Beautify Londonderry Efforts Underway, More Help Needed

MIKE BYERLY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

After two weeks Beautify Londonderry has reached its half way point and results this year are running well behind normal. In 2017, volunteers collected almost 400 bags of trash. So far in 2018, about 100 bags have been collected.

However, there have been several bright spots. This past Saturday for three hours a group of ten volunteers cleared forty-eight bags of litter from Auburn and Old Derry Roads. Six of the volunteers live in neighborhoods along Old Derry Road, two came from other parts of Londonderry and two were missionaries for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints doing service work. One volunteer who lives in a neighborhood off Old Derry Road, Amy Bahan, Stonyfield Responds to Flack in Response to “Stirring it Up”

MELISSA BETH RUIZ
LONDONDERRY TIMES

“Monstrous,” “A gene from a fish (put into) a tomato,” were a couple of the reactions young children had to GMOs, which were used in a commercial for Stonyfield Organic in January of this year. And these reactions have stirred quite the controversy among consumers.

Stonyfield Organic began a few decades ago as a nonprofit organic farming school on a mission to help small family farms thrive, to keep food and its production healthy, and to help protect the environment. To fund this endeavor, co-founders Samuel Kaymen and Gary Hirshberg began selling yogurt made from the milk of the seven cows living on the school’s farm.

Now, 35 years later, Stonyfield continues to produce its yogurt, among several other dairy products, out of its headquarters in Londonderry, proudly stating that it is all made possible without the use of pesticides, hormones, antibiotics, or GMOs.

In April, “Peel Back the Label,” a movement dedicated to uncovering the truth behind “Deceptive food labeling and marketing,” took notice of the 25 second Anti-GMO advertisement, saying that the ad was not only deceptive, but manipulative.

“It’s all about ratcheting up the fear to boost the bottom line,” Peel Back the Label said to close up its April 11 case study on the company.

“Consumers deserve better than this.”

GMOs, or Genetically Modified Organisms, have been a subject of controversy for years. The dictionary defines GMOs as, “Organisms whose genomes have been altered by the techniques of genetic engineering so that their DNA contain one or more genes not normally found there.” With the growing interest in organic and whole foods in recent years, and for fear of nutritive value lost through genetic modification, more and more people have begun looking for the Non GMO Project Verified labels on their produce, eggs, and other foods.

While the main concern among consumers

Conservation Commission Talks About Future Plans

LORI COSTA
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Conservation Commission met on Tuesday, April 24, to discuss a variety of things that require their attention.

First off was the continuing issue of what to do about the nefarious activities at the Kendall Pond Conservation area. Neighbors in the surrounding area have grown increasingly aggravated with living in vicinity of the parking lot of the conservation area, where they have seen the unruly behavior for themselves and feel it has been going on for far too long.

In response, the neighbors have come together to form the “Friends of Kendall Pond” (FOKP) to make sure their voices are heard as well. At the previous Town Council meeting, the neighbors were frustrated that the Conservation Commission went on ahead without their plan to make the decision to install cameras in the parking lot area. Chairman for the Conservation Commission Marge Badois said at Tuesday night’s meeting that getting input from the FOKP was not part of the agreement” that they two groups had made.

To keep transparency between the two parties, a meeting was scheduled between the Conservation Commission, the neighbors of Kendall Pond, and town staff to discuss how they would handle these issues going Great Wave The Londonderry Historical Society hosted a program by the New Hampshire Historical Society (NHHS) called "Immigration and the Granite State" at the Leach Library recently. Mary Morris, a NHHS educator, spoke about what it was like to come to New Hampshire during the "Great Wave" of immigration from the mid-1800s to the early 1900s. Morris fielded a number of questions from the audience who attended and displayed a collection of artifacts related to the people who immigrated to New Hampshire during that time period. The program was free and open to the public.

South School Teachers Get Some Expert Advise

Last month, South Elementary School teachers were visited by two 'giants' in the field of literacy research. Dan Feigelson and Ellin Oliver Keene were at the school for three days working with both the teachers and students on reading comprehension and conferring about their reading.

The school set up a closed circuit model where Ellin and Dan conferred with a student in one room and a group of teachers watched and reflect in another room.

Ellin Oliver Keene has been a classroom teacher, staff developer, non-profit director, and adjunct professor of reading and writing. For sixteen years she directed staff development initiatives at the Denver-based Public Education & Business Coalition. She served as Deputy Director and Director of Literacy and Staff Development for the Cornerstone Project at the University of Pennsylvania for four years. Ellin works with schools and districts throughout the country with an emphasis on long-term, school-based professional development and strategic planning for literacy learning. She serves as senior advisor at Heinemann, overseeing the Heinemann Fellows initiative and is the editor of the Heinemann Professional Development Catalog-Journal.

Dan Feigelson has worked extensively in New York City schools as a teacher, staff developer, curriculum writer, principal, and local superintendent. An early member of the Teachers College Reading and Writing Project, he has led institutes, workshops and lab-sites around the world on the teaching of reading and writing. A regular presenter at national conferences, Dan is the author of Reading Projects Reimagined: Student-Driven Conferences to Deepen Critical Thinking www.heinemann.com/products/e05127.aspx, and Practical Punctuation: Lessons in Rule Making and Rule Breaking in Elementary Writing www.heinemann.com/products/e00906.aspx. He lives in Harlem and Columbia County, New York.

Historical Society Hosting Antique Appraisal Event

MIKE BYERLY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Have you ever wondered what that antique in your attic or basement is worth? On May 20, the Londonderry Historical Society is hosting an Antique's Appraisal Day where antiques and collectibles can be evaluated as part of a fundraiser for the Historical Society. Appraiser, auctioneer and antique dealer Peter F. Reidy will be on hand to appraise and provide information on items brought in by the public. Reidy has over 30 years of experience and currently owns Discerning Eye, an estate appraisal and disposition planning business. Formerly he served as the Historical Society Curator in Goffstown.

