Woodmont Commons Construction Making Major Headway

LONDONDERRY TIMES

Anyone who has been to the Market Basket in Londonderry lately may have noticed an increase in construction. The supermarket and surrounding retail shops are part of the Woodmont Commons development, an attempt to bring a piece of urban living to small town New Hampshire.

"It's all kind of in flux," said

Colleen Mailloux, the town planner for Londonderry. "The development is truly a Londonderry development."

Over the next few months, construction crews will be in front of Market Basket doing road work and laying utility lines down, as well as working on the drainage pond. They are already at it in the parking lot, shutting down an entire section to the public.

Meeting On Town's Growth Gets Some Resident Input

KATIE O'DONNELL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Londonderry keeps growing and town administrators want to work with locals to keep it under control. Last week, Town Planner Colleen Mailloux and Town Manager Kevin Smith joined Town Council Chairman Tom Dolan to discuss with the public what the town's best options are to manage the increase in growth the town is expected to see in the next few years.

Londonderry has become a go-to spot in southern New Hampshire, with an average growth rate of 1.13 percent for the past six years. The local population in 2014 was just over 24 thousand and is projected to grow to 27 thousand by 2020. More people living in town means more money will need to be spent on services like police, schools and the fire department.

Mailloux explained that in the last seven years, the town has seen about 716 housing units built. That's about a hundred a year. With a steady population increase like that becoming common across southern NH, Mailloux said there is a concern about housing costs and availability, not to mention the financial impact it will have on Londonderry in the future.

The town administrators proposed several different ways the town can keep things from getting out of hand. One way is through the master plan for the town. Another is through land acquisition and easements. There is also a capital improvement plan, managing public infrastructure, town staff technical assistance

Police Share Future Spending Needs with Budget Committee

KATIE O'DONNELL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry Police Department is looking to the future when it comes to its budget. At last week's Budget Committee meeting, Police Chief William Hart and Lieutenant Jason Breen discussed the status of the LPD's spending on what residents are getting for their tax dollars. So far, the news is positive.

"For the last 30 out of 31 years, the police has returned a surplus to the town," said Hart. He believed that managing the department's spending like that inspires trust within the community. But looking to the future, Hart and Breen warn that the department may see an increase in its spending habits.

"Londonderry is growing," Breen told the committee. "How do we as a police department endure with the times?"

In recent history, there have been three parts to the department. The operations section (or "the bread and butter," as Breen called it) deals with patrols, investigations and the special service bureaus. Most of the service calls get processed through here. Another part is the "glue" of the department: services. It encompasses dispatch, IT, records, training, fleet and building maintenance. Lastly is the Airport Division, which is fully funded by the airport itself. Londonderry receives an administrative fee for services provided there.

While covering the town and airport, the police have been more active in the last few years. Since 2011, arrests have gone up, incident reports have gone up,

Local Churches Gather to Pray for Peace and Hope

Parishioners of the Londonderry United Methodist Church (LUMC) and St. Peter's Episcopal Church gathered last week at LUMC for a "Vigil for Peace and Hope." Reverend Colin Chapman of St. Peter's and Reverend Amy Alletzhauser led a service of prayer for the victims of the recent natural disasters as well as the victims of the Las Vegas concert-goer victims. Those attending were greeted with the words: "From our fragmented world of our everyday lives we gather together in search of wholeness and community. By many cares and preoccupations for peace in Nevada, shelter and food for people in Puerto Rico and other places devastated by Hurricanes and earthquakes, we come."

Manufacturing Company Has Waivers Denied by Board

KATIE O'DONNELL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Londonderry may soon have a new manufacturer in town. The Planning Board heard a proposal from Lymo Constructions during its last meeting about plans for a warehouse and office space. It would be built in an industrial zone on Wentworth Avenue, off of Harvey Road by the airport.

"It would be a three story office with warehouse space towards the rear," said Kevin Lanson of Meridian Land Services. He is an engineer who explained most of the site proposal to the Planning Board. The building would be 26,608 square feet with 65 parking spaces broken up into two lots.

Lymo Construction wants to move from their Merrimack location to Londonderry. The company designs, manufactures, and installs exterior cladding for buildings. It does most of its business in the Metro-Boston area and uses a lot of tractor trailer trucks to get their good to their customers.

To accommodate for the trucks, the developer is seeking a waiver from the Planning Board.

Bosch Water Heating neighbors the property Lymo wants to develop and its driveway would cause Lymo to build one less than 200 feet away to make room for the large trucks coming and going from the warehouse. Lymo would also need a dual entrance for the trucks. In order to do that, it needs approval from the board to waive the current regulation, which says driveways need to be 200 feet apart.

Lymo is also looking to waive the need for a utility clearance letter from the Manchester Water Works before it can start the development. Lanson explained that the water works won't give the letter until they see a finalized site plan. The problem is Lanson and the developer can't get it until the town has the letter.

"I'm at a catch-22 here. I need the application approved before I get the clearance letter," said Lanson.

Board member, Ann Chiampa, voiced concern over not having the letter from the water works. "Why wasn't it addressed earlier?"

According to Lanson, Lymo issued draft copies to the water works, but they insist on a final plan so it knows what the needs of the building will be before giving the letter. Typically, this sort of thing is figured out beforehand so applicants can get their letters before having their approval meeting with the Planning Board.

Board members wanted to know exactly what Lymo plans to do in the warehouse and what materials would be used.

Dan Lynch, the president and founder of Lymo Constructions, said "the primary use of the facility will be to bend sheet metal for exterior cladding systems." He said the company primarily deals with aluminum and other sheet metals, but not chemicals.

The board was concerned about the two wetlands on the property. Lanson said they were applying for a conditional use permit because of the wetlands. The plan is to build a basin for collecting storm water within 50 feet of one of the wetlands, which would be allowed under the permit. The property slopes down, so the runoff would create a permanent pool of water. Lynch admitted is a potential for oil from the trucks could run down into the basin.

