Eversource Plans Open House May 6 on Transmission Line Project

KAITLYN G. WOODS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Eversource Energy updated the Town Council on its plans to complete a portion of the Merrimack Reliability Project in Londonderry, announcing it will hold an Open House for residents on May 6.

Northeast Utilities became Eversource Energy on Feb. 2. Public Service Company of New Hampshire (PSNH) is among the subsidiaries of Northeast Utilities that is now operating under the name Eversource.

After hearing the project will require clearing of approximately 85 feet of trees and brush in the utility right-of-way, Council Chairman John Farrell asked that Eversource be proactive in its approach to notifying abutters to the right-of-way that will be affected.

Eversource Project Manager Suzanne Findlen said Monday night that the transmission line will cross over Route 28, Interstate 93, Hovey Road, Hardy Road, Route 128, High Range Road, Mammoth Road and Wiley Hill Road.

With some clearing parallel to West Road near the soccer fields, Farrell told Findlen there are homes that could be impacted.

"There was a project a few years ago where homeowners found out not as proactively as we would have liked. I would like to see you not wait for a public session. I would like for you to reach out in a more proactive manner to those abutters," he said.

Findlen told the Council the company has identified abutters to the project and that they plan to reach out next week.

"Most of the abutters are in Hudson - maybe five are in Londonderry," she said, noting Eversource also plans to send out postcards to all abutters notifying them of the May 6 Open House at

Council Approves Allowing Alternates on Elder Affairs

KAITLYN G. WOODS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Town Council voted 4-0 to approve a resolution that allows it to appoint alternate members to the Elder Affairs Committee at their discretion. Councilor Jim Butler was not present for the meeting.

When considering at their March 16 meeting several candidates for a limited number of positions, the Council asked Town Manager Kevin Smith to investigate whether or not the Charter restricted them from appointing any number of applicants to serve on the Committee.

When Smith looked at the original documents that established the Elder Affairs Committee, he found two different documents - the original resolution creating the Committee, and an adopted amendment, as previously reported by the Londonderry Times.

"Neither speak to there being any alternates on the Committee, they just speak to full members," he said. "The Town Attorney recommended if we're having alternates, the resolution ought to be amended by the Council to include alternate positions."

According to the resolution approved Monday night, the Committee is to consist of seven voting members, of which at least four are to be at least 55 years old. Members are to be appointed by a majority vote of the Council and must be residents of the Town. The Committee is to choose a chairperson, vice-chairperson and secretary from their members, and the Council is to select one liaison to the Committee. Other town departments may also select liaisons.

Doug Smith Appointed Finance Director, Accountant to be Hired

KAITLYN G. WOODS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Town Council voted 4-0 to appoint Controller Doug Smith as Finance Director. The position became vacant last year when former Finance Director Sue Hickey's employment was terminated. Hickey settled with the Town and moved on to serve as Derry's Chief Financial Officer.

Smith has been with the Town since 2011 and "aptly stepped up to take on the roles and responsibilities of the Finance Director," Town Manager Kevin Smith told the Council.

"He has done an excellent job in that capacity," he said.

The position of Controller will be replaced with a Senior Accountant, who will now report directly to the Town Manager, whereas the Controller previously reported to the Finance Director.

In total, appointing Smith as Finance Director and hiring a Senior Accountant continued on page 8

Chris Christie Lays Out Entitlement Reform Plan in Londonderry Visit

KAITLYN G. WOODS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

At a town hall in Londonderry last week, New Jersey Republican Governor Chris Christie laid out his plan for reforming Social Security, Medicare and Medicaid, saying “we need to make some hard choices” if the programs are to be sustainable.

Christie proposed eliminating Social Security payments for those with an annual income exceeding $200,000, and over a period of 25 years raising the retirement age for Social Security to 69 years, as well as gradually raising the eligibility age for Medicare to 67.

“If you’re someone who has the means to take less of a subsidy, you should take less of a subsidy, so the subsidy’s there for those people who really do need it to access health care,”

Christie said.

Christie asked, “Do we need to have the young people of today and the middle class of today paying higher and higher taxes so the person getting $200,000 in income per year gets a monthly Social Security check?”

Anne Chiampa of Londonderry said she doesn’t want to see the problem of Social Security and Medicare solved “on the backs of seniors.”

Christie agreed that seniors who need Social Security and Medicare should get that promise; but with Social Security spending double what it takes in from taxes, the programs won’t survive without entitlement reform.

“Politicians that tell you they will be able to keep that promise without any changes are either going to increase taxes in a way that will break the backs of the middle class in this country, or they’re lying to you. Because the math doesn’t work,” said Christie, noting Social Security has grown 500 percent in the last 25 years, while the economy has grown 200 percent.

Christie said he understands it’s a tough and emotional issue, but said people are making tough decisions every day, and politicians shouldn’t be immune to that.

“There’s no political upside to coming in and saying, ‘I want to change Social Security and I want to change Medicare and I want to change Medicaid. Everybody gets nervous, even though I say it’s not going to affect people who are already in the program or approaching retirement right now. We’re phasing it in over 25 years, but there’s still that worry about ‘can I count on it,’” he said. “I have to say this stuff because it’s true. And for people younger than me, if we don’t do this, those programs won’t be there. I don’t want to go back to a time in America prior to Social Security, where many elderly people lived out their last years in poverty, and I don’t want to go back to a system where the elderly had to make a decision between eating and going to the doctor.”

In addition to his plan for entitlement reform, Christie, who said he may announce his candidacy as a 2016 Republican Presidential candidate in the late spring or early summer, addressed a variety of issues raised during the town hall, which drew a crowd that packed the Londonderry Lions Club to capacity on April 15.

Christie took a strong stand against a “voluntary vaccination” policy and against normalizing relations with Cuba; he called for a greater investment in national defense; he advocated for the expansion of access to health care and mental health resources for veterans; and he said the U.S.

needs to re-establish trust with allies in the Middle East to handle the threat posed by the Islamic State, arguing “we have to be willing to put soldiers into the fight if we expect our allies to do so.”

Leitha Reilly of Londonderry, who was given the last question of the 90-minute town hall, asked Christie what his top priorities would be if he were elected President.

Christie told Reilly his top three priorities would be to build alliances in the Middle East, to reduce taxes to get jobs growing and to fuel the economy, and to establish a national energy policy.

The potential Republican primary candidate fielded more than a dozen questions during his appearance, at which he also spoke about his childhood and family, saying they made him an expert in compromise and gave him the confidence to speak his mind.

Former Republican state representative Karen Hutchinson said she thought Christie performed well.

“I liked him a lot. He seems like someone who will reach across the aisle and get things done,” she said. “He listens well and thinks about things. That’s important.”

- PROVIDER ON CALL - COLON CANCER

Colon cancer is cancer of the large intestine (colon), the lower part of your digestive system. Rectal cancer is cancer of the last several inches of the colon. Together, they’re often referred to as colorectal cancers. Most cases of colon cancer begin as small, non-cancerous (benign) clumps of cells called adenomatous polyps. Over time some of these polyps become colon cancers. Polyps may be small and produce few, if any, symptoms. For this reason, doctors recommend regular screening tests to help prevent colon cancer by identifying polyps before they become colon cancer.

Signs and symptoms of colon cancer include: a change in your bowel habits, including diarrhea or constipation or a change in the consistency of your stool for more than a couple of weeks; rectal bleeding or blood in your stool; persistent abdominal discomfort, such as cramps, gas or pain; a feeling that your bowel doesn’t empty completely; weakness or fatigue; or unexplained weight loss.