The flow of the event is modeled after a similar event held last year at Derry's Robert Frost Farm. Unlike Antiques Roadshow that you may have seen on PBS television, each item will be appraised one at a time by a single appraiser. Each item to be appraised will be registered and assigned a number with appraisals done in order of arrival. Reidy will discuss and appraise each item in a forum where everyone in attendance can hear the information. According to Society Curator Anne Chiampa, "The goal of this format is to make it educational for everyone in attendance."

Any type of item can be evaluated; however, the public must be able to carry in their own items or for larger items provide photographs of it. The cost to appraise single items is $10 whereas three items can be done for $25.

This event is on Sunday, May 20, from 1 to 3 p.m. at the Londonderry Historical Society's Parmenter Barn at the Morrison House Museum at 140 Pillsbury Rd. For more information, e-mail info@londonderryhistory.org or visit their Facebook page at facebook.com/TownOfLondonderryNHHistoricalSociety. Light refreshments will be served.

and public interest groups regarding the genetically modified foods is that they are unnatural and therefore harmful in some way, others claim that these advancements in biotechnology work to benefit consumers and farmers alike.

"I understand that science and advancement in technology may not be natural," said Jenifer Tilton of Flood Brothers Farm in Clinton Maine, a farm which supports the Peel Back the Label campaign, "But on the other hand, the more we've used biotechnology, we've had extra time to really work on growing the health of our land."

Tilton explained that through the use of GMOs and Biotechnology, farmers have the potential of reducing the carbon footprint through more efficient planting. According to Tilton, her farmers have been able to use far fewer inputs in growing genetically modified seeds, and they are able to use less fuel and labor, reducing costs and growing healthier plants with disease and pest resistance.

Regarding the ad in question, Kristina Drociak, Head of Public Relations of Stonyfield Farm in Londonderry, answered that the intention was to start a conversation among families about what is in the products that they buy. She explained that the youngsters' reactions were completely unscripted, and that they were simply asked to talk about what they knew about the subject of GMOs.

"We asked kids what they thought," Drociak said. "This one with the tomato and the fish, we're not standing here saying we believe that is true, we asked her what she thought (GMO) was, and somewhere she must have heard that."

Drociak mentioned that as a company, Stonyfield believes in transparency, and that they believe consumers have the right to know what is or isn't in the food that they purchase.

On the other side of the GMO coin, Tilton stated that Peel Back the Label is also asking for transparency. "I'm all for promoting yourself," said Tilton, "But if your only way is from saying someone else is doing it wrong...I think you're doing it wrong."

Drociak mentioned that the controversial commercial has had no impact on product sales, and that Stonyfield will continue its mission to be a force for change and to make the world a better place through food. For its 35th anniversary, Stonyfield has made a commitment to working with 35 communities across the country to remove harmful agents in children's parks, hoping to spread awareness for the use of pesticides beyond food.

As for whether or not the commercial was deliberately attacking other companies, Drociak reiterated that it was simply a matter of supporting consumers' right to know, as according to a recent survey by the Center for Food Safety, 89% of consumers favor mandatory labels to indicate whether or not a product uses GMOs.

"We're not sitting here saying they're safe or not," Drociak stated. "We're just saying, 'Why can't we just have a label?'"

A Habit Worth Developing

With the calendar and the weather aligning at last, piles of snow have become just an unpleasant memory. But what they left behind are piles of trash that have been buried through the winter, as well as the latest beer cans and fast food wrappers tossed out the windows of passing vehicles glaring visual reminders of just how lazy our fellow citizens can be.

One good thing about the snow it masked most of that mess. Now it's out there in all its ugliness.

Spring is the time for town cleanups, and we encourage our readers to participate. There's plenty of trash, leaves and downed trees to go around.

The weekend weather has been getting inviting, a good time to spruce up your street and bring back "curb appeal." It's disheartening to realize how many people are throwing trash and garbage from their cars as they drive by. It's scary when we realize that included in the unsightliness that much of what's tossed could easily have been recycled.

We can instill is that trash does not get thrown out the window, but put in a litter bag in the car, and empty it into your garbage or recycling when you get home. You wouldn't take your garbage and dump it over the fence onto the next-door neighbor's property, so why would you throw it onto the road that you pay taxes to maintain?

Wherever we live, we should expect our streets and lawns to be clean, not repositories for someone else's garbage. We should do our part to make sure they stay that way.

Whether you decide to join a formal, Town organized clean-up or you take it upon yourself to keep a portion of the road where you live or the land where you walk free of litter or you do both we urge everyone who's physically able to make a commitment to keep their town looking its best throughout the year.

Doing this unfortunately shines a light on a huge problem and that is told by what we see along our roads, which paints a picture that is far from pretty.

The alcohol bottles used condoms and used syringes. Highlights the under belly of our towns. By documenting where we are seeing these things and give the information to the police, the school board as well as town council. Making our official know of areas that need to watch is a good thing, how else can we make it better. We all live here and we should do our share to make it a clean and safe place to live. After all it is all of our home.

So, pride in your town is a habit well worth developing.

Lovely Meet and Greet

To the Editor;

Several Londonderry Middle School Eighth-Graders recently toured the State House. It was my pleasure as Londonderry's State Representative to greet to greet them. I make it a point to be there whenever our Londonderry students visit. I want to thank Mr. MacLellan and the other attending teachers, assistants and parents who accompanied the students. Our tour guide was Virginia from the Visitor's Center who always gives a great historical overview of the State House. In the Hall of Flags, she relates many stories on how New Hampshire contributed to the Revolutionary and Civil Wars and of course always points out our first American in Space, Alan Shepard's picture. We then brought them to Representatives Hall where she involved them in a mock session on how bills were discussed and voted. It seems the mock issue for this tour was whether or not to have free drivers education. This presented some interesting discussions! After I said a few words about how and why our country was formed, we answered questions before moving on to the Senate Chamber. There, Virginia explained how the senate works. We then went on to the Executive Council's conference room where they learned how the Executive Council works with the Governor. The students engaged in very thoughtful discussions and posed several insightful questions. I am always impressed with the level of knowledge and preparation our Londonderry school district imparts to our young citizens. The State House offers a wonderful place to explore a part of New Hampshire's history and to see where our state policies are debated. I encourage all to visit the State House and see how such a small state made a huge impact in our nation.