Town Planner Colleen Mailloux thought the plan did its best to deal with the wetland buffer and believed it should be approved.

The application for development was accepted, but the waiver for the utilities clearance letter was not. The final approval will be decided at the Nov. 8 meeting, giving Lymo time to get the letter from the Manchester Water Works.

but incidents dispatched have gone down. Breen said this is because more officers are out investigating reports, so there are fewer of them out on the roads to prevent crime. Breen reported that the best way for officers to deter issues is to have a visual presence in the community, either in person, or by driving around in marked patrol cars.

Breen went on to say that having some larger industrial areas affects policing in the town through an increase in theft, criminal mischief and traffic related accidents. He specifically pointed to the construction being done at the Market Basket plaza for phase one of the Woodmont Commons development as an example.

Looking ahead, Breen said the increase in residential developments through Woodmont Commons and proposed senior housing is something the department is looking at. Historically, senior residents tend to call the police for services more often than other age groups in town. The LPD also assists the fire department and emergency response teams at calls when available, which also adds to a potential increase in services to the elderly of Londonderry.

Chairman Tim Siekmann asked if any increase in travel at the airport was going to impact the LPD. Hart replied that there has been a steady stream of around 10 thousand or so travelers since last year and he doesn't expect the number to increase any time soon. The department used to send about 25 officers a day back in 2006, but now it's down to 18. The Airport Division makes up for about a third of the department.

Budget Committee member Kristen Hildonen asked how the department's budget compares to similarly sized towns in New Hampshire. Hart explained that Londonderry is on par with "a Hudson or a Merrimack" for cost vs services rendered.

"We think the way we deliver police service to the community is pretty good and we want to keep it that way," said Hart.

He continued, saying Londonderry currently has about 25 to 27 thousand residents. He projects that number will keep going up, putting the town closer in population to Salem or Derry within the next five years. Currently, the police department is not looking to add more positions to its staff, although it is still hiring for current openings. This could change, depending on how fast the town grows. More people means more offices are needed to respond to calls.

"As growth continues, we really need to be aware and aiming for the future," said Hart. He wants his department to keep being proactive in the community, and only reactive when necessary.

Fire Safety All Year

Although Oct. 8-14 was the official Fire Prevention Week this year, many fire departments are using the whole month of October to emphasize fire safety through public education events.

Derry Fire Department is holding an open house Saturday, Oct. 21, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. and Londonderry Fire holds its open house on Saturday, Oct. 14, noon to 4 p.m. Those are good times to stop in at your local fire station, meet the crew, and pick up some pointers on keeping safe.

This year's Fire Prevention theme is "Every Second Counts, Plan 2 Ways Out!" This is so important. It reinforces why everyone needs to have an escape plan and emphasizes the importance of having a smoke detector in every bedroom. Fire officials note that half of home fire deaths result from fires reported between 11 p.m. and 7 a.m., when most people are asleep. They also say that having a working smoke alarm cuts the chances of dying in a reported fire by half.

Other tips: Draw a map of your home with all members of your household, marking two exits from each room and a path to the outside from each exit. Practice your home fire drill twice a year. Conduct one at night and one during the day with everyone in your home, and practice using different ways out. Teach children how to escape on their own in case you can't help them. Make sure the number of your home is clearly marked and easy for the fire department to find. Close doors behind you as you leave this may slow the spread of smoke, heat, and fire.

Once you get outside, stay outside. Never go back inside a burning building.

Having a fire extinguisher is only the first step, knowing how to use it is the vital second step; smoke detector placement, use and testing; making a family escape plan; or the over-riding importance of getting out and staying out of a burning building, your local firefighters are ready to talk fire safety.

And with a fire doubling in size every 30 seconds, the importance of taking fire prevention seriously is a no-brainer.

Calling 911 is another focus of fire safety this month. With the prevalence of cell phones and the frequent absence of landlines, children and everyone else need to know where quick access to the phone is in the middle of the night.

The open houses are also a time for firefighters to explain their gear and air packs to children, so that the youngsters will have nothing to be afraid of if they encounter a firefighter during a fire.

As the saying goes, they're the ones running into a burning building as everyone else is running out.

Help them out and keep them and yourself safe by learning fire safety and fire prevention tips, and putting them into practice, this month and every month.

Tweeting Away The Presidency

To the editor:

We currently have problems with countries who could threaten our national security.

Evidently, Russia meddled in our election for President, and continues to hack into U.S. and European government and industry systems. Also, Russia occupies eastern Ukraine.

China laid claim to the South China Sea and is constructing bases on islands claimed by other countries. The Chinese military has confronted U.S. naval vessels and aircraft.

North Korea tests ballistic missiles which are capable of reaching the U.S. It is working on developing ballistic missiles outfitted with nuclear warheads by 2018.

Iran is involved in the Syrian War and is a backer of Islamic terrorist organizations. It keeps challenging our naval forces in the Persian Gulf and continually threatens to disrupt shipping in the Strait of Hormuz.

A dictatorship in Venezuela is causing instability in the country.

Given these situations, what are Trump's priorities? He is focusing on repealing Obamacare, building a border wall, banning transgender people from our military, worrying about news leaks, undermining the media, replacing White House Staff, pardoning a convicted criminal sheriff, attacking NFL and NBA players, and showering Putin with platitudes.

Trump is fraying the fabric of American society, tweeting away the Presidency and jeopardizing our security.

Trump is our disastrous President.

Resident Shares Softball Field Needs with Budget Committee

KATIE O'DONNELL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The softball field on Nelson Road is the only one like it in town. In fact, it's the only softball field owned by the town. The leagues that play there have been taking care of keeping the park illuminated since the early 1980s. But now, players like Jim Edwards are looking to shed some light on the field's current situation- it needs an update, and soon.

