Resident Addresses Town Council About Generator Article Issues

MACK LEATHURBY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

On March 12, residents will be voting for Town officials and Warrant Articles. One of those Warrants may have been presented at the recent Deliberative with inaccurate information, and that was brought to the attention of the Town Council by a resident at Monday's meeting.

Richard Bielinski is a long-time Londonderry resident and a former Town Treasurer from 2001 to 2004. Bielinski was at the Council meeting on March 4 and took the opportunity to speak during the Public Comment portion of the meeting.

Specifically, the discussion was about Warrant Article 15 that asks for $175,000 funding for the purpose of purchasing an emergency back-up generator for the Police Department, with the

Town Deliberative Session Has Questions Debated, Amended

MIKE BYERLY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

At the Town Deliberative session 28 ballot articles were reviewed, debated and voted to be moved to the ballot for the election on March 12. Amendments were offered for four of the articles with two passing and two failing.

Article 20, a proposal to add a fourth full-time School Resource Officer (SRO) to the Police Department, generated discussion and a proposed amendment. As originally proposed the town would be asked to approve $120,719 for the new officer.

At present, there are full-time officers at LHS and LMS and another full-timer that floats between the elementary schools and kindergarten. The new officer would provide additional coverage at the elementary schools plus be more active tactically by conducting threat assessment; checking that doors are locked and used as expected; and updating safety plans at all schools.

Former SRO, Dan Bouchard, offered an amendment to change the article to be for $150K for three part-time officers who would be full-time certified. His goal was to get full coverage to all six schools by using retired officers.

He noted that a retired officer could work 1,352 hours a year without running afoul of the state retirement regulations. He felt that would be enough hours to cover the school day hours and provide an immediate response time.

School Board member Jen Ganem asked Chief Hart about other duties of the SRO outside classroom hours. Hart said that SROs sometimes work beyond the classroom hours working with families on ongoing situations, mentoring, liaising with the juvenile officer and undergoing training.

Council Discusses Portable Storage Container Ordinance

RACHEL CISTO
LONDONDERRY TIMES

After a discussion at the March 4 Town Council meeting, members have recommended the Planning Board look at Londonderry's ordinance regulating portable storage containers.

The town's current ordinance states that these units must be moved from a property after six months, but many companies lease the units for 12 months at a time.

According to the town, enforcement actions stepped up once a new code enforcement officer was hired and able to cut down some of the complaint backlog. They said a majority of complaints came in from residents calling about storage containers on their neighbors' properties.

Marc Fortin, an owner of the Fortin Company, said some of his clients have had modular storage containers for 20 years, but due to the recent jump in enforcement actions, are being told that they need to move the containers.

He said people rent the modular storage trailers for a multitude of reasons.

"People have stuff," he said. "They store their stuff, and a lot of people prefer to have their units at their homes or businesses."

He said the ordinance, which does not provide separate guidelines for commercial or industrial users, is negatively impacting his customers.

money to be taken from Unassigned Fund Balance towards the appropriation.

The Town Council by a vote of 5-0 recommended a YES vote and the Budget Committee by a vote of 6-0 also recommended a YES vote. If passed, the article will require the Town to raise $0.00 in property taxes, resulting in a tax rate impact of $0 in FY 20.

Bielinski has developed a keen eye over the years, with a look out for taxpayers to understand how capital expenditures are acted upon by the Town.

During the Deliberative Session, which Bielinski was watching via Londonderry Access Community Television, he observed interesting information in the presentation about Warrant Article 15. Unfortunately, the Town Deliberative sessions were not completely recorded due to a technical glitch, so Bielinski made several calls to understand additional facts around the Warrant request for this generator expenditure from the Unassigned Fund Balance.

Bielinski was first concerned that when this Article was presented during the Deliberative about replacing a generator that was 15-years-old. He understood logically that the age of the currently used Cat generator was less of a reason for replacement than the actual working order, and the amount of time this generator had actually been used. Also, he had understood from discussions that the old generator would be part of the deal as a trade in for the new one and that would have impact in the transaction.

