Financial Articles Dominate Warrant in Tuesday Voting

KAITLYN G. WOODS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Londonderry voters will head to the polls on Tuesday, March 10 to make several important decisions for the Town, such as whether to move forward the process of building a community auditorium and whether to hire additional firefighters.

Although there are no contested races for school or town officers, there are several articles on both the Town and School District's 2015 Warrants that have been hotly debated.

The polls are open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. in the Londonderry High School gymnasium.

Running for re-election to the School Board are Chairman Leitha Reilly and Steve Young.

Incumbent Vice Chairman Jim Butler is also running unopposed for the one open seat on the

Conservation Votes to Commit $100,000 to Rail Trail Phase 3

KAITLYN G. WOODS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Conservation Commission voted unanimously in favor of committing $100,000 of the Town's land use change tax toward construction costs to complete Phase Three of the Rail Trail.

The funding is contingent upon the Londonderry Trailways obtaining the balance of the money needed to complete the project, which Trailways Chairman Bob Rimol estimates will cost $400,000, and expenditure of the funds by Aug. 1, 2016.

"I think it's fair and reasonable to put the time condition on it," Commission Chairman Deb Lievens said, noting a future commission could amend the allocation if it was strongly opposed to the expenditure.

Although the Town doesn't own the property Phase Three of the Rail Trail will cut through, the 1.4 mile stretch connecting Liberty Drive to Seasons Lane, which runs past a peat bog, would make conservation land along the trail accessible to all residents and offer access to open space and views of conservation easements.

It's the opinion of Town Attorney Mike Ramsdell that because the Town has an agree-

Task Force Recommends Musquash Target Shooting Ban

KAITLYN G. WOODS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Musquash Task Force voted 6-3 to include among its recommendations to the Town Council that the Town ban target shooting, skeet shooting and trap shooting in the Musquash and other town-owned conservation areas, unless at a facility approved by the Town Council.

Members Dan Watkins, Dana Coons and Lt. Gordon Joudry voted against the recommendation.

The task force considered several ideas to address the issue of target shooting in the Musquash during a Feb. 25 brainstorming session, including a total ban on target shooting on town-owned conservation areas, a season for target shooting so that other users of the Musquash would know when the shooting is occurring, and confining target shooting to the sandpit at the Faucher Road entrance or other shooting ranges in town, such as the Police Department's shooting range.

Additionally, Joudrey suggested a possible compromise to shooting as opposed to an outright ban – to require target shooting be restricted in areas that are less than 200 yards from an occupied building, as well as prohibiting shooting up and down marked hiking trails and limiting firearms used to ones allowed for hunting.

Sgt. Jason Breen informed the task force the Town wouldn't be able to open the police shooting range, given its entrance cuts through the center of Continental Paving's quarry in Litchfield and owner Rick Charbonneau said he could not allow public access through a working quarry due to the inherent dangers and liability.

In regard to a season for target shooting, member Bob Saur said while it would generate limitations on target shooting,

Councilors Criticize Assistant Moderator's Action at Deliberative

KAITLYN G. WOODS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Town Council called into question the assistant town moderator's decision at the Town's Deliberative Session to restrict comments and materials from Councilor Joe Green, saying it was "a disservice."

"As a Councilor, my job is to get information out to the public. I'm talking about pocket-book issues and I'm trying to make sure everything I see is getting out to the public," Green said.

Assistant Town Moderator Bob Saur said he chose not to allow Green to display a chart showing annual increases in overtime costs because it had not been submitted in advance of the meeting as required.

Saur also directed Green when he began to discuss overtime costs to limit his comments to those related to the article amendment at hand - the funding of an additional four firefighters.

"Just as with any other presenter who would want to put materials on display on the projector, we would have wanted to see them ahead and make them available to the public."

Saur added that any decision made by the moderator can be overruled by vote.

"That did happen to a decision I made at that same meeting. If Mr. Green felt my decision was inappropriate, he was entitled to a mechanism to overrule my decision and chose not to," he said. "The goal of the moderator is to give everyone an even playing field to work within and let everyone have their say, but also in a fair and consistent manner. My intention was to ensure we kept that fairness and consistency in the meeting."

Green presented his table at the Town Council meeting on Monday night, it details a steady increase in the Fire Department's overtime costs over the past five years - from $350,000 to $850,000.

"In my opinion, the money (for additional firefighters) is already there," he said.

Green went on to say he supports the firefighters 100 percent, but doesn't support paying for things twice.

"Green was done a disservice that day," Councilor John Farrell said. "If you come down here, we should listen. It doesn't matter if we don't agree with you. The people in that room and the people who care to participate should be able to get up and speak and we all should listen. Whether he was right or wrong, he should have been allowed to say what he wanted to say."

"At the Deliberative Session, we're supposed to deliberate. But you got one side at our Deliberative Session due to a disservice by our assistant moderator. I think what happened to Green was a terrible disservice to someone who was just trying to share some numbers and disagreed with the group that day," Councilor Tom Freda said. "Everyone can take a side on the issue. The point is to let everyone say their side. I blame myself for not doing more to defend Mr. Green."

Rail Trail

ment with the State to develop the Rail Trail, the Town has an interest in land in the Rail Trail corridor and therefore can invest town money in it, Commissioner Mike Speltz said during a Jan. 6 public hearing on the Trailways' request. The Conservation Commission is not a party to the agreement, but can be a party to a contract with the company used to complete construction.

"Our funds, if we approve, would be going directly into a contract with a paving contractor, and that has been vetted by the town attorney," Speltz said.

The land use change tax can be used for any purpose the Commission has within its charter under state statutes, which includes fostering public use of and access to open space and conservation easements.

Speltz noted the Commission would be dedicating only a small fraction of the approximately $1.5 million available in the fund to support a trail that would expand access to open space and conservation areas in town.

Rimol told the Commission it's important Trailways raises funds to complete the project as soon as possible, with construction on Interstate 93 moving north toward Londonderry and plans for the Woodmont Commons development moving forward. Construction services can often be contracted at a reduced cost when done in conjunction with another project.

"We want to be able to leverage the fact that we have the Rail Trail completed down to Seasons Lane and Derry has completed the trail to Hood Park. The State should pay for part of that trail to fill that gap," he said at the public hearing. "We're in constant dialogue with the Derry Rail Trail Alliance. We know what's at stake. They're at a stopping point and we need to get to ours."

The Trailways had intended to submit a citizen's petition to include on the March 10 ballot a warrant article to raise and appropriate the rest of the funds for construction of Phase Three of the Rail Trail. But the petition was filed after the State's Jan. 19 deadline.

With the Conservation Commission's allocation, the Trailways must raise approximately $280,000.

Trailways volunteer Pollyann Winslow said the committee will continue to work to support the Rail Trail and the group hopes to see the people and businesses who want to see it extended continue to support it.

The newest portion of the Rail Trail, which runs east from the Exit 5 Park and Ride to Liberty Drive, is to be paved and open in the spring.

Town Fails to Notify Abutters in Re-Zoning for Wine Bistro

KAITLYN G. WOODS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Several abutters said they weren't notified of a public hearing at which the Planning Board voted unanimously to recommend the Town Council re-zone properties on Mohawk Drive to develop the space into a boutique wine house and bistro.

The board invited the public to speak for or against the re-zoning at their Feb. 4 meeting, but no one was present to give testimony. Abutters told the Council at their meeting Monday night that not one of the 132 condominium owners living on adjacent properties to the proposed home of Cabonnay, Wine and Cuisine, received notification of the public hearing.

"I just heard about this 10 days ago. This was all news to me," abutter Glenn Keating of 83 Granite St., told the Council. "I had no idea this was happening until I read about it in the Londonderry Times."

Town Manager Kevin Smith said a certified letter announcing the public hearing was sent to and received by the property management for the condominiums, but management failed to pass the notice along to the condominium association and abutters.

"What we'll do as a courtesy is send certified notices to the condominium owners who immediately abut (the properties seeking re-zoning) and continue the public hearing to the Council's March 16 meeting," he said. "But we have already met the legal requirement."

Keating said he and his neighbors recognize that something needs to be done with the property, and that a previous proposal for a medical center was satisfactory to them, as business hours would have been limited to weekdays from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Sharon Reed of 77 Granite St., told the Council the residents living in the townhomes adjacent to the parcel to be re-zoned are opposed to construction of a restaurant on the site.

"There are young children who live in the condominiums. It may be called a wine bistro, but it's still a bar," she said.

Geographic Information System Manager John Vogl said re-zoning the parcels from Commercial-IV to Commercial-I will revert them back to what they had been zoned the last couple decades.