Edwards told the Budget Committee during the last meeting that the lighting at the Nelson Road Softball Field needs some improvements. The light fixtures were last updated in the 90s. Right now, halogen lights are mounted on 40-foot wooden poles that have been there since the 80s. The problem with wood is that it warps and twists from age so one of the lights now faces the wrong way. The poles are also so short, that when players try to look up to catch a ball, they are being practically blinded by the light.

Lighting is important to the adult and youth leagues that use the field. "Without lights the softball season ends in mid to late August because you can't see the ball," explained Edwards. With proper lighting, the season can run from mid-April through the end of October. The field gets used almost every day of the week during the season. There are 27 teams in total that use the park, comprising of almost 450 total players. About 75 percent of them are Londonderry residents.

"This is the only softball field in town," said Edwards. All the rest are owned by the schools.

The current proposal is to replace the poles and lights at the field with 50-foot poles for the infield and 30-foot poles for the outfield. A contractor would come and replace the lights with something more efficient. The adult league members would run the wiring to the new poles to help cut costs in lieu of fundraising. Overall, Edwards said the project would cost about 130 thousand dollars. It may lead to a one-time tax increase to cover the cost. Currently, the adult leagues all pitch in to keep the lights on.

By investing that money into new lights for the field, residents would be able to ensure that Nelson Road is the go-to place for softball in town. Edwards said that the expected growth within Londonderry would mean more potential players to use the field during the season. He explained that the field gets used for 600 hours a year. The new lights would run for about five thousand hours before needing to be placed.

Looking at the math, that means the town would get 17 years of softball out of the new lights. That comes out to only 7,647 dollars a year until they would need to be replaced again. It would only cost Londonderry 17 dollars a year, per player to keep the games at Nelson Road going. And a long-term investment into bringing a community together like this is usually worth it in the end.

LONDONDERRY TIMES

The holiday season is inching closer and closer, and while many things like the first snowfall, Christmas music and Salvation Army bell ringers are seen as the heralds of the season, Derry also has its own way of kicking things off.

The Greater Derry/Londonderry Chamber of Commerce is currently preparing for its 31st Holiday Parade, taking place on November 25, at 1 p.m.

Stephen Dente, who currently serves as the Chairman for the parade's committee, noted that once the chamber took over duties for the parade around three decades ago, they used the parade as a way to kick off the holiday business season.

The chamber has much to prepare in the remaining two months. While some of the duties are also performed by the Derry Village Rotary Club, one of their main objectives is raising money and finding volunteers.

The push for volunteers typically starts in October and the Chamber already has a core group of 14 people to help out, with organizations like the Greater Derry Boys and Girls Club usually providing services. However, the chamber has asked the community for at least 20 to 24 more volunteers for this year.

"You still have to refresh people about what's going on", Dente stated.

He noted, however, that the chamber tries to focus mostly on getting help from community groups and charitable organizations. The goal is to ensure that the funds provided to these groups will in turn be put back into Derry.

Floats are also key to the parade. The chamber is not too worried about them at the moment and they still have some rules in mind that they require participants to work with. Dente believes that the floats should be decorated to fit in with this year's parade theme, "The Sights and Sound of the Holidays." They also ask that none of the participants dress as Santa Claus, since the very end of the parade typically features Saint Nick.

Other than that, however, the chamber is giving those involved free reign to produce whatever they see fit. As with previous parades, this year's theme leaves a lot of room for float designers to express their creative side.

"Usually, [the floats are] pretty creative", Dente noted.

For more information on how to apply as a volunteer or register a float for the parade, please contact the chamber office at (603) 432-8205.

Lononderry High and Middle Schools Offer Dining On The Go

The "Dining to Go" vending machines are located in both the high school and middle school.

JACOB BARRETT
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Londonderry Middle and High School students now have access to food outside of normal cafeteria hours.

Sept. 27 saw the opening of Dining On The Go program, which entails vending machines which offers bottled water, fruit and sandwiches, salads, and other items for the students for purchase at any time throughout the day.

Londonderry School District Dining Services Director Amanda Venezia sent out an email to parents and guardians giving them some details about the machines.

To access these machines, students must enter their student ID numbers and birthdate. Money is taken from the student's cafeteria lunch account. Cash is also accepted. Students will also not be able to overdraw their lunch account to pay for items in the vending machines.

When asked what sparked the idea for Dining On The Go, Venezia said that there were growing concerns regarding students with no lunch period or had an extended day due to sports and other extracurricular activities. Now, students will be able to have access to food whenever they need it.

"What we were finding was that a lot of our students are either loading up on classes so they don't have a lunch block and they have an extended school day in that they are around for extracurricular and athletics before and after school," she said. "So that there was really a need to provide a need to provide fresh items and whereas students could access their accounts outside of normal business hours."

She said that the feedback for the machine has been very positive.

"The feedback has been absolutely fantastic... I think that the parents recognize the service that we are providing to their kids," Venezia said. "So it's just a comfort to parents to know that their students are being well cared for at Londonderry not only academically and athletically, but also nutritionally."

She added that parents will still have the ability to regulate what items students are able to purchase well as how much they are spending on vending machine items. They can also track their child's use of the machines online.

She noted that there are currently three machines in the school district, two in the high school and one in the middle school.

Moving forward, Venezia said that she will continue to monitor the output of the machines to see which items are popular and which aren't while also considering if it might be beneficial to add more machines in the future.

Recreation Committee Discusses Upgrades and Repairs to Facilities

KATIE O'DONNELL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Lighting and storage issues took the stage during the Londonderry Recreation Commission's latest meeting at Town Hall on October 9, whose goal it is to provide recreational activities and facilities for residents of all ages.

Members began the meeting by briefly going over old business, starting by noting how Londonderry Athletic Fields Association Fields on Sargent Road were recently discovered to have a grub infestation. Treatment is already underway to alleviate the issue.

The budget was also briefly brought up. Although no major expenditures have been necessary for the commission as of yet, their budget is not exactly massive and members did voice their concerns over what might happen to it if costs for other services in town, such as water, were to increase.