Many people with colon cancer experience no symptoms in the early stages of the disease. When symptoms appear, they’ll likely vary, depending on the cancer’s size and location in your large intestine. It’s not clear what causes colon cancer in most cases. Doctors know that colon cancer occurs when healthy cells in the colon become altered. Healthy cells grow and divide in an orderly way to keep your body functioning normally. But sometimes this growth gets out of control. Cells continue dividing even when new cells aren’t needed. In the colon and rectum, this exaggerated growth may cause precancerous cells to form in the lining of your intestine. Over a long period of time, spanning up to several years, some of these areas of abnormal cells may become cancerous.

Among other tests to diagnose colon cancer a colonoscopy has gotten the most attention in recent years. There are also blood test, although, there is not blood test to confirm colon cancer. A barium enema allows doctors to create a clear silhouette of your rectum, colon and sometimes a small portion of your small intestine. It is important if you suspect that you have any issues to consult with your doctor to catch this early.

Cruz Says Republicans Need Reagan-Like Candidate

KAITLYN G. WOODS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Texas Republican Sen. Ted Cruz said the Republican Party needs a Ronald Reagan-like candidate who will “draw a line in the sand” to motivate the base and earn swing votes in the 2016 election.

“There needs to be a popular campaign against the corruption of Washington. We need to make a hard play for union members, people who are working hard to support their families. I think that’s the key to winning,” Cruz, the first candidate to announce he will run for President in 2016, told members of the Second Amendment community gathered at the Londonderry Fish and Game Club in Litchfield on April 19.

While the address primarily focused on his efforts to uphold Second Amendment rights, Cruz, whose father fought in the Cuban Revolution and was imprisoned and tortured under Batista, and then fled to the U.S., also briefly touched on immigration reform, called for the repeal of “every word” of Common Core, and took a strong stand for Israel.

“I think we need to stand unequivocally and unapologetically with the nation of Israel,” he said, identifying Palestine as the biggest barrier to peace and arguing the U.S. can’t negotiate with people who think Israel doesn’t have the right to exist.

Cruz criticized Obama for boycotting Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu’s speech to Congress on Iran, and spoke to his accusations last year that the President was using the Federal Aviation Administration in an economic strike against Israel when a ban on flights into Tel Aviv was extended by 24 hours after a Hamas-fired rocket landed within a mile of the airport.

“This has been the most antagonistic administration towards the nation of Israel,” said Cruz, who said the U.S. “shouldn’t be dictating terms of peace” to a sovereign nation.

In addressing his support for Second Amendment rights, Cruz told potential voters he has a successful record of defending the Constitution and highlighted his efforts to prevent any new laws restricting gun ownership rights after the shooting at an elementary school in Connecticut, which he said the President “used as an excuse to push his radical, anti-gun agenda.”

Cruz said he’s calling for the Senate Armed Services Committee to hold hearings on allowing service men and women to carry concealed firearms onto military bases; and when asked if he would support the confirmation of Loretta Lynch as the next attorney general, Cruz said he has been leading the fight against confirming her.

Cruz told the crowd that when he asked Lynch if there would be a difference between her and Attorney General Eric Holder, who said in a 1995 public announcement “we need to brainwash people into thinking about guns in a vastly different way,” she said none whatsoever.

“I think where we are now is very much like the late ‘70s. We have the same failed economic policy, the same feckless and naïve foreign policy,” he said. “I think Obama and Jimmy Carter are very similar.”

Cruz told attendees he’s optimistic about the next election because millions of people across the country are saying “we have to get back to the common sense principles that made our country great.”

Following his speech, Cruz had a chance to try shooting at the Fish and Game Club. The press was restricted from access to the firing range for photos.

After hearing Cruz’s address, Ted Xenakis, a lawyer from Massachusetts, who joked it’s difficult to be a conservative in his home state, said he likes the idea of Cruz being the Reagan of today, but he thinks the dynamic of the Reagan years is different from now.

“But I do think we are going to see a conservative swing,” he said.

Shawn Dalton, a member of the Fish and Game Club, said he appreciated Cruz’s message that the country needs to stand for its Constitutional rights.

And Linda Bowen, a member of the Fish and Game Club who grew up in Londonderry, said the Senator “really does have a lot of what we’re looking for.”

A Habit Worth Developing

With the calendar and the weather aligning at last, piles of snow have become just an unpleasant memory.

But what they left behind are piles of trash that have been buried through the winter, as well as the latest beer cans and fast food wrappers tossed out the windows of passing vehicles - glaring visual reminders of just how lazy our fellow citizens can be.

One good thing about the snow - it masked most of that mess. Now it's out there in all its ugliness.

April is the month for town clean-ups, and we encourage our readers to participate. There's plenty of trash to go around - whether it lines the border between the street and your yard, or it's down the road a bit. The weekend weather has been inviting, a good time to spruce up your street and bring back "curb appeal."

What we see along our roads paints a picture that is far from pretty. It's disheartening to realize how many people are throwing trash and garbage from their cars as they drive by. It's scary when we realize that included in the unsightliness - not so infrequently - are syringes. And even sadder is the realization that much of what's tossed could easily have been recycled.

We can instill in every family member the reminder that trash does not get thrown out the window. Keep a litter bag in the car, and empty it into your garbage or recycling when you get home. You wouldn't take your garbage and dump it over the fence onto the next-door neighbor's property, so why would you throw it onto the road that you pay taxes to maintain?

Londonderry has Roadside Pride and Beautify Londonderry campaigns. Other towns have specific spring clean-up days. Check with your town hall for details.

Wherever we live, we should expect our streets and lawns to be clean, not repositories for someone else's garbage. And we should do our part to make sure they stay that way.

Whether you decide to join a formal, town-organized clean-up or you take it upon yourself to keep a portion of the road where you live or the land where you walk free of litter - or you do both - we urge everyone who's physically able to make a commitment to keep their town looking its best throughout the year.

Taking care of the place we call home is not something we can do just one day a year. It's a habit well worth developing.

To the editor:

"What's happening around town? What extra-curricular activities are occurring in the schools? What are the main developments that are currently arising? What type of programs will interest me and my family?"

As a new resident of Londonderry 17 years ago, this inquiring mind wanted to know the "ins-and outs" of this quaint town!

I'm thankful for the Londonderry Times because it is a resourceful paper that has unfolded precious information that answered questions for this native New Yorker. As I reminisce, with three girls under the age of 5, my husband and I were familiar with busyness, but eager to slow down from life's hiccups and begin a new journey.

"Look at the trees, horses and apple orchards! There are trees here, not skyscrapers!" yelled my oldest daughter.

Discovering new adventures became much easier when I received my first Londonderry Times in the mail. The family always anticipated the weekly issue because it offers a plethora of informative events and activities. Not only did it offer me "a glimpse and synopsis" of the current issues, involving schools, new businesses, and programs, but the paper gave praise to individuals/corporations and noteworthy opinions from readers.

Fond memories developed in the elementary school years when Deb Paul took the initiative to introduce and expose my Chinese ethnicity in the Londonderry schools for the Chinese New Year. As Chris Paul took color photos of my prepared noodles during the presentation, students began to inquire about the Chinese culture. The enthusiasm was so contagious that students remembered that lesson years later, as I bump into them in their high school years.

The memories continued when the Londonderry Times took an active role in exposing the inception of the International Club and International Night at Londonderry High School. Furthermore, the staff at Londonderry Times was just as excited to creatively collaborate on ideas in celebrating and embracing various cultures and ethnicities.

In addition to LHS clubs, let's not forget to mention the praise and recognition the Londonderry Times offers to various sports teams. As an LHS varsity coach, it's great to recognize the excellence and sportsmanship of many players.

Here I am today, still eager to receive my weekly Londonderry Times. What's in store for this week? My daughters and I often try to grab the paper first from the mailbox!

Thanks to the staff of Londonderry Times and the weekly publication! A superb job!

