petropulos suggested planting trees in the northern section of the property to make the view more appealing.

Board Member Jim Butler was curious about the "fee" that PPNE would pay to the ARM fund, that being the $168,000, asking Petropulos "is there any way we can keep that fee in town and move it to the Conservation Commission so that it stays in town?" Unfortunately, Petropulos stated that the fee would strictly stay with the state, although he did express his desire for the money to go to the town.

However, despite minor concerns over the build, the board none the less approved of all waivers and both permits PPNE requested unanimously.

After the meeting, Conrad noted that "We're excited to join Londonderry and become a great neighbor."

ner. SWEC plans on inviting Mike Byerly, who works with Beautify Londonderry, to their next meeting for an update on how the program is running.

Stewart then discussed one of the bigger projects group is currently doing. The committee is concerned with small businesses and how they throw away florescent light bulbs. These bulbs contain mercury and although most large businesses handle them in an environmentally safe manner, far less small businesses do this, sometimes causing safety hazards.

In order to raise awareness of this matter,

SWEC is currently in the process of going door to door along Routes 102 and 28 to roughly three hundred businesses to inform them of a service that will have their florescent bulbs brought to a drop off center, albeit for a nominal fee.

Finally, the other large topic for the meeting was reached: membership. On top of only three members of SWEC being present for this month's meeting, the committee also has three vacant spots that they have yet to fill.

In response to this, Chairman Paul Margolin has produced two solutions. First, the committee produced a flyer which they distribute across Londonderry that describes what the committee does and when they meet at Town Hall.

The flyer notes that their mission statement is "to enhance and reduce risks to Londonderry's environment with helpful solid waste services to residents."

The second solution will involve sending SWEC representatives to the town's oil drop-off site to hand out more of the flyers and speak to the public.

After covering what other goals that they hope to work on in the future, the meeting was adjourned.

SWEC meets up once a month on Mondays for roughly an hour and a half. For more information on the committee, please visit londonderry-nh.org and click the "Solid Waste and Environment Committee" link in the "Boards & Commissions" tab.

Representatives from the three elementary schools in town were on hand to plant nut trees that Kent Allen hoped would produce by the time they graduated.

Town Forest

According to Town Manager Kevin Smith, before Allen's volunteering, you couldn't even walk through the forest because of all of the brush and poison ivy in the way. Nowadays, it serves as a great location for both education and recreation.

Smith highly praised Allen's dedication to the forest, noting that his efforts are "truly making [the forest] a wonderful spot."

The twelve acre forest was originally owned by the Mack Family of Mack's Apples, but was mostly donated to the town in 1984, with Londonderry eventually purchasing the remainder.

The dedication, which was attended by a number of people from town, including Allen's wife and three children and countless grandchildren, as well as the Town Councilors, featured the reading of a proclamation that praised of Allen's work, officially stating that "on behalf of the residents of Londonderry, New Hampshire, our town forest shall be proudly named after Kent Allen and shall hereinafter be known as The Kent Allen Forest, in honor of Mr. Allen's efforts and dedication to enhancing the forest for all Londonderry residents to enjoy."

Afterwards, Allen and Curtis Laffin, a representative from the American Chestnut Foundation, worked with a number of local elementary students to plant numerous chestnut trees in the area. Laffin used the opportunity to give the children a history lesson on nut trees, which took up a large portion of Londonderry in the past, so much so that the town was originally named Nutfield until 1722.

To cap off the day, a spot in the forest was dedicated to the Mack Family, as a means of paying tribute to the original owners of the land. A plaque, labeling the spot the Mack Family Overlook, will eventually be erected in this location, informing those who visit the forest about the Mack Family. The final portion of the proclamation will read "This spot within the Kent Allen Forest, which overlooks part of Moose Hill Orchards, stands as a reminder of the Mack Family's legacy of sound land stewardship and their generosity to the community."

OBITUARY

Gerald M. Gillespie

Gerald M. Gillespie, 88, of Londonderry passed away peacefully surrounded by his loving family May 3 at the Hillsborough County Nursing Home in Goffstown after a courageous battle with cardiac, Alzheimer's and Parkinson diseases. He and his beloved wife Dorothy M. (Mazurkivich) Gillespie would have celebrated their 62nd wedding anniversary on June 4. He was a hero and mentor to many whether as a father, grandfather, uncle or life-long law enforcement officer. His passion for the Boston Red Sox was second only to his devout Roman Catholic faith.