Parking Gate at Kendall Pond

To the Editor;

Is the conservation committee being held hostage in order to get the parking area at the Kendall Pond gated? This is the impression I got watching and listening to The April 16th Council Meeting.

The conservation committee stated initially they weren't the ones who wanted a gate. Jim Butler (council member) told me recently he is the one who wanted and wants the gate.

At this April 16th meeting Jim Butler stated, [I feel spoke condescendingly] that the Council saved the Conservation Committee $20,000 in the Griffin Road purchase. And they can't give $15,000 for a gate? I did not like his tone or body language when he said this. Griffin Road has nothing to do with Kendall Pond. Then Council Tom Dolan suggested perhaps the Town Council give $10,000 & the Conservation $10,000. He further stated if conservation areas are not to be kept open for the public use then perhaps (we the Council / Town) should stop giving them money. Intimidations? I feel the Conservation Committee spent much time researching, looking at all avenues including a gate. For those representing us to say such things, I feel is way out of line.

John Farrell then stated if they do not pay for the gate then maybe the town would come up with the money. At the beginning he stated the town did not want to give any money.

Please, watch this meeting on local cable access or online, (April 16, 2018, Town council meeting). Listen to their tones; watch their body language and facial expression. Then decide for yourself if you feel there is more to this than a gate.

Are things being said to make it look like Kendall Pond has the worst problems than any other area in town? I strongly wonder!

I have left messages for both Tom Dolan and John Farrell Monday April 30 I have not yet heard back from them.

Successful right from the start, both financially and competitively. We did not buy an existing business, equipment or name. NEGTC was created by us and we are so very proud of all that we have accomplished. The business did so well that we needed to expand and decided to purchase land and construct a new facility that we opened in Sept. 2001, a facility that continued our growth and success.

The sale of this property is now making it possible for us to retire.

Our last day for private lessons, preschool, recreational and cheer classes was Saturday, April 21.

Our last day for all teams and preteam EXCEPT Girls Level 3 and Xcel Bronze was Friday, April 20.

Our plan for Girls Level 3 and Xcel Bronze is to end their program with their State meet the week-end of May 5-6.

We are here should you need our help in relocating to another gymnastic facility.

Our Girls & Boys teams have been so successful over the years and this year has been no exception. They have won so many team titles throughout their competitive season this year... it makes our decision to retire even sweeter!

Thanks to all our dedicated and loyal staff for their service and support over these 24 years. We couldn't have done it without you.

Also, thank you to all our loyal and supportive customers. Our success was due in part to your commitment and support.

To all our gymnasts, past and present...we are so very proud of all that you have accomplished and all that you have become. This success doesn't just happen. It takes a lot of hard work and is something really special that you should be proud of. We will never forget you and wish you all continued success in and out of your gymnastic careers. We will always be your biggest cheerleaders!

Thank you, Saint Mark's 9:30 a.m. Choir

To the Editor;

Here I am. Thanking a group of people who have volunteered their services to sing at St. Mark's Church being dismissed like a group of delinquent students who have shown improper conduct. In Father Mike's letter on April 13, he said, "My vision is for our parish music ministry to be reflective of our Mission as a parish community and be welcoming, joyful, affirming and faith-filled!" Fathers Mike dismissal of the choir insinuated that their music was not a welcoming, joyful, affirming, and faith filled, I disagree.

My mother, a devout Catholic always said, "When something, in your opinion, is wrong, find the good in the situation." Therefore, to honor my mother and her wonderful Catholic faith, I would like to say thank you to my Catholic choir members who have great musical talents and have inspired me with their hymns and love of God.

Alan, a special thanks to you for your outstanding leadership of this choir. You must be heartbroken. I am.

I have been a member of many Catholic parishes - St. Patrick's in Chateaugay, N.Y., St. Bernard's in Lyon Mountain, N.Y., Holy Angels in Altona, N.Y., St. Mary's in Newington, Conn., St. Peter's in Honey Brook, P.A., Our Lady of Lourdes in New Holland, P.A., St. Jude's in Londonderry, N.H., and a founding member of St. Mark's the Evangelist, here, in Londonderry, N.H. Never before has a priest dismissed an entire choir thinking that their volunteer singing honoring the Father, Son and Holy Spirit was not faith-filled or what our mission should be.

Probably, we will lose church members as a result of Father Mike Zgnoc's decision. We may lose the leader of our Children's Choir as a result of this decision, and that would be a shame! The Children's Choir honoring the birth of Jesus was one of the highlights of our Christmas celebration, and a church event for the children that will not be forgotten.

I will not leave St. Mark's even though I strongly disagree with this administrative decision. I feel the 9:30 a.m. Choir should remain the 9:30 a.m. Choir as is! I'm saddened by the Choir's termination. Would Jesus have made the same decision? I doubt it!

Again, thanks to St. Mark's 9:30 a.m. Church Choir members for your many years of service to us and to God as you sang his praises every Sunday. I will miss you.

Sincerely,
Joan L. Chmielorz

Man Arrested for Criminal Threatening with a Firearm

On Wednesday, April 25, 2018 at approximately 9:30 p.m., Officers of the Londonderry Police Department responded to an address on Valley Street, in the southern area of Londonderry, for a report of a domestic disturbance.

According to police, dispatch obtained information from the female victim that indicated a male party was allegedly armed with a handgun and had threatened her with it.

The victim then stated that the male suspect had left the residence and did not know where he went.

Arriving officers set up a perimeter in the neighborhood and area roads were closed down.

