Rabbit Population in Londonderry Still a Challenge for Fish and Game

ALEX GUITTARR
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Musquash conservation area here in Londonderry is filled to the brim with many animals that help give life and energy to the Musquash. However, not all of these areas have managed to maintain their ability to provide these animals with suitable habitats to survive, in particular, rabbits.

For this reason, the Londonderry Conservation Commission has been working with the New Hampshire Fish and Game Department as of late to remedy this situation, the progress of which was delved into during the commission's most recent meeting on Oct. 10 at Town Hall.

Council Debates $1 Million Rebate to Local Taxpayers

KATIE O'DONNELL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Londonderry Town Council Vice-Chairman John Farrell made a major proposition during the Oct. 2 meeting when he asked fellow council members to give one million dollars back to the taxpayers after finding out their would be a surplus in the budget.

During this week's Town Council meeting, on Oct 16, a debate took place on whether to give back the entire million in December, return some of the money, or wait until spring. The Unassigned Fund Budget (UFB) currently has enough money in it to allow the council to give a hefty amount back to the resident of Londonderry as a minor tax cut. Farrell wanted to return the full million. Councilmen Joe Green and Jim Butler were not so sure.

Green was afraid that by returning the entire million it could possibly create a tax spike. Just because it would lower the tax rate for next year, doesn't mean the 2019 tax rate wouldn't go up even higher than it is now. He doesn't want to "Kick the can down the road," over a one-time repayment.

Farrell responded, "I don't see a spike in the taxes."

Butler thought the money would best be used toward the Police and Fire Communication system.

Farrell then mentioned that the communications money was already written into the Woodmont Commons Agreement.

Councilman Ted Combes, on the other hand, said that he would prefer the money go to warrant articles to keep

Town Council Put an End to Impact Fee Program

KATIE O'DONNELL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

For a number of years now, Londonderry has stopped charging Impact Fees on developers. The Town moved to permanently suspend the program after several years since there is currently an excess of $10,000 in unanticipated funds related to the fees.

This past Monday, Oct. 16, the council held a discussion and subsequent vote on whether the money should be accepted into the general fund.

Impact fees were charges by the town to help the town cover additional costs to road upkeep, police, fire, schools, etc. that a land development may affect. The amount of fees charged depends on the size of the property and where it's located. The town stopped collecting these fees since February of 2013. According to the law, any fees not spent must be returned to the developer within six years of the original collection. As of the end of September, the fees total $131,880.09.

With the program expiring, that leaves some money to either be spend or returned. Doug Smith, the director of finance for Londonderry, recommended to the council that the expired fees be refunded. "Fees were collected under the ordinance that weren't spent by the Town within the six year statutory period," said Smith. Fees in this category total 58,717.04 dollars (including interest.)

Not all the impact fees will be returned. Some of them will be spent to pay down the mortgage for new police and buildings, according to Chairman Tom Dolan. This is allowed through Order

Fire Departments Opens Doors For Safety Week

The Londonderry Fire Department hosted its annual Open House at the Central Fire Station on Saturday, Oct. 14. Firefighters welcomed residents to check out the trucks, equipment and learn some fire safety tips. "The event happens every year during fire prevention week and a way to get the community involved and educate them on fire safety and prevention."

School Resource Officers Provide Peace of Mind at School

KATIE O'DONNELL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Keeping the students of Londonderry safe is the main goal of the school resource officer program. Chances are, you may not have seen or heard of these men and women who choose to patrol the schools rather than the streets. They are certified officers, but specialize in dealing with children and their needs.

"First and foremost, we are police officers," said School Resource Officer Adam C. Lane at the last School Board meeting. He was formerly with the Rockingham Sheriff's Department and a Sargent with the Kingston Police Department. Other officers have served with the Londonderry Police Department or other local police before becoming security resource officers. All together there are four officers and at least five crossing guards that work together under the guidance of Investigations Lieutenant Ryan Kearney to not only keep the peace in the schools, but to provide some peace of mind to the parents.

"Some kids will ask, 'are you a real cop?' Yeah... I'm a real police officer," chuckled Lane.

Lane is the SRO coordinator and works with the elementary schools and kindergartens. Officer Christopher Wiggin is over at the high school and Officer Emily Dyer covers the middle school. Officer Charles Nickerson serves as a substitute SRO.

He presented some information to the School Board about what the officers do and why the programs is so important to the town and district. He explained the role of the National Association of School Resource Officers in training and certifying officers to work in the school setting. According to the NASRO, a school resource officer "by federal definition is a career law enforcement officer who is deployed by an employing department or an agency or a community oriented policing department to work in collaboration with one of our schools." In other words, an SRO is an officer that works with the schools to establish safety and security for all staff and students.

The job of an SRO can take them to the athletic fields during a game, or the gym for an assembly, or to the classroom to help teach. At the high school level, officers are invited to discuss substance abuse in health classes, while the younger kids get treated to talks about traffic safety. The officers also assist with fire drills and lockdown drills. In more serious cases, the officers can be called on to help with unsafe situations or possible criminal activity on campus.

The role of the SROs is more just being reactive to what happens at the schools. Being proactive and engaging with the students on a daily basis is extremely important to not only building a good relationship with the officer, but creating a positive attitude about law enforcement in general.

"It's really important for us to be good role models and to be that good example and let them know we're there," said Lane. He went on to explain that the officers will often walk around the cafeterias at lunch and talk to the students, ask about their day and see what's going on in their lives.

The board had asked in the past for more money to hire additional SROs, and asked Lane how he could explain to residents why the programs is important to fund. He replied that they provide three things: first, safety to all staff and students at each school. Second, the offer community policing by making connections and relationships with locals. Lastly, they act as a liaison between the school system and the police department.

The next time you're at a Lancer football game, play, or any school related event, take the time to reach out and meet the men and women of the school resource program and see why they are more than just school resource officers- they're important members of the Londonderry community.

Tax Rebate

the tax rate level. It's currently 4.77 dollars on every thousand.

Town Manager Kevin Smith said Londonderry is currently looking at an increase of 29 cents or more for next year. However, he said "we had a pretty big surplus if you recall." In fact, the UFB has around 8.9 million dollars in it.