He was born on July 16, 1928 in Bridgeport, Conn., a son of the late Thomas and Helen (English) Gillespie. Mr. Gillespie grew up in Bridgeport, and graduated from Central High School. He proudly served as an U.S. Marine during the Korean Conflict. He was a 25-year member of the Bridgeport Police Department where he received many honors and accommodations for excellence. He ended his police career there as a homicide detective. He belonged to the Police Athletic League and the Police Anchor Club. Mr. Gillespie also served as the first Superintendent of Security for the Bridgeport Board of Education.

Upon his move to New Hampshire, he joined the Londonderry Police Department (LPD) as its first sergeant and later as a court prosecutor. He relished his 10-year second career with the LPD, and was especially proud to mentor so many of its accomplished women and men as it grew in numbers and stature. He thought of former Police Chief Joseph Ryan as a "my fifth son." After retiring for a second time, he served on the Londonderry Board of Selectmen. He and his wife were also one of the founding families of St. Mark's Church in Londonderry.

Mr. Gillespie was also a member of the Knights of Columbus and the American Legion. He never forgot his hometown of Bridgeport and was always eager to hear more news from The Park City. He was a very loyal fan of the University of Notre Dame's Fighting Irish athletic teams, especially football plus the women's basketball squad of the University of Connecticut.

In addition to his cherished bride, he is survived by five children of whom he was most proud: Mary Helen Gillespie of Londonderry; Edward G. and Anne Gillespie of Wolfboro; Daniel M. Gillespie and his partner Karen Baillargeon of Hooksett; Timothy F. and Charlotte Gillespie of Derry; and Michael J. and Brenda Gillespie of Londonderry. He loved his seven grandchildren, four step-grandchildren and five great-grandchildren with all of his heart, and more. He is also survived by his treasured older brother, John E. Gillespie of Shelton, Conn., as well as many nieces, nephews and cousins. He was pre-deceased by a very special cousin and friend, John "Jack" O'Brien of Bridgeport. His Siberian Husky of nearly 17 years, "Sarge," was waiting for him as he crossed the Rainbow Bridge.

Calling hours with a police honor guard will be held 5-8 p.m. May 16 at the Peabody Funeral Home and Crematorium, 290 Mammoth Road, Londonderry. A Mass of Christian Burial will be celebrated at 10:30 a.m. May 17 at St. Mark's Church, One South Road, Londonderry with burial to follow in the Holy Cross Cemetery on Gilcrest Road in Londonderry. In lieu of flowers, please consider a donation to a scholarship fund for law-enforcement students being organized by the Londonderry Police Department under Chief Bill Hart's direction. To send a condolence, please visit www.peabodyfuneralhome.com, which will also be updated with the scholarship information once complete. Jerry's family would like to extend their deepest appreciation and gratitude to the ELU nursing staff at the Hillsborough County Nursing Home for their excellent, compassionate care during his stay there.

Schools Organize Events for Youth Mental Health

ALEX GUITTARR
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry School District is hosting a series of events over the last and next couple of weeks to train staff members on the importance of youth mental health.

During May 2 School Board meeting, Chelsea Hunnewell delivered a short presentation about Youth Mental Health Awareness Week, which occurred from May 1 to May 5. Before, during and after this week, there were several workshops and presentations at Town Hall and South School that taught or will teach those working with students in Londonderry how to identify and address students with poor mental health.

Hunnewell noted that the purpose of the week was to "research what 'good' mental health looks like in our youth today, and specifically what it looks like in our Londonderry youth." The district hopes to create a Community Mental Health Management Team, made up of educational staff and mental health providers and professionals in the school district and community-at-large, that will address questions on how to meet the needs of the youth and their mental health.

The free training programs actually took place on April 17 and 18. In the Moose Hill Conference Room in Town Hall, four hour sessions were held on both days to teach youth mental health first aid training. 25 people were present for the meeting, including nurses, administrators, school psychologists and a P.E. teacher.