"They were re-zoned to Commercial-IV to make them more saleable for the property owner," Vogl said.

Councilor John Farrell noted that if the parcels are re-zoned, they would match the surrounding zoning.

Other permitted uses in a C-I zone include limited services motor vehicle, retail, professional office, repair services, and drive-thru windows.

"The most recent inquiry for this site was an automotive repair shop," Town Planner Cynthia May told the Planning Board at their hearing. "That's what this site lends itself to, which is not friendly to the residential neighborhood."

Smith noted that even if the properties aren't re-zoned, the applicant could still build a restaurant with a Conditional Use Permit from the Planning Board.

Councilor Joe Green asked abutters at the meeting to leave their contact information with the Town's Executive Assistant to ensure they are all notified personally.

The Town Council continued its public hearing on re-zoning the parcels until they could verify all abutters to the Mohawk Drive properties were notified.

Councilors agreed the Town may need to reconsider the process for notifying abutters of public hearings so that all individual condominium owners abutting a parcel, all of them taxpayers, receive notification when an action could affect their property.

"This is the first time we have had this happen where a management company hasn't passed the notification along to the property owners," Smith said. "You can't overdo it, we could certainly start sending notice to management, as well as individual abutters. While we're not legally required to do that, it's probably not a bad idea."

Man Arrested with Stolen Check

KAITLYN G. WOODS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

A Hudson man turned himself in to Londonderry Police on a warrant for attempting to cash a personal check he allegedly stole while working at a home in Deerfield.

James Novick, 43, allegedly signed the victim's name to a check made out for $600 and attempted to cash that check in Londonderry.

Before he was arrested in Londonderry, Novick allegedly had attempted to cash another of the victim's checks made out for $1,800 in Nashua. When the bank called the victim to verify he had issued the check, the victim confirmed the check had been stolen.

Novick was charged in Londonderry for forgery and receiving stolen property and was held on $5,000 personal recognizance bail.

Forgery is a felony and the receiving stolen property charge is a misdemeanor, as the value of the check Novick attempted to cash was less than $1,000.

Deerfield and Nashua are conducting their own investigations related to the alleged theft of the checks in Deerfield and the check Novick attempted to cash in Nashua. He will likely face additional charges pending the conclusion of those investigations, according to Londonderry Det. Chris Olson.

"This happens all the time. At least once a week we take a report for a forged stolen check," Olson said. "More often the checks are stolen from relatives."

Polls Open March 10; Be There

Elections affect everybody in town; the money being sought is our tax money, and we have the right to have a say in where it goes. But only if we vote.

This is our town, and our views matter. But only if we vote.

As Americans, we're proud of our right to a secret ballot, to vote on matters big and small, to show our patriotism by going to the polls. But only if we exercise that right.

Staying home is easy, but taking the time to cast an informed vote is what a democratic country expects of its citizens. Indeed, people take to the streets and literally risk death to demand free elections and the right to govern in countries across much of the world. They look to the United States as an example of how government by the people should be.

And what do we do? In a state that offers just about the best opportunity for people to participate in self-government, we see turnouts of 10 percent at town and school elections.

We let ourselves and everyone else down when we ignore the election, then we find ourselves taxed out of our homes and represented by people who embarrass or upset us, all because we didn't make the effort to vote.

If you don't understand what you're being asked to approve, seek the answer. The right to vote carries with it the responsibility of understanding the issues. It shouldn't sway your vote that the budget committee – or your neighbor – favors or dislikes a warrant article or candidate. Think for yourself.

We think town and school requests should be handled the way we handle our checkbooks – can we afford it? Is it a necessity or a luxury? Is it something we can put off, or is that a false economy that will cost much more later on?

How about a union contract? If it covers just one year, its costs are likely to be clear. But most contracts are for two to four years. Make sure you understand the costs attached to each additional year – you won't be asked to vote on it in future years, but the money will be added to the overall budget and will be part of your tax bill.

And if it's a bond that's being sought, make sure to find out how much in interest charges will be added to the bottom line. Or, what it means in coming elections. Like a 10 million dollar bond in the case of the Londonderry High School Auditorium.

We'd love to be able to say that Lincoln's government "of the people, by the people, for the people" is more than a slogan in our towns.

For your own good and the good of the community, please vote March 10.

Refusal of Smarter Balanced

To the editor:

I am compelled to follow up on my recent letter encouraging parents to refuse the Smarter Balanced (SB) assessments after attending a hearing on a bill (HB603) that would explicitly acknowledge parents' right to refuse participation for their child. Sadly, this bill is necessary because parents around the state are facing hostility and bullying tactics when they attempt to excuse their children from the test.

And no wonder. It was chillingly evident today that an anti-parent attitude is encouraged from the top. New Hampshire Education Commissioner Barry has dispatched Technical Advisories to districts statewide, admonishing that any constitutional rights parents may heretofore have cited to exempt their children from "objectionable materials" shall not apply to SB assessments. Somehow, by her decree, the testing materials are "not materials." Barry further directs that the state shall consider only these few exemptions: sickness, death, qualification for an alternative test and severe emotional distress (Lest you consider this last a possibility, know that they will demand documentation from a doctor).

Backing the Commissioner and speaking in opposition to the bill, New Hampshire School Board Chairman Raffio testified that state and federal law forces 100 percent participation in the new testing scheme because it "serves the best interests of the community." More ominously, he asserted that the state's needs supersede any parental desire to determine what is appropriate for their children.

Heather Gage of the Department of Education reassured everyone that elements of New Hampshire law forbid "dispositional" questions on tests...though agreement on the definition of that term is not absolute. We'll just have to trust her, though, because New Hampshire does not control Smarter Balanced content and no one – not even the lawmakers who asked – can preview the test your child will take. It doesn't exist in paper form and it may, ultimately, be unique to your child, since SB is fully computerized and adaptive to the test-taker's responses.

If this level of loud and proud totalitarianism clashes with your expectations for the Live Free or Die state, I'm with you. It's alarming.

But there is one bit of good news: Commissioner Barry concedes in a Jan. 13, 2015 Technical Advisory that "there are no laws in the state of New Hampshire or rules at the New Hampshire Department of Education that would penalize a student for not participating in the statewide assessment. Additionally, the same is true if a parent determined that they would not allow their child to participate." Good to know.

Missing Londonderry Man Found Safe in Bay State

KAITLYN G. WOODS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

After being missing for more than 24 hours, an elderly Londonderry man was found safe and in good health in Quincy, Mass.

Jack Rattigan, 82, was last seen at 5:20 p.m. Feb. 25 and was located sometime around 7 p.m. Feb. 26.

After checking throughout the night he was missing at all the possible locations where they thought he could be, his family contacted police.

Rattigan left his home wearing only a grey, long-sleeved sweater with black slacks and winter boots. He wasn't carrying a cell phone or credit cards, only a small amount of cash in a wallet.

He was driving a 2007 Silver Dodge Dakota pickup truck when he was involved in a minor car accident in Massachusetts, after which he was transported to an area hospital for a precautionary evaluation.

Rattigan was not injured and his family was notified he had been found safe, the Police Department was happy to announce on Feb. 26.

"At this time it is unknown why Mr. Rattigan was in Quincy or where he had been since going missing," Det. Chris Olson said in a press release.

Police continue to investigate the incident.

Recreation Plan Cites Opportunities for Better Use

KAITLYN G. WOODS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Town would benefit from enhancements to local trails and conservation areas to make them more accessible and better utilized, Geographic Information Systems Manager John Vogl told the Town Council in an update on the Town's Outdoor Recreation Plan Monday night.

Completing the Recreation Plan resulted in a vision and plan for community leadership, such as the Conservation Commission, the Town Council, town planners and school and recreation officials; as well as a review of key recreation sites and possibilities for better utilization of those properties, contractor Stu Arnett of Arnett Development Group told the Town Council during the presentation.

Future enhancements identified in the plan include turning the Beaver Brook parcel into a picnic area, opening it up for more family use, or using the parcel as a kayak launch to take advantage of Beaver Brook; establishing a trail network around the West Road fields with a possible connection to the Musquash Conservation Area; and developing an observation deck at Scobie Pond, with the possibility of overnight camp sites on the town-owned property.

"There's not a lot of camping in Londonderry, and this is a good site to make that happen," Vogl said.

Additionally, Vogl said the plan proposes using untapped rights-of-way to connect street networks into a walkable system.

"It shows potential for a connection between Trolley Car Lane through the West Road fields right through the center of town," Vogl said. "Each of these projects will need its own champions and committees to get them off the ground."