During his research about this issue, he spoke with Police Captain Patrick Cheetham; Bielinski said the Captain was very helpful to discuss the situation with him and provided him with details that and further insight. Bielinski said it was reported to him that the Police Department did not have a new back-up generator really listed as a must have need, though the department thought another generator would be nice to have.

Bielinski reported that he also spoke with Steve Cotton, Administrative Support Coordinator about the generator information. After this research about the generator, Bielinski was advised that the request for the new generator for backup was actually for a backup to the current back-up generator and that the current generator was not going to be traded in, but kept.

So, the expenditure in the Warrant was to be for a backup of the backup generator. It also turned out that the current Cat generator in use for the Police Department only had approximately 533 hours of usage over the 15 year period in Town and his research informed him that these types of generators have a minimum life expectancy of 15,000 hours and a maximum life of about 50,000 hours with a typical lifespan of 30,000 hours.

With this information, Bielinski was concerned - how it is that the Town really needs another generator for the Police Station at this time. Also, he was concerned that if the Police Station gets a new back up for their back up generator, then won't the Fire department also want a backup for their back-up?...and maybe North Station and South Station might want them too.

The point is that he felt is that if there really is a need for a backup for the backup generator, perhaps the town might be better suited by requesting expenditure for a mobile usage generator for additional backup usage across the town. Also, Bielinski was amazed he could not find anyone who could tell him the sizes of the generators in use at the various Town departments, though no doubt this information is somewhere to be found.

Beilinski also takes slight issue with the notion that this capital expenditure has no tax rate impact; he agrees and understands that technically there will be a tax rate impact of $0 in FY 20 for this Warrant, though he believes voters should know that the Unassigned Fund Balance are funds that got there through tax funding.

As the Town Council discussed this situation, they agreed to follow-up and Beilinski was contacted by the State Attorney General offices, who advised that a remedy or other process actions would be considered for this specific Warrant Article 15 with perhaps a wording change on the ballot.

Residents should be aware that Public Hearings at these meetings are formally allowed for a period of 5 minutes time for each speaker and Bielinski was appraised of this timing at the hearing. Town Council members including Chairman, John Farrell as well as Town Manager, Kevin Smith were in attendance to interact with Bielinski.

Storage

"It's difficult for those people to find out they can't have these units," he said to Council.

Chief Building Inspector Richard Canuel said the ordinance has been in place for nearly 10 years.

He said the six-month countdown begins once the department is made aware of a mobile storage container - either through a complaint or from an employee noticing it.

"We count the six months from when we first see them, since there's no way for us to know how long it's been there," Canuel said.

Council chairman John Farrell said any potential changes would have to come from the Planning Board and the town's Planning Department. There is no word on when the Planning Board may take up any changes to the ordinance.

Council also approved an expenditure of $10,325 from the Expendable Maintenance Trust Fund to cover winter maintenance activities like plowing, salting and sanding on town property.

$8,585 will cover plowing, salting and shoveling on January 29, 30 and 31, and again on February 6, 7, 12, 13, 14, 16, 18 and 19 at Town Hall, the Police Department, Leach Library, the Access Center, and the Central Fire Station.

The remaining $1,740 will cover maintenance at the Londonderry Senior Center on February 1, 6, 7, 12, 14, 15, 16, 19, 21, 22, and 24.

Council also waived a first reading of an amendment to the zoning ordinance. The ordinance was updated back in December, and according to the town, the updates now being proposed are "housekeeping" changes, designed to improve "clarity and correction of inadvertent oversights" of the new sections.

Changes include prohibiting solid waste and other waste facilities, banning commercial piggeries and mink farms, requiring land owners to either rebuild or remove a burned or collapsed building within six months of the incident, and requiring site plan review for "all commercial and industrial uses, all clustered residential developments and all multi-unit dwellings that consist of more than two dwelling units."