The next meeting took place at South School on May 4. Former New Hampshire State Supreme Court Justice John Broderick spoke on part of Change Direction New Hampshire, a state initiative that desires "to change the culture in America about mental health, mental illness, and wellness." The purpose of the presentation was to help identify the five signs that someone is struggling with a mental health issue: agitation, personality change, poor self care, withdrawn and hopelessness. Broderick personally had a child who suffered from these issues in the past, so his testimony came from a very personal place.

Next, on May 5, South School showed students and teachers the Pixar movie Inside Out. After the viewing, the teachers would follow up with the students and ask them questions developed by the Office of Student Wellness to address what they learned from the movie.

Finally, on May 18, the National Alliance for the Mentally Ill (NAMI) will be holding a workshop at South School to any Londonderry School District employees that are interested in developing their skills in addressing mental health. The title of the presentation is "See the Student, Not the Illness".

Cinco de Mayo Celebrated at Matthew Thornton

Third grade students got to see the unique poetry created by the Mexican artists. # School District Offering Students Summer Enrichment Programs In June

ALEX GUITTARR
LONDONDERRY TIMES

If you're looking to get your kids out of the house this summer, the Londonderry School District may have the solution you're looking for.

During June, the district will be beginning its Summer Enrichment programs that will be offered for every grade from Kindergarten all the way to Grade 12. Not only do these programs serve to keep students' minds fresh outside of the school year, but it also promotes students strengths in academic areas and helps to expose them to other interests.

Science will mostly take center stage during June. The first of these programs, Exploring Chemistry Mysteries, will be for fourth and fifth graders and focus on chemical phenomenon occurring from household substances. The program will explore concepts like how temperature and pressure change the behavior of particles and how molecules interact with one another. Some activities will be more relaxed, such as making slime and homemade ice cream, while others will be based around detective work, like fingerprinting and identifying unknown powders. Three classes will be held from June 27th until the 29th. The minimum class size is six students and the maximum is twelve. They will go from 9:30 a.m. to Noon at Londonderry Middle School and will be taught by Karen Kilgore.

The other scientific program, Scientific Inquiry & Design, will be more oriented in physical science and be available for sixth through ninth graders. The activities will focus on teaching students about Newton's Laws of Motion, friction, energy transfer and balanced and unbalanced forces. The participants will learn these concepts by doing things like building air rockets, string racers, carbon dioxide boats and foam insulated roller coasters. Four classes will be held from June 27th until June 30th. The minimum class size is eight students and the maximum is twelve. They will go from 8:30 a.m. to Noon at Londonderry High School and will be taught by Douglas Smith.

The final June program will take on a more athletic focus, titled Running School. Offered to sixth through eighth graders, it will be based around the various elements of cross country running, teaching them about warm-ups, cool-down, physical training, pacing, nutrition, hydration and running terminology. Video apps will be used to record the run-ner's form, while iPads will help the students research running techniques and equipment. Four classes will be held from June 27th until June 30th. The minimum class size is ten students and the maximum is twenty-four. They will go from 8:30 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. at Londonderry High School and taught by Matt Noon.

Theresa Bertrand, Registrar for the Londonderry School District, who has been advertising these programs, noted that "By offering these programs over the summer, we hope to engage the children in areas of studies that they typically would not be exposed to during the regular academic school year."

It should be noted that the programs carry a minimum and maximum fee. The minimum fee will be charged if the maximum class size is reached, but fewer students in each class will equal a higher fee. Registration must be received by June 2nd and is first come, first served. More programs will be announced for July.

For more information about the programs, check Londonderry.org, Town Hall, the Leach Library, the School Main Offices and School Newsletters.

cerning the evidence put forward, "I frankly don't believe that that's relevant to the design of the site plan."

After their argument, the board invited the public to come forward and speak their mind on the issue, so long as what they discussed was focused on the aforementioned evidence brought up before. Several residents did come forward to speak, one of which being Debra Paul, owner of Nutfield Publishing. During her time on the floor, Paul asked for a copy of the 14 calls, but FLA stated they did not have them.

Paul had also asked in the prior meeting to have the NHDOT come and speak to the residents of the town, who also had many concerns. She further mentioned that, "These are apartments, of course there will be more trucks, as people will continually be moving in and out." She also stated that as an abutter, she had never received a certified letter informing her of the initial meeting. Paul further pointed out that there were many missteps in the process, and that a rehearing should be done to rectify this, and furthermore be done correctly.