Upon moving on to new business, the commission continued to discuss the possibility of introducing a nine hole disc golf course to Londonderry. However, there have been some complications in terms of communicating with the individual who suggested the idea, as member Art Psaledas has tried to call him several times with no luck. Psaledas suggested that such a course would need to span about three or four acres and could possibly go around the Auburn Road landfill.

The town's skate park, located behind the Central Fire Station, was brought up next due to suggestions that the park gain some lighting so that visitors can use the park during night hours, although the park would not be open twenty four hours a day. Costs for the lighting are estimated to run around fifty to sixty thousand dollars.

However, several members felt that the issue of policing the area during these darker hours may ultimately hinder the effort.

"I can't see the police being in favor of it", Psaledas noted.

The same issue was also brought up concerning lighting at the Nelson Road Softball Field, due to the fact that the wooden poles used to hold the lights have a life span of roughly forty years and they are quickly approaching that benchmark. Some have also begun to show signs of twisting on the upper portions.

Such a renovation would run the town anywhere from one hundred and twenty thousand dollars to one hundred and fifty thousand dollars. The commission has been working with the budget committee to come to a solution, the latter of whom suggested that those who use the field should try to raise some money for the effort themselves.

Finally, the commission is currently taking bids via a petition warrant article to have a maintenance building built for the sake of equipment storage, as various field and groups have had to rely on metal crates to store their equipment so far.

The newer high density housing currently being constructed on Perkins Road, above, and on Stonehenge Road, right have been referred to many times as the town decides on implementing a Growth Management Ordinance.

and growth management ordinances. Each solution has its pros and cons, and residents may want to consider more than one to help manage growth in a way that will be best for Londonderry.

In 2010, the Open Space Task Force identified different land parcels around town for acquisition. In the last seven years, the town has acquired 100 acres. These pieces are part of conservation lands or easements, according to Mailloux. One of the issues with trying to control growth strictly through land acquisition is the town is dependent on if the land is available and if the owners want to sell it back to the town.

Zoning ordinances help to control what can be built where. 73 percent of Londonderry is what is called an AR1 zone, or an agricultural/residential zone that supports single family homes and duplexes. The town administrators could change the zoning ordinances to control housing or industrial builds, but that would only do so much. This is where managing the public infrastructure could come in handy. If there is no access to utilities, developers could be less likely to want to build in certain areas.

Phase development is another way to help manage projects, like Woodmont Commons. It's currently in phase one, and will go onto phase two in a few years and phase three a few years after that. By spacing out the phases, it allows municipal services like police, fire and the school district to budget for if they will need to add more buildings to accommodate for the new residents.

Londonderry used to have a growth management ordinance, but it sunset in 2015. Back then, the town was doing well enough financially to maintain and improve its infrastructure, so it was deemed unnecessary to keep it up, according to Dolan. One of the provisions of a GMO is to have a sunset clause built in. This was the town can "restrict projected normal growth no more than is necessary," said Mailloux in her presentation.

"GMOs don't restrict population, it delays it," said Dolan.

When the meeting was turned to public discussion, residents jumped at the chance to speak. One proposal was to have a "cost benefit" analysis study done so people can see how development versus conservation would affect costs and taxes. Having the numbers available would help tax payers see makes more economic sense, developments or conservation. Town Council member Jim Butler suggested that maybe conservation should be more "proactive." He believed "we have to just start saying 'no'" to developers' requests for waivers.

Smith explained that not all of the areas in town available for development are "shovel ready." Some have too many wetlands or are on slopes or would require too many waivers and changes before they could be built on. One way to help curb development would be to prioritize. "What tracks of land that could be developed are really worth developing?" Smith asked. By answering that, the town would have a better idea of whom to grant permits to first and how many should be given out.

Martin Srugis, Chairman of the Heritage Commission made the point that working on the GMO now is a little like "putting the cart before the horse." and added that these meetings may be too late with all the development happening.

There will be a second meeting on Oct. 21 at 8 a.m. for anyone who wants to take part in a brainstorming session. The first meeting was to inform the public of their current options. If people can't make it to the next meeting, Mailloux said at the budget meeting that they can visit her office or email her. Her email address can be found on the town website.

"We're always here as staff willing to hear concerns the public has," said Mailloux.

High School Dramas Club Hosts The Haunted Woods

KATIE O'DONNELL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Ghouls, ghosts and goblin will be taking over the woods near Londonderry High School again. The LHS Drama Club is having their annual "Haunted Woods" next week in the Panther Park ropes course between the Middle and High Schools.

Proceeds from the event will go towards funding the drama club for the year.

"It's our biggest fundraiser to support our program and our school musical that we perform in April," said Valarie Nelson, the staff advisor for the event.

son, the staff advisor for the event.

Thrill seekers and Halloween enthusiasts can brave the woods for five dollars each, while younger children can enjoy the "Goblin Garden" for three dollars a visit. The garden will feature more tame events, like face painting, crafting and games with family friendly costumed characters. Those who brave the spook-tacular woods will have a chance to see the drama club members perform original skits they wrote themselves.

It takes a lot of people to put this 15-year old event on. Nelson is assisted by fellow advisors, Serge Beaulieu and Zack Paone, as well as other parent volunteers. They work with about 60 students to coordinate the 3-day event.

The one person they can't coordinate with is the Mother Nature. Nelson expects a good turn out if it stays dry. "Provided we have good weather, we bring in a ton of people for this event," she said in an email.

The kids are the stars of the show. The students handle everything from what happens in the woods to doing the face painting in the garden. It's a terrific way for them to show off their creative sides and make some money for the drama club. It also gives locals the chance to come together for some scary fun.

"The thing I love most about this event is that it's an inexpensive night out for the community," explained Nelson.

The Haunted Woods will run Oct. 17, 18 and 19 from 6 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

The money raised will go towards the LHS Drama Club's production of Disney's The Little Mermaid in April.

The annual Haunted Woods event will have many scary scenes for those attending.