"Where the interest is, that's where the attention would go," Arnett said. "The result of the plan is we now have a foundation for presenting to the leadership in town what they need for a stewardship plan. We have a good sense for what opportunities exist now and what future opportunities there could be."

"The Conservation Commission will take the 'what if's' and decide what they want to go after," he added. "They will probably take the low-hanging fruit first. Now we have the opportunity to set priorities for the long term."

Vogl noted the Town

Forest is a good example of an underutilized resource that volunteers have recently started working to improve.

"There were some new trails added and it was cleaned up to make the 12 acres more accessible, which was a great first step," he said. "These are all just good ideas until they have a champion behind them."

Chairman Tom Dolan pointed out the Council has been made aware of a growing concern with lack of parking at trailheads to conservation areas in town.

"It's beginning to cause a nuisance to local property owners, with people parking on their streets and in front of their homes," he said. "It's also up to the planners to think about parking and how we'll accommodate those people who want to use properties without encroaching on abutters. I think that should be part of the talks about what's next."

Arnett said Bill Flynn, the main architect behind the recreation plan, has indicated locations where other trailheads could be established as a potential solution to the parking problem.

In addition to the recreation plan, Arnett Development and Vogl collaborated to develop the web-based recreation guide on the Town website, which offers users detailed information about conservation areas in town, including their permitted uses.

The user-friendly guide lists the conservation areas with photographs, which users can click on to see where those properties are located on a map of Londonderry.

Pelham Man Charged After Crash

KAITLYN G. WOODS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

An intoxicated Pelham man crashed into a 2014 Jeep Cherokee after running a red light at the intersection of Mammoth and Nashua roads.

No passengers in the Jeep were injured, but a passenger in the Lincoln Town Car that David Chadwick, 54, was driving suffered a minor cut to his head.

Police responded to reports of the crash on March 1 at 7:45 p.m.

Chadwick registered at .167 Blood Alcohol Count when a breathalyzer test was administered, double the .08 blood alcohol level legally permitted when driving, according to Det. Chris Olson.

Because his blood alcohol level was double the legal limit, Chadwick was charged with Aggravated Driving While Intoxicated.

He was also charged with Driving Under the Influence of Drugs or Liquor, Open Container of Alcohol, and Traffic Control Devices for running the red traffic light.

He was released on $750 personal recognizance bail and will face his charges in Derry District Court on March 10.

Olson said the Department saw a spike in DUI arrests last week - police made four separate arrests over the weekend for incidents involving drug and alcohol use while driving.

"Our patrol officers are out looking for that particular offense during the midnight shift," he said.

- PROVIDER ON CALL - MEDICATION MISTAKES THAT CAN KILL (PART TWO)

The previous article talked about the number of people that suffer due to medication mistakes. We reviewed five areas of concern when taking medications. This week we review the other five.

Insurance companies mandate that the use of generic drugs is preferable whenever they are available. The generic form of Lasix is furosemide, both used as a common diuretic. A patient may have a bottle of each, not know they are the same drug and take both of them thus doubling the dose. Make sure when your provider prescribes a new medication that you go over the details; whether there is a generic, what it is for, the dosage and how often to take it.

When you get something off of the grocery store shelf, you think it is safe. Even aspirin is something you have to watch out for since it thins the blood. If you are having a surgical procedure and have taken aspirin, it could lead to life threatening bleeding. Remind your provider, whenever they are writing you a new prescription, what other OTC or prescription medications you are taking.

Grapefruit is harmless, right? Perhaps not if you are taking anti-seizure drugs or statins used to lower cholesterol. A crucial enzyme is inhibited and does not allow it to break down and metabolize many drugs. Coffee does not allow the absorption of iron supplements and can show that anemia is still present. Not all food and drink interactions are mentioned on handouts. Ask your provider about taking medications with or without food or drink.

Medication dosages should be adjusted when kidney or liver functions show signs of failure. Loss of function impairs your body's ability to rid itself of toxins or foreign substances. Make sure you read the fine print and ask your provider if you need screening tests.

Even age can make a difference in the way a medication reacts in your body. Conditions such as dementia, dizziness and falling or high blood pressure can cause more of a reaction with medications that have these side effects. Look up the "Beers List" (named after Dr. Mark Beers) which is a set of criteria for medications that may not be safe for patients over 65 and review it with your provider.

To help you and your provider to prevent these things from happening, take all your medications with you to your appointments or at least a detailed list, as I recommend to my patients. That way, your medications can be listed and reviewed at each visit.

As a Family Practitioner for over 20 years in Southern New Hampshire, I have treated new borns to individuals in their Golden Years. My staff and I believe that prevention is the best cure. And we like to do it the old-fashioned way, by listening and caring for each patient as if they were our own family. At the same time, we do not ignore the innovations that are taking place in medicine and participate in the EPIC electronic medical records in conjunction with the Elliot Hospital.

Our practice is located at the Tower Hill Professional Park at 182 Rockingham Road, Suite 9, Londonderry, conveniently accessible near Exit 5 of Interstate 93. We accept most major insurances. If you are looking for a Family Friendly Environment, we can be reached at (603) 434-4363.

Digital Zoning Ordinance Now Online in Londonderry

KAITLYN G. WOODS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Town launched a digital version of its zoning ordinance last week that offers access to the full ordinance, as well as quick links to other features such as important use tables, local interactive maps and other land use documents.

The web-based version is much more user-friendly, enabling users to search the document for key words and bookmark sections of the ordinance they wish to return to.

"It's an easier format and it's more accessible to the general public who wants to go to a given section that's relevant to what they're looking for," Geographic Information Systems Manager John Vogl said. "The reader is able to go right to a section instead of having to download the whole document."

The Town contracted with Encode, a company that specializes in digitizing large documents like the zoning ordinance, according to Vogl.

Part of the motivation behind contracting with Encode was that its program is much easier to use when making changes, according to Vogl, noting that will be helpful if the voters approve the warrant article for a complete re-write of the zoning ordinance.

Vogl said he's not aware of any neighboring communities that offer a web-based zoning ordinance, but said it's not uncommon throughout the country.

In addition to providing a format by which residents and members of the Town's boards and committees will have greater access to the zoning ordinance, the digital ordinance will also serve developers who may be considering investing in Londonderry.

Last year, Vogl and Stu Arnett presented to the Town Council a new page of the Town's website devoted to economic development, which features links for potential developers to community information, the Town's development team, demographics, and maps of the Town.

The new digital ordinance is a piece of the overall efforts to facilitate the process of investing in Londonderry, according to Vogl.

"Any time you make information more accessible to developers, it's helpful to them," Vogl said. "This is also part of modernizing the system."

The digital zoning ordinance may be accessed through the Planning Department's page on the Town website at www.londonderrynh.org.

OBITUARY

Donall Eno

Donall "Don" Otte Eno died in his Londonderry home on Feb. 26, 2015 at the age of 81 after a four-year battle with cancer.

He was born Oct. 17, 1933 in Colorado and was the son of Fern and Ronald Eno.

He spent his mid youth, teens and early college years in Indiana and California. In 1954 he enlisted in the Air Force and was stationed in northern Maine, where he met his future bride, Jeannine Dufour.

He became an Air Traffic Controller while in the service and continued until retirement in 1988.

Upon retirement, he and his wife became snowbirds and settled in the Breckenridge golf community in Estero, Fla. He enjoyed the camaraderie of the morning golf league. He had the ability to tell a joke on any given subject.

In addition to his sense of humor, he loved a challenge or bet. He loved to challenge his children in golf, catch the biggest fish or win a dollar in a sports bet. He was an independent thinker and artistic.

He leaves his wife, Jeannine Eno; brother, Ronald Eno of Derry; six children, sons Chris Eno and partner, Sue Carradini of Derry, Mark Eno and wife, Christine of Merrimack, David Eno and wife, Kim of Palm Beach Gardens, Fla., Tim Eno of Merrimack, Todd Eno and wife, Susan of Brunswick, Maine, daughter Kim Ryan and husband, Michael of Londonderry; many grandchildren and a few great-grandchildren.

A Liturgy of Christian Burial will be celebrated on Thursday March 5, at 10.30 a.m. at St Mark's Church, South Road, Londonderry. A life celebration will immediately follow at Brookstone Country Club, 14 Route 111, Derry.

He was thankful for the care he received from doctors and staff at the Dana-Farber Cancer Institute in Londonderry, as well as the caregivers at Hospice. In lieu of flowers, for those who choose, donations may be sent to Amedisys Hospice Care, 1 E Commons Drive, Unit 33, Londonderry, NH 03053. The Peabody Funeral Homes of Derry and Londonderry are assisting the family with arrangements. To send a condolence, visit www.peabodyfuneralhome.com.