The next Town Council meeting will be on March 18, 2019 at 7 p.m. in the Moose Hill Council Chambers at Londonderry Town Hall.

Ramsdell, expressed the opinion that changing the article from one full time to three part-time officers could be judged an unlawful amendment if challenged in court because it could be seen as changing the intent of the article. Town Moderator felt it would be OK but agreed that "one of us is going to be wrong."

The vote on the amendment failed with only eight people voting for it and more voting against.

Articles 17 and 18 relate to the former school district space attached to town hall. Article 17 rescinds the right of the school district to use the space in the future. A companion article on the school district ballot works in conjunction with this one to leave the town in control of the space.

Assuming Article 17 passes, Article 18 would allocate $379K from the town's Unassigned Fund Balance to demolish and replace the former school district space with a smaller, single story building. The space would be used for storage initially with an option later to add a second floor if needed to expand the town offices.

Several members of the public expressed concern that demolishing the space permanently removed the option for the school district to move back there in the future in a newly constructed attached building. An amendment was proposed to reduce the amount to $75K to simply cover the demolition. School Board member Jenn Ganem commented that the district has other options for a future school district office. The amendment failed and the article will be on the ballot as original worded.

Article 22, designed to allocate $25K from the town's Unassigned Fund Balance to pay for Londonderry's part of this year's Nutfield 300 celebration was amended to suggest that $5K of the total go to the Londonderry Historical Society to support their part in Nutfield 300. The article is written to give the Town Manager discretion over the funds so the Historical Society could get more or less than $5K.

Article 26, to use $20K from the Unassigned Fund Balance to make repairs to the Town Grange building was briefly discussed and an amendment offered by Mary Wing Soares to increase the amount to $30K passed.

Article 27 was a citizen-initiated warrant article to allow businesses in town who have a bar to operate Keno gambling machines. The state passed a law allowing towns to decide if they want to allow Keno. The motivation was to help offset the cost of full-time kindergarten by sending $1,800 per student back to the town.

However, since Londonderry does not offer full-time kindergarten, no money would come back to the town. Al Baldasaro made the case that it would help local business and the American Legion Post by bringing more customers into them. He said that businesses get 8% of the Keno revenue with the rest going to the state.

The Town Council did not make a recommendation of the article because it is non-monetary in nature; however, the Budget Committee voted 5-0 against Keno. Speaking for herself, Budget Committee member Christine Patton asked if we really wanted gambling in Londonderry. She also questioned if Keno players really spend much money on food and beverage and thought that it sent a bad message to kids that education should be funded through gambling.

Articles 2 and 3 related to the town budget and remained unchanged at the meeting. In past years, there was only one budget article, but a change to state law now requires two articles. The second one (article 3 for $173K) covers anticipated increases in contracts not approved in the prior year's operating budget or in a separate prior year warrant article since these can no longer be included in the default budget calculation.

Article 2 sets the remainder of the budget with a proposal of $33,858,810, a 2.6% increase over last year. If that amount is not approved by voters, then the default budget amount of $33,865,222 would be used for FY2020.

Articles 5, 6 and 7 relate to investments in sewer improvements. Town Manager Kevin Smith said that "article 5 authorizes the dissolution of the current Sewer Special Revenue Fund. This action is required to affect a change in the accounting treatment of sewer operations by subsequently creating an Enterprise Fund to manage such operations. This change has been suggested by both the State Department of Revenue Administration and the Town's independent auditing firm."

Unlike most articles that require a simple majority to pass, Article 5 requires a 2/3rd majority to pass. If Article 5 fails, then Articles 6 and 7 fund sewer trust funds as has been done in the past. If Article 5 passes, then Articles 6 and 7 become null and void.