Safety First

To the editor:

Kudos to the volunteers and neighbors who spend time cleaning our streets of winter's debris and all of the trash carelessly thrown out of car windows.

During a walk last week, as we passed the home right next to ours, I looked down in disbelief, as it wasn't the usual beer can or wine bottle, but a syringe. I phoned it into the Londonderry Police and they came by to properly dispose of it.

As a note of caution to anyone cleaning their own yard or volunteering in town clean-up, be mindful of where your hands are when picking up leaves or trash. Also, keep your eyes aware to where your dog may be stepping during your daily walk.

Happy Spring, but Safety First!

The Council additionally approved with a 4-0 vote appointing as alternate members to the Committee Tam Siekmann, Doug Thomas and Richard Flores.

In other business Monday night:

• The Town Council voted 4-0 to approve the expenditure of $75 from the Expendable Maintenance Trust Fund for shoveling, plowing and the treatment of the parking lot, walkways and fire lanes at the Senior Center.

• The Town Council voted 4-0 to accept the first reading of an amendment to the Municipal Code related to solid waste and recycling that will allow the drop-off center to collect fluorescent bulbs from small businesses in town.

Public Works Director Janusz Czyzowski explained that large businesses in town have management companies that are correctly disposing of fluorescent bulbs, but that many of the smaller businesses in town find contracting with the management companies is cost prohibitive.

“The practical option is to let them dispose of those bulbs in our drop-off center,” he said.

Small businesses would be limited to 10 bulbs per drop-off, and would be charged a fee of 25 cents per foot, or 50 cents per small bulb.

Czyzowski said the cost of collecting fluorescent bulbs from small businesses at the drop-off center would be subsidized by the fees collected.

The Council scheduled a public hearing on the amendment for the May 4 meeting.

• Town Manager Kevin Smith told the Council he spoke with representatives from Kinder Morgan about scheduling in May or June a public hearing on the proposed gas pipeline that would run through Londonderry and several other communities in southern New Hampshire.

“I would like to see that happen before school is out, before people start going on vacations, so they can have as much participation as possible,” Chairman John Farrell said. Smith said he would keep the Council and public informed as they make plans for the public meeting.

Brush Fire Danger High, Caution Urged by Fire Officials

KAITLYN G. WOODS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

With the snow melting away from shrubbery and grass, the fire danger is very high, according to Londonderry Fire Marshal Brian Johnson, who advises people to be cautious discarding smoking materials.

"The shrubbery and grass hasn't greened up yet, so it's all very dry. A brush fire burns very quickly across the top because the ground underneath is still very wet," he said. "When the sun is out and there's a strong breeze, brush fires spread very fast."

The main cause of brush fires is smoking materials that are discarded improperly, such as a cigarette tossed out a car window or thrown into brush at a park.

The Fire Department has already responded to two brush fires in Londonderry - a small fire along Interstate 93 on April 3, and a fire in front of the old Market Basket on April 15.

In addition to improperly disposed of smoking materials, Johnson said older ATV (all-terrain vehicle) equipment can release sparks that ignite brush fires.

Homeowners should also be cautious of bark mulch that is spread up against their house.

"Older bark mulch is very dry, that's where we see a lot of small fires, like at McDonald's along the drive-thru. People should be using the same caution at home," Johnson said. "If you throw smoking materials outside into dry bark mulch, it does ignite very quickly. And if the mulch is along the side of the house, it can spread to the home very quickly."

Johnson said the key message is to use caution with outside burning and discarding smoking materials, particularly when the weather is dry and windy.

The National Weather Service issued a "red flag warning" restricting burning in most of the State due to dry air and strong breezes on April 15, and Johnson said Londonderry was not issuing permits for burning brush on April 16 because of the amount of dry material in the area and the potential for a fire to spread quickly.

"The State does the weather every day, then sends out a report of danger for the State," Johnson said. "The Battalion Chief on duty will then make a decision on what permits we will be allowing."

Residents may check the Fire Department's page on the Town website at www.londonderrynh.org for updates on the State fire danger level. Those with a burn permit may call 432-1100, ext. 311, or 421-1380 for outside seasonal burning. The new message system makes it easier for residents to find out if the Department is allowing burning, and what types of fires are permitted that day.

Town's Previous Ordinance More Defensible for Workforce Housing

KAITLYN G. WOODS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Town Attorney has advised that had the Town not adopted a workforce housing ordinance, as directed after Workforce Housing statutes were passed by the state legislature in 2009, the Town's original ordinance unchanged was more defensible under state law.

"Under the new RSA's, all towns were directed to adopt a workforce housing ordinance or be penalized," Town Council Chairman John Farrell read from a press release the Town issued on April 20.

In accordance with state law, the Town Council held a public hearing in 2009 and heard much input from members of the public. Most people wanted the Council to deny the ordinance, according to the press release.

After many months, an ordinance was sent to the Council that allowed for 16-unit workforce housing structures, and with special approval, 20-unit buildings. The ordinance also included provisions that required gradual phasing of workforce housing projects and demanded that 75 percent of a project's units be workforce housing. Most towns require only 25 percent workforce housing units and no other town requires 75 percent, according to the press release.

Farrell read that over the last few years, as part of the Zoning Board of Adjustment process, developers with workforce housing projects have been granted multiple waivers from the ordinance because it does not meet the fiscal criteria of the state law. The ordinance does not allow large, rental, multi-family workforce housing projects to be economically viable.

Moving forward, the Council has asked that a new ordinance be drafted that is fiscally responsible and meets all the regulations spelled out in the state workforce housing statutes.

A draft ordinance and revisions to the draft ordinance were submitted to the Planning Board, and the Council expects the Planning Board will submit an amended ordinance by the end of the summer.

In other business Monday night:

- The Council asked

Finance Director Doug Smith and Town Manager Kevin Smith to look into the process the Town is using to pay employees in the Fire Department workers compensation if they're out on disability.

Councilor Joe Green said "it's almost impossible" for Fire Chief Darren O'Brien to meet his budget if he has to pay the salary, plus overtime for the person replacing the employee who is out, as well as the salary of the person on disability.

Smith said he will investigate the potential for disability payments to be made directly from the insurance companies, which generally refund the Town for a significant portion of the disability payment. He added it may be possible to separate the disability payments from payroll.

Farrell directed Smith to have by May 18 an answer regarding how they can handle the payroll process differently moving forward.

"Let's fix the process. Let's have the start of a plan, if not a solution," he said.

Conflict Continues Between Londonderry Youth Soccer, Londonderry United

KAITLYN G. WOODS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Conflict between the Londonderry Youth Soccer Association (LYSA) and the Londonderry United Soccer Club (LUSC) flared again - this time at the Recreation Commission's April 13 meeting, at which LYSA representatives say they weren't treated fairly by Recreation members.

Having requested the recreation league be permitted to participate in intra-town travel, LYSA board member Kerri Stanley said she invited three men from the New Hampshire Soccer Association (NHSA) to speak on LYSA's behalf, two of whom drove a good distance to attend the meeting.

"I was absolutely appalled and embarrassed at the way they were treated at that meeting," Stanley wrote in a letter to the Town Administrator, Kevin Smith. "They were intentionally not given the opportunity to even speak on our behalf, and as is typical when anything related to soccer is addressed, it is clear that LYSA personnel are treated poorly."

Recreation chairman

Art Psaledas said LYSA's guests weren't introduced at the meeting, but members of the Commission did receive an email saying they would be attending.

"None of them asked to talk. One guy put his hand up, and at that point we had to go to the other side. I didn't know he was a town resident, and I called him the next day and said he should have been allowed to speak," Psaledas said following the meeting. "People from out of town are not typically allowed to speak."