Town Council.

Incumbent Gary Vermilion is seeking re-election to the Budget Committee for a three-year term; incumbent Sherry Farrell, for re-election as Town Clerk for a three-year term; James Hooley, for election to the Budget Committee for a two-year term; and incumbents Carole Introne and Betsy McKinney for election as Trustees of the Leach Library for three-year terms.

No one has filed to run for either of two, three-year terms as Trustees of the Trust Fund.

The positions could be filled by write-in candidates, according to Town Clerk Kathleen Donnelly.

"If there are write-in candidates, the top two write-ins would be asked if they would like to serve. There's no threshold, they don't need a certain number of write-in votes. If they refuse to serve or there are no write-ins, the Town Council, in conference with the Town Manager, would reach out and ask people if they would be willing to serve," she said.

Although there are no contested races on the ballot, Town Council Chairman Tom Dolan encourages voters to participate in the upcoming election, noting the financial impact the warrant articles have on all taxpayers.

"We have two governments, the school and town, and they financially have the greatest impact on our voters - much more than the national election," Dolan said.

The Town's 2015 Warrant is as follows:

Article 1, Election of Officers.

Article 2, to raise $100,000 for the Maintenance Trust Fund to support repairs and maintenance to town facilities. The article has no tax impact. The Council and Budget Committee recommend the article.

Article 3, to raise and appropriate $28.5 million for the Town's operating budget for FY2016, resulting in a tax impact of $4.80. The Council voted 4-1 to recommend Article 3, with Councilor Joe Green opposed. The Budget Committee voted 7-0 in support of the proposed budget.

Article 4, to raise and appropriate $491,523 from the Police Outside Detail Fund to cover Police Outside Details. The allocation would have no tax impact, as the services are funded through user fees. The Council and Budget Committee recommend the article.

Article 5, to raise and appropriate $2.6 million to fund the Sewer Fund, which would defray the cost of construction, payment of interest on any debt incurred, management, maintenance, operation and repair of constructed sewer systems. The article would have no impact on the tax rate, as the allocation is funded through user fees. The Council and Budget Committee recommend Article 5.

Article 6, to raise and appropriate $50,000 for Fire Department equipment. The allocation from the Town's June 30 fund balance would be used to purchase three mechanical CPR (cardiopulmonary resuscitation) devices for the Town's life support ambulances. The article would have no tax impact. The Council and Budget Committee recommend the article.

Article 7, to raise and appropriate $500,000 for the Town's Roadway Maintenance Trust Fund for the maintenance, replacement, removal or improvement of the Town's roadways; and to authorize the use of $250,000 of the June 30 Fund Balance toward the appropriation. The article would have a tax impact of $.07 per thousand assessment and was recommended by the Council and the Budget Committee.

Article 8, to raise and appropriate $120,000 to update and rewrite the Zoning Ordinance in accordance with the recommendations of the Town's recent Zoning Audit. The article would have no tax impact and is recommended by the Council and Budget Committee.

Article 9, to establish and fund with an appropriation of $28,000 a new GIS (Geographic Information System) Capital Reserve to develop, maintain, enhance or acquire data, software and/or hardware resources to be used by or integrated with the Town's GIS program and to appoint the Town Council as agents to expend the reserve. The article would have no tax impact and is recommended by the Council and the Budget Committee.

Article 10, to appropriate $295,000 to the Capital Reserve Funds to expand cemeteries, and to replace highway heavy equipment, fire equipment and highway trucks. The article would authorize the Town to use June 30 fund balance toward the appropriation and would have no tax impact. The Council and Budget Committee recommend the article.

Article 11, to raise and appropriate $105,000 to hire one or more additional full- or part-time police officers to fulfill the functions of school resource officer. The article results in a tax rate impact of $.03 per thousand and is recommended by the Council and the Budget Committee.

Article 12, to discontinue the Ambulance Capital Reserve Fund, which was created in 1996. The funds in the account would be transferred to the Town's General Fund. The article results in no tax rate impact and is recommended by the Council and the Budget Committee. Moving forward, the Town plans to lease its ambulances, which is more cost effective, according to Town Manager Kevin Smith.

Article 13, to authorize the Conservation Commission to purchase a 26-acre easement on Kimball Road, just north of the Londonderry Country Club. The Commission would purchase the horse farm from Leah Doyle outright for up to $500,000. The Commission would offer Doyle a 99-year lease, as well as write into the deed that the property could not be developed in the future. The article has no tax impact.

Article 14, a citizen's petition to raise and appropriate $263,144 to hire four additional firefighters on a staggered schedule throughout the year. The warrant article would increase daily staffing levels from nine to 10 firefighters on a 24-hour basis. It has a tax impact of $.07 per thousand. The Town Council voted 2-2-1 to support Article 14, with Councilors Tom Freda and Green voting against the article and Jim Butler abstaining, as his son is the president of the Firefighter's Union.

Articles 15 through 20 authorize the Town Council to call special meetings on cost items should they fail in the election.

If all articles on the Town's 2015 Warrant pass, the tax rate would be $5.13 per thousand, a decrease of $.04 per thousand from last year's tax rate, according to Smith.

The School District's 2015 Warrant is as follows:

Article 1, Election of Officers.

Article 2, to raise and appropriate $67,764,153 as an operating budget for the 2015-2016 school year, as amended at the School District's Deliberative Session to include an additional $240,000 for elementary teaching assistants. The budget has an estimated tax impact of $12.65. The default budget is $67,906,417, with an estimated tax impact of $12.69. The School Board voted 1-4 on recommending the budget, as amended, to the voters. Nancy Hendricks voted in favor. The Budget Committee voted 7-0 in favor.

Reilly said it's unfortunate the Board's vote against the budget could be misinterpreted as a vote in support of the default budget.

"I think it's fair to say this Board has never wanted to advocate a default budget higher than the operating budget recommended by the Superintendent. As my one-fifth of the Board, that's certainly not my intention. It's just an unfortunate happenstance of that vote," she said. "The Board chose not to express support for the operating budget as amended. The vote was the result of an event that occurred (at the Deliberative Session) and it was the only opportunity for the Board to express that opinion. It's unfortunate it will show on the ballot."

Because the School District operates under a bottom-line budget, the School Board may choose not to allocate the $240,000 addition to the teaching assistants.

"They may spend it on the aides, they could spend it on something else, or they may choose not to spend it at all. They could put a freeze on it for a surplus on June 16 of no less than $240,000," Business Administrator Peter Curro said.

Another option the Board has is to fund teaching assistant hours up to the $120,000 recommended in the Superintendent's proposed budget and freeze the remaining funds or spend them on something else, according to Curro.

There will have to be a thoughtful discussion relatively soon after the election to address the additional funding in a way that balances the concerns of the parents with the how-to of the administration, according to Reilly.

While she came to the conclusion the Superintendent's plan for right-sizing staff was appropriate and could have been executed well by school principals and teachers in the elementary schools, Reilly said she applauds the parents who attended the Deliberative Session and rallied support for the additional teaching assistants in their children's classrooms.

"I hope we can alleviate their concerns and get to a point where we address the true concern. What I heard from parents that night was, 'we're so afraid of children falling through the cracks,'" said Reilly, noting, if re-elected, she looks forward to discussing a plan that will satisfy parents and operational demands.

Article 3, to approve the teachers' contract for FY2015-2016 and FY2016-2017, and to raise and appropriate $1.1 million for the 2015-2016 fiscal year for the increases in salaries and benefits. The appropriation will have a tax impact of $.32 per thousand. The School Board voted 5-0 in support of Article 3. The Budget Committee voted 5-1-1 in favor.

Article 4, to approve the cost items in the collective bargaining agreement with the Allied Health Professionals' contract for $85,321 in FY2015-2016, which has a tax impact of $.02 per thousand. The School Board voted 5-0 in support of Article 4. The Budget Committee voted 7-0 in favor.

Article 5, to authorize a special meeting on cost items, should either the teachers' or health professionals' contract fail. The School Board voted 5-0 in support of Article 5. The Budget Committee voted 7-0 in favor.

Article 6, to accept and receive federal grants and other funds for the School Lunch Program and Federal Fund Projects. The funds are self-supporting through local, state and federal revenue sources. The article would have no tax impact. The School Board voted 5-0 in support of Article 6. The Budget Committee voted 7-0 in favor.

Article 7, to raise and appropriate $400,000 to be placed in the School Buildings Maintenance Expendable Trust Fund. The allocation has an estimated tax impact of $.11. The School Board voted 5-0 in support of Article 7. The Budget Committee voted 7-0.