Other articles were formally moved to the ballot with little discussion including improving the drainage on the town common; empowering the Town Council to petition the state to lower the speed limit on Route 102; spending money to upgrade the town's assessing software; the town contributing money to extend the Rail Trail to take advantage of a state matching grant; funding of trust funds for capital leases and trust funds for cemetery, roadway maintenance, GIS and fire department projects; and creation of a Conservation Land Ranger.

Town Manager Kevin Smith kicked off the meeting with an annual state of the town address during the session. He noted that since 2013 when he started in the role, "we've made a lot of progress in that time: in 2013, our Town tax rate stood at $5.19, today it is $4.99; in six years' time our town-wide property valuation has grown by nearly $436,000,000."

"On the residential side, Londonderry continues to be a desirable community to own a home, as is evidenced by the fact that for the second year in a row, we were the fastest growing town in the state according to US Census figures."

He added Standard and Poor's upgraded the town's bond rating in 2018 to AA+, which will help the town get a better financial deal when they sell the bonds for both the Central Fire Renovation the Exit 4A projects. ?

Also in FY2018, the town had a surplus totaling $2.2 million due to higher than projected revenues and unspent appropriations. Further, after using $2.3 million dollars of undesignated fund balance in 2018, the town had $6.3M fund balance going into fiscal year 2019.

Smith also highlighted the ongoing development of Woodmont, the recent purchase and redevelopment plan for the Apple-tree Mall and the extension of the Rail Trail as positives for the town.

Let the Sun Shine In

Open and transparent government – it's what the public should expect from officials at the local, state and national level. And providing information about the operation of government at the local level is a job this newspaper takes seriously.

March 10 through 16 is Sunshine Week, a reminder that government business conducted in the open is at the heart of a democracy. If we don't know what elected officials are doing, we have no way to hold them accountable. And the more information we all have, the better.

Knowledge, as the saying goes, is power. And that power is not something to be held close to the chest by politicians; it belongs to each of us in our role in voting politicians into office and depending on them for providing services, fair budgeting and just plain listening to the will of the people.

Sunshine Week is a national effort spearheaded by the American Society of News Editors. Though the week was created by journalists, it's not about newspapers, it's about the public's right emphasize that word to know what its government is doing, it encourages every citizen to take a active role in government, and strives to provide access to information to help them govern.

James Madison, the father of the U.S. Constitution, wrote that "consent of the governed" requires that people be able to "arm themselves with the power which knowledge gives." That means in our participatory democracy, every citizen has a right to access government meetings and public records.

And that's the key. Keeping government transparent means newspapers must act as watchdogs, asking the uncomfortable questions, getting the information, and providing it in unbiased fashion to their readers. If documents are not readily made available, the state's Right to Know process is ready for everyone to use.

The motto of Sunshine Week is "Your Right to Know." That's the heart of what government is all about. As a citizen in a democracy, you have the right to know how your government operates, and your elected officials have the obligation, except in carefully delineated situations, to conduct their business in the open, even when that's uncomfortable.

We know it's easier for officials to discuss public business in private, where strategies can be aired without anyone listening. But that's not the way it's supposed to work. Discussions are to be public, in a quorum and on the record.

Making it hard for the public to find out what's going on is playing loose with open government. That's why we report what we do.

Without information, we're left in the dark. The better choice is to let the sun shine in.

Rail Trail

To the editor

So much has been accomplished by Londonderry Trailways. The end of this glorious project is in sight. We must keep it going. Support Article 24. Think of a place where nature abounds - where all can walk and bike, and skate in great safety and beauty. Wow! YES on 24. Help make Londonderry an even better place to live.

Conservation Land Ranger – Please support Warrant Article 19

To the editor,

Londonderry is blessed with more than 4,000 acres of protected open space. The Musquash area alone holds over 1000 acres of land and nearly 20 miles of trails. There are 3+ miles of Rail Trail and soon to be more. Many of the conservation lands are used by hikers, bikers, skiers and hunters. They are refuges for plants and animals, including endangered species. We must protect this resource to keep it healthy.