Chairman Dolan opined that the council should give the money back to the taxpayers, but they should also put some of it towards strengthening the infrastructure of the communications system, making it have a zero-tax impact. In short, Dolan wanted to let the people decide by making it a ballot issue. The system is projected to cost 2.7 million dollars to update the infrastructure and $500,000 for new radios. Green believed that any money that could go towards paying down the cost of the system would be worth it.

Earlier, during public comment, some residents who attended the meeting were concerned that not having the impact fees would put the town at risk for tax spikes in the next few years. The council assured those present that it would not.

Butler tried to table to issue so the council would have more time to consider their options, but Farrell and Smith explained that time was not on their side. Legally, the council had to decide so Smith could submit any additional revenue to the state so it could calculate the next year's tax rate.

The Director of Finance, Doug Smith said he and Town Manager Smith are waiting for the New Hampshire Department of Revenue to get back to them with the calculated rate so they can submit any "additional revenue to be applied" (the possible million dollars) back to the state for a final recalculated tax rate. Luckily, the turnaround for the new rate is swift. But it does mean the council had to decide on Monday how much would be returned to citizens of Londonderry.

The council came to a compromise, saying they would split the million dollar surplus.

The taxpayers in town will get a $500,000 offset and the communications system will get $500,000 to put towards the infrastructure.

A Change in the Landscape

Many of us bought our homes a while ago, probably in part because of their rural location. In many cases trees kept the house from full display to the road, and the road itself was often a winding country byway. But Southern New Hampshire towns have grown in population since then, and those rural byways have in many instances become alternative routes to get to the highway, or back-road speedways for drivers seeking to avoid daily traffic jams.

The population of our towns is headed only one way, and that's up. It's not just single-family homes that we're seeing under construction, but multi-story buildings housing apartments, 55plus and condos. And with the new residents come multiple vehicles, adding up to more and more traffic. Intersections that were once easily traversed using a stop sign now need lights, and have turn into nightmares at certain times of day and require drivers to exercise patience and self-control, two qualities that are often in short supply these days.

With the renewed emphasis on economic development and high-density work force housing 55plus, residential neighborhoods traffic, safety and noise situations can and are only get worse. Towns have Traffic Safety Committees to address residents' and businesses' concerns, and as we've reported, they are seeing plenty of action. Residents regularly ask for stop signs or reduced speed limits or "no parking" regulations, and while they often don't get what they are seeking the towns, for example, can't regulate state roads, many of which traverse our communities they point out traffic concerns serious enough to get people off their couches and seeking help from public officials.

As our towns grow, some at a much fast rate than others, we can rest assured that safety and traffic concerns will grow as well. What are the towns will to do to remedy these issues?

Now, maybe a tad to late, but late is better than never. Before more construction is in place, this is the time to start a public discussion about our roads, water, air, noise, and light. Can we as towns accommodate the growth that multi-family housing in former farmland will bring, for example? Are stop signs sufficient to regulate traffic from residential neighborhoods into larger and higher speed roads? How reliable are traffic studies? Are we taking into account the questions and costs of residential and business growth in neighboring areas? Are we now the suburbs many of us chose to leave behind? We shouldn't have to start amassing fatalities to make the point.

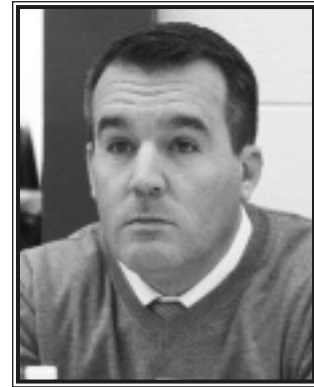

This Policing of Planning, Zoning, town and school are the responsible of we the people of the towns to make sure the greater good is being carried out in our behalf. I say be respectful but question about everything and get the documents to back up what is being said.

Town Manager Appointed as Pease Authority Chair

Londonderry Town Manager, Kevin Smith was recently named to take over as chairman of the the Pease Development Authority (PDA) board after George Bald, the former chair stepped down.

The first meeting Smith will chair is with the board of directors on Oct. 19.

New Hampshire Governor, Chris Sununu and the Governor's Executive Council recently named Smith to take over as chairman after seeing his success in Londonderry and Manchester with the

Kevin Smith

Manchester Airport.

Benjamin Vihstadt from the Governor's office confirmed the appointment by the Executive Council.

The PDA Board of Directors meets once a month and they are in charge of overseeing the PDA board meetings, where they review and approve all things related to the development at Pease. They are in charge of the oversight and governance at the PDA. The day-to-day operations at the PDA are overseen by a full-time professional staff.

Other board members include: Peter J. Loughlin, Robert A. Allard, Margaret F. Lamson, John Bohenko, Franklin Torr and Robert Preston.

The chairman position is not a paid position.

Rabbits

Heidi Holman was one of the two people to meet with the commission to discuss the five areas that they are focusing on in town to help rebuild the rabbit populations, all of which are projects that have been approved by the Town Council.

Namely, these five areas include Cooper Lot, David Drive and three portions of the Musquash. Cooper Lot has already been most completed at this point, with only a review of the area and finalized site plan necessary to finish the project. Overall, reproduction is still occurring throughout the area, with recent studies noting that more young rabbits have been noted throughout the population.

"It's still doing well; as well as it can, due to pieces of it being developed here and there", Holman noted.

Holman also mentioned that two master's students out of the University of New Hampshire are also working in this area to further study the behavior of the rabbit population.

Davis Drive is scheduled to be completed in around the next four years, with vegetation regrowth being monitored in order to see if more measures need to be taken to further assist the habitat.

As for the Musquash, most work is still in the planning phase, with only one portion currently being studied.

Holman was not alone in her efforts, however, as she also took time to introduce the other NH Fish and Game representative, Melissa Doperalski.

Doperalski will be working for the department for the next three years as a part of a grant provided by the Natural Resources Conservation Service. She has already been working closely with towns and foresters across New Hampshire to assist in efforts to preserve various wildlife habitats.

Doperalski was adamant to note that the costs of these projects will be strictly covered by various regional funds instead of forcing Londonderry to cover the costs.

Planning Board Revisits Site Plan For Cross Farm Development

ALEX GUITTARR
LONDONDERRY TIMES

As Cross Farm Development LLC continues their efforts to build an elderly housing development in Londonderry along Route 102, representatives for the company recently met with the Planning Board during their latest meeting on Oct. 11 to gain approval for a newly developed site plan.