Shortly after each person began to speak, Board Vice Chair Mary Wing Soares stated that they were speaking off-topic and that they must sit down as a result. Some residents were less willing to sit down than others, aggressively continuing to state their case as Soares continued to stop them.

The board finally decided to take a vote on the site plan. Despite board members noting that there were noticeable traffic safety concerns, it was voted 4-3 to approve the site plan for FLA.

Once the new decision was handed down, however, the room erupted in shouts of protest towards the Planning Board as well as the Town Council.

North School To Host African-Themed Music and Culture Program

ALEX GUITTARR
LONDONDERRY TIMES

As a means of expanding their cultural worldview, Londonderry's North Elementary School will be giving its students a taste of African music and art in the coming days.

From May 8 through 16, North School will be hosting an event titled African Artists In Residence, a program supported partially by a grant from the New Hampshire State Council of the Arts and National Endowment for the Arts.

Although there will be a series of activities to introduce the students to this culture, the main focus will come from the two heads of this program: Steve Ferraris and James Marshall.

Ferraris and Marshall are in charge of the History and Mystery Drums and Dance program, which holds events throughout New England to educate students and faculty on the various elements of African culture.

Ferraris specialty is hand drumming, having more than twenty five years of experience teaching the art to students of all ages, as well as in summer camps and drug treatment facilities. He uses both African and Afro-Cuban instruments rhythms and aesthetics to expand students musical skills.

He also hosts an initiative called Drumming for Success, a group drumming program coupled with a life skills curriculum. The program focuses on improving emotional intelligence, using musical analogies as a means of teaching them how to better understand emotions and relationships.

Ferraris has a Bachelor's of Art from Dartmouth College, is a member of the New Hampshire Council on the Arts Touring Roster and has been a performing artist since 1985.

Marshall was the Principal Dancer for the Arthur Hall Afro-American Dance Ensemble in Philadelphia, PA for close to two decades and does choreography for the Arthur Hall Alumni Dance Company.

The event over the next week will cover a wide variety of topics, starting on the Monday May 8 with an all school assembly percussion display, covering a wide variety of percussion instruments and hoping to teach students about the rhythm of life. Senator Sharon Carson and Representative Doug Thomas were in attendance to enjoy the show. The remaining activities will mostly be for fourth and fifth graders.

On May 8 and 9, Marshall will be working with art teacher Kathy Sullivan to help students create their own tribal clothing with tie dye.

Also on the Monday and Tuesday, Ferraris will work with music teacher Nancy Laporte to continue to teach the students about drumming.

For the next five school days, that being on the May 10, Ferraris and Marshall will work together to teach a series of Drumming and Dance classes. The classes will teach students about how the drums are constructed, how drumming functions with African culture, the relationship skills necessary for group drumming and various drumming and music techniques and concepts.

Finally, at 6 p.m. on the May 16, the two will host a culminating performance for the community. Students will take everything they have learned about drumming, African culture and so on and assist Ferraris and Marshall in a recreation of an African musical ceremony. The students, wearing the tribal clothing that they have produced, will sing, dance, play the drums and other instruments and event assist in stage set design.

LONDONDERRY SPORTS

LHS Baseball Squad Falls to South and PA, Beats Salem

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

As last week came to a close, the Londonderry High School baseball squad found its record rubbing right up against the .500 mark as the Lancers were left lamenting three losses in their previous four games.

The LHS crew's 2017 mark was pushed from 6-3 down to 6-5 by the end of that span due to consecutive losses to the Nashua High South Purple Panthers and Pinkerton Academy Astros in Beeman Trophy competition.

The Lancers suffered a 6-3 loss to South at Lancer Park on Wednesday, May 3, and saw some strong pitching from Dakota Robinson fall by the wayside.

"Our inconsistency in terms of approach for the first time this season led to a sloppy loss against Nashua South," said coach Brent Demas. "Dakota Johnson got his second start on the hill today and did well enough to earn a different fate, but it wasn't in the cards. He threw four-plus innings, giving up seven hits and six runs, four of which were earned, on the day."

Travis Peabody and Nate Sullivan also did some fine work on the hill for the hosts, but the Nashuans ended up doing enough scoring to take the win home to their Gate City with them.

"We didn't pound the zone like we have been, but we were competitive today," said the coach.