Article 8, to raise and appropriate from the June 30, 2015 unreserved fund balance $100,000 to be placed in the Equipment Capital Reserve Fund, which was created to provide funds to procure essential small equipment for the classrooms, offices, technology and buildings and grounds. The allocation has no tax impact. The School Board voted 5-0 in support of Article 8. The Budget Committee voted 7-0 in favor.

Article 9, to raise and appropriate $500,000 to fund the costs of architectural and engineering professional services for construction of a community auditorium at the high school. The allocation has $.14 per thousand tax impact. The School Board voted 4-1 in support of Article 9. The budget committee voted 4-3 in favor.

Article 10, to raise and appropriate $8,069 to fund co-curricular and athletic stipends, which has an estimated tax impact of $.002 per thousand. The School Board voted 5-0 in support of Article 10. The Budget Committee voted 7-0 in favor.

Article 11, a citizen's petition related to school busing of elementary school students. The Article, which was de-funded during the District's Deliberative Session, calls for the District to raise and appropriate zero for the additional costs of transportation and to adopt a student transportation policy that includes policies and procedures for school bus stop locations and procedures for determining hazardous roadways. The School Board and the Budget Committee voted unanimously against Article 11.

If all articles on the 2015 Warrant pass, Business Administrator Peter Curro said the tax rate would be $15.67 per thousand.

More Habitat Management Area Proposed for Cottontails

KAITLYN G. WOODS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

A representative from New Hampshire Fish and Game asked the Conservation Commission for feedback regarding proposed management actions to protect rare and endangered rabbits.

"The National Fish and Wildlife Foundation and Eversource Energy are funding over the next three years up to $3 million for fish and wildlife conservation in New Hampshire," Fish and Game Wildlife Biologist Heidi Holman told the Commission at their Feb. 25 meeting. "The projects here in Londonderry are an example of the type of project they would like to see."

Each of the projects would help create replacement habitats for cottontails as the industrial landscape surrounding the Manchester Boston Regional Airport, most of which is in Londonderry, is developed, substantially reducing the amount of habitat available for the State Endangered New England Cottontail, according to Holman.

Holman described projects that could be completed in the Musquash Conservation Area; in the Cohas Marsh Conservation Area; on the Cooper Parcel, a large parcel connected to other properties in town by a utility right-of-way; and on land located behind the schools in the center of town.

"You have the largest existing population of New England Cottontails in the state. In fact, we saw such quick response to the project at Stonyfield (Farm), it shows they are reproducing and immediately found a place to live," she told the Commission, noting the rabbits have a 40 percent survival rate in Londonderry, compared with as low as a zero percent survival rate in other parts of the state.

With $30,000 approved to restore rabbit habitat in Londonderry, Holman asked the Commission which of the proposed projects they would prefer to see completed.

The Commission agreed their top priorities would be completing recommended improvements and enhancements in the Musquash and Cohas Marsh Conservation Areas to create habitat for New England Cottontail on the properties.

The Commission agreed projects on lands behind the schools wouldn't be favorable as they are town-owned properties.

"There are no protections on the land. Right now they can do whatever they want with those parcels," Chairman Deb Lievens said. "I don't think we'd want to manage without some guarantees to protect it."

The Commission also raised concerns with the proposed creation of a large core habitat patch on the Cooper Parcel, noting Watts Brook could prove an obstacle to bunnies migrating from habitats at Stonyfield Farm to the new patch in the conservation area.

Commissioner Mike Considine noted there is a gravel road leading to the property, as well as open power lines that could prove a useful access for the rabbits.

The Commission identified the Musquash and Cohas Marsh Conservation Areas as the most viable parcels for the proposed projects.

Of particular interest are enhancements to Musquash habitats that are already being managed.

The Town approved the initial implementation of habitat work on the Musquash Conservation Area in the fall of 2012, and a timber harvest was conducted in March 2013, creating an approximately 20-acre habitat patch.

"It will take a minimum of five years, and up to ten years for it to develop into a suitable habitat. One problem is the rabbits may not be able to naturally disperse to that habitat," Holman said.

Additional project areas have been identified for creating habitat for New England Cottontail in the Musquash, with one of the proposed project areas requiring a substantial road improvement for the timber to be harvested.

Successful implementation of the project would be dependent on the Commission's submission of a trails grant to offset the cost.

The Cohas Marsh Conservation Area, which is occupied by New England Cottontails, would see enhancement of existing shrublands to maintain suitable habitat in addition to timber harvesting to create new habitat.

According to Holman's report to the Commission, the Cohas parcels have the potential to provide a substantial amount of connecting habitat and a few core patches.

The Commission asked Holman to bring back a cost analysis of the projects proposed for the various properties and contact the School District about the feasibility of a project on the land behind the schools.

Holman said ideally, they would like to see the project in Londonderry on the ground in the next year, with funding anticipated annually in the next few years.

"Personally, I think this is a fabulous project and it's exciting to see," Lievens said.

Woman Arrested for Harassing Witness

KAITLYN G. WOODS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

A Londonderry woman was arrested last week for harassing a witness in a drug-related case against a known acquaintance.

Jaymi Uphold, 22, was charged with tampering with a witness for confronting and making harassing statements to a witness in the case against Brady McQuarrie, 22, of Londonderry.

McQuarrie was arrested Dec. 31 and charged with possession of controlled narcotic drugs and driving under a suspended license, according to Det. Chris Olson.

On Feb. 5, McQuarrie's sister, Kayla McQuarrie, 24, of Londonderry, was also arrested for harassing a witness in the case against her brother. Like Uphold, she was charged with tampering with a witness.

McQuarrie refused the services of a bail commissioner and was arraigned in Derry District Court on Feb. 6.

Uphold was released on $8,000 personal recognizance bail and will be arraigned in Derry District Court on March 24.

Task Force

there would still be the issue of target shooting toward residences, and shots damaging town property.

"To me, yes this could be an option, but there will need to be other limitations as well," Saur said. "That's like creating a target shooting range and saying the Musquash is that target shooting range for this period of time."

"For me, there's no way I could take my kids out to a place where there's target shooting," member Randy McIntyre said. "A total ban is a slam dunk. The real question is, then do we go to constructing a half-million-dollar facility for people to shoot out there."

"What I'm disappointed to hear is that no one is willing to make the distinction between lawful responsible firearms use in the Musquash and unlawful, irresponsible use. The unlawful, irresponsible use is what's keeping you out of there," member Dan Watkins said, calling for greater enforcement in the area. "Why are you okay punishing me and other responsible users? I don't think the ban is fair from that perspective. Let's use enforcement to keep unlawful use out of there."

"All I keep hearing is ban this, ban this. The responsible target shooters in town are paying taxes, they also paid for this land," member Dana Coons agreed. "By the statutes and wording in the deeds, shooting is an authorized use. And now we only want 'these' people to use it, we don't want target shooters to use it. Sorry, I pay taxes in this town, too. And I have every bit of right to use it as much as everyone else."

A report completed by Sgt. Jason Breen concluded increasing enforcement efforts in the Musquash would prove cost prohibitive.

A single, four-hour block on Saturdays and Sundays (eight hours each week) would have a total cost impact of between $22,601 and $24,527 on the Town's budget, Breen wrote in his report. Additionally, it would cost over $30,000 to resurrect the department's mountain bike program, which would be used to conduct patrols in the Musquash.

"I'm not opposed to target shooting. I think we need to find a safe place for people to be target shooting," member Mike Considine said.

"I understand we don't want to penalize anyone and any restriction at all is going to penalize someone," Saur said. "I have also talked to a number of target shooters in town, people out in the Musquash and gun owners in town, and without exception, and they are all taxpayers, they have said, 'I would not go shooting in the Musquash.'"

Saur told the task force that gun owners told him they choose to shoot at firing ranges and in their own backyard because those are controlled areas, and it's not possible to make the Musquash a controlled area.

"The responsible gun owners are already doing the responsible thing. They aren't going shooting in the Musquash," he said.

Saur additionally noted the task force's charter isn't to identify a safe location for target shooting in the Musquash, it's to address the safety issue of target shooting within the conservation area.

"We're tasked with studying the issue of target shooting in those specific areas and then making recommendations," said Police Chief Bill Hart, who is serving as the task force's chairman. "I read that as we look at all options, and we make all recommendations. Whether it's a ban, but also a range, or nothing. I think we can have many recommendations, it's up to us to do that. I think the charter is broad."

"We all recognize the bad shooting out there, but there's been no recognition of the good shooting. There's a reason people don't know where I shoot out there and haven't heard it," Watkins said. "Mike (Considine) is out there more than anyone, and he doesn't know where I go. It can be done right."