Morgan Hollis, the attorney representing phase one of the development, including twenty one housing units, a club house and an assortment of site improvements.

Cross Farm had met with the board back in September to seek the same approval, but their requests were shot down due to Cross Farm's desire for several waiver requests on the site plan. Amongst them were waivers for rain basins at the entry of the site, other basins along the buffer zone for the site, a temporary recreation field that would be altered in future phases, an extension onto Pumpkin Patch Way and a lack of sidewalks along the properties.

Although their initial attempt was denied, Cross Farm eventually met with the Conservation Commission to discuss how they could alter the site plan in a way that would be more pleasing and acceptable to the board. As such, several changes were made to their requests, such as a much smaller recreation field.

"This is a much improved application from the prior one", Hollis noted.

Several board members proceeded to give their opinions on the new site plan once Hollis had made his case.

Board Member Peter Commerford noted that he was quite concerned over the additional traffic that the project would bring to the surrounding area upon being fully completed and that a traffic report on the area provided by the Department of Transportation only took into account traffic caused by the first twenty one units of the development. He also voiced his concerns over how effective the septic system would be in this area.

Vice Chair Mary Wing Soares noted that she was quite confused over the removal of development's club house from its original location, and was confused over what Cross Farm planned on doing with that patch of land in the future.

However, members did seem quite satisfied with how the extension onto Pumpkin Patch Way would allow police and fire personnel an easier time accessing the development.

Ultimately, with to the massive changes made to the site plan, Cross Farm's requests were approved unanimously by the board.

OBITUARY Catherine S. Ganley

Catherine S. Ganley, 89, of Londonderry, NH passed away Wed., Oct. 11, 2017 at the Maple Leaf Healthcare Center, Manchester, NH surrounded by her loving family. She was born on Dec. 1, 1927 in Lowell, MA a daughter of the late John and Mary (McQuade) Quinn. Catherine grew up in Lowell and was a graduate of Lowell High School. Planning Board Reviews Plan For New Housing on Rockingham Road

ALEX GUITTARR
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Residents who frequently use Rockingham Road near Exit 5 may have noticed that the home alongside the Let's Play Music studio was recently demolished. This is because the owners of the property have been working towards putting together a brand new structure in its place, which was the second topic of discussion for the Planning Board during their Oct. 10 meeting at Town Hall.

Alan Johnson, the owner of Ramp Holdings, LLC, as well as the applicant for the site plan, made his case to the board alongside John Rokey of Rokey Consulting to elaborate on the details of the project.

The application was actually a continuation from a previous meeting with the board last month, but this portion was focused more so on the new structure, which would be a two story commercial building alongside additional parking spaces and assorted site improvements.

Rokey told the board that the case had already been settled with the music studio and their newest site plan worked around the studio so that the two structures could co-exist. Although Johnson admitted that the building was mainly for himself and his family, there were eight units within the structure that others could rent out if they wished.

Rokey went into detail about what needed to be done in order to put the project together, including seeking approve from the Heritage Commission about demolishing the original home, working to safely connect the town's thirty inch water line along Route 28 to the new structure and working with town staff and fire officials to make sure that the project went off without a hitch.

Overall, the only real concern about the project came from water alleviation within the back of the property. They originally planned on developing a detention pond, but due to slopping issues, they eventually settled on a Stormtech system to assist with drainage. None the less, the two were not looking for any special variances for the project, but simply approval of the site plan.

"We're not asking for any waivers; we're not asking for any conditional use permits", Rokey stated.

While issues concerning access to the drainage area were mostly ironed out by the board, several neighbors and abutters did come to the meeting to voice their concerns over what impact the construction and structure itself would have on the neighborhood. Those in attendance showed concerns over the height of the building, noise and lighting from the construction becoming a nuisance and an assortment of zoning issues that may come into play because of the project.

Board member Jim Butler seemed to be in agreement somewhat with the fact that the project may cause some issues, not to mention that the state may overturn any input the town has since the road is a part of Route 28.

"We're dealing with zoning; we're dealing with traffic; we're dealing with noise; we're dealing with the state", Butler noted.

However, the board realized that several ordinances currently in place would ultimately quell any noise and lighting concerns facing the residents and since no members could see any other issues with the project, the site plan was approved unanimously.

Waste Management Working to Keep Town Clean All Year

KATIE O'DONNELL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Every resident of Londonderry knows how beautiful the town is, and the members of the Solid Waste and Environment Committee work hard to keep it that way. At their monthly meetings, the committee brainstorms different ways to maintain the town's natural allure and how to preserve it for future generations.

Recently, the committee had discussed examples of what the members call, "unconscious recycling." It's ways that people already reuse materials in their home without realizing it. Using old clothes for oil rags or for buffing your car in the summer is considered unconscious recycling. Reusing old plastic shopping bags as small trash bags in your bathroom or when you walk dog and donating clothes to the local consignment shops or thrift stores are all types of unconscious recycling. It cuts down on unnecessary waste and extends the usefulness of items in your home. That's what the SWEC seeks to do.

According to the committee's page on the Londonderry website, dealing with waste is the fourth largest line item in the town budget. Being more environmentally conscious not only keeps the town looking nice, but it helps tax payers from spending more on the budget.

At their October meeting, the SWEC talked about different projects it can work on to educate residents on how they can better manage their waste at home and help cut costs. Joy Muller is already looking towards next year's Beautify Londonderry event and plans to reach out to the local PTA groups for volunteers. Chairman Paul Margolin suggested that some of the rotaries and cul-de-sacs in town could be places for gardeners to volunteer during the week-long event. Muller said people could also do improvements in front of the Town Hall and the Police Department building.

There was some discussion on whether people who donate their time to maintaining neighborhood sites should get their names on a plaque so they get credit for their hard work.

Margolin said he would reach out to the Conversation Committee about collaborating on columns for the local newspapers as a way to keep the community informed of any updates the groups feel are important for residents to know about. Rick Darveau said he would look at the SWEC and Department of Public Works websites and figure out how to better organize the information there so it's easier for residents to find.

Another type of waste management that people may not think about it is the proper disposal of needles. Lynn Wiles had been working on promoting the sharps collection kiosk at Town Hall by talking with local pharmacies to see if they would tell their customers about it. The program is still a work in progress, if anyone has used needles they are looking to dispose of in a safe and clean manner, they can bring them to Town Hall.