At the plate, Londonderry had skilled lead-off batter Ricky Perry knock two hits and score a run and Xander LaPlante also whack two hits and drive in a run.

"There wasn't much of an approach today, and sometimes the boys need to see something to understand why the coaches preach certain concepts. Today they saw it," added Demas. "The hope is they bounce back tomorrow versus a tough Pinkerton team and get back in the win column."

But the way things worked out in Derry in Beeman Trophy action on Thursday May 4, neither the Lancers nor their rivals were overly pleased with the way their offenses performed.

Pinkerton received masterful pitching work in its 2-1 nipping of Londonderry, with David Unkles going five strong frames and collecting the victory.

The hosts claimed both of their runs on three hits and one costly error in the bottom half of the fourth frame, with Londonderry slicing their 2-0 deficit in half in the top of the fifth but being held scoreless the rest of the way.

The Lancers, for their part, also got an impressive and gutsy pitching performance from lefty Anthony Pirolli, who went all six innings in which his team was in the field allowing just four hits while striking out a batter and walking one.

Lefty hurlers Unkles and Pirolli and their defenses reigned supreme in the first two innings, nor Jenkins led off for PA with a single, and he moved to second on an error and to third on a single by Sutton. With the bases loaded and nobody out, Jenkins scored on a base hit by Sean Muller to make it a 1-0 contest, and a moment later Mike Jellison sprinted home from third base on a double play by the LHS defense.

The Lancers trimmed the PA lead down to 2-1 in the next half inning when Jake Bolduc led off with a single and, after a bit of a wait, scored on a two-out infield single from Nate Sullivan.

Londonderry then went down 1-2-3 against the Pinkerton relievers in the sixth and seventh innings and ended up absorbing the 2-1 loss, their second of the season to the rival Astros.

"Pirolli deserved a better fate than this today," said Demas. "He pitched great, but we need to work on our discipline at the plate. We have to swing out of this hitting trouble we're having."

The Lancers' next opportunity to do just that came on Monday, May 8 when they played host to the Salem High Blue Devils.

And the Lancers got all tasks taken care of in a fine, 6-3 defeat of the visiting Salem side, bashing out 10 hits and overcoming a 3-1 deficit impressively late.

The Blue Devils scored three times in the top of the third to make it a 3-1 contest, but the hosts scored twice in the bottom of the fourth and three times in the sixth to tally the win.

Nate Sullivan had a great day for the locals, getting the pitching victory in relief and smacking out four hits and driving in three runs while also scoring two. Jonny Meskell contributed three hits, and Nate Bolduc was good for two.

Lancer Laxmen Narrowly Bested by the Defending D-I Champs

Jake Holland was locked and loaded for a shot during this recent LHS lax match. He and his Lancers fell to BG but beat Bedford. Photo by Chris Paul

LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry High boys' lacrosse squad faced one of its biggest challenges of the 2017 campaign at LHS last Wednesday, May 3, facing off against a Bishop Guertin Cardinals' contingent which has won six of the last seven Division I championships, including the 2016 one.

And the Lancers were up to the challenge, just not quite enough to glean a victory over a Guertin group which claimed a slim, 13-11 win that day to advance to 7-1 on the campaign.

The LHS crew received some six goals from Sean Snyder, two tallies and one assist from Jake Holland, single goals from Dom Federico, Pete Navarro, and Nate Andrews, and one assist from Anthony Federico. Goalie Alex Fawcett contributed nine saves. All in all, the hosts put some 19 shots on the BG net.

Londonderry was next slated to play perhaps an even tougher match against the undefeated, rival Pinkerton Academy Astros in Derry in Beeman Trophy play two days later. But that contest, along with all but one of the other Beeman battles set for that day, was rained out.

Hence, the Lancers rolled into this new week looking at a road contest at Bedford on Monday, May 8, followed the next day by the rescheduled contest against Pinkerton. The latter of those two matches happened after Londonderry Times press time.

The Lancers managed a big, overtime victory over the Bedford bunch, winning 8-7 in extra time.

Nate Andrews and

Sean Snyder each potted three goals for the locals, and Anthony Federico and Merrill Neiman each scored once, with Neiman bagging the winner. Pete Navarro dealt out two assists and Tom Fougere and Tyler Grant each collected one. Alex Fawcett contributed 10 big saves to the cause.