With the assistance of the Windham, Derry, Salem, Pelham, Auburn, and State Police in conjunction with the Southern New Hampshire Special Operations Unit, the perimeter was held while a search team began checking the area.

The suspect, identified as Edward Reynolds, 77-years-old, of Valley Street, Londonderry, was eventually located hiding in a vehicle parked in the driveway.

A firearm was located in the vehicle. Reynolds was taken into custody just before 11 p.m. and was charged with Simple Assault (Domestic), Resisting Arrest, and Criminal Threatening with a Firearm.

Reynolds refused the services of a Bail Commissioner and was transported to Rockingham County Jail in Brentwood.

What Can Be Done About Kendall Pond Conservation Area?

LORI COSTA
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Kendall Pond Conservation Area is located at 105 South Road in Londonderry. It is a great and fun way to spend the day off whether it's in the spring or winter. At the conservation area, users have many options to enjoy they can do hiking, picnicking, cross-country skiing, kayaking, and fishing. The main trails for hiking are well marked and are (for the most part) easy to walk. Trails are marked with yellow and blue blazes, but there are also unmarked trails that lead to hidden marshlands and the banks to Beaver Brook. Families can also enjoy the picnic area located south of the entrance to the conservation area. Although there is a "carry in/carry out" policy, there is a trash receptacle in the area to make sure items get thrown away properly and not left on the ground. This is a beautiful and historic site that lets the residents get outside and enjoy the beauty of what Londonderry has to offer, but why has there been such controversy lately?

Over the past few months, it has been brought to the attention of both the Town Council and Conservation Commission that the Kendall Pond Conservation Area is not being used properly when the site is off hours. There have been multiple complaints of abandoned cars, vandalism to the kiosk in the entry of the park, and people leaving disturbing items behind. Some of these items have included beer cans, trash, toilet paper, and even needles. This is especially troubling, because this area is meant for families to enjoy the forest and wetlands of Kendall Pond. Instead, the parking lot area is becoming a hangout for unwanted activity. It begs the question: What is next? Currently, there are logs stationed in the parking lot that cover most of the area that cannot be seen from the road and block parking spots in the back. According to neighbors of the conservation area, this has deterred the nefarious behavior, because the cars can be seen from the road and cannot go further back. Now that winter is over and more people are expected to use the conservation area, the logs will most likely be removed and therefore the unwanted behavior will continue.

The town does have the authority to close the conservation area if law enforcement finds the behavior continuing, but that is not a path any party (Town Council, Conservation Commission, neighbors of Kendall Pond) want to take. Another option may be to keep the logs where they are or to install an electronic gate that closes at specific hours. The Conservation Commission felt the most prudent form of action was to install a camera in the parking lot and check back frequently to see if anything was caught on film, but the neighbors felt that wasn't enough.

There was no immediate decision made by the Town Council at their April 16 meeting, but this issue should come to a resolution by their next meeting scheduled for Monday, May 7. The Town Council would like the neighbors of Kendall Pond and the Conservation Commission to come together and choose a few options they find reasonable and have the council vote on it from there. Kendall Pond Conservation Area is beautiful piece of land with a lot of great things to offer when used properly. Hopefully this issue will be resolved soon and the town can continue to enjoy the forest and wetlands.

forward. The Town Council felt that the neighbors should have a say in what the decision will be regarding what action to take with the conservation parking lot. Ultimately, the issue was tabled at the Town Council meeting, and more information is expected to be given at the next meeting scheduled for Monday, May 7.

Due to the arguments that have transpired over the past few weeks, the cameras have not yet gone up at Kendall Pond.

The commission was also very pleased at the amount of usage the Musquash area has gotten now that the weather is getting nicer again. There were about 300 maps placed in the map box of the Musquash area in the beginning of the weekend and there were only two maps left by the end of the weekend. The Historical Walk that was scheduled for Saturday, April 21 also saw a big turnout for the Conservation Commission with a head count of 42 people on a gorgeous spring day. People were itching to get out of their homes and enjoy the outdoors after a harsh New England winter.

The commission also talked about the possibility of hiring a surveyor after aerial photos showed someone building on conservation property. According to members of the commission, monitoring would be the appropriate first step to take, but if they do not know the exact property line it would be difficult to move forward with any type of action. In those types of cases where the property line is fuzzy, a surveyor would be helpful to determine the official lines. One surveyor's price was $75/hour, which was felt to be a reasonable rate by the commission. Sometimes to enforce a boundary, surveillance is the most effective way to go.

sent the Beautify Londonderry organizing committee an e-mail stating, "Thank you for organizing this! It is so needed. I wish it was able to be done more frequently during the year."

There have also been significant clean ups on Old Nashua Road (17 bags of litter) and 11 bags were collected on Adams and Frost Road. Londonderry Trailways led a volunteer effort supported by Beautify Londonderry to remove fifteen bags of trash from along the Rail Trail. Other cleanups have been done so far in the LAFA parking lot area and along Pillsbury Road, Shasta Drive, Parmenter Road and Elwood Road. Admix, a company located on Harvey Road, has more than 50% of their employees volunteering to clean litter in that area for the second year. Last year, they collected fifty bags of litter.

Most litter in town accumulates along the town's twenty-three collector roads. Collector roads are low-to-moderate-capacity roads that move traffic from local neighborhoods to the main arterial roads including Route 102, Route 28 and Mammoth Road.

In addition to roadside cleanups, Beautify Londonderry has organized volunteer projects to spruce up the landscaping at town schools and other town properties. With mulch donations from Estey Lumber and Shady Hill Greenhouses, Londonderry Boy Scout Troop 521 cleaned and re-

Members of the Londonderry High School Boys Volleyball team volunteered their time in the town forest on Monday and helped Kent Allen pile up fallen trees that had been cut up. Photo by Chris Paul mulched the areas in from of the Londonderry Middle and High Schools. Trimmer's Landscaping is donating mulch for South School, but a volunteer group is needed to spread the mulch. Volunteer groups are also needed to help with clean up and mulching at North and Matthew Thornton Schools.