The committee is also planning on an HHW Day (municipal waste collection) at the Londonderry Athletic Fields Association fields from 9 a.m. to noon on Nov. 18. There will be an oil collection day at the same time. More details will be printed when made available.

Londonderry Rotary Club Readies For Fall Fling Fundraiser

KATIE O'DONNELL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Rotary Club of Londonderry is inviting residents to their annual Fall Fling fundraiser this Friday, Oct. 20 at the Nashua Country Club.

The Rotary Club is raising money for charities like Liberty House, End the 68 Hours of Hunger, local soup kitchens, various scholarships and more. The theme for this year's event is "Stomp Out Hunger with the Tom Dixon Band." Attendees can tap their toes and stomp their feet to the band's country, blues and contemporary sound.

The night will begin at 6 p.m. with a cocktail reception, complete with cash bar, and some passed hors d'oeuvres. The band will kick off their show at 7:30 p.m. The Rotary Club will have a live auction and other fundraising activities during the music breaks, all led by auctioneer John Farrell.

The Fall Fling fundraiser is a way for the Rotary Club to support its mission of "service above self." The money raised by the club during the event goes back to into the community through charities and scholarships. One of this year's recipients, Liberty House, is a Manchester based non-profit that offers services to homeless veterans. Another one of the charities, End the 68 Hours of Hunger, works to make sure children have enough food to eat on the weekends when they don't have access to school sponsored meals.

Tickets are still available for purchase at 50 dollars per person. Anyone who wants to join in on a night of fun, music and giving can buy a ticket at Martinelli Travel on Nashua Road or call them at (603) 434-4989. You can email Faye Sell from Martinelli Travel at faye@martinellitravel.com. Professionally Yours Hair Salon on Mammoth Road is also selling tickets and can be reached at (603) 432-3040. You can also call Mike Dolan at (774) 245-2279 about tickets, or visit the club's website at londonerryrotary.com for more information.

Color Run Comes Back to North Elementary School

KATIE O'DONNELL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

A rainbow cloud will descend on the West Road Soccer Fields this weekend at the second annual Parent Teacher Association (PTA) sponsored Color Fun Run. Throngs of white-clad runners and walkers will race on Sunday, Oct. 22 starting at 1 p.m. to raise money for the PTA.

"Last year everyone had great fun and it was well attended," said North School's Susan Rudy in an email. There were around 400 participants for the inaugural run.

This year, the PTA said it has 338 signed up, but may have more with people on the course when you count the parents chaperoning children.

Kate Dahlgren, the PTA president, said some favorites from last year will be there, as well as some new additions. There will be "someone Executive Health & Sports Center "leading a warm up before the race as everyone waits in their Wave Queues," she said. There will also be a variety of booths for everyone to check out, like face painting, temporary tattoos, and a photo booth. Corporate sponsors of the run will also have booths set up. There will be DJs and music from Flashback Entertainment while J&L Photography are returning to capture every colorful moment of the run.

"We have set it up to be a one mile walk/run where you get blasted with color powder at four different stations around the course. After all participants cross the finish line, we do a Color Blast Party where everyone throws color up into the air and of course you get covered in color!" said Dahlgren in an email.

The run brought in 11 thousand dollars for the PTA last year. Dahlgren estimates that that this year will bring in close to 8 thousand dollars. Funds raised from the run go into a general bank to help cover different expenses throughout the year, like lowering costs of field trips for parents, paying for authors to come in, Staff Appreciation Week, and the Honey Pot Bank program that teaches kids how to properly save money.

"It has been our biggest fundraiser last year and again this year. We are lucky to have such a supportive community at North School that make these events possible," said Dahlgren.

Principal Paul Dutton was at the race all day last year, helping with set up and clean up. Vice-Principal Jill Connors serves on the committee that coordinates and organizes the run. Some of the teachers will be on stand-by to throw color colored powder at the runners at the stations and help set up the course.

Dahlgren believes "this fundraiser, like the others we run, help the PTA give back to our school which is what the PTA is all about!"

Lawmakers Step Up To Bat For Homeless Veterans

KATIE O'DONNELL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

New Hampshire lawmakers finally settled the ultimate debate— not who has the best policy, but who has the best pitch. The Democrats and Republicans from the House took a cue from their Washington counterparts and came together for an old fashioned, all-American game of softball to raise money for veterans.

“Softball is a game that can be played at any age,” said Rep. Shannon Chandleley (D-Amherst). She worked as one of the organizers on the Democrats side under team captain and Minority House Leader Steve Shurtleff.

The idea for the game came to Rep. Mike Moffett (R-Merrimack) after seeing how successful the annual GOP/Democrat Congressional Baseball Game was (despite the attack on players on June 14 that wounded four, including House Majority Whip Steve Scalise). Moffett proposed the idea to his fellow members of the bipartisan New Hampshire House Veterans Caucus.

The friendly rivalry between the two parties would bring people across the aisle down to the ball field as a fundraiser. Shurtleff said it should go to the Liberty House, a Manchester based non-profit that provides services to homeless veterans. The parties were responsible for forming teams and gathering donations, while the players donated 50 dollars each. Sales from food and drinks also went to the charity. The game was held at the Anheuser-Busch Athletic Complex in Merrimack.

Bill Zarakokas acted as the M.C. for the afternoon, his quick wit cutting through the sunshine as he announced the ongoings of the game. Zarakokas is the Director of Community Relations for the Liberty House and is a six-year veteran of the Coast Guard. His voice may sound familiar for anyone who has been to a game at Gill Stadium in Manchester.

He explained that that Liberty House is a halfway home for homeless veterans in need of support. It houses up to 10 vets at a time and has seen up to 30 residents come and go throughout the year. Despite having fewer than a dozen beds, the house offers services for upwards of 225 homeless vets living on the streets in the Manchester area. They get the same services the residents get, except a bed. Some of those supports include food, clothing, advocacy for counseling and physical therapy and housing assistance.

“There’s no age limit. There’s no discrimination with regards to gender or branch of service or anything else,” said Zarakokas.