Woodmont

This is part of phase one for the development. Over the summer, crews were out doing what Mailoux called, "utility prep," of laying down pipes and lines for when the new buildings start going up. The focus has been on creating the infrastructure needed for the rest of the build. Another major part will be extending the road from the shopping area out to Pillsbury Road. It will be called, "Michels Way," but it will not be open for public use, according to Mailoux.

Mailoux said a traffic study was done of in the area so the developers and contractors would have an idea of how their work would impact the surrounding neighborhoods. So far, she believes that "appropriate mitigations" are being put in place to make sure residents are not too inconvenienced by the construction. She believes trucks from the construction area will use the Route 102 entrance to the plaza. However, the town does not regulate how the construction crews access the area.

Mailoux said there are "no long term closures or impacts affecting the Pillsbury area at this point."

The construction zone off of Pillsbury Road is coordinated through the town's Department of Public Works and the developers.

One of the developers, Mike Kettenbach Sr. of RMD, Inc. said the construction will be finished and Michels Way will be open to the public "the week of Nov. 1."

Utility lines are being laid along Michels Way as the Woodmont Commons Development progresses.

Along with the creation of Michels Way, the town will also see some improvements to Route

102 and Gilcrest Road over the next year or two. The state road will be widened to accommodate the increased flow of traffic to the area, while Gilcrest will have a turning lane added.

Once Michels Way is open to the public, Mailoux believes the connection will "reduce cut through traffic going down Gilcrest." As the construction continues, the Planning Board will keep an eye on any traffic changes that happen on either Gilcrest Road or Pillsbury Road.

"We're going to keep revisiting this," said Mailoux.

The entire Woodmont Commons development is over 600 acres. It stretches from the exit 4a construction area back behind Pillsbury Road and over past the Londonderry/Derry town line. The 10-year plan will focus on the area west of Route 93, concentrating more on the 45 acres surrounding the existing Market Basket plaza. Mailoux said phase one of the project should be done within the next four to five years.

North Elementary School Celebrates its 50th Year

KATIE O'DONNELL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The North Elementary School is having a birthday bash, and everyone is invited. "Our 50th celebration is open to all and will include activities, food, music, and an official unveiling and ribbon cutting of our new walkway and courtyard," said Principal Paul Dutton in an email.

On Saturday, Oct. 28 the Londonderry community is welcome to join past and present students and PTA members to celebrate a half a century of North School history.

There will be fun for all and plenty to look at with 50-years of memorabilia on display. Current and former students will also be playing music throughout the school to keep the party going.

"There will be a scavenger hunt for families to take part in, as well as tours of the building," said Dutton.

Visitors can look forward to cider, snacks and some apples donated from Mack's Apples and Sunnycrest Farm.

To get staff and students into the mood to celebrate, Dutton gathered about 550 members of the school for an early birthday photoshoot. Most of them sported school colors, forming a large, mostly red 50 outside for an aerial shot.

Families who bought a legacy brick last year will be able to see them for the first time in the new walkway and the Coltin Courtyard, named after former principal Mary Coltin. She and fellow former principal Rich Zacchilli are expected to attend with Pauline Jobin (wife of the late first principal Don Jobin) for the ribbon cutting ceremony in the courtyard.

Besides the new walkway and courtyard, the school now boasts "a nice picnic table area and reading benches built by Eagle Scout Alan Rankin," according to Susan Rudy.

The celebration and open house runs from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m. The ribbon cutting with the past and present principals is scheduled for 11:30 a.m.

Fire Department Hosts Annual Fire Safety Open House

KATIE O'DONNELL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

If you've ever wondered what it takes to be a firefighter, now is your chance to learn. The Londonderry Fire Department is hosting its open house at the Central Fire Station this Saturday, Oct. 14. The firefighters are welcoming fans big and small to come check out the trucks, equipment and learn some fire safety tips.

Fireman Phillip LeBlanc is part of the department's Community Relations Division. He loves seeing his neighbors come and spend the day at the firehouse. "My favorite part is interacting with the public," said LeBlanc. He understands that they don't always see people under the best of circumstances. So, it's important for the LFD to have days like this where they can promote positive interactions with the community.

"It's done every year during fire prevention week," said LeBlanc. It's a terrific way to get the community involved and educate them on fire safety and prevention.

There will be about 10 on-duty crew members available to give tours and demonstrations, as well as an extra 10 or so members and their spouses. Fire Chief Darren O'Brien and his wife will also be there to join the fun.

Aspiring young firefighters can look forward to trying on child-sized fire safety equipment and looking at EMS gear. Unfortunately, the beloved Manchester Fire Department's fire dog will not be available for this year's open house. Kids can still look forward to squirting the fire hose under the supervision of the LFD.

For the grown-ups in town, the fire house will be bringing the heat in the form of some tasty chili. "Try the world-famous firehouse chili," said Leblanc. "When it's gone, it's gone." For those who don't do spicy, there will also be cake served.

The firefighters will be giving away prizes for the kids that promote fire safety. There will be helmets, cups with safety tips, rulers and erasers. Families can receive pamphlets that will help them plan out fire safety plans for the home.

The open house will run from 12 p.m. to 4p.m. at the Central Fire Station located at 280 Mammoth Road.

Learning to extinguish fires will be just one of the many activities children will experience at the annual Londonderry Fire Open House.

Lady Lancer Soccer Squad Sees Record Slide Back to the .500 Mark

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Slip losses to Bedford and Manchester Central last week left the Londonderry High girls' soccer squad contemplating a record which had slipped back to the .500 mark to 6-6.

The Lancers had their season mark slip to one small notch above .500 with a 2-0 shutout loss to the Bedford High Bulldogs on the road last Tuesday, Oct. 2.

Bedford was fresh off of its first defeat of the season - to Exeter - so the hosts were certainly motivated to get themselves back on the winning path.

Jasmine Richards makes a stop on a penalty kick vs. Central last week.

The match was scoreless after one half of play, but the 8-1-2 Bulldogs changed all of that by scoring 23 minutes into the second and then again 12 minutes after that.