If people are interested in volunteering with litter collection, there are several ways to help, each with a varying level of time commitment. According to John Loker, a long-time Beautify Londonderry committee member, "The easiest thing to do is remove any litter that has accumulated in front of your residence or business." For those who are slightly more ambitious, clearing litter from other nearby properties is a good next step. Areas along roads where there are no buildings tend to have the litter pile up, so tackling one of those areas makes a big difference. Lastly, if you are interested in giving a few hours of time, you could tackle an entire road or a significant segment of road, perhaps as part of a neighborhood group.

Regardless of how you can help, Beautify Londonderry can provide you supplies including trash bags, gloves, safety vests and water. Volunteers also get a Beautify Londonderry volunteer t-shirt. Beautify Londonderry also arranges to have the bags of litter picked up once they are full. For more info, Beautify Londonderry can be reached via email at beautifylondonderry@gmail.com or on their Facebook page facebook.com/beautifylondonderry.

Volunteer Katrina Schilling was one of ten people who cleaned Old Derry and Auburn Roads.

Soccer Unification Is a Go For Londonderry Soccer Players

LORI COSTA
LONDONDERRY TIMES

After a back and forth battle between travel and recreational leagues in Londonderry, a compromise has been made between the two organizations. The groups will now come together to form the “Londonderry Soccer Club”. This was approved by the Recreation Commission and Recreation Director Art Psaledas felt this was the best thing they could do for soccer and Londonderry kids. He announced the new unification at the Town Council meeting on Monday April 16. Psaledas tried a few years back to unite the two organizations, but was unsuccessful. With the two groups finally coming together, they have combined their efforts and skills and are working together to train coaches, put on clinics for the kids, and are also working well with the town. This new partnership provides the best of what’s available to the kids of Londonderry and will continue to get better according to Psaledas.

Vice-Chairman for the Town Council Joe Green (who is also a liaison for the Recreation Commission) was happy to hear this finally come to a resolution after many deliberations and thanked everyone involved. From a kid’s point of view, if they are finding the recreational league easy or want to be in a more competitive league, it will be much easier for them to pursue the travel team than it was before. The two groups have also been working together very well according to Psaledas and said this is the best thing to happen for Londonderry soccer.

For the Town Council’s next meeting on Monday May 7, a public hearing will be taking place in order to make an amendment to an ordinance relating to the approval of sanctioned recreation groups. The public hearing will determine if the following changes will be made to ordinance. For section A1: “A minimum of 60% of the participants are residents of Londonderry and all programs will be available to all age-appropriate Londonderry residents. The participation ratio applies to all players that play within the organization.” Also for section A12: Sanctioned groups may enter into non-financial partnerships with other outside groups for the use of the facilities in order to better promote their sport and improve the quality of the development of the Londonderry players. All facilities use and partnerships will be arranged and managed by the town sanctioned organization with the approval from the Recreation Commission.” A more in-depth discussion will take place at the Town’s Council’s next meeting.

LHS Class of 2018 Takes on Prom

GABBY GUERARD
LONDONDERRY TIMES

As the Londonderry High School (LHS) Class of 2018 fights through seniorities, the students have also been busy organizing limousines, renting tuxes, and booking nail appointments. Before they suit up in cap and gowns, the seniors will embark on a night in the “Enchanted Forrest,” as they celebrate prom on Saturday, May 12 at the Andover Country Club, in Andover, Massachusetts.

The Country Club, which is approximately a 30-minute drive south of LHS, will provide students with the “getaway” feeling, without the lengthy commute. Its colorful garden will serve as an ideal location for students to take photos with each other upon arrival. The address is as follows: 60 Canterbury Street, Andover, Massachusetts 01810. For more information about the venue, visit www.andovercountryclub.com.

Doors will open at 6 p.m. and all students must first check-in with their House office. Attendees will not need to bring their actual tickets, because the school has documentation for every student who purchased a ticket, as well as their guest, whether they are from LHS or not. Instead, all students and guests must bring IDs with them.

Once inside, students can find their assigned seat and table, based on their requests made while purchasing tickets. At this time, the prom court will be announced from the previous nomination process and students will be able to cast their final votes for the crowns. The prom committee has selected the top five girls and guys to form the ballot.

Although some signature elements of prom remain the same each year, such as king and queen, the 2018 prom is unique. The theme, “Enchanted Forest” was selected by the class representatives, as a tribute to rustic New Hampshire.

However, the class representatives weren’t the only ones who liked the theme, as ticket sales were exceptionally high this year.

“This year, we came very close to hitting the maximum capacity in the room,” explained Class of 2018 advisor, Rebecca Peabody. “Between the students, chaperones, administrators, and the guests that are from other schools or LHS underclassman, we almost had to turn people away, in order to stay within the room limit.” At this time, tickets are no-longer available.

The Class of 2018 Prom Committee has planned the prom, with the help of class representatives and advisors. In addition to center pieces and decorations, safety has remained a priority throughout the entire organization process, especially given the large crowd.

“There will be police officers, the principal, all administrators, and several teacher chaperones present,” said Peabody. “I would like to remind the students attending that this is a school sponsored activity and if certain attire is deemed inappropriate, administrators will help handle the situation. All school rules apply to the prom, even though students are off campus. The goal is for all students and chaperones attending to have an enjoyable and safe prom.”

From start to finish, the evening is designed to do just that. Students will begin the night with a dinner banquet, followed by a DJ playing music for the dance floor. Throughout the event, there will also be a photo booth, a photographer, and a few surprises. Prom will conclude at 11 p.m.

As the event nears, Peabody is proud of how hard the students have worked over the past four years, and looks forward to seeing it all unfold. “The Class of 2018 is a special group of students. They have continued to amaze me since day one. This prom will be a wonderful event for them to celebrate 12 years of friendship, hard work, and commitment.”