Several of the players are veterans themselves or have ties to the Liberty House. Rep. Al Baldasaro of Londonderry estimated he has been working with the Liberty House for about 13 years. A former Marine himself and an officer of the Marine Corps League, he works closely with local veterans and ones from around the state to make sure that, just like in the service, no one is left behind. He said, “New Hampshire is second to none,” when it comes to helping veterans.

“It’s unbelievable the support we get in Londonderry and throughout the state,” he said.

As the Vice-Chair of State-Federal Relations and Veterans’ Affairs Committee, Baldasaro works with members of both parties to create and propose legislation that will help veterans get the services and supports they need. He is currently working on a bill that would create a Commissioner of Veterans’ Affairs instead of a Director of Veterans Services here in NH. This would open communications to vets and give them “a voice at the table with the governor, with the rest of the commissioners,” Baldasaro said. Just like in the spirit of the game, he said when it comes to veterans’ issues, “I always put a democrat on my bill.”

He said people often talk to him to voice their complaints with the current system. That’s why he was thrilled to join the softball game and bring awareness and some much-needed money to the Liberty House.

“We thought we’d do the same thing in New Hampshire. We thought it was a great idea,” Baldasaro said after hearing Moffett’s suggestion for a ball game. “It’s a great thing for the community.”

Baldasaro served as the third base coach, rallying players on to make that final stretch to home plate. “It was great to see the Democrats and Republicans come together,” he remarked. He said the event raised about 10 thousand dollars. He even reported that the Trump Foundation is donating 100 thousand dollars to Liberty House, as well. Baldasaro served as the National Veteran’s Chair for President Trump when he was still a candidate.

Another Londonderry statesman also joined in on the fun. Rep. Doug Thomas certainly put his pre-game stretching to use rounding the bases to make two runs. “Doug Thomas did a great job,” exclaimed Baldasaro.

Thomas was excited to see the level of camaraderie each team displayed. “My favorite part of the day was everyone had a good time and there was a lot of good will,” he said.

Thomas formerly served in the Air Force and is also a member of Veterans Caucus. He explained that it was a newly formed this year and had both veterans and non-vets as members. Thomas said they are already planning for next year’s game, but are shooting to do it in May so it won’t coincide with the midterm elections.

The softball field was a sea of red and blue (with the red vastly outnumbering the blue) and the sounds of cheering filled

Impact Fees

2017-26, which states the Town Council can transfer the impact fees to the general fund if they are only used for "the reimbursement of the Town or School District for the cost of public capital improvements for which they were collected...." The amount of money from fees that was allocated for police and for costs total 73,163.05 dollars. The Town Council approved moving the money to the general fund.

Dolan said the program was being ended because the council didn't like the program. It's now officially closed, but the fees collected after Nov. 1, 2011 will be returned since they will not have hit the six-year expiration mark and there are no planned projects for the town to spend the money on.

Residents Chris and Debra Paul, also owners of Nutfield Publishing had raised concerns earlier in the meeting, during public comment, that what they had paid toward Impact Fees in the past had expired and should be returned in full. They felt the funds were not being used correctly and thought that the amount extracted was greater than the impact their business had on the community. The amount paid was about $3,500, to which only about $1,500 would be paid back through the town's disbursement.

Dolan instructed Kevin and Doug Smith to work with the Paul's to come to an understanding.

Resident Ray Breslin wondered why the surplus was being placed into the general fund to which Councilor Dolan said that under the law it was the appropriate thing to do.

The rivalry between the Derry Demon Ladies and the women of the Londonderry Wildcats continued for the fourth annual meeting at Humphrey Park in Derry on Friday night, Oct. 13, under the lights. After three scoreless quarters the Demons took a one touchdown lead and eventually won the game 8-0. This year the benefit game raised $3,600 for Kathy Mangano a server at Red Arrow Diner in Londonderry. Kathy was recently diagnosed with stage four brain cancer. A single mother of three, Kathy has always worked hard to support herself and her family. As she prepares for the fight of her life, she continues to work her shifts at the Red Arrow Diner in order to pay for surgery, chemo treatment and radiation. The Wildcats' moms were favored to win this year, since they took first and second place at the annual Jamboree the week before, beating seven teams. The Wildcats and Demons have played four consecutive years, with the demons taking home the trophy every year.

LONDONDERRY SPORTS

History Made During Annual Londonderry Elementary X-C Races

Runners from all three Londonderry elementary schools await the starter's gun during the annual race last Wednesday, Oct. 11.

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

There is always an air of excitement surrounding the annual Londonderry Elementary Cross-Country Meets that pit the young runners from the Londonderry North, South, and Matthew Thornton Elementary schools against one another.

And that was the case once again on Wednesday, Oct. 11 when the local schools' athletes gathered on the Larry Martin Track at Londonderry High School to test their skills on the LHS cross-country course.

And still further excitement was generated by the Matthew Thornton boys' crew, which set a new scoring record with its tremendous performance in the first of the two races.

"For the first time in the history of this event, a team has registered a perfect score," said race director and Londonderry High teacher and track and field coach Sue Johnson. She then gave the gathered throng of athletes and their supporters the news that the Thornton boys had bagged an unbeatable score of 15 in taking the boys' title.

The Matthew Thornton boys got the first five racers across the finish line and an amazing seven of the top 10 over in establishing the new meet record.

North finished a distant second with a score of 55, and the South boys finished with a 66.

Race winner Ryan Clegg beat everybody in finishing first overall in six minutes and 20.92 seconds. He was followed directly by runner-up and teammate Aidan Board (6:21.80), Zach Montagón in third (6:24.08), Parker Lewis in the fourth spot (6:25.36), and Ryan Clivio in fifth (6:25.68).

The Thornton chain was finally broken by South harrier Jameson Seaman in sixth place (6:27.04) and North's Dane Sanderson in seventh (6:29.67), but the meet champs also got eighth and ninth thanks to the efforts of Mameru Cronin (6:31.91) and Zach Green (6:32.22) respectively. Aidan McKinley of North's Linsey Gregoire proved unbeatable in the girls' elementary school race.

North placed 10th in 6:33.21.

And still more Londonderry history was made in the girls' race, with the North School's Linsey Gregoire leading her team to a title by winning the girls' race in 6:40.28.

Gregoire is the younger sister of Londonderry High senior cross-country and track and field star Kalin Gregoire, who has been a superb race competitor since her own pre-teen years. And the elder Gregoire enjoyed the honor of handing the girls' title trophy to her little sister.