Members of LYSA disagree, saying attempts were made to speak not only by NHSA representatives who traveled from Portsmouth to speak to the Commission on their own time and State Rep. Doug Thomas, R-Londonderry, but also by three LYSA representatives who live in Londonderry, Patti Maccabe, Stanley and Alli Flaherty.

The group additionally said it's not common practice to restrict input at meetings of boards and committees to Londonderry residents only.

Psaledas said LYSA was granted a waiver at the meeting that will allow its youth players under the age of 12 to travel to other towns for games in the spring, with the stipulation that LYSA and LUSC meet and bring back in July a long-term solution to disagreement over under-12 (U-12) travel.

Town Councilor Joe Green, LYSA vice president of administration and Council liaison to the Commission, said the group is asking for the same opportunity the LUSC asked the Commission for last year.

"Over the years, because other sports have been taking numbers away from soccer, we have had to adapt and travel to other places," Green said, noting the NHSA representatives attended the meeting to address the questions and concerns related to their request.

LUSC proposed a memorandum of agreement for recreational U-12 travel, which included several stipulations, including that teams are only to be comprised of "true U-12 players," children born between Aug. 1 2002 and July 31, 2004; LYSA may travel only if they are able to form three teams or less; if they are able to form four teams or more, they must stay in town; and LUSC and LYSA have equal sharing of information to all participants in regard to tryouts and soccer training opportunities through email blasts and by posting on each organization's web site.

Green said he would understand LUSC's concerns about the two soccer organizations competing for players if LYSA were creating a competitive arm of its travel teams, and he noted LUSC holds its tryouts six months before LYSA opens registration.

"Our Executive Board met, discussed the agreement and unanimously came to the conclusion of it being one-sided. We felt like it was a condition that we sign on the dotted line," LYSA President Patti Maccabe wrote in a letter to Smith. Maccabe is an employee of Nutfield Publishing, which publishes the Londonderry Times.

"I don't understand why LYSA even needs the permission of LUSC. Perhaps I can't comprehend it because the fact is that we don't need their permission," Stanley wrote in her letter to Smith.

"LYSA has been for years playing with other towns nearby, in our U-12, U-15 and U-18 leagues, never thinking this would be something that was not managed by our own organization under NHSA, which both LYSA and LUSC reside under as members. Once LUSC and LYSA started dealing with the issue of LUSC bringing in non-competitive soccer ages to their organization, LYSA was then forbidden by the Recreation Commission to continue with our U-12 inter-town recreation soccer program," Maccabe wrote. "We have been trying to get this back in service for our Londonderry players to continue with recreation soccer. This is in no way affiliated, comparable or conflicting with the LUSC competitive program. It is simply geography of where the games are played."

Psaledas said LYSA's request was brought forward late, considering the spring season has arrived; but the temporary waiver will provide both soccer organizations time to work out a long-term solution, which they were asked to do last year when conflicts were addressed by the Town Council, as previously reported by the Londonderry Times.

"They're only about an hour away from an agreement," Psaledas said, noting the mistrust between the groups is reasonable, but they are working to bring them back together.

Smith, who was not present at the meeting, said he is gathering the facts related to the events that transpired that evening.

"I have spoken to both Art and members of (LYSA). While I don't believe it will be necessary for this matter to be brought before the Council, it may require a meeting to speak with the Recreation Commission members at some point," Smith wrote in an email. "Again, that determination will be made once I have all of the facts."

accountant in place of a Controller will save the Town a minimum of $50,000 in the FY16 budget, according to Kevin Smith.

As finance director, Doug Smith's annual salary will increase by $9,000 to $109,000 annually, where Hickey's salary was budgeted at $124,000.

Kevin Smith noted that depending on the health insurance the Senior Accountant decides to take, the Town could see even greater savings.

The changes will be reflected when the Town begins putting together the FY17 budget in the fall, Smith said.

"I think this is a good decision by the Town Manager and I support the decision," Councilor Tom Dolan said at Monday night's meeting.

In Local Visit, Hassan Calls on Senate to Restore Highway Funding

KAITLYN G. WOODS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

During a visit to the Londonderry Patrol Shed last week, Gov. Maggie Hassan said she hopes to see the New Hampshire Senate restore $44 million for the basic operating needs of the Department of Transportation (DOT), which the House cut from her proposed budget.

"It all comes down to having enough people, equipment and materials to keep our roads safe," Hassan told DOT employees she met with during her visit, which included a walk along Route 128 (Mammoth Road), an at-risk road project in the Town.

Although the Londonderry Patrol Shed has not had to cut staff, vacancies are often at risk of being unfunded, according to DOT Director of Operations Bill Janelle.

When DOT doesn't have the opportunity to fill vacancies, Janelle said resources need to be pooled to address various projects, and basic maintenance falls by the wayside.

"It's one thing to have unfunded vacant positions in a recession, but we're done with the recession. We should be able to start investing in our roads and our bridges, and making sure we have the people to do it," Hassan said.

Hassan, a Democrat, said when speaking with residents and businesses in the Granite State, they often tell her maintaining a modern, safe infrastructure system is important to them.

"A $44 million cut from the operating budget for the DOT budget I proposed makes it hard to stay current on infrastructure," she said. "The one-time solutions have dried up and we have about a $50 million hole."

To address the State's need for funding for failing infrastructure, Hassan has proposed an increase in state vehicle registration fees by $15 to $20 per year.

Janelle told Hassan Route 128 repairs are a high priority, as is the replacement of vehicles used to maintain the roads. The oldest vehicle at the Londonderry Patrol Shed is about 10 years old.

In addition to being a high-traffic road (about 12,000 vehicles travel the road per day), Route 128 serves as an emergency alternate route when Interstate 93 is closed, according to DOT Public

Gov. Maggie Hassan tours the Mammoth Road Department of Transportation facility last week. Photo by Chris Paul

Information Officer Bill Boynton, who also showed Hassan a failing culvert across from the Patrol Shed on Mammoth Road.

The past two winters were particularly severe, and as the weather warms up, the roads are expected to suffer additional damage.

Janelle said the State is hoping to get on a 10-year cycle for road maintenance, and that the Governor's budget would enable the Department to maintain that status.

"It's really still a very frugal budget I proposed, but it's a good start," Hassan said.

Hassan thanked DOT employees of the Londonderry Patrol Shed, telling them she knows it's been a tough winter, and now there's still a lot of work ahead.

"I'm grateful for the work you do," she said.

Carson Bill Would Require 30-Day Residency for Voting

KAITLYN G. WOODS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The New Hampshire House Election Law Committee is considering legislation State Senator Sharon Carson, R-Londonderry proposed to address the issue of "drive-by voting."

SB 179, which would add a 30 day domicile requirement to vote, came about when Secretary of State Bill Gardner voiced his concern with people coming to New Hampshire and filling out same-day registration, which is becoming a problem in his opinion, Carson said.

"We just want people who vote here to have some ties and stake in the community," Carson said. "People say, 'my vote doesn't count in Maine, or Vermont, or Massachusetts, so I'll go to New Hampshire.' If you look at the numbers of recounts, we have elections that are determined by one, or two, or three votes. People should understand voting is important and you should vote where you live. We hope this legislation will protect the integrity of the voting process, so you know when you go to ballot your vote will count."

The bill modifies the voter registration form used for same-day registration. Those who have not registered to vote in advance must sign an affidavit attesting to the fact they have lived in New Hampshire for at least 30 days, which Carson said the Secretary of State's Office will be following up on and passing along to the Attorney General's Office.

The penalty for knowingly or purposefully providing false information when registering to vote or voting is a class A misdemeanor, with a maximum sentence of imprisonment not to exceed one year, and a fine not to exceed $2,000. Fraudulently registering to vote or voting is subject to a civil penalty not to exceed $5,000.