Miss New Hampshire 2018 Crowned at Stockbridge Theatre

ALEX GUITTARR
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The crowning a new Miss New Hampshire came down to two contestants Saturday night with Miss Manchester, Marisa Moorhouse, eventually taking the crown with Miss Greater Derry Sarah Tubbs coming in a close second place.

The Saturday evening event was the final night of a three-day competition held at Pinkerton Academy's Stockbridge Theatre from April 26 to April 28.

Moorhouse, a student at Manchester Memorial High School, will now represent the state in the Miss America competition later in the year, but until then she will spend the year making a number of appearances at events across the state, advocating for her cause "moving the World One Dance at a Time" and charity work.

The Scholarship Program featured 28 contestants competed for three days to the sounds and sights of the 80's. This years theme was complete with neon lighting and time-appropriate fashion, the girls pushed through the talent, evening dress, fitness/swimsuit, and on-stage question portions of the contest in the first two days while being accompanied by the musical style that made the decade truly stand out.

On the third and final night of the event, as hundreds of supporters for the competitors packed into the Stockbridge Theatre to support the competitors. The night also had a far greater focus on pomp than the prior two nights, with the Miss New Hampshire Dancers performing a number of routines to 80's classics.

As the three hour finale moved along, the contestants were eventually whittled down to only 12, before eventually having the Top 12 showcase their talents, including dancing, singing, and a piano performance, as well as another sampling of their evening gowns and bathing suits.

Judges eventually brought the number of contestants down to the top eight, and then the top five.

In the end, the final five contestants were Miss Berlin-Gorham Josie Pearce, Miss Greater Derry Sarah Tubbs, Miss Manchester Marisa Moorhouse, Miss Merrimack Brooke Mills, and Miss Portsmouth Delaney Mastin. It was at that point that the five would answer rather difficult questions about topics facing the American public today, including immigration, gun control, and the Opioid Crisis.

Prior to officially crowning the winner, a series of awards were handed out to some of the 28 competitors, with thousands of dollars being given to some of the young women for their hard work inside and outside of the competition, including scholastic performance and how well they handled the talent portion.

When it came time to crown Miss New Hampshire 2018, all five finalists were guaranteed a scholarship cash prize. In fifth place was Mills, who won

$2,500. Fourth place went to Pearce, as well as $3,000. Third place went to Mastin, who won $3,500. The first runner-up, for the second straight year, was Sarah Tubbs, earning herself $4,500. Moorhouse won not only the title of Miss New Hampshire, but also $15,000 in scholarship funds.

"I still can't believe this is real, and the scholarship money, I'm so thankful for that. I don't even know what to say.

I'm freaking out," Moorhouse said upon winning the competition.

Moorhouse will be representing New Hampshire in the Miss America 2019 competition this coming September in Atlantic City, New Jersey.

Girls' Lacrosse Squad Wins Big and Falls Hard During Vacation

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Through its first eight matches of the still-young 2018 season, the Londonderry High girls' lacrosse team has been on a rollercoaster ride which hasn't always been enjoyable.

Last week - April vacation week for New Hampshire schools - serves as a pretty perfect example of what coach Scott Walden's 4-4 Lady Lancers have gone through thus far this spring.

The Lancers pummeled the host Nashua North Titans in the Gate City on Thursday, April 26, with veteran standout Catie Derhak scored the 100th goal of her career. But the next afternoon the LHS team was dominated by the rival Pinkerton Academy Astros in a 14-2 blowout.

In the 22-7 mauling of Nashua North, Londonderry grasped a commanding 11-4 halftime lead and then outscored its host by an 11-3 margin in the second half to put the win away with an exclamation point.

Derhak was good for five goals - including her milestone marker - and one assist in the lopsided victory. Maddy Walden, Grace Chicko, and Sarah Duarte all enjoyed a five-point day with three goals and two helpers apiece, Allie Marsh scored three times, and Meghan Jackes contributed a goal and two assists. Single goals came from Victoria Kelly, Hannah McCutcheon, Courtney Baharian, and Lauren Doherty, and single assists were registered by Jenna Stowell, Katelyn Nartiff, and Katie McCudden. Goalie Morgan Brutus contributed 12 big saves to the huge LHS success which made her team 4-3.

But success didn't wind up being in sight for the Lancers the next day in Derry against an undefeated Pinkerton squad.

The Friday match was about as lopsided as any lacrosse contest can be, with the host Lady Astros netting the first dozen goals en route to a 14-2 win.

Londonderry's two scores came with 7:13 left in the contest (by Maddy Walden) and with 1:11 to go (by Allie Marsh).

The academy side grasped a commanding 7-0 lead at halftime and was utterly in control throughout the match, keeping the potent LHS offense stymied and a safe distance away from the PA net most of the way while its own offense scored time and time again.

"Today, we had a game plan that the girls executed almost perfectly," said PA coach Rob Daziel, an LHS graduate and the first All-American lacrosse player in school history back in the early 1980's. "We have been focusing on our defensive schemes, and today from the ride back to settled 7 vs. 7 defense the girls just read and reacted to the offensive schemes they saw. We have been really strong on team defense so far this year, and the girls really stepped it up today against a talented, well-coached team. Our goaltending was strong, and (goalie) Dani (Martineau) shut out a good team for the majority of the game as the defense was not giving up easy shots. Dani had a lot of success against the free-position shots she faced as well."

PA offensive attack with five goals and one assist for six points. Meaghan Michaud was good for five points on four goals and one helper, and Lauren Lisauskas was good for two goals and one assist.

Coach Daziel's daughter Madison scored twice, Madison Peredna managed a goal and a helper, and faceoff specialist Lily Auger was good for one assist. Keeper Martineau turned aside five LHS shots.

This week's slate had the Lady Lancers playing a road match at Bedford on Tuesday, May 1 - after Londonderry Times press time - followed by a rematch with Pinkerton in Beeman Games play at LHS Saturday afternoon.