North won the girls' team hardware with a team score of 23, with Matthew Thornton's ladies finishing second (38) and South got third (63).

The second through 10th finishers in that race included individual runner-up Lillianna Cawthron of Thornton (7:14.17), her teammate Meara Horan (7:17.31), Audrey Hughes of North in fourth (7:18.49), her teammates Kate Sloper (7:20.63) Sadye White (7:24.85) and Reagan Anderson (7:30.83) in the fifth through seventh spots respectively, Nicki Santos of South in eighth (7:33.10), and Faith Carrier (7:39.58) and Aliviyah Awad (7:43.31) from Thornton in ninth and 10th respectively.

All in all, 59 boys and 45 girls took part in the beloved annual races.

Aidan Board, Mameru Cronin, and Ryan Clegg of Matthew Thornton admire the boys' trophy.

Lancer Boy Booters Bound Into Final Week With a Head of Steam

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry High boys' soccer squad rolled into this, the final week of the 2017 regular season, with a three-game winning streak going and a great, 10-2-2 record upon which to build.

The Lancers snagged their third win in four matches and their second success in a row with an extremely pleasing 4-1 trouncing of the visiting Dover High Green Wave at LHS last Tuesday, Oct. 10.

Coach Todd Ellis' charges moved their season record up to an excellent 9-2-2 - while making Dover 3-9 - in a victory in which they grabbed a 1-0 lead in the first half and added to it during half number two.

Owen Creed handed his side the 1-0 lead at the 12-minute mark of the contest on a set-up by Josh Ryan. And that was where the score stood at halftime.

Josh Rutina gave the hosts a 2-0 lead 11 minutes into the second half - with Ryan getting that assist too - but the visitors sliced their deficit in half to 2-1 some five minutes later.

Luca Amarena then scored twice during a six-minute span to push the Lancers' advantage up to 4-1. He scored the first of those in minute number 65 after being set up by Nick Dawe, and James Cranmer slipped the pass to Amarena on the final goal in minute 71 of the contest.

Londonderry goalie Alex Hufford made six saves his contribution to the local squad's big success. And coach Ellis was a pretty happy guy in the wake of the win.

"When we win the first and second ball and tackle well, we are fun to watch," said Ellis.

And saying the Lancers had themselves plenty of fun in an 8-1 throttling of the visiting Keene High Blackbirds at LHS on Friday the 13th might just be a colossal understatement.

Zack Deleo, Ryan, and Tyler VanAvery each netted two goals and Rutina and Cranmer each scored one as the hosts simply overwhelmed their now 5-8-1 opponent.

Amarena set up two of the LHS tallies and Rutina and Creed each registered one assist as the locals drove out to a 4-0 advantage by halftime and never had to look back over their shoulders.

Goalie Hufford made four stops his contribution to the lopsided win.

"Great effort, emotion, and decision-making throughout the game today," said coach Ellis. "It was great to be able to have everyone take part in the match."

The squad's final regular season matches this week lined up as a short trip up Mammoth Road to the Queen City to play the Manchester Memorial Crusaders on their home pitch this past Tuesday the 17th - after Londonderry Times press time - followed by a finale at home against Nashua North on Friday, Oct. 20.

LHS Harriers Compete in RI Events

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Londonderry High School's boys' cross-country squad had two groups of runners compete in races at the prestigious 35th Annual Brown University Northeast High School Championships in Goddard State Park in Warwick, RI last Saturday, Oct. 14. And coach Matt Smith's Lancers stood up pretty tall in both events.

One Londonderry crew placed a very satisfactory seventh out of some 23 teams in the boys' junior varsity Division II race, and the other snagged seventh out of 10 contingents in the tough boys' championship race.

In the JV event, the Lancers had six finishers cross the line among the top 100 runners in a race which boasted some 243 finishers. The LHS crew was paced by Kyle Hogleund in 10th place in a time of 17 minutes and six seconds.

Hogleund was followed by teammates Eric Nowack in 16th (17:18), Dylan Hotter in 34th place (17:41), Christian Smith in the 64th spot (18:18), Harrison Feig in 93rd place (18:52), and Cam Robbins in the 95th slot (18:56).

In the championship race, Londonderry freshman phenom Will Heenan went top 20 by crossing the line 17th overall in 15:56.15. He was followed by Ryan Young in 31st (16:20.61), Jake Donnelly in 38th (16:26.96), Nathan Seeley in 41st place (16:29.31), Matt Griffin in the 43rd slot (16:36.35), Kerry Daley in 49th place (16:54.08), and Jeff Cieslikowski in the 57th spot

LHS Football Squad Wins Big, Assures Itself of Playoff Berth

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry High football squad accomplished quite a bit with its lopsided victory over the Alvirne High Broncos at LHS Friday night, Oct. 13.

In claiming their 36-6 hammering of the now 1-6 Alvirne side from Hudson, the now 6-1 Lancers assured themselves of their first trip to the Division I playoffs since 2014 and bagged their third consecutive 2017 win.

After a sloppy start to the game that saw Alvirne race out to a fast 6-0 lead, Londonderry ran the show and built upon a 7-6 halftime lead with 30 unanswered points in the second half.

Senior quarterback Mike McAlister and sophomore running back Jeff Wiedenfeld combined for 308 rushing yards and four touchdowns in helping to push their Lancers to the big victory. All in all, the victorious locals tallied nearly 500 total offensive yards (491) on 427 ground yards and 64 passing yards.

"When you rush the ball 50 times and you're in the 300's or higher (of yardage) the results are usually pretty good. And that was the case tonight," said LHS coach Jimmy Lauzon.

And just as impressive as those numbers was the performance of an LHS defense which has now allowed just one touchdown in its last 12 quarters of play.

The visiting Broncos had 109 rushing yards in the first half, and they only managed 17 more of them - all on runs - in the second half. Alvirne ran nine offensive series' and was forced to punt the football away five times, had two drives end on failed fourth-down attempts, had one missed field goal on a fourth down, and scored once.

The hosts endured a pretty bumpy start to the game after their defense forced the Alvirne offense into a three-and-out punt. But on that punt the Lancers fumbled the football away and the Broncos recovered it on the LHS 25-yard-line. Four plays later the Hudson-based team was celebrating the only six points it would notch on this night.