The Lancers almost always out-shoot their opponents, but on this day they saw Bedford bang 11 shots on their net while they countered with just six in the opposite direction.

"We were too tentative early in the game," lamented coach Derek Dane. "Better in the second half. We missed a penalty that would have tied the score with 15 to play."

Londonderry goalie Jasmine Richards made eight saves, her contribution to her 6-5 contingent's effort.

"Teams are playing a very direct game against us. We try to possess the ball and build an attack. They win the ball from us and play forward quickly. If you look at the teams that have beaten us, they have scored goals in the last 10 minutes of the game. We clearly need to be better at that," said coach Dane. "We're aiming to play well for 70 minutes, consistently. Thus far we've gotten 65 minutes on a few occasions. Despite our results, we're not too far from our goal."

The LHS crew then played its next match on its home pitch on Friday Oct. 6 against a Manchester Central contingent which began play with a 10-1 record and a 10-game winning streak rolling.

The Queen City crew made it 11 consecutive successes with a 2-1 nipping of Londonderry on the rival field.

In what was a very evenly matched game, with the ball being battered back and forth through the entire first half, the score sat deadlocked at 0-0 at halftime, and the Lancers grabbed a 1-0 lead 11 minutes into the second period when Sammy Leclair set up Gwen Barnes with a beautifully placed kicked from the left side just out of the reach of the Central goalie.

However, Central responded halfway through the second half with goal on a penalty kick inside the box in the 72nd minute of play and then again six minutes later to claim the 2-1 win.

On the penalty kick, goalie Richard made an outstanding initial save which was deflected right at an opposing forward, who knocked in the easy goal.

The locals out-shot their opponent by a 7-6 margin in the match, but the scoreboard showed the visiting Little Green bunch with one more goal than its host.

This week's slate had Londonderry looking to climb back up over .500 with success in road matches at Dover this past Tuesday the 10th - after Londonderry Times press time - and then on the Keene High Lady Blackbirds' home pitch this Friday, Oct. 13.

Londonderry Gridders Grab a Satisfying Shutout of Merrimack

Londonderry High defenders swarm Merrimack ball-carrier Ben Eichman during the locals' shutout victory at LHS last week. Photos by Chris Paul Londonderry's Jack Ogden gets hauled down by a pair of Merrimack Tomahawk defenders during the Lancers' big D-I win last Friday night.

LONDONDERRY TIMES

In the moments following the Londonderry High football squad's 21-0 white-washing of the visiting Merrimack High Tomahawks at LHS Friday night, Oct. 6, it was possible to look in any direction and see players and coaches of the squad in celebration.

In trying to sum up the Lancers' performance of their second consecutive shutout victory, the ideal word might be "satisfying." LHS coach Jimmy Lauzon was understandably over the moon after witnessing the performance which his now 5-1 Lancers put forth in moving forward to a strong season record.

"We told the guys all week that Merrimack might have the best player (Joe Eichman), but we have the better team. And I think we showed that tonight," said coach Lauzon.

The versatile senior, Eichman, and his younger brother Ben were unquestionably the now 3-3 Tomahawks' most effective weapons in the contest, in which they suffered their third loss in their last four games. But neither Eichman was productive enough to push their team to victory.

Londonderry tallied 241 rushing yards and 75 passing yards for a total of 316 offensive yards. The Tomahawks notched 208 total yards on 116 ground yards and 92 through the passing game.

Joe Eichman caught five passes for 44 yards and ran it seven times for 43. Brother Ben, who began the game as the Merrimack quarterback and notched 74 rushing yards on nine carries during the first two periods, moved to a wide receiver position for the second half and finished with six catches for 41 yards to go with his 81 total rushing yards.

The Lancers, meanwhile, got their biggest effort from standout sophomore running back Jeff Wiedenfeld, who tallied 129 rushing yards and two touchdowns on 22 carries.

Wiedenfeld had 50 rushing yards at halftime, but went for 79 more and his two scores in a big second half effort.

Another key factor in the Lancers' victory was their opponent's propensity for handing the football over on huge turnovers.

Merrimack lost the ball a total of four times on three fumbles and one interception, with the Lancers subsequently scoring following two of those four big turnovers. Londonderry only suffered one turnover in the victory on an interception at the very end of the first half, so Merrimack was unable to score as a result.

"We call turnovers drive-killers, but we've done a good job of taking care of the ball this season," said Lauzon. "Last year it was us that had the drive-killers, so we know how much they can hurt."

The Lancers put their opponent's first "drive-killer" to great use early in the second quarter after having senior linebacker Jack Connors scoop up a fumble at the Merrimack 43-yard-line with 2:34 to go in the first period.

The hosts then needed 11 plays - with one touchdown being nullified by an offensive pass interference penalty - to put up six points on an 11-yard pass from quarterback Mike McAlister to Tyler Kayo less than two minutes into the second stanza.

LHS kicker Pat Zepf added the extra point to make it a 7-0 game, and that's where the score would sit when the two teams adjourned for half-time.

Merrimack's first offensive series of the second half would end with another important turnover, a fumble which would be recovered by Lancer Ben Johnson with 9:07 to go in quarter three. And a little less than six minutes later the hosts would find themselves celebrating an 11-play drive which would cover 76 yards and culminate with a 7-yard scoring sprint by Wiedenfeld.

And the Londonderry lead would bulge to 21-0 with an eight-play drive which would come to a successful close when Wiedenfeld pushed three yards to pay-dirt with 10:39 left in the contest.

Along with his team's fine offensive and defensive showings, coach Lauzon was wildly-complimentary about the efforts of his special teams units in the pleasing win.

"Our special teams did an unreal job tonight. We didn't give (Merrimack) any good chances on punts or kickoffs, and that was something we were extremely conscious of," said the coach.