Alopsided loss to a seacoast opponent followed by a decisive victory over a contingent from the state capital brought the Londonderry High boys' lacrosse squad into this week with a very solid, 4-2 record.

The Lancers had their season record slip closer to the .500 mark at 3-2 on dreary Thursday, April 26 thanks to a rough, 14-5 home loss to the visiting Exeter High Blue Hawks.

The Blue Hawks jumped out to a 10-2 lead in the first half and then outscored their hosts by a much smaller 4-3 margin during the second half. Exeter also became 3-2 on the campaign with that outcome.

But the short-handed Concord High Crimson Tide was simply no match for the host Lancers at LHS on the morning and early afternoon of Saturday, April 28, when the locals powered their way to a 13-4 blowout success.

Londonderry had the match in control from start to finish, racing out to a 6-0 lead during the first period and never having any serious reason to look back over its shoulder against its now 2-4 opponent.

The Lancers put 10 shots on the Crimson Tide net during that opening stanza, and at the other end of the field their own goalie Patrick Murphy could have used a magazine and a rocking chair as he didn't face a single shot.

Jeff Wiedenfeld gave his side a 1-0 lead with 10:01 left in that period, and Connor Toth made it a 2-0 match less than two minutes later.

During the next 8:33 the hosts would receive additional markers from Aidan Dennis, Cole Keegan, Toth again, and then James Cranmer in snagging the 6-0 advantage.

LHS keeper Murphy finally faced a shot with eight minutes remaining in the half, and he turned it aside.

His teammates won the second quarter as well, outscoring their guests by a 3-1 margin to carry a commanding 9-1 advantage into the halftime break.

The Lancer goals during that period came from Anthony Federico (two) and Dennis.

The LHS advantage bulged to 12-2 during quarter three, in which the locals outscored their guests by a 3-1 margin. Keegan, Federico, and Jake Holland did the honors on those three Lancer scores.

Concord "won" the third period by outscoring its host by a 2-1 tally, with the lone Londonderry goal being potted by Ryan O'Neill.

Lancer goalie Murphy finished the match with six saves, and his offense pelted the Crimson Tide cage with a total of 26 shots.

With that victory tucked away, the Lancers then strode into this week looking at a Monday afternoon meeting with Division II opponent Portsmouth at LHS.

And the locals were able to edge their way past that seacoast opponent in a hard-fought, 13-11 match.

The Lancers led 5-3 after one quarter, but the score was all knotted up at 6-6 at halftime. Londonderry then grasped a slim 11-9 advantage going into the fourth period, in which both sides scored twice with the final result still in question.

LHS Softball Squad Keeps its Winning Streak Rolling

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

In a rain-dampened meeting between two teams seemingly heading in opposite directions in tough Division I, the Londonderry High softball squad bagged its sixth consecutive victory by thumping the host Merrimack High Lady Tomahawks by a 7-1 tally in Merrimack this past Monday, April 30.

Veteran pitcher Ila Brown gave her LHS squad an extremely strong performance in the victory, which made the Lady Lancers an excellent 7-1 on the campaign.

The loss - which put Merrimack's 2018 record at a sub-par 2-5 - was the Lady Tomahawks' fifth in their last six games.

Londonderry's offense likely has opponents shaking in their cleats as the Lady Lancers have outscored those last six teams which they've beaten by a stunning 67-14 margin.

In the wake of the Monday blowout success, the Lady Lancers were left looking ahead into this week at a home contest against Nashua South this Wednesday, May 2 - after Londonderry Times press time - followed by a much-anticipated rematch with the rival Pinkerton crew at LHS on Saturday in Beeman Trophy play. Londonderry bested the tough academy crew in extra innings when the two contingents met up in Derry several weeks ago. But as is always the case, anything can happen in rivalries.

Ex-Lancer Standout Coveney Finished College Hoop Career Well

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

During his noteworthy Londonderry High School basketball career, Drew Coveney became known as a smart, athletic, and reliable contributor with strong leadership skills who could be counted upon to do the right things with the ball in even the most tense and challenging situations.

And as soon as the slim guard joined the program at the University of New England in Biddeford, Me., following graduation from LHS in the spring of 2014, Nor'Easters' coach Ed Silva saw Coveney's on-court qualities and began putting them to good use right away.

The Londonderry resident played in 26 games during his freshman year of 2014-15, 27 the next, and then 26 in his junior campaign of 2016-17.

This past winter, the sure-handed, 6-foot-tall, 160-pound guard played in 22 games for coach Santos' squad - starting all 22

- in helping the UNE contingent to a pretty solid season with some truly strong play.

The 2017-18 University of New England contingent amassed a 12-14 overall record, making its exit with a Commonwealth Coast Conference quarterfinal-round tournament loss to Roger Williams University of Bristol, RI.

Coveney and his deep team went 10-8 in their conference during the campaign, but they enjoyed a whole lot more success on their home court back in Biddeford than they did out on the road. The Nor'Easters were 9-4 at home and a pretty weak 3-10 in other teams' gyms.

But be that as it was, solid senior guard Coveney did a lot of strong work for the UNE contingent and finished in the top three in a number of statistical categories.

The former Lancer all-state hoopster - who was a captain on the LHS basketball squad in his junior and senior seasons - averaged 18.7 minutes of court-time per game and scored an average of 6.4 points per contest. He finished first on the team in assists with 101. The number two Nor'Easter in that department was

Coveney's fellow senior guard Gavin Dibble, who finished well behind with

Coveney wound up second on the squad in steals with 39 and third in blocked shots (12) and rebounds per game (3.9).

Among the top individual performances put forth by the ex-LHS stalwart - who has also excelled in the classroom in his efforts to secure an applied exercise science degree - during the 2017-18 season was a stellar effort against Salve Regina late in the regular campaign. Coveney netted 21 points in 22 minutes, going a strong 8-for-13 from the floor.