"It was disappointing that we gave them a short field to work with early on, but you have to deal with adversity sometimes and we did that pretty well," said Lauzon.

Londonderry bagged a 7-6 lead early in the second quarter when it capped off a five-play drive with an eight-yard scoring run by Wiedenfeld. And kicker Pat Zepf's successful extra-point gave the locals a lead they wouldn't relinquish.

The score would sit at 7-6 at halftime, with Alvirne notching 109 rushing yards and LHS having a modest 160 total offensive yards on 96 rushing yards and 64 of the passing variety.

Even though the Lancers were in the lead, the coaching staff felt the need to light a fire under its charges at halftime by challenging them to take the game over and put the important win away. And that's what they did.

Alvirne attempted to turn the momentum in its direction at the start of the second half by trying an on-side kick. But that attempt failed, and Londonderry started the first offensive series of the new half with the ball on the Broncos' 42-yard-line.

It took the hosts just five plays to get into the end zone, doing so on a 12-yard sprint by quarterback McAlister.

Londonderry then attempted an on-side kick of its own, and that was successful with Kevin Robicheau recovering the football on the Broncos' 46.

The next drive - which sputtered a bit with a long run by Wiedenfeld being called back due to a penalty - consisted of 11 plays and culminated with a one-yard scoring push by McAlister.

The Londonderry offense possessed the ball for six series' in the second half and it tallied points on every one but the last - during which the hosts ran out the clock - while their defense stymied and frustrated the Alvirne offense at every single turn.

McAlister's second touchdown was followed by a 35-yard field goal by Zepf with 1:46 left in the third quarter. And in the fourth the Lancers added touchdowns from Wiedenfeld on an 8-yard run and Cam Storace on a 39-yard sprint.

Wiedenfeld finished with 184 yards on 23 carries and McAlister had 124 yards on 13 runs.

The Lancers now face two tough, final regular season games against 5-2 Nashua South and undefeated Salem in their hopes of pushing into the post-season on a roll.

Harriers

The New Hampshire divisional title meets will be held in Manchester's Derryfield Park next Saturday, Oct. 28.

The LHS Lady Lancer harriers competed in the girls' varsity Division 2 race in Rhode Island that day, and they finished a very decent 11th out of some 25 teams. A large crowd of 168 young women ran that race, and Londonderry had four of its athletes finish among the first 100.

Kalin Gregoire paced the locals by finishing an excellent ninth overall in 18:51.24. Some 13 spots behind her in a very strong 22nd place was her teammate Caitlin Boufford (19:33.57). Alex Seeley placed 79th overall (20:51.04), and Kaelyn Rourke squeaked just inside the top 100 by placing 99th (21:21.59). Other Londonderry High competitors at the Rhode Island event included Jasmine Brown and Cailey McDonough.

Lady Lancer Soccer Squad Drives Back Over the .500 Mark

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Neither Dover High nor the Keene High teams proved to be much of a match for the Londonderry High girls' soccer squad last week.

The LHS squad was intent upon raising their season record above the .500 mark from 6-6 going into those games, and that's what they did with the two successes.

In the Tuesday, Oct. 10 match on the seacoast, the Lancers got a 3-1 victory after trailing by a goal in the early going.

The Dover crew scored the game's first goal just three minutes in, but the Lancers answered four minutes later when Darby Dupuis was set up by Izzy Bourque. And Gillian Vilela netted what proved to be the game-winning goal in the 22nd minute of play following a set-up by Alyssa Anderson. And 2-1 was where the score stood at the halftime break.

Londonderry got an insurance goal 10 minutes into the second half when Olivia Stowell set up Gwen Barnes for success.

The locals pelted 16 shots on the Dover net, while LHS goalie Jasmine Richards turned aside three of the four shots she faced in the match.

Three days later the Londonderry squad faced Keene, on their home turf, sporting a 4-8-1 record.

Londonderry had a rough start to the contest, but before it was over the locals would snag a 7-1 win to celebrate on the ride home.

There was only one goal scored in the first period, and it did belong to the locals thanks to Gwen Barnes' unassisted tally. But the Lady Lancers were able to add onto that lead - and then some - in outscoring their opponent by the huge tally of 6-1 once they were all loosened up and in the flow in the second half.

Lauren Misiaszek and Olivia Stowell each scored twice in the second stanza, and Sammy LeClair and Dupuis each potted one shot as the Lady Lancers bagged the lopsided success.

Laurel Goding dished out no less than three assists in that half, and Stowell, Vilela and Abbie Ellis each set up one goal. Keeper Richards contributed three saves to the success, and her teammates powered a total of 20 shots on the Keene cage.

Senior Lancer defender Megan Brown helped her team get their record back over .500 last week.

The Lancer squad 17th - after Londonderry then rolled into this week Times press time - at 4-9-1 looking at two final regular season games. The Manchester Memorial, followed by a Thursday battle at 4-10 Nashua North.

Lancer Golfer Boyle Gets to the State Individual Championships

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Despite the fact that their Londonderry High School team didn't qualify as a whole for last week's Division I State Championships at the Portsmouth Country Club in Greenland, Lancer golfers Brian Boyle and Kyle McEachern both got to play in that Tuesday, Oct. 10 event and fared pretty well.

Boyle shot an 83 that day and qualified for the state individual tournament back at that Portsmouth venue the following Saturday, Oct. 14, but McEachern fell a bit short of that goal in shooting a 91. The two Lancers competed as individuals in the team tourney as Londonderry's top two players during the regular season.

In team competition that day, the Bedford High Bulldogs bagged their fifth Division I title in the last six years with Keene and Pinkerton tying for second out of 10 competing teams.

At the individual championship event over the weekend, Boyle shot an 83 to finish with a composite score of 166 for the two days of golf. That score tied him for 16th with Pinkerton stalwart Lewis White.

LHS Field Hockey Crew Finishes Regular Season Strong

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Consecutive, convincing victories in its final three matches of the 2017 regular season last week left the Londonderry High field hockey squad riding a winning streak into the Division I post-season.

The Lancers rolled over the contingents from Manchester Memorial and Nashua North and best the Bedford High crew by a solid two-goal margin in ending the regular season at a fine 9-5.