The Lancers' schedule for the remainder of this week included home contests against Souhegan of Amherst on Thursday the 11th and one against the Exeter High School Blue Hawks this Saturday the 13th.

LHS Girls' Tennis Wins in Hudson But Falls in Derry

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

A 5-4 victory at Alvirne High School in Hudson followed by an 8-1 loss at Pinkerton Academy in Derry last week left the Londonderry High School girls' tennis squad holding a 2-7 record as the Division I campaign rolls forward.

The Lady Lancers made the short trip to Hudson and handed the home-standing Alvirne Lady Broncos a 5-4 defeat last Wednesday, May 3. The win marked the teams second win of the spring season.

But coach Betty Mak's

LHS bunch didn't enjoy that kind of success the next afternoon in another short road run to Pinkerton in Beeman Trophy action. A game that was rescheduled from Friday, May 5, because of weather concerns

In the latter match, the host PA Lady Astros improved their 2017 record to 6-3 with an 8-1 defeat of the arch-rival Lady Lancers.

The lone Londonderry victory was delivered by number three singles player Amelia Brenner, who defeated Lady Astro Samantha Donahue by a 9-7 tally. The next closest battle came in second singles, in which Sarah Court was bested by Pinkerton's Riley Reinert by an 8-3 margin.

Coach Mak's mob then rolled into this week looking for another win on its own home courts against the visiting Nashua South Lady Purple Panthers on Monday, May 8.

And the Lady Lancers took an 8-1 loss on the chin from their opponent in that battle.

Amelia Brenner got the lone win against PA.

Lancer Spikers Bag First 2017 Victory, Then Fall to PA

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry High boys' volleyball squad collected its first victory of the 2017 campaign last week in the form of a 3-0 shutout of the Souhegan High Sabers, but couldn't manage to get a winning streak going as they fell in a shutout to Pinkerton in Beeman Trophy play two days later.

After starting the campaign by dropping all of its first six matches, coach Dave Starin's squad tallied its first win in the blanking of winless Souhegan at LHS last Wednesday, May 3.

The Lancers powered their way to game wins of 25-12, 25-15, 25-15 in walloping the 0-7 Sabers, who would go on to tally their first success of 2017 in their next match against Coe-Brown Northwood.

The locals received 17 big service points from Logan Agrella, 11 kills, two service aces and two blocks from Tim Sullivan, 22 assists from Mike Vivian, and five digs from Matt Nickerson.

But the Lancers couldn't roll one victory into a mini winning streak at Pinkerton in Beeman Trophy play on Friday the 5th, dropping a 3-0 decision to a PA Astro contingent which advanced to a truly stellar 9-1 on the season with its dominance.

The hosts bagged individual game wins of 25-16, 25-10, and 25-16 to drive to the shutout.

Londonderry then returned to action after enjoying the weekend off with a Monday, May 8 match in Weare against the home-standing John Stark Regional Generals.

The hosts had stepped into that match with a 2-6 record, having won just one of their previous seven matches.

In the wake of that battle, the Lancers were looking at doing lots of road work through the remainder of this week, playing at Goffstown High on Tuesday the 9th, at Dover the next day - both after Londonderry Times press time - and then at Hollis-Brookline on Friday.

Lady Lancer Lax Crew Loses Second in a Row, Slips to 6-3

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

In the wake of its tough and rather disappointing, one-goal loss to rival Pinkerton in Londonderry on Friday, April 28, the Londonderry High Lady Lancer lacrosse squad was intent upon getting back to its stronger level of play against the undefeated Bedford High Lady Bulldogs at LHS last Tuesday, May 2.

Instead, the Lady Lancers and first-year coach Scott Walden absorbed their second consecutive loss to that superb opponent, and it was an even more decisive 12-7 defeat which lowered the LHS contingent's 2017 record to 6-3 overall.

Walden and his young women then took aim at getting a bit of revenge and righting themselves in a rematch with Pinkerton in Derry in Beeman Trophy play last Friday the 5th, but that match was postponed until later this month due to heavy rains. So, not a whole bunch has gone well for the Londonderry squad in its last few competitive events.

In the loss to Bedford, the visiting team grasped an 8-4 lead at halftime and then outscored its host by a 4-3 tally in the second half in putting the win away.