The Londonderry gridgers next look at a Friday night, Oct. 13 home match-up with a scuffling Alvirne Broncos' crew which steps into that fray with a 1-5 record. The Hudson squad has been outscored 228-60 in those six games, allowing an average of 37.5 points per game to its opponents while scoring precisely 10 per contest.

LHS Cross-Country Crews Prepare For Division I Championships

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Londonderry High School's cross-country teams both kept themselves in strong competitive shape in anticipation of the Division I meets later this month by competing - and faring well - in several events last week.

Both the Lancer boys and Lady Lancers had an extremely productive day in a tri-meet at Salem High School last Tuesday, Oct. 3.

Coach Matt Smith's LHS guys just obliterated their competition, scoring a match-best 15 points to easily outdistance the Winnacunnet High Warriors from Hampton (58) and the host Salem Blue Devils (68).

(16:36.6), Jake Donnelly in fourth (16:45.1), Nathan Seeley in the fifth spot (16:47.1), Jeff Cieslikowski in seventh (17:06.8), and Dylan Hotter in the eighth spot (17:18.4).

In the girls' race, the Lady Lancers' margin of victory was considerably smaller than the boys' had been but it was a win all the same. Londonderry finished first with a point tally of 25, Salem was second with a 31, and Winnacunnet's Lady Warriors were way back in third with an 85.

Lady Lancers' senior star Kalin Gregoire finished first individually in a time of 19:18, and her teammate Caitlin Boufford finished 21 seconds later in second place.

The local harriers then moved on to the Alvirne Battle of the Border in Hudson on Saturday the 7th. And the LHS boys once again showed themselves to be a force to be reckoned with by finishing a strong fourth out of some 18 teams.

The Concord High Crimson Tide finished first with a score of 30, Coe-Brown from Northwood was second (96), the Marshfield, Mass. entry ended up third (97), and the Lancers took fourth (107).

The LHS effort was paced by Heenan in 12th place (17:12), Griffin in 19th (17:27), Young in the 22nd spot (17:33), Seeley in 23rd (17:36), Donnelly in 31st place (18:02), Cieslikowski in 39th place (18:11), and Kerry Daley in 48th (18:23).

In the girls' race, the Lady Lancers wound up a modest 11th out of 15 contingents. The locals' effort was led by battle-tested veteran Gregoire with an excellent fifth place finish in 20:01.

Victory and Defeat Leave LHS Field Hockey at 6-5 in Division I

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

A tight win over Dover followed by a slim loss to Keene last week left the Londonderry High field hockey team contemplating the 6-5 record with which it entered this, the final week of the Division I regular season.

First-year coach Nicole Treadway's Lady Lancers nipped the host Dover High Green Wave by a 2-1 tally on the sea-coast last Wednesday, Oct. 4, but the locals' lengthy road trip to Keene two days later wasn't as fruitful due to a 3-1 defeat.

In the victory, Londonderry bagged a 1-0 lead at the 4:25 mark when Lauren Mullen was set up by Allie Marsh.

Dover netted the equalizer early in the second half, but some 13 minutes later Marsh potted the game-winner after receiving a feed from Maeve McPhail.

LHS goalie Morgan Brutus contributed two saves to the success, which coach Treadway termed "A great team win."

However, Londonderry saw its season record slide back to just one game over the .500 mark with the 3-1 loss in Keene, in which Mullen busted a 2-0 Keene lead in half by scoring at 19:25 of the second stanza before the Lady Blackbirds added an insurance goal.

"Miranda Galan had a great game in the midfield for us," said coach Treadway.

This week, the Lady Lancers looked at their final three matches of the regular season in the form of a home game against Manchester Memorial this past Tuesday the 10th - after Londonderry Times press time - followed by a short road run to Bedford on Thursday the 12th and a home match against Nashua North the next afternoon.

LHS Boys' Soccer Stays in Crowded Upper-Reaches of D-I Standings

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The top segment of the New Hampshire Division I high school boys' soccer standings is incredibly crowded right now. Londonderry High has found itself right in that mix at the end of last week after suffering one tough loss but rebounding with a slim win against teams right there in the upper-echelon of the standings with them.

The Lancers played host to the tough, Division I-leading Bedford High Bulldogs at LHS last Wednesday, Oct. 4 and became the 10-1 Bulldogs' 10th straight victim in a 3-1 match.

Londonderry moved to 7-2-2 overall - and 1-2-1 in its last four matches - with the loss, in which Bedford bagged a 1-0 lead in minute number 18 before the Lancers responded with a goal from Tyler VanAvery which was set up by Zack Deleo a minute later.

The Bulldogs would net what would prove to be the game-winner in minute 31, carrying a 2-1 lead to halftime.

The visitors then added an insurance goal 24 minutes into the second half to get to the 3-1 score.

Alex Hufford made seven saves in the LHS net, and his teammates put six total shots on the Bedford cage.

"Bedford is the best team we have faced to this point, and I thought our players hung in there well and actually scored the prettiest goal of the night," said LHS coach Todd Ellis. "Bedford did well at creating some great chances, and scoring off some of our mistakes. They set the bar, and we need to continue to work at our movement and taking care of the ball."

The Lancers' next game was in Manchester on Friday, Oct. 6 to take on a Central contingent which, like Londonderry, had gone 1-2-1 in its previous four matches. The Queen City squad stepped into that match with a 9-2-1 record.

The Little Green had begun its 2017 campaign by going 9-0-1 in its first 10 matches, but Central had slipped since then and suffered its third consecutive defeat in a 1-0 nipping at the hands of Londonderry in the Oct. 6 match.

The 8-2-2 locals potted the game's only goal when Owen Creed scored off of a set-piece at the top of the 18-yard-line with just seven minutes remaining in regulation time.

LHS keeper Hufford came up huge for the winners, stopping a full dozen Central shots.

"This was a great, tournament-atmosphere type of game," said coach Ellis. "Central is a great team. I thought our defense and Alex Hufford had their best game to date. Overall a tremendous team effort."