Watkins expressed concern that the recommendation to ban target shooting in the Musquash, but allow target shooting in a range approved by the Council, would "leave responsible firearms users in the lurch" while the Town considers building or establishing a location for target shooting.

Coons said it's unlikely the Town will commit funds to building a target shooting range, and that establishing and maintaining such a facility would be very expensive.

Member Al Sypek suggested the task force could recommend the Town Council support permitting the use of the Faucher Road sand pits at the Musquash for target shooting.

"The facility doesn't have to be a million-dollar range," he said.

"This is a starting point to go through and determine other ideas and things the Town should consider," Saur agreed.

Hart noted the task force will have the opportunity to approve additional recommendations related to a designated facility or properly bermed location for target shooting, as well as any other issues the task force deems appropriate to address.

The task force will likely present the Council with majority and minority reports for addressing the issue of target shooting in the Musquash.

Council Reduces Size, Scope of Airport TIF

KAITLYN G. WOODS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Town Council amended the Airport Tax Increment Finance (TIF) District with a 5-0 vote, reducing its size and scope.

The amendment reduced the TIF by 362 acres, with all remaining land incremental tax value to go back to regular valuation; and it mandates the TIF's termination when the Town meets its obligation to pay for a new traffic light on Pettengill Road at a cost of $250,000.

As a result of the amendment, the Town will see $71,000 in additional property tax money returned to the regular valuation in 2015 to offset the tax rate, according to Town Manager Kevin Smith.

"I think this is a good thing for the taxpayer, when the funds come in to reduce the tax base," Councilor Joe Green said.

With $114,000 already having come in from the TIF, Smith expects well over the $250,000 required for the traffic light will come in next year.

Although the Council supports dissolving the TIF once the traffic light is funded, Chairman Tom Dolan noted that it's likely Pettengill Road will have to be expanded in the future.

"The design has four lanes, and we're only developing two," he said.

"We will get the money now out of the TIF, but we may be coming back for more money to build the additional two lanes," Green agreed. "I think it will be really busy up there and we may need to expand. It's money now, or pay me later."

Smith noted that aside from the $220,000 for a traffic light, the Town did not pay for any expenses related to the construction of Pettengill Road.

In other business:

• The Council voted 5-0 to approve the expenditure of $22,871 from the Expendable Maintenance Trust Fund for winter maintenance at the Town Hall, Leach Library, Senior Center, Cable Access studio, and Central Fire Station.

The allocation will also fund the replacement of the foyer entrance carpet and cracked vinyl composition tile in both entrance areas at Town Hall.

• The Council voted 5-0 to authorize the purchase of a 2014 Ford pickup truck for the Building Department.

• Representatives for Prisoners of War-Missing in Action (POW-MIA) asked the Council to consider participating in their adopt-a-chair program by installing a black bench or chair in honor of service men and women who are POW-MIA. The Council directed the Town Manager to discuss the potential for participating with POW-MIA and report back to the Council with a proposal.

Transmission Line Project Prepares for Geotechnical Boring

KAITLYN G. WOODS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Town of Londonderry was contacted last week for information about the permitting process that will be required as part of Eversource Energy and National Grid's alternating current transmission solution to bolster the region's power grid.

The Merrimack Valley Reliability Project (MVRP), which will be completed as part of the solution, includes construction of a new underground 345-kV line in existing rights-of-way in Londonderry, Windham, Hudson and Pelham.

It's expected the project, known as "The Solution," will cost approximately $520 million, with those costs to be recovered over a period of many years and shared among New England's 7 million electricity customers, according to Eversource Energy, formerly known as Public Service of New Hampshire (PSNH).

The MVRP transmission line is to start near the Scobie Pond Substation, take a southwesterly path down the middle of town to Wiley Hill Road, then enter Hudson by cutting through West Road and Route 102 (Nashua Road).

Construction related to the MVRP isn't expected to begin in Londonderry until well into 2016, according to Eversource spokesman Lauren Collins.

"It's a long way off. This project still has to go through the siting process," she said last week. "There will be a series of public information sessions later on in the spring. Throughout the siting process there will be opportunities for the public to be informed."

But before the companies file the project with the New Hampshire Site Evaluation Committee (SEC), the proposed geotechnical boring work is required to provide data needed to complete the final engineering phase of the MVRP.

"Geotechnical boring (or drilling) will occur at proposed structure locations within existing Eversource rights-of-way in Londonderry. Permitting of the overall project will occur later in 2015 through a filing with the New Hampshire Site Evaluation Committee," Senior Environmental Scientist Kristopher Wilkes wrote in a letter to the Planning Department, which was shared with the Conservation Commission at its Feb. 24 meeting. "Geotechnical boring work will involve accessing each of the proposed structure locations along the existing right-of-way (ROW), using existing access roads within the ROW, setting up the drilling equipment, performing the drilling, and then breaking down and removing the equipment. One boring will occur at each proposed structure."

The letter goes on to explain that a boring is limited to a few inches in diameter. No work is proposed within the banks or beds of any stream channels, and work crews intend on utilizing low ground pressure equipment, with all wetland impacts to be temporary. Any rutted areas within wetlands resulting from the work will be re-graded and smoothed so they will naturally re-vegetate.

There are three proposed structure locations as part of the project in Londonderry that are within wetlands under jurisdiction of the New Hampshire Department of Environmental Services (DES) because they are proposed within wetlands classified as "emergent."

Emergent wetlands are characterized as wetlands with vegetation that is present for most of the growing season in most years. These wetlands are usually dominated by perennial plants.

Because all three proposed structure locations included in the project in Londonderry are located within emergent wetlands, a standard dredge and fill permit application is to be filed with the Town and the DES.

Geotechnical borings are not specifically listed as a permitted use under the Town's Zoning Ordinance and uses not listed are prohibited in the District without a permit; therefore, Eversource Energy will likely need to obtain a Conditional Use Permit (CUP) through the Planning Board before conducting the geotechnical drilling.

Public hearings would be scheduled 45 days before and after the application for the MVRP project is submitted to the New Hampshire Site Evaluation Committee, Eversource Project Manager Suzanne Findlen told the Town Council when the project was first presented to the Town in November.

Findlen said they are hoping to submit the application by spring, noting it will take about a year for the SEC to review.

Eversource expects to see a mid-2016 approval, with construction to begin in late 2016. The new transmission line is expected to come into service sometime in 2018.

Construction would start with tree work, followed by "earth work type construction" in the spring, such as digging holes for the utility poles, Eversource Energy Lead Project Manager for Transmission Building David Plante told the Council.

Eversource anticipates construction could finish in mid-December of 2017.

Lady Lancer Hoopsters Finish Regular Season at 16-2

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

A substantial victory over a struggling Manchester opponent followed by a slim win over a hard-charging Nashua contingent left first-year varsity coach Nick Theos and his Londonderry High girls' basketball squad with a 16-2 record as they completed the 2014-15 regular season last week.

That exceptional regular season mark left the defending Division I champion Londonderry cagers deadlocked with the squad they beat in the DI title match last March - the Bedford High Lady Bulldogs - in the top spot in the division.

The Lady Lancers hosted to a scuffling Manchester Memorial crew - four losses in its previous five games - Tuesday, Feb. 24, and handed the now 10-7 opponent a 57-38 defeat on the LHS squad's senior night.

The visiting Lady Crusaders grasped a three-point lead after one quarter, but Theos' 15-2 Lady Lancers kicked into a higher gear in the second period (17-7 scoring) and kept it up in earnest in the third (26-10) to roll into the final quarter with a 49-26 lead.

Sophomore Kelsey Coffey paced the LHS offensive attack with 14 points, and junior Ashley Berube was a real power under the baskets, tallying 12 points, 16 rebounds, and five blocked shots.

"We started off slow but got things going in the third quarter," said Theos. "We hit four threes in the quarter, with Jenna Conroy hitting two of them. Jackie Luckhardt, Kat Wells, and Kelsey Coffey all hit two three-pointers each. It was a great way to finish our last home game."

Berube was an absolute monster in her team's 46-43 win over Nashua North in the Gate City last Friday night, tallying 26 points and 11 rebounds to lead the LHS charge.

The visiting locals led 11-6 after one quarter and 21-18 at the half. Their lead never got comfortable, but they still led after three quarters had been completed (38-34), and the Lady Lancers wound up winning by those three slim points.

"It was an ugly game at times, and neither team shot very well from the outside," said Theos. "Ashley had a monster game, they just didn't have an answer for her. We knew we would have an advantage down on the block, but Ashley was huge all game long. She was the best player on the floor tonight."