The ex-Lancer was also a standout against Salve Regina in an earlier, 89-78 victory in which he netted 11 points, pulled down eight rebounds, dished out four assists, and snagged two steals.

Coveney was also pretty impossible to miss in a 103-102 overtime win over Dean College (10 points, seven assists, three boards, two steals), a 121-113 success against Gordon College (11 points, seven assists, three rebounds), and a tough, 107-103 loss to Bates (11 points, six assists, five rebounds, and four steals).

Coveney was selected to the Maine Division III All-Rookie Team following a freshman season of 2014-15 during which he averaged 6.3 points and 3.7 rebounds per contest. 9.1 points per game and a total of 236 points. He also tallied some 56 steals and 150 rebounds that season.

Local Being Inducted Into Her Alma Mater's Athletic Hall of Fame

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Sure, these days Londonderry resident Megan Lyons-Melanson may just look like your average young mom and professional who daily takes care of her adorable young son, her husband, and her job.

But in Melanson's past are some impressive athletic accomplishments which will get her inducted into her alma mater's sports hall of fame later this year.

The Boxboro, Mass., native graduated from Saint Michael's College back in 2005 after having excelled both in the classroom and on the ice for the Colchester, Vt. school's then-new women's ice hockey program.

The Londonderry resident is the very first four-year women's ice hockey player from that Vermont school to earn induction into its athletic hall of fame, and just the second ever from that hockey program to be inducted.

She will be one of six inductees welcomed into the school's athletic hall of fame during a 2018 induction ceremony slated for the evening of Friday, Sept. 21.

"She was the first great women's ice hockey player at Saint Michael's, joining the program during its first full season of varsity competition in 2001-02," said Saint Michael's director of athletic communications and 2004 grad Josh Kessler. "Not only did she graduate holding or tied for 11 school records, but Melanson still claims nine records more than a decade after her graduation. Included among those are five records she holds outright. During her career, she had a hand in nearly half of the Purple Knights' goals scored, some 48.6 percent during that four-year stretch."

Melanson still holds school records for career points (86) and goals (47), season points (29) and power-play goals (seven), as well as for the quickest goal to begin a game (17 seconds). Among the marks she shares are for points in a game (five, accomplished four times), goals in a game (four), season assists (15), and career power-play goals (12). Her 17 goals in 2003-04 have her tied for second, and she is now tied for third in career assists (39) after graduating with the record.

A double major in elementary education and psychology, Melanson earned her master's degree in counseling psychology from Lesley University in 2011. A veteran in the mental health field, Melanson was a staff therapist at South Bay Mental Health Center in Massachusetts from 2012 to 2014, and a clinical supervisor with South Bay Community Services for the next two years before starting as a utilization manager at Cenpatico, which provides behavioral health and specialty therapy services, in Bedford in July of 2016. Among her other previous positions have been co-chair of the Greater Boston Out of the Darkness Community Walk through the American Foundation for Suicide Prevention, and a behavior interventionist at the Baird Center for Children and Families in Burlington.

Beeman Games Being Played This Week at Londonderry High

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The spring version of the seasonal sports competitions between the varsity athletic teams from Londonderry High School and Pinkerton Academy - better known as The Beeman Trophy Games - take place at LHS this Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, April 3-5.

Pinkerton has maintained possession of the plaque for the last three years, but as anyone who has watched any kind of sporting event between LHS and PA teams over the decades knows, the Astro and Lancer athletes get ramped up for head-to-head battles like they were playoff contests no matter what time of year they take place. Hence, nobody truly knows what the final results will be much of the time regardless of team records.

The two schools' boys' volleyball teams will get the 2018 games going this Thursday afternoon May 3 when they meet in the Londonderry High gym at 5:15 p.m.

The next evening at 6:30 the talented and determined boys' lacrosse squads will face off, and that match will be followed by a full Saturday of play.

Pinkerton and Londonderry High track and field athletes will take part in the annual freshman/sophomore meet starting at 8:30 on the morning of May 5.

That same day, the girls' tennis teams will smack it around on the Nelson Road courts across the street from the high school starting at 11, and they'll be followed by the boys' squads there at 1.

The Lancer and Astro baseball teams will play on the varsity baseball diamond at the north end of LHS starting at noon, with the softball game starting an hour later on the softball field right next to the baseball facility.

And then at the other end of LHS - behind the Matthew Thornton Elementary School on the south side of the high school - the girls' lacrosse teams will face off for the second time in a little more than a week at 2.

Londonderry High last won the Beeman Trophy in 2014, with Pinkerton retaking possession of the plaque in 2015 and holding onto it in 2016 and 2017.

The Beeman Trophy games began back in the early 1990's - along with the winter Ball Family Trophy Games - following the success of the Mack Plaque games which were begun in the fall of 1983.

The Beeman Trophy is named for Mike Beeman, a Pinkerton grad who coached and taught at Pinkerton Academy and then Londonderry High before moving to Georgia with his family. He made an appearance in the local area recently when he came back up north to run in his 36th Boston Marathon.

MEET CAPTAIN! A 3-4 Year Old Bulldog Mix

He is very friendly, laid back, couch potato who is always wagging his tail. Captain would be happiest in a home without young children. He loves adults and likes dogs that aren't dominant. He likes walks but really doesn't require much more exercise than a walk or two a day or a fenced yard to play catch in. He has been in doggie training and knows lots of commands! He would be perfect for a family that has the time to keep up with his training.

Book Drive

The LHS Community Service Club has been sponsoring a book drive for the past two weeks. So far, over 700 books have been collected. The books are being donated to the Upper Room, family resource center, in Derry. We are collecting used books which would be of interest to young families, both children and parents. In the first two weeks of the drive, the LHS community (Lancer Nation) has donated over 700 books; we would like to get to 1000 books donated, so we are extending the drive into April. Collection areas are in the High School House Offices, Main Office, and Library. Our contact at the Upper Room is Janis Lilly (JLilly@urteachers.org).

Control panels are still part of building a model railroad even in the DCC world.