Carson said those who move to the State less than 30 days prior to an election would need to obtain an absentee ballot from the location in which they had previously been living, noting they were very careful when drafting the legislation and met with the Attorney General's Office to ensure the bill wouldn't prevent anyone from voting.

Opposition to the bill argues it places an undue burden on people's right to vote, but Carson thinks people shouldn't vote in a community in which they don't have a stake.

Additionally, Carson notes there's a precedent for the bill - 38 other states have some sort of residency requirement, ranging between 10 and 30 days.

"We're trying to make the process better and protect the integrity of voting," she said.

The Republican State Committee has launched an online petition supporting Carson's bill, which is available at www.nhgop.org.

The Senate approved SB 179 on March 26 and the bill moved on to the House Election Law Committee.

Local School Custodian Arrested in Manchester Shooting

KAITLYN G. WOODS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

A Londonderry Middle School custodian, on leave since January, will face charges for allegedly shooting a man in Manchester last week after a dispute over a car he leased for his girlfriend, a stripper he met at a motorcycle club party.

Manchester Police detained and arrested Ira Cohen, 64, of Manchester, on the scene within minutes of the shooting, which left victim Mason Pereira, 24, in serious condition.

Police responded at 7 a.m. to reports of the shooting near Maple and Hanover Streets on April 16.

Pereira was found lying in the street. He suffered several gunshot wounds and was treated at the scene before he was transported to Elliot Hospital.

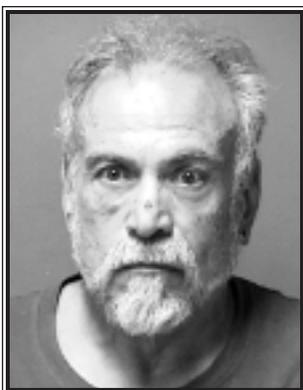

Cohen admitted to shooting Pereira in the torso with a Ruger .357 revolver.

Mason Pereira's brother, Joseph Pereira, rendered aid until police and emergency medical technicians responded. He said his brother was repeatedly saying he could not feel his legs.

Cohen was arraigned April 17 in 9th Circuit Court-Manchester District Division on five felony charges, including two counts of first-degree assault and one count of criminal threatening.

The cause of the incident is detailed in Det. Patrick Houghton's affidavit for the arrest.

Cohen told police he began a romantic relationship with Amanda Pacheco, 25, about two years ago and began supporting her monetarily, estimating he spent about $250,000 on her, renting multiple apartments for her to live in and leasing a black Nissan Altima for her to drive.

Cohen told police he and Pacheco have falling out periods where he becomes upset with her, and he has attempted to take the vehicle back from her several times before. He told police he "had enough" and wanted to get the Nissan back from Pacheco once and for all, which prompted him to get a ride to the methadone clinic on Valley Street at 5 a.m., where he waited for Pacheco and Mason Pereira to arrive.

Cohen told police he brought the Ruger .357 with him, but couldn't tell police why he did it, and noted he does not always bring his weapon with him.

Pacheco confirmed with police she was romantically involved with Cohen, and that he leased the vehicle for her to use because her credit was not good enough to purchase it in her name. She said she had been making monthly payments to Cohen for the vehicle and that it is hers.

On the morning of April 16, Pacheco and her boyfriend, Mason Pereira, arrived at the clinic and while inside, Joseph Pereira witnessed Cohen leaving the clinic in Pacheco's car. He attempted to prevent Cohen from leaving by standing in front of the vehicle and banging on the hood of the car.

Cohen struck Joseph Pereira with the vehicle and drove out of the parking lot, headed north on Union Street. Mason Pereira and his brother followed Cohen and eventually caught up to him after stopping in traffic in the area of Maple Street.

Cohen told police Mason Pereira "began getting in his face, forcing him back and away from the vehicle, "and that Mason Pereira struck him in the face."

Police observed some red abrasions under both of Cohen's eyes.

Cohen told police that rather than flee on foot, seek the help of bystanders or engage Mason Pereira physically, he drew his firearm, pointed it at Pereira and fired twice.

Pacheco told police that after Mason and Joseph Pereira began pursuing the vehicle, she called Cohen and urged him to return the vehicle.

According to the affidavit, Cohen had spoken with police in the past about retrieving the vehicle and had received advice from a friend on how to pursue the matter legally, but he opted not to take either of those routes.

After being notified of the shooting incident, the Londonderry School District sent a notice to parents, informing them Cohen, who has worked for the District since 2007, will not be returning to work pending resolution of the incident.

Superintendent Nate Greenberg said Cohen's being on leave prior to the shooting "had nothing to do with his performance of duties or any other criminal activity."

"As of today, he will be on administrative leave," Greenberg said on April 17.

He was unable to confirm at that time whether or not the School Board would need to address the issue moving forward.

Bistro Public Hearing Postponed After Abutters Get Incomplete Files

KAITLYN G. WOODS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Zoning Board of Adjustment has continued a public hearing to consider two variance requests for the development of a wine bistro on Mohawk Drive.

Attorney Thomas Aylesworth, who represents the condominium owners abutting the parcels at the April 15 meeting, said they weren't presented with all information available related to the variance requests when they asked for the files at Town Hall.

New information that was presented at the public hearing, which was continued from the Board's March 18 meeting, included a traffic study and appraisal letter Aylesworth said weren't provided to his client when requested.

A property manager for Kendallwood Condominium Association and one of its board members went to the Town Clerk on March 13 and asked for the entire variance file, but they were not given the traffic study or appraisal letter, according to Aylesworth.

Nashua attorney Andrew Prolman, who represented Riverview, LLC Manager Cornelius de Jong at the meeting, said the traffic study was submitted to the Town on March 3.

Aylesworth asked the Board to continue the case until he is able to review all new relevant information.

Riverview, LLC is seeking variances to allow parking to encroach into the 50-foot landscape buffer and to allow a structure to encroach into the 50-foot landscape buffer as part of the plans to develop the wine bistro at 6 Mohawk Drive.

Prolman said de Jong plans to add a 6-foot solid fence at the rear of the property and along the side lot lines between 6 and 8 Mohawk Drive. He also plans to pull back the existing property at 8 Mohawk Drive by 10 feet and add a solid fence.

The changes to his original plan are the result of discussions de Jong has had with neighbors and condominium owners, according to Prolman, who noted the plan includes thick green vegetation behind the fence to further buffer the bistro from its neighbors.

"The proposal before you is for a high-end wine bistro. (De Jong's) hope and goal is to bring something fabulous and elegant to the Town that will be entirely upscale. He will apply for a beer and wine license only," he said.

The building is to be 2,700 square feet, with the inside to reach a 60-foot height maximum. The space will feature an art gallery, two-story barreled ceiling in the middle of the building and a small kitchen and wine bar at the rear of the building.

The outside of the building is to be recovered brick with granite trim.

"The intent of the style of the building was to have more of a residential look," Prolman said. "Very formal French-style gardens are an integral part of the project, and they're important to the client and the core of the entire ambiance."

Prolman noted the lot is difficult to develop, and a tight lot to work with.

Michael Scanlon of Verani Realty concludes in a letter following his analysis of the site that the application for the variances as presented in March would not have any adverse effect on neighboring properties, particularly because the immediate neighboring property is a parking lot.

He noted the 20-foot encroachment into the buffer that was included in the plans in March has been pulled back.

In a traffic study presented during the hearing, it is reported during weekday peak hours, there will be approximately 26 trips in and out of the bistro, with 38 trips anticipated on Saturdays.

Prolman reported in the analysis of the direction traffic will go, "95 percent of traffic will go out Mohawk Drive to Route 102, or cut through the Crossroads Mall."

The study further reports that of the 95 percent of 26 or 38 trips during weekday peak hours, one vehicle is expected to cut through Granite Street to Boulder Drive, to Kendall Pond Road. And on Saturday peak hours, two cars are expected to follow that route.