The home-standing Lady Lancers received three goals from Emily Holland, two goals and one assist from Erika Tsetsilas, a goal and a helper from Catie Derhak, and one tally from Sarah Duarte. Goalie Kaitlyn Marchant contributed five saves to the performance.

Entering this new week, coach Walden and his charges returned to their hunt for the winning path with a Tuesday, May 9 trip to Amherst to take on another extremely tough opponent. The Lady Sabers entered that battle at a stellar 9-1.

Londonderry High Track Squads Excel in Manchester Dual Meets

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Londonderry High's girls' and boys' track and field squads found all kinds of success in the Queen City back on Tuesday, May 2, when both contingents throttled their Manchester Central Little Green opponents on those squads' home track.

And then at the end of the week - on Saturday the 6th - the Lady Lancers' youngest athletes claimed an impressive second place finish out of some 19 teams at the annual

GIRLS

Coach Sue Johnson saw her Lady Lancers throttle their Queen City opponent by an 88-52 score in the Tuesday battle, with her charges winning eight events and sweeping the top three spots in both the discus and the long jump.

The locals got event victories from Akolam Wambu in the discus (a throw of 88 feet, 7 inches), Keira Wright in the javelin (91'7"), Kaylie Longua in the long jump (14'7 1/2"), Jess Brien in the high jump (4'8"), Jill Doris in the 100-meter hurdles (20.7 seconds), Kalin Gregoire in the 1,600-meter run (5 minutes, 29.1 seconds), and Devyn Enwright in the 400 (65.7). The team's 4x400 relay quartet also proved unbeatable (4:21).

Then at the Kiwanis meet on Saturday, the Lady Lancers' freshmen and sophomores finished behind only Nashua South in taking second place from among 19 teams.

Brittany Fernandez won the 200 in a time of 28.77, with teammate Maddy Croteau taking second in 28.91.

Other seconds were delivered by Alivia Proulx in the 100 hurdles and the 4x200 and 4x800 relay quartets, and thirds were turned in by Suzie Moore in the pole vault and Wambu in the discus.

BOYS

The Lancer males simply overpowered Central early in the week in a 91-31 victory.

Multiple first places were turned in by Patrick Hagearty in the shot put (41'3") and the discus (122'1"), Pat Zepf in the javelin (112'11") and the high jump (5'6"), Brian Metro in the 400 (55.7) and the 800 (2:16.9), and Chris Zaino in the 1,600 (4 minutes, 47.1 seconds) and the 3,200 (10:23). Londonderry swept the top three places in both events won by Zaino.

Other event victories were produced by Shane McEachern in the long jump (15' 9 1/2"), Khali-que Bagley in the 300 hurdles (46.2), and the 4x400 relay quartet (3:46.7).

At the Kiwanis meet on Saturday, Londonderry's freshmen and sophomores finished ninth as a team out of 20 squads, with Bagley winning the 200 (24.75) and Hagearty taking second in the discus (111'8").

Athletes of the Week

Week of May 1

Merrill Neiman, Senior, Boys' Lacrosse

This talented, multi-sport standout became a hero for his Lancer laxmen when he potted the deciding goal against Bedford in overtime. He also scooped up four ground balls for the locals.

Skyler Tarmey, Senior, Unified Track and Field

This veteran athlete has shown spirit and a fiery competitive nature in every event in which she has competed for her LHS squad, also cheering on teammates with great enthusiasm.

Losses to the Alvirne High Broncos and the rival Pinkerton Academy Astros last week left the Londonderry High boys' tennis team contemplating a 2017 record which sat just below the .500 mark at 4-5 bouncing into this week.

The Broncos and Lancers needed and utilized lots of generous assistance from numerous sources to complete their soggy match in Londonderry on Wednesday, May 3. But the final result ended up being a 5-4 win for the Hudson-based Broncos.

"As the match began, a massive rain cloud decided to stop all play," said LHS coach Janice Norwesh. "Heavy rains drenched the courts and had everyone running for their cars. A couple of dads volunteered to run home and grab some leaf blowers to help dry the courts, and another dad brought a stack of towels and the players, parents, and coaches started to dry the rain-soaked courts."

And still more help arrived in the form of the Londonderry Fire Department, who had members pitch in to help the two tennis squads get down to action.

"They are just as good at picking up water as they are at spraying it out," said coach Norwesh. "One court at a time, our matches went out."