The Lady Lancers learned Monday, March 2, that they had lost the tie-breaker with Bedford High for the top-seed in the Division I tourney.

The two 16-2 squads played twice this winter and each side won a game, so the first tie-breaking criteria didn't bust the deadlock for first place.

Neither did tie-breaking criteria number two - regarding records against teams qualifying for the tournament - so the New Hampshire Interscholastic Athletic Association had to go to tie-breaking criteria number three, which deals with "quality of wins."

And in the simplest possible terms, owing to the fact that Bedford defeated number three seed Manchester Central and Londonderry lost to Central during the regular season, Bedford finished with a better "quality of wins" ratio than LHS and wound up seeded number one.

Hence, the second-seeded Lancers were to head into preliminary-round tourney play against the 15th-ranked Exeter High Lady Blue Hawks (3-15 record) at LHS on Tuesday night, March 3, after the Londonderry Times went to press.

Provided the Lancers defeat the Exeter crew in that tournament contest, they will face either number seven Nashua North or number 10 Dover in quarterfinal-round play at LHS this Friday night.

LHS junior hoop standout Ashley Berube goes strong to the bucket during her team's lopsided win over Manchester Memorial last week.

Lancer Cagers Stay Unbeaten - Barely - in Manchester Thriller

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

For many, it was a case of looking at the Londonderry High boys' basketball squad's perfect 14-0 record and host Manchester Memorial's much more modest 7-6 mark and thinking, confidently but quite incorrectly as it turned out, "Ah, another blowout."

It appeared that second-year coach Nate Stanton's Lancers were all lined up to make their Division I-leading record 15-0 by thumping their Queen City hosts on Tuesday night, Feb. 24.

The LHS crew did remain undefeated that night, but it was anything but easy as the locals wound up with their hearts lodged firmly in their throats after losing the lead in the final minute of play but regaining it in the last seconds in a 65-64 barn-burner.

Going into the battle, Stanton and most of his players were still able to feel at least a bit of the sting left over from last March when 12th-ranked Memorial - led by junior Trevon Maughn and Kabongo Ngalukukondi - squashed top-five finisher Londonderry's title hopes with an upset defeat in the quarterfinal-round of the divisional tournament.

Maughn and Ngalukukondi both played huge roles in the host Crusaders' impressive, physically and mentally-tough battle to hand the Lancers their first D-I loss of the season.

With just 45 seconds to play, Memorial bagged its first lead of the game since the first minute of play on a steal and bucket by guard Nick Phillibert that made it a 64-63 game in the Crusaders' favor.

The Lancers hurried the ball back up the court - looking harried even though plenty of time remained to set up their offense and get a good scoring chance lined up - and they lofted a quick shot at the hoop that bounded off the rim and back into Memorial hands.

The hosts called a time-out and brought the ball back up the court, and an obvious Londonderry attempt to foul Ngalukukondi drew not a foul call but a jump ball, with the Lancers getting LHS senior Joey Kwiatkowski lofts a shot over the outstretched arm of a Memorial defender during the Lancers' slim road win last week.

LHS senior standout Marc Corey then lofted a 15-foot jumper off the backboard of the Memorial basket and through the netting, and the Lancers had the 65-64 lead to win the game.

"Memorial's record never really shows what kind of team they are," said Stanton. "We saw that last year in the tournament, and we saw it again here tonight."

Londonderry won the first three quarters, with leads of 17-13 after one quarter, 42-35 at the half, and 56-48 at the end of three periods. But one never felt that the locals had the game under their control, and powered by senior forward Ngalukukondi - who at points in the second half was the entire Memorial offense, with his four teammates merely standing around watching him work - the host team outscored Londonderry by a 16-9 tally in the fourth quarter and made things far more interesting than the Lancers would have liked.

"We stopped capitalizing on our opportunities and making shots in the second half," lamented Stanton.

Memorial's Ngalukukondi ended up leading all scorers with 25 points, while the victorious LHS side received 21 from Corey, 19 from Cody Ball, and 16 from Jake Coleman.

But Londonderry had a far smaller struggle with Nashua North's Titans at LHS last Friday night, Feb. 27, in a 79-50 throttling of that opponent.

The 5-12 Titans had won three of their previous four games going into that battle, so they hoped to give the unbeaten Lancers a challenge that never materialized.

The hosts grasped a 20-8 lead after one quarter and a 33-23 advantage at the half.

The Lancers then outscored its guest 25-15 in quarter three, and enjoyed a 21-12 scoring advantage in the fourth.

Cody Ball tallied 26 points (including four, three-pointers) in the win, Coleman collected 13, Corey notched 12, and Joey Kwiatkowski was good for 11. All in all, 10 Lancers contributed points to the 29-point victory.

The Lancers assured themselves of the top seed in Division I on Monday night, March 2, with a big win over 9-8 Alvirne of Hudson on the LHS team's senior night.

The 17-0 locals nailed nine, three-point buckets on the way to the 74-54 bucking of the visiting Broncos.

The Lancers led 15-10 after one quarter but were outscored 13-10 in the second period to make it 25-23 in Londonderry's favor at halftime.

But Stanton's squad simply pummeled Alvirne - outscoring it by a big 49-31 tally in the second half - to win by 20 points.

Marc Corey led the victors with 22 points - and four treys - while Ball contributed 17 points and three threes and Coleman also tallied 17 with a pair of treys. Joey Kwiatkowski contributed 10 points - with two threes - as the Lancers rolled over the visiting Hudson bunch.

Correction: The names of two of the four Londonderry High School runners on the victorious 4x800-meter relay team at the Division I boys' track championships on Feb. 21 were incorrect in an article in the Feb. 26 edition. Cam Dickson and Mark Gigliotti replaced teammates Jared Kane and Keith Perry, who both had other commitments at the title event after it had been cancelled twice by snowstorms, in running for the state championship win in the 4x800 along with Lukas Charbonneau and Derek Davies.

Lancer Grapplers Face Disappointments at Meet of Champs

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

After its exceptional, history-making performance at the Division I championships at Nashua High School South two weekends ago, the Londonderry High wrestling squad experienced a significant comedown at the state Meet of Champions (MOC) at Nashua High School North last weekend.

The Lancers, who made state wrestling news by ending the Timberlane Owls' 15-year reign as Division I champion by having all 12 of its grapplers medal at the D-I championships on Saturday, Feb. 21, ran head-first into a sizeable dose of frustration at the MOC competition last Saturday, Feb. 28.

The MOC brings together all of the top teams and individuals from New Hampshire's high school wrestling divisions in one place to crown the state's top squad and individual wrestlers.

After winning the D-I title in tremendous fashion, coach Jason Cucolo's Lancers were looking to take the next step up the ladder and bag the state crown at the MOCs.

However, it wasn't to be, as Londonderry finished third overall (score of 134.50), not far behind the runner-up Concord High Crimson Tide (136) and the repeat champions from Timberlane (139). There were 33 competing teams.

And after having three of its grapplers - Jean-Luc Lemieux, Kyle Byrd, and Mahdi Achab - tally individual championships at the D-I meet, Londonderry got shut out in its hunt for MOC crowns after having Lemieux, Ryan Cabezas, and Richard Bilodeau all get to within a single victory of a title.

Bilodeau bagged second place in his 195-pound weight class after dropping a hard-fought, 2-1 decision to Pinkerton Academy's Dylan Barreiro, who also bested Bilodeau in the D-I final.

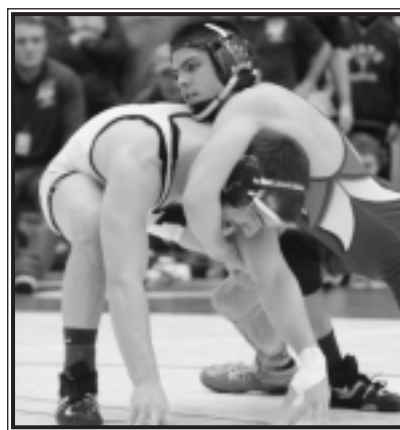

Cabezas fell to Nashua North's Cam Bennett in the 126-pound final (10-0 major decision) to wind up second.

And in the title match, which left virtually everyone at the MOC's talking - and some folks quite red-faced - Lemieux lost a controversial 2-1 decision to Timberlane's Danny Scalzo in the 138-pound championship bout.