Additionally, the parking lot has been designed to ensure headlights entering the property won't be directed toward neighboring condominiums.

"The proposed 6-foot fence will be very effective in preventing any headlight encroachment, and the orientation of spaces is pointing away from the Kendallwood condominiums," project engineer Earl Blatchford said.

"This application will allow my client to proceed, and given what he is doing with the design of the building, plus the fence and landscaping, we believe we will not be having any harm to any individual abutters," Prolman said.

"This project will cost well over $1 million when completed. This is not being brought to you by your typical developer. This is a passion for my client, who wants to bring something fantastic to the town. And we don't see there's any harm to the neighbors, while a significant gain to our client."

Abutters to the project did not speak out against it at the meeting, but have been vocal in their opposition to the project. The Town Council recently approved re-zoning the lots from Commercial-IV to C-I.

A significant concern of Kendallwood condominium owners is that the bistro will have an adverse effect on their property values, as the use of the abutting property will increase substantially.

Chairman James Smith reminded abutters and the applicant's attorney that new notices of the continued hearing on May 20 are not required to be mailed.

Showcase to Feature Work of LHS Woodworking Students

KAITLYN G. WOODS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Londonderry woodworking students are only a few weeks away from completing a variety of impressive projects they will share with the community in an upcoming show at the high school.

Tom Ciccarello, a teacher in the Technology Education Department, said the students usually compete in an annual woodworking competition, but with the deadline for the competition only two weeks away, they decided to hold a showcase event at the high school after Memorial Day to provide the students with more time to complete their projects.

Projects that will be featured in the showcase include a large hutch by Jon Dechamps, a cherrywood library desk by Anvar Bieler, and a cherrywood blanket chest by Ryan Herold. The three seniors are in Ciccarello's full-year Advanced Woodworking class.

Although learning woodworking is important for students who are interested in attending a trade school, Ciccarello has students who move on to a variety of careers - and all find value in the skills they learn.

"I had a kid who used to make mistakes all the time and he would have to go for a walk to calm down. As an adult, he sent me a letter telling me I was his favorite teacher because he learned how to take things one step at a time and figure out how to deal with his mistakes," he said. "It's a class students can learn so much in, and I try to encourage my engineering students to take the class because it's important they learn how things are made. Even just being a homeowner, there are so many things that can be fixed if you have woodworking skills."

In his 37 years of teaching at the high school, Ciccarello said he has had many parents say they wish they had taken the course. But as academic requirements continue to increase, there are fewer opportunities for students to take electives. Ciccarello said he hopes to bring attention and well deserved recognition to his students' work with the showcase, which is still in the planning process. "They always impress me," Ciccarello said of his students' projects. "They impress themselves."

After Dropping Opener, LHS Baseball Gets into Gear

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

For any high school athlete from Southern New Hampshire who has experienced it, the bus ride home from Spaulding High School in Rochester is a lengthy one. And it's especially long when you have a loss to contemplate.

So the defending Division I champion baseball squad from Londonderry High likely didn't have the greatest mood going on its ride home from Rochester Wednesday, April 15, after it dropped a tough, 2-1 decision to the host Spaulding High Red Raiders.

But veteran coach Brent Demas' bunch rebounded with victories over the Winnacunnet High Warriors from Hampton and the arch-rival Pinkerton Academy Astros late last week to grasp a solid 2-1 record three games into the 2015 campaign.

In the slim loss to Spaulding, the Lancers notched a 1-0 lead in the top half of the first inning with veteran Geoff Kayo driving in that marker, but the Red Raiders responded with single runs in the third and fifth frames and wound up bagging the 2-1 win.

"Unfortunately, the two runs scored were unearned, as the boys made some errors," lamented Demas. "Offensively, we put together seven hits and put plenty of men on base, but we just didn't cash in. Jimmy Zimolka led the way with a 3-for-4 performance. An excellent start for a very promising player."

Kayo notched the pitching start for LHS and allowed only two hits in four innings of work, and relievers Matt Ross and Noah Tavano held the hosts to just one more safety the rest of the way.

"We coaches feel that, despite the end result, today was a positive step toward the goals set forth to start the year," added Demas.

The veteran LHS mentor watched his charges score both early and often last Friday, April 17, in a 17-4 trouncing of the Winnacunnet Warriors in the first varsity contest played on the refurbished Lancer Park field. That diamond was the LHS varsity hardball field when Londonderry High baseball teams won Class I championships in both 1982 and 1983.

In the whipping of Winnacunnet, the hosts scored once in the bottom half of the first inning, but then watched the Warriors score three times in the top of the second to snag a 3-1 advantage.

The Lancers responded with seven runs in the bottom of the second, five more in the third, and four more in the latter half of the fourth to grasp a 17-4 lead after four full. And the game ended via the 10-run rule in the fifth.

Londonderry bashed out a dozen hits in the lopsided victory, with Brody Dupuis smacking three and driving in five runs and Cam Fennell contributing three hits and a pair of runs batted in.

Young veteran Jonny Meskell also drove in three runs for the winning side.

Pitchers Nick Musto and Tavano combined to hold Winnacunnet to a paltry four hits, and all four of the Warriors' runs were unearned.

Then last Saturday, it was time for the belated rematch of the 2014 Division I championship game between the Lancers and Pinkerton Astros that was initially supposed to be the season-opening contest for both squads on the previous Monday.

The host Lancers hopped out to a 2-0 lead in the latter half of the first frame and bagged an insurance run in the bottom of the fifth in claiming the 3-0 shutout win.

Veteran righty pitcher Mike Ryan put forth superb work for LHS, going the distance in a three-hit performance.

He walked two Astros and struck out eight of them.

Londonderry finished with a relatively modest six hits, with Dupuis smacking two of them and Colby Joncas and Meskell each being credited with RBI.

After playing host to the Concord High Crimson Tide this coming Friday afternoon, the Lancers will be playing Pinkerton Academy again, this time in Derry, at 2:30 p.m. Saturday in Beeman Trophy play.

Londonderry High pitcher Mike Ryan delivers to the plate as shortstop Tim McEachern looks on during the Lancers' defeat of Pinkerton last weekend.

Londonderry High Track Squads Glide Past the Tide

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Some superb performances from individual athletes and relay teams enabled the Londonderry High outdoor track and field squads to open their 2015 seasons in fine style against the Concord High Crimson Tide contingents at LHS last week.

Coach Matt Smith's Lancer guys pounded the Tide males by a 90-51 count on the LHS track on Tuesday, April 14, while coach Sue Johnson's Lady Lancers beat the Tide ladies by an 85-60 score there that day.

BOYS

Multiple event victories were bagged for the Lancer guys by Derek Davies in the pole vault (11 feet, 6 inches), the triple jump (37'4"), and the 400 (53.2 seconds), and Kyle Foden in the shot put (43'1") and the discus (103'11").

Individual wins came from Cullen Enwright in the javelin (124'10"), Eric Fairweather in the high jump (5'8"), Starlin Ortiz in the 110 hurdles (15.3), and Trevor Guay in the 300 hurdles (41.5).

The victors also took the 4x100 relay (46.5) and the 4x400 (3 minutes, 41.2 seconds).

GIRLS

Senior multi-event standout Natalie Howes hit the heights with a winning javelin throw of 128 feet and one inch to help pace the Lady Lancers' fine performance. Howes also tied for first place in the pole vault with teammate Jordan Dufresne (9'6").

LHS sophomore Lexy Freire won three events on her own, including the discus (32'11"), the 100 hurdles (17.8), and the 300 hurdles (53.6). The well-named Ellie Goodspeed proved unbeatable in the 100 dash (13.6) and the 200 (28.5), and Yorgelis Ortiz was tops in the triple jump (33'8") and the high jump (5'2").