Londonderry finished up the season with a three-game winning streak and victories in five of its last six regular season battles.

The locals powered their way toward the post-season with an 8-0 trouncing of the struggling Manchester Memorial Crusaders at LHS last Tuesday, Oct. 10.

Vanessa Magoon got two goals and Katelyn Meuse, Julia Fothergill, Allie Marsh, Courtney Shay, Lauren Mullen, and Olivia Ward each knocked home one shot in the lopsided win. Assists were contributed by Maeve McPhail, Grace Chicko, Emily Cowette, Marsh, and Krista Fletcher. LHS goalie Morgan Brutus only had to make one save in her team's third shutout of the campaign and its third win in its last four matches. Memorial fell to 1-12 with its 12th straight loss.

"This was a great team win, and it was also our 'Playing for a Cure' game and we raised money and awareness for cancer," said coach Nichole Treadway.

And first-year coaches team bagged its fourth win in five matches - moving its 2017 record to 8-5 - with a 4-2 bouncing of the Bedford High Bulldogs on the road Thursday, Oct. 12.

Londonderry raced out to a 2-0 lead in the first half thanks to goals from Shay with 3:30 left in the period and McPhail with just 24 ticks of the clock remaining in that stanza. Allie Marsh assisted on the second of those.

Then in the second half, Alivia Proulx made it a 3-0 contest (from Marsh) and Marsh made the score 4-0 before Bedford was able to pop home a shot. LHS keeper Brutus made six saves her contribution to the solid win. Her teammates peppered the opposing net with some 16 shots.

"Caroline Russell and Vanessa Magoon both had great games for us defensively," said coach Treadway.

And the LHS coach was left all kinds of pleased by her team's regular season-ending 9-0 bashing of Nashua North on Friday Oct. 13, in which it received three goals apiece from Fletcher and Shay, two from Marsh, and one off of the stick of Lauren Mullen in a true blowout.

Assists were passed out by Fletcher and Lauren Doherty, and goalie Brutus didn't have to make a single save in the big success.

"Krista Fletcher had a great game offensively," said coach Treadway.

LHS senior Katelyn Meuse makes her way past a Nashua North High defender during the Lady Lancers' hammering of that opponent last Friday afternoon. Photo by Chris Paul

The Lancers learned Monday afternoon that they'd bagged the fifth seed and a bye in the first round of the Division I tournament, but alas not home field advantage.

Hence, Londonderry will play a quarterfinal-round match with the fourth-seeded Bishop Guertin Lady Cardinals in Nashua on Saturday, Oct. 21 at 2 p.m.

Lady Lancer Volleyball Crew Falls to Dover But Clips Keene, Memorial

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

A loss to the Dover High Green Wave followed by a victory over the Keene High Blackbirds last week brought the Londonderry High girls' volleyball squad into this final week of the regular season with a modest, 5-11 record, but continuing hopes of qualifying for the state tournament.

As expected, the Lady Lancers had their hands full with a tough Dover High team on the seacoast Tuesday, Oct. 10.

Londonderry fell by a 3-1 match score and saw its record slip to 4-11 against a Dover crew which advanced to 11-3.

Dover routed its guest by a 25-12 tally in game one, but the Lady Lancers came flying back to take a 25-18 victory in set number two to tie the match score at 1-1.

However, the hosts claimed wins of 25-12 and 25-13 in games three and four to end the battle.

"Despite the tough scores during sets one, three and four, it felt that we were very competitive throughout the night. There were very long stretches when the team was completely focused and locked into playing together. It has been three straight matches that the team has competed at a high level often," said LHS coach Matt Leonard. "Despite the loss, we are on a roll of how we want to play moving forward for the remainder of the year. Obviously, Friday at Keene is a big match for us. If we continue to play as we have, we will be one step closer to locking up a playoff spot as one of the top 14 teams."

Anna Haas tallied 21 assists and nine service points with four aces for the locals, Maddie Sanborn contributed 10 kills and eight digs, Meghan Brown notched seven kills, and Gillian Lynch bagged eight service points.

And the Londonderry crew excelled in its important battle at Keene on Friday the 13th, claiming a 3-1 victory to remain in the tournament hunt.

The locals bagged a 25-15 win in set one, but Keene rebounded well with a 25-20 win in set number two. However, the Lady Lancers claimed 25-12 and 26-24 successes in games three and four to collect the match success.

Haas was good for 34 assists, Britney Clark registered 25 service points, Sanborn notched 15 kills and seven digs, and Josie Collins collected 13 service points with eight aces as well as 12 kills.

"We did some really great things centered around teamwork, consistent energy, great decisions, and clutch play," said Leonard. "We were down 18-24 in the fourth set, and Britney Clark served seven straight points for our victory. We are now one win away from locking up a playoff spot and we have played four really good, competitive matches in a row. Tonight was the most complete team effort to date as the better players stepped up and the role-players played their roles very well."

Heading into this final week of the regular slate, the Lancers were looking at matches at home against Manchester Memorial on Monday night followed by a road contest at Nashua North on Wednesday, after Londonderry Times press time.

The LHS crew snared a big success - its third in its last four matches - on its senior night at home against Memorial Monday.

Londonderry won by a 3-1 match score, serving the Lady Crusaders their 12th straight defeat and making them a woeful 1-15 in what must seem like one long 2017 season.

Classified Advertising

READERS ARE CAUTIONED that we occasionally run ads that require an initial investment or money in advance. We urge our readers to “do their homework” before responding to any ad, check out the advertiser thoroughly and verify their claims to your total satisfaction. Only then should you proceed at your own risk. We try to screen ads that require you to send money before receiving a product or service. But these efforts are no substitute for your own investigation, and we don't endorse or guarantee any claims made in any of the ads we publish. If you want more information about claims made in ads on subjects such as work at home opportunities, travel or vacation specials, purchasing land or vehicles from government surplus or below wholesale, loans or other credit opportunities (including credit repair), or weight loss and other health products and services, we urge you to contact the Office of Attorney General, Consumer Protection Bureau, 33 Capitol Street, Concord, NH 03301 (603-271-3641) or the Better Business Bureau at 603-224-1991. Publisher is not responsible for any loss of business if an ad does not run, and we reserve the right to revoke any ad if deemed necessary. No refunds will be given for prepaid ads.