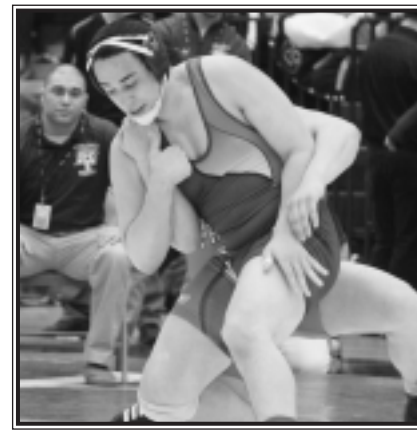

The first two periods of their match - a rematch of the Division I title contest won handily by Lemieux - were very defensive, with both grapplers looking for an opening to points.

LHS wrestler Ryan Cabezas fell to a Nashua North standout.

Lancer star Jean-Luc Lemieux lost a controversial MOC final.

Richard Bilodeau lost a slim decision to Astro Dylan Barreiro.

Lemieux finally bagged a single point early in period three, but late in that stanza Scalzo was awarded a two-point takedown which, evidently, virtually nobody but the lead official who awarded it believed was in fact a takedown.

When time ran out with the scoreboard showing a 2-1 Scalzo victory, the officials conferred for nearly five minutes - with the two wrestlers walking around the mat nervously - discussing the takedown or the lack of one.

When the conference was over, Scalzo was ruled the MOC champ and members of the Londonderry contingent - receiving emotional comments from numerous other coaches and team members stating that there never was a takedown - stomped away angrily and attempted to get their emotions under control.

"There wasn't a takedown, (Scalzo) didn't have control, but the (lead) official thought he did. But Jean-Luc shouldn't have left the score that close either," said Cucolo, noting that if Lemieux's lead had been larger than 1-0 going into the late part of period three, the official's controversial call would have been academic.

Along with the runner-up finishes of Lemieux, Cabezas, and Bilodeau, Londonderry had Mahdi Achab finish third at 170 pounds, Sebastian Roszczenko take fifth at 182, and Tyler Byrd (120 pounds), Jake Barr (152), and Kyle Byrd (sixth via forfeit) all place sixth.

The Lancers' four, top-three finishers have advanced to the New England Championships at North Andover (Mass) High School this coming Friday and Saturday. But Cucolo and his charges were left with the feeling that opportunities were missed at the MOCs.

"It is what it is," said Cucolo. "We're looking forward to the New England, we have four kids going, we wanted to have more, but I'm proud of all of the kids and the hard work they've put in."

Lancer Icemen Drop Two More, Finish Regular Season at 7-11

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

It didn't appear as though the struggling Londonderry High ice hockey team's 2014-15 regular season was going to end in any positive way, with the Lancers having to find some way past the powerful Bedford High Bulldogs and Salem High Blue Devils last week.

Those challenges left the LHS icemen lamenting a pair of losses - the eighth and ninth out of the local team's final 10 Division I contests - as the Londonderry bunch ended the regular season with a 7-11 record it didn't expect to hold after starting out at 6-2 in the tough division.

Londonderry played host to 12-4 Bedford High - which came in with a three-game winning streak - at Salem's Icenter Wednesday, Feb. 25. And the visitors handed their hosts a 7-3 defeat.

The Lancers hung with the Bulldogs through the first 20 minutes of play, potting the first goal of the day (by Patrick Maloney just 42 seconds after the opening faceoff) before watching Bedford bag two goals of its own during the last 11 minutes to claim a 2-1 advantage.

The Bulldogs never

lost the upper hand, scoring three unanswered goals in the second stanza to hold a 5-1 advantage.

The Bulldogs scored again early in the third period, but Londonderry their deficit down to three goals at 6-3. But the locals would never get any closer than that.

The Lancers closed out their regular season Saturday, Feb. 28, with a game against undefeated Salem High with which the Lancers share home ice at The Salem Icenter.

The Blue Devils finished up their regular campaign with a 17-0-1 record, easily atop the Division I standings with a 4-0 win over LHS.

The Lancers found out this past Monday, March 2, that they had just missed out on claiming one of the 10 Division I tournament spots when the NHIAA posted the tourney pairings.

In the wake of that bad news, the LHS hockey program is also dealing with the departure of Bedford after his six years as the LHS varsity coach. The Lancer leader told his boys of his decision after the regular season was over, saying that his personal career change since he took over as the head guy in the LHS hockey program demands too much of his time now.

Ortiz Third at New Englands

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Londonderry High School senior indoor track and field star Starlin Ortiz finished his superb 2014-15 winter season last Friday, Feb. 27 by placing third in the high jump at the 28th annual New England Interscholastic Indoor Track and Field Championships at the Reggie Lewis Track and Athletic Center in Roxbury, Mass.

Ortiz managed a top jump of six feet and seven inches to wind up with his third-place finish at that competition.

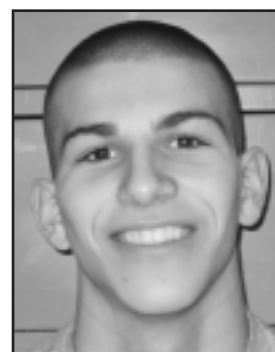

Ortiz was a regular point machine for his Lancers at the Division I championships at the University of New Hampshire the previous weekend, claiming first places in the 55-meter hurdles (7.71 seconds), the high jump (6 feet, 7 inches), and the long jump (21 feet, 5 1/4 inches) on his own. He also helped the LHS boys' team's talented and determined 4x160-meter relay quartet snag a second place at the big event.

Athletes of the Week

For the Week of Feb. 23

Mark Gigliotti, Junior, Boys' Track

At the Division I championship meet, this talented 11th grader ran on all three Lancer relay teams and helped the 4x800 crew to a first place, the 4x160 quartet to a second, and the 4x400 team to a fifth.

Elise Goodspeed, Sophomore, Girls' Track

This skilled sophomore was a member of the Lady Lancers' Division I champion and school record-setting 4x160 relay team, and she raced her leg superbly and held off all challengers.

Kids Coop Theatre to Stage 'Peter Pan Jr.' in Derry

PENNY WILLIAMS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Peter Pan and Tinker Bell are just what the doctor ordered for snow- and cold-weary area residents. The Kids Coop Theatre will be performing "Peter Pan Jr." on March 6 and 7 at the Derry Opera House.

"Peter Pan Jr." is Kids Coop Theatre's fourth annual Young Directors Showcase, a program that gives the company's older teenage members an opportunity to take the helm of the creative process while under the guidance of professional directors.

This year's directorial trio are Michael DeRosa, 18, of Londonderry, director; Carmela Rogers, 16, of Chester, music director; and Brittany Cardoza, 15, of Hampstead, choreographer. All are veteran Kids Coop actors and together will direct a cast of 39 youths ages 8-18 from Derry, Londonderry, Sandown, Hampstead, Windham and Auburn.

The trio are mentored by professional directors Donald Tongue and Amanda Morgan.

This is DeRosa's directorial debut, and he said he is excited to have the opportunity to try something new. When not directing or performing, he is an honors student at Londonderry High School, where he is currently a senior and board member of the LHS Drama Club. He plans to major in musical theatre in college and hopes to pursue a career in theatre.

He has acted in more than 20 productions and has performed with the LHS Improv Comedy Troupe, as well as being a featured act in the 2014 Prism Concert. He was most recently on stage as the Scarecrow in Kids Coop Theatre's production of "The Wizard of Oz" in November, and he is currently playing the role of Emmett Forrester in the

LHS Drama Club's upcoming production of "Legally Blonde, the Musical."

Rogers is a junior at Pinkerton Academy. She has been in over 22 shows since she the age of 7, and this is her first time directing a full show. Most recently, she performed in Kids Coop's "The Wizard of Oz" and is currently rehearsing for Pinkerton Academy's spring musical, "42nd Street."

"I have loved getting to know all the kids and working with them, and Brittany and Michael, on this wonderful production," she said.

Cardoza is a sophomore at Pinkerton Academy. She has been dancing since the age of 2 and has been taking part in competitions for seven years. This is her first opportunity to choreograph on a production scale.

She said she enjoys working with the cast and is proud of what they have accomplished. She said she is happy to see her notes on paper come to life in the show.

Tongue is an actor and playwright, whose play "Scene Changes" was recently produced by the Leddy Center for the Performing Arts. He has directed four Kids Coop shows.

Morgan has worked with Seacoast Repertory Theater, Prescott Park Arts Festival, and on the Kids Coop productions of "Shrek," "West Side Story" and "The Wizard of Oz." She teaches music, band and chorus at South Elementary School.

Londonderry cast members are: Avenley Allen, Colleen BAHAN, Alyssa Beaulieu, Jason Cain, Joseph Cain, Danika Dixon, Zelda Martin-Howard, Simone Label, Maya Lincoln, Frank Thomas and Olivia Witkop.