Other LHS wins came

Softball Squad Falters After Shutout Victory

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

After beginning its 2015 season with an exclamation mark in the form of a 2-0 blanking of Pinkerton Academy - which featured a 17-strikeout performance from pitcher Melissa Sprague - the Londonderry High softball squad found out what it's like to be shut out itself in its next two contests.

LHS coach Wayne MacDougall saw his Lady Lancers shut out by a 2-0 count by Spaulding of Rochester in Londonderry Wednesday, April 15, and then in a 5-0 contest at Winnacunnet High in Hampton two days later.

In the April 15 contest, Spaulding plated the only two runs scored all day in the top half of the fourth en route to its road win.

The Lady Lancers smacked out six total hits, with Sprague collecting two of them, but the hosts couldn't manage to plate any runs.

And it was more of the same for the frustrated locals two days later on the seacoast, where they watched the host Winnacunnet Lady Warriors score three times in the bottom of the first and then once more each in the latter halves of the second and third innings.

The Lady Lancers were held to just four hits as they tried in vain to get their offense rolling as their season record slipped to 1-2.

Lancer Boys' Volleyball Slips to 0-2 With Road Defeat

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Coach John Vaughn's Londonderry High boys' volleyball squad has plenty of fight in it. But the Lancers didn't quite have enough going for them in their first two 2015 matches to walk away victorious.

After dropping a 3-1 decision to the 10-time defending state champs from Salem High in their season-opener Monday, April 13, Vaughn's charges took to the road to face the Mascenic Vikings in New Ipswich two days later. And the final outcome of that road match was another 3-1 loss for the Lancers.

The hosts powered their way to a 25-13 victory in game one, but Londonderry showed its fight by battling its way to a 26-24 win in game two to even the match at 1-1.

However, the Vikings took games three (25-17) and four (25-23) to decide the matter.

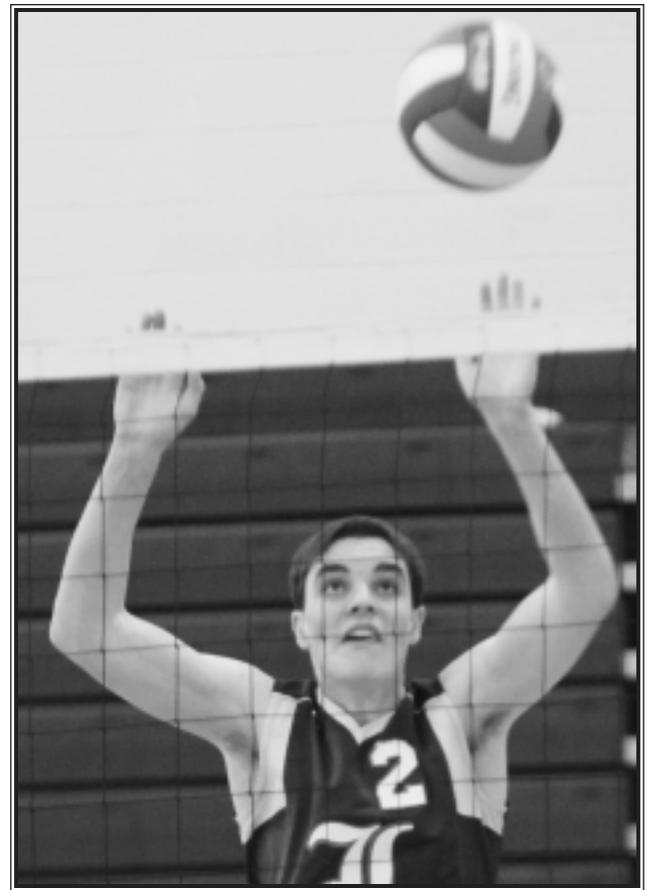

Senior newcomer Cody

Ball tallied a game-high 11 kills for Londonderry, and fellow 12th grade rookie Marc Corey contributed nine. Yet another LHS newcomer - Jeff Baroody - also pitched in with five kills and two blocks.

"The newbies are picking up the game quickly and show great improvement," said Vaughn. "We only have two players back from last year's varsity program, so every early-season match will be an adventure."

Spenser Flood tallied 17 assists on the day for the locals, and Aidan McCaffrey had nine digs while Ryan Crowley added eight digs for the Lancers.

On Saturday April 25, the Lancer squad travels to Derry to face the rival Pinkerton Academy side at 10 a.m. Then on Monday, April 27, the locals will host Bishop Guertin.

Tim O'Neill and the LHS boys' volleyball squad began their 2015 season with losses to Salem and Mascenic recently.

Tennis Teams Keep Forging Forward

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

While both the Londonderry High boys' and girls' tennis teams are going through rebuilding seasons this spring, both are showing talent and fight as they battle against tough opponents.

Coach Janice Norwesh's LHS boys slipped to 0-4 on the campaign last week despite giving both the Bishop Guertin Cardinals of Nashua and the Merrimack High Tomahawks challenges, and the Lady Lancers fell to BG but then bested Merrimack for their first victory of the 2015 campaign.

BOYS

In their 6-3 match loss to Guertin in Londonderry Wednesday, April 15, the Lancer males got a gutsy performance from top singles player Cam Letalien before he was downed by his opponent Brian Xiao in an 8-9, 5-7 tie-breaker.

"Cam played the match of his life to bring BG's Brian Xiao to an 8-8 match," said Norwesh. "I am so proud of our number one. You would never have known that he learned this game a year ago. Even though he fell to a much more experienced player in the tie-break 5-7, this was truly a victory for Cam. I think you need to believe you can, and today he made us all believe."

And after singles effort, Letalien helped his team to a sweep of doubles by working with partner Sean Enright for a victory. The tandems of Ryan Leo and Casey Tardif and Kevin Letalien and Tyler Cullen then followed suit to help their side end the day on resoundingly high notes.

The Londonderry crew then got still closer to a match victory in Merrimack two days later before dropping a 4-5 decision to the host Tomahawks.

Lancer wins were delivered by Leo (8-1) and Cody Woods (8-3) in the last two singles battles, and the doubles duos of Leo and Luc Velie (in a 9-8, 7-4 tie-breaker) and Woods and birthday boy Denis Geiger (8-2).

GIRLS

After seeing their 2015 season mark slip to 0-3 with a 7-2 road loss to the tough Bishop Guertin Lady Cardinals in Nashua Wednesday, April 15, the Lady Lancers vaulted themselves to their first match win of the still-young campaign two afternoons later on their own home courts by vanquishing the visiting Merrimack High Lady Tomahawks by a commanding 6-3 count.

Londonderry won four of the six singles matches thanks to the performances of Sarah DePasquale (9-7 win), Margaret Phillips (9-7), Elizabeth Mak (9-8, 7-3) and Sarah Court (8-0).

The locals then decided the match with doubles victories from the tandems of Marissa Beaton and DePasquale (8-4) and Court and Hailey Gilbert (8-3).

Middle School Dodgeball Tournament a Major Success

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry Police Explorers' 1137 held the first Londonderry Middle School Dodgeball Tournament for that school's students on Saturday, April 11. And the event was a massive success from many angles.

"We had 14 teams, 85 kids, and the stands were packed with family and friends," said tournament organizer Amy Cohen. "The kids named their own teams and made their own uniforms. We had a lot of cheering, chanting of team names, and a very fun and positive atmosphere."

The Raiders' seventh grade squad claimed the tourney championship, thanks to the efforts of players Alex Tsetsilas, Nick Pitarys, Tyler Kayo, Jake McEachern, Garrison Kriegal, Jeff Wiedenfeld, and coach Chris Tut.