All four of the Londonderry wins came by scores of 8-3, with singles successes being delivered by Cam Ness, Ryan Leo, and Josh Galluzzo, and the doubles tandem of Ness and Quentin Caruso also winning by that count.

But the next afternoon

in Derry, the Lancers and their opponent Pinkerton enjoyed much better weather but the score was considerably more lopsided, with the host Astros bagging an 8-1 win.

"Good tennis, but Pinkerton just was too consistent for us today," said the Lancers' coach.

"But freshman Jay Hayes stopped the bagel with an 8-5 win."

Hayes collected his victory in the fifth singles match, with Pinkerton advancing its season record to 7-1 overall by winning five singles battles and all three doubles contests.

The Londonderry High boys were slated to be back out on the road this past Monday, May 8, playing at Nashua High School South in the Gate City and hoping to get back to .500.

But the Lancers' hopes of getting to .500 slipped by the wayside until perhaps another day under the weight of a 5-4 loss that afternoon.

The Lancers received their victories in singles from Cam Ness (8-4) and Quentin Caruso (9-7) and in doubles from the tandems of Ness and Caruso (8-3) and Josh Galluzzo and Jay Hayes (8-4).

LHS Softball Squad Wins Two More, Then Suffers First Loss

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Road victories over Nashua South and Concord last week enabled longtime coach Wayne MacDougall's Londonderry High Lady Lancer softball team to drive its 2017 record up to an exceptional 8-0.

But a loss to Salem at the beginning of this week blemished their perfect record.

The South Lady Purple Panthers were absolutely no match for MacDougall's mob in the Gate City on Wednesday, May 3, with Londonderry having every reason to be in a celebratory mood on the bus ride home following a 13-1 victory in which the 10-run rule was placed into effect after five innings.

The Lady Lancers scored twice in the first inning, some nine times in the third, and then twice more later in vanquishing their hosts soundly.

The locals bashed out a total of 15 hits, with Lauren Misiasek stroking three of them and driving in two runs, and Cassidy Raza, Liz Niven, Katrina Rivard, Sarah Fawcett, and Gia Komst all connecting for two hits. Fawcett drove in three teammates and Niven, Komst, and Liz DeVoss each smacked in two.

The Lady Lancers' success in the state capital against the host Concord

High Crimson Tide on Thursday the 4th was less decisive than had been the case the previous day, but a 3-1 win was more than enough to keep the locals' 2017 record perfect.

The LHS contingent plated all of its runs in the top half of the fifth frame, with the Tide only being able to answer with a single tally in the latter half of the sixth.

The locals were held to a half-dozen hits this time around, but Misiasek continued to swing a hot bat by bashing two safeties and driving in a run. Emily Nelson also collected a pair of hits for the victors.

Londonderry then began this new week with yet another road contest, with a Monday, May 8 trip to Salem to take on an 8-2 Lady Blue Devils' bunch in what looked to be a serious challenge to its record's perfection.

And the Lady Lancers did in fact have their record finally blemished in Salem that afternoon, dropping a 3-0 decision to the Lady Blue Devils.

The hosts scored once in the second inning and then twice more in the sixth in dealing Londonderry its first defeat of 2017. The Lady Lancers' stalwart Sarah Fawcett, while the victorious lone hit on the day was Salem side managed delivered by hard-hitting seven hits.

Hear it from Our Advertisers First...

"We appreciate what Nutfield publishing has done for my farm over the last few years. We started our orchard business Hazelton Orchards in Chester NH in 2010. The Tri-Town times covered our opening as news which helped to kick start our retail business in Chester. We started as a small pick your own operation and had a small pushcart for apples and peaches in our driveway. Since that beginning we have increased our retail by moving into a building to become more of a full service farm store. The pick your own sales also have greatly increased. I believe this is in no small part due to the advertising we have done with Nutfield Publishing and their coverage of us as a local farm business. Recently we opened Plummer Farm, our choose and cut Christmas tree farm in Londonderry. As part of this we constructed an old fashioned post and beam building designed and built by Jesse Remington High School of Candia NH. Once again Nutfield Publishing showed up and covered the construction process with photos and an article. When time came to open the Christmas tree farm to the public we placed ads and the response exceeded our expectations. We think that the success of these ventures is due in no small part to Nutfields Publishings support of our local business."