With that win to celebrate over the weekend,

Skilled Londonderry Lancer goalie Alex Hufford boots the ball down the field during a recent contest. Photo by Chris Paul the Lancers then looked ahead to a schedule for this week which had them playing host to Dover this past Tuesday the 10th - after Londonderry Times press time - followed by a home game against visiting Keene this Friday, Oct 13.

Shutout Loss, Shutout Win Leave Lady Lancer Spikers at 4-10

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry High girls' volleyball squad wound up on both sides of shutouts last week, losing the first but winning the second en route to the movement of its 2017 record to 4-10.

The Lady Lancers found themselves in the wildly-unenviable position of having to find a way past the undefeated Hollis-Brookline Cavaliers at LHS last Wednesday, Oct. 4. And the visitors ended up pushing their season record to a glittering 12-0 with a 3-0 shutout of their hosts. It was Londonderry's sixth straight defeat.

The Cavaliers bagged individual set wins of 25-12, 25-9, and 25-11 in making quick work of the 3-10 locals, who received six digs, three service points, and two kills from Maddie Sanborn, seven assists from Anna Haas, three service points and two blocks from Meghan Brown, and two kills from Carina Pento.

"There were moments that we played some of our best volleyball during this match," said LHS coach Matt Leonard. "We were just overmatched by their talent. Hollis-Brookline has been the best team in Division I for at least the past two seasons."

But two days later the Lady Lancers found themselves holding a magnificent chance to end their losing skid and perhaps even bag a shutout of their own when they played host to a winless Manchester Central crew which had yet to even take a single set this season.

The LHS crew kept that Queen City team completely winless by taking a 3-0 victory which featured individual set wins of 25-14, 25-8, and 25-3 in a true blowout.

Haas was a power for the locals, bagging some 25 service points with 12 aces along with 13 assists. Britney Clark contributed 10 service points with a pair of aces, and Sanborn bagged six service points with five aces as well as four kills. Josie Collins added four kills to the performance, and Carina Pento was good for three digs.

"We had a complete team effort tonight," said coach Leonard. "We stayed focused, had good energy, and communicated well on the floor. We still have our eyes set on a playoff appearance, and we are hoping that this win helps jump-start the last few weeks of the season. Any coach wants their team to peak as they come toward the end of the season. I hope this is the start of us peaking at the right time."

Coach Leonard's legion stepped into this week with a couple of road matches on its schedule. First was a Tuesday, Oct. 10 ride to Dover to play the Dover High Green Wave - after Londonderry Times press time - followed by a longer trip out to Keene on Friday to take on the host Blackbirds.

High School Inducts New Members to Hall of Fame

JACOB BARRETT
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry High School Hall of Fame recently welcomed a new class of inductees into its ranks.

The LHS HoF, which honors members of the LHS community who are involved in various aspects of the school ranging from academics, athletics community service and beyond, inducted 10 new members as a part of its 2017 class.

Jon McMahon ('07), Rebecca Parascandola ('10), Nick DeFrancesco ('11), Ryan Griffin ('08) Retired Superintendent of Schools Nathan Greenberg, Destination Imagination team coach William O'Connor, Faculty Member Mary DeWinkleer, Principal Jason Parent, Faculty Member Crystal Rich, and retired faculty member and current coach Wayne MacDougall were all inducted into the LHS HoF.

This year's Hall of Fame Committee Chair Howard Sobolov said that in his opinion, what brought these individuals into the Hall of Fame was their representation of excellence.

The common thread was excellence in their area of connection Londonderry High School, whether it was music, athletics, faculty, administration... we just felt that these people represented excellence in their, again, connection to the high school," Sobolov said.

Newly inducted members, such as Parent, expressed their gratitude for the honor.

"Well I was incredibly flattered by that news and appreciative that my work over these years was acknowledged in this forum because there's some incredibly successful people that are members of the Hall of Fame that have done so much good for Londonderry High School," he said.

Parent also touched on what he thought of his former students and HOF classmates now that their efforts at LHS have come full circle.

"I thought they took advantage of opportunities that were presented to them whether it was through athletics, through academics, that they really bought into that notion of being a Lancer, getting involved, making a difference while they were here and that led them to other opportunities to go to some great schools," Parent said.

Likewise, DeFrancesco said that he was appreciative that he was able to be honored with his former educators.

"I felt unbelievably grateful to be recognized [sic] as an equal with my mentors."

Rich, along with Parent, talked about what drives them to try to make a difference as educators and be so involved at the school and in the community.

"I think that kids are so much more than who they are in the classroom and it's our job to foster them as not only learners but as individuals and foster their skills as individuals," Rich said. "I think it's important for them to have those opportunities to kind of grow, not only students here, but grow as people and leave here as well-established members in the community who have had a lot of experiences to guide them in their future."

The inductees were honored during a ceremony held at LHS last month, during the same weekend in which Londonderry was facing Pinkerton for the Mack Plaque, and featured speeches by inductees and colleagues, a slide show for the inductees, and more. It was MC'd by Londonderry Town Manager Kevin Smith. They also received plaques which hang on the wall in the LHS lobby with others belonging to prior inductees.

"It was really amazing," Rich said. "It's a really special event because in our day-to-day, daily routine, I don't think that we really discuss how special Londonderry High School is so it really gives us an opportunity to let our feelings be known about Londonderry High School."

DeFrancesco said that he prefers the model of the LHS HoF and its inclusion of people from many different areas.

"I love the model because I was never expecting the hall of fame to include me because I'm a musician and it's usually athletes and I love that model. The way that they include everybody and how hard everyone has worked in the high school," he said.

He added that having the HoF could give students something to strive for, but that it shouldn't be the only reason they get involved in the community.

"I also think that it sets goals for students who want to be great influences, but at the same time, if you want to be an influence in your local community, you don't have to get into the Hall of Fame as well."

Nominations for the LHS HoF open again in April before the final inductees for the 2018 are decided in June. Sobolov said that nominees who do not get inducted into a HoF class stay with the committee for three years.