The runner-up, second position was notched by the Not Your Average Joes' crew, which was made up of eighth graders Brendan Bedell, Brian LeClair, Henry Lagasse, David Donnelly, Ben Psaledas, and Ryan Dooley. The winners of the "Best Uniform" competition were the members of the Dodging Divas' squad - made up of sixth and seventh graders - which included Alexia Barnett, Janiah Bergendahl, Serena Richard, Britney Blair, and Hayley Barnett.

Lancers Sign on Lines

On Wednesday, April 15, Londonderry High had a handful of standout athletes sign letters of intent to play sports and attend colleges in the fall. From left are Mariah Eacrett, who will play women's lacrosse at the University of Alabama at Huntsville; Janelle Magoon, who plans to play field hockey at Rider College in New Jersey; Jackie Curtin, who'll play field hockey at Southern New Hampshire University; Katie Montminy, who is set to play field hockey at Assumption College in Worcester, Mass., and Cody Ball, who will play men's basketball at Saint Anselm College.

Lady Lancer Laxers Start Season With Blowout Wins

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

With coach Bob Slater back for his third stint as the coach of the Londonderry High girls' varsity lacrosse team, the Lady Lancers played as they did in championship years past in kicking off their 2015 campaign with blowout victories over both the Hollis-Brookline Lady Cavaliers and the Manchester Central Little Green late last week.

The LHS crew got its new campaign rolling in Hollis last Friday, April 17 with a 20-4 mauling of the host Lady Cavaliers, sprinting out to a 14-1 first half lead and then outscoring its host by a 6-3 margin during the second half to stride away with the lopsided victory.

Veterans Breda Holland and Sarah Bell paced the victors by scoring five goals apiece, and senior co-captain Noelle Lambert was good for a total of seven big points on four goals and three assists.

Caty Derhak and Dominique Breault each contributed two goals, Chelsea Lewis was good for a goal and an assist, Emily Holland scored once, and June Cranmer dished out three assists. Goalie Michaela Kewley added two saves to the victorious Londonderry effort.

And it was more of the same for Slater's Lady Lancers in their home-opener against Central the next day, as the locals raced out to an 11-1 lead by halftime and ended up celebrating a 16-2 win.

Breda Holland continued to celebrate her heightened role with the team by netting four more goals, Lambert bagged three, Bell was good for two tallies and three assists on a five-point day, Cranmer and Lewis each scored twice as well, Derhak and Emily Holland each scored once and assisted twice, and Breault was good for one marker. Keeper Kewley contributed one save to her 2-0 team's effort.

The girls' unbeaten record will be tested over the coming weekend as they are scheduled to head to Bishop Guertin in Nashua on Friday, April 24, and follow up that contest with a trip to Pinkerton Academy in Derry to face the arch-rival Lady Astros on Saturday, April 25, at 11:30 a.m.

Lancer Laxmen Rebound From Their Campaign-Opening Loss at Bedford

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

After opening its 2015 season with a frustrating and humbling loss to the tough Bedford High Bulldogs on the road last Monday, April 13, first-year coach Sean LeBlanc's Londonderry High boys' lacrosse team did an impressive job of frustrating and humbling its next two opponents.

The Lancers powered their way past the Hanover High Marauders by a 13-7 tally following a long bus trip to that opponent's home field Thursday, April 16, and then two days later the LHS crew played its first home match of the 2015 campaign and treated the visiting Manchester Central Little Green roughly in collecting an 18-1 blowout victory. In that trouncing of Central, Londonderry's potent attack featured impressive five-point efforts from Dave Weiden-feld (two goals, three assists) and Kyle Hussey (four goals, one assist), four-point performances from Shayne Holland (two goals, two assists) and Devin Brunet (one goal, three helpers), three goals from Sean Snyder, and single tallies from Pete Navarro, Lewis Carroll, and Travis Kellogg.

"It was great to get a solid win in our home-opener, and it was good to see a lot of names on the scoring sheet," said

LeBlanc.

The boys lax squad schedule toughens up as they are scheduled to face 2014 DI winning Bishop Guertin High School in Nashua on Thursday, April 23, followed by a trip to Pinkerton Academy to face their arch rival Astros on Saturday, April 25, at 4 p.m.

The team will then travel to Exeter High School on Tuesday, April 28, to face off against the Blue Hawks.

Athlete of the Week

For the Week of April 13

Elizabeth Mak, Junior, Girls' Tennis

The Lady Lancers' number four singles player was able to win her games with her strong backhand and strategic net play against rivals Bishop Guertin of Nashua and Merrimack.

Kyle Hussey, Senior, Boys' Lacrosse

This skilled senior paced the LHS offense with four goals and one assist for five big points in the locals' 18-1 victory over Manchester Central.

Marie's Corner

Before leaving elementary school students must be familiar with basic math concepts. These include knowing their addition, subtraction, and multiplication facts. These math facts must be ingrained by the time a student enters the middle school. Students must know immediately that $12+8=20$ and that $9 \times 6 = 54$. As educators we cannot stress this enough.

In middle school, the math curriculum expands into more complex concepts. Without a solid grasp of addition, subtraction and multiplication facts many students will find these new math concepts difficult.

Please know that our teachers work tirelessly to educate our students, but learning math facts takes more time than is allotted in the classroom. Students must practice at home with parental support.

Websites to assist your children with basic math facts:

Websites with printable fact sheets -(I prefer these, my children did too! We set a timer and made it a competition - beat the clock.)

Eversource

Matthew Thornton Elementary School.

Farrell asked that the Town be informed as to which abutters Eversource has contacted by May 4.

The information session will include an open house where residents may visit kiosks and speak with experts on the project from 5:30 to 7 p.m., followed by an informational session from 7 to 9 p.m., where Eversource will formally present the project to the public and residents will have an opportunity to ask questions.

Findlen said they will have route locators at the open house that will allow residents to see the transmission line route over a GIS (Geographic Information System) map.

The purpose of the 345-kilovolt (kV) line project is to address a growing demand for electricity in the region, preventing potential overloads on existing transmission lines, Findlen told the Council.

The new, 24-mile overhead transmission line will run from the Scobie Pond Substation in Londonderry to Tewksbury, Mass., also passing through Hudson, Windham and Pelham. A total of 18.1 miles of the transmission line will run through New Hampshire, with 8.1 miles to run through Londonderry.

All work is to be completed in the existing utility right-of-way, and no additional land or easements will be required.

Work in Londonderry is expected to include the construction of about 75 new structures, with the average height anticipated to be 88 feet above ground. The three tallest poles built in Londonderry are proposed to be 106 feet.

National Grid and Eversource Energy will jointly invest nearly $123 million to bolster the regional infrastructure, with $82 million to be invested in New Hampshire.

The project will include clearing in the utility corridor and the installation of additional towers from the Hudson town line toward Wiley Hill Road, as well as north from Wiley Hill Road toward the Scobie Pond Substation.

The project is still in the early stages, and engineering will be ongoing until the permitting process concludes.

Eversource will hold the public information session before filing its application for the project with the New Hampshire Site Evaluation Commission (NHSEC).

Additionally, Eversource and National Grid must hold a joint public information session in each affected county within 45 days after the application is filed; then, the SEC will hold additional public hearings within 90 days of the application's being accepted.

Eversource plans to file for federal permits and with the NHSEC in the spring.

If regulatory approvals are granted and construction begins in the fall of 2016, the new transmission line could be in service by the fall of 2017.

Findlen said the utility company anticipates a 14 to 15 month construction period.

Councilor Tom Freda asked how much additional taxes Eversource has budgeted for the project.

Findlen said that budgeted amount would be included in its application to the SEC and would be available at the information session May 6.

More information related to the Merrimack Valley Reliability Project is available online at www.MA-NHsolutions.com. Specific questions or concerns may be directed to Findlen by email at suzanne.findlen@eversource.com