The great majority of people using our conservation lands are responsible, but there are a few knuckle heads. In recent weeks, there was minor vandalism where New Hampshire Fish & Game is working. Illegal ATVs are an ongoing problem, damaging trails and wildlife nesting sites. Trash and material dumping happens every year. Substance abuse issues are not unheard of.

There are also natural challenges. Trails get blocked by fallen trees or floods. Bridges wear out. The sooner problems are found, the sooner they are fixed.

A part-time Conservation Land Ranger with enforcement authority will help us maintain our conservation lands as the outstanding town resources they are.

Please vote YES on Warrant Article 19.

Again, Londonderry Land Use Board Chooses Developers Over Residents

To the editor,

At the February ZBA meeting, a corporate developer in town submitted plans to build a duplex on the non-conforming 15-acre woodlot at the end of our narrow, one-lane dead-end road, even though he only had 85' of the 200' of frontage required and had the alternative of improving the road to get the frontage legally. It was a very big ask.

After an hour and a half of debate, including opposition from every single neighbor on the street, veiled threats by the project's engineer to build even more on the lot, and even an insinuation by the developer that bringing the neighborhood together in opposition to the project was somehow nefarious, the ZBA decided in a 3-2 vote to override the neighborhood's safety, welfare, and character concerns.

Though only one of the five Board members even bothered to drive down the road in question, they voted to allow the applicant to build on the lot, despite it not meeting the town-wide zoning criteria. Now the developer can build today without making our road safe for our children. At one point, one of the pro-development board members commented, "Who cares about 50 feet?" in reference to the Zoning Ordinance's differentiation in the frontage requirements between single family and duplex homes. If this is the respect our ZBA members show towards the Zoning Ordinance, why bother even having one?

What is the point of having a zoning code, if big developers can all easily receive legal permission to violate it? This is especially galling when the very same ZBA regularly denies applications for existing property owners to start a small business out of their garage, or put a sign on their store large enough for people to see it... How much longer are we going to allow developers to build on every bit of open space, criss-cross all of our wetlands, and decimate our wildlife habitats, all to make a quick buck at the expense of the character of our neighborhoods and safety of our residents? It won't be long before Londonderry is just as over-crowded and undesirable as the Massachusetts towns many of us tried to escape.

For Chad Franz

To the editor:

I am writing this letter in support of Chad Franz, who is running for a position on the Londonderry Budget Committee. A family man, Chad and his wife, Alexis, are raising their two children here in Londonderry. A recently retired Marine, Chad has lived a life of service, and is looking to continue to serve others, now by seeking this position in our town.

In all my years I have met very few people who are as open and fair-minded as I have found Chad to be. I see that he seeks all available opinions on a subject. He listens earnestly and honestly, not dismissive of any view. Chad then applies a high

Vote for Tom Dolan

To the editor,

I write this letter to humbly ask for your continued support for Town Council.

I began serving my country as a teenager like most veterans. I entered West Point and served in the Army for several years. I married a school teacher (Kate Dolan), moved to Londonderry in 1986, and raised a family. Our two children attended Londonderry schools and thrived in the band (thank-you Mr. Soucy) and school sports.

I was active in town baseball and soccer and became involved with the government during the "Best Schools Initiative" in 2000. Concerned with the rapidly changing nature of our community, I was elected to the Town Council in 2001. I wanted to make sure we preserved open spaces, work on strategies to hold down our tax rate, and create a strategic financial planning model to manage our future. I led the "Best Towns Initiative" to assure the Town Council heard and captured citizens' concerns.

We then preserved several apple orchards and other buildable areas to slow development to preserve our rural quality of life. In 2007, I left the Council and was elected to the Budget Committee to serve the community but with a "lighter touch". However, I was quickly disappointed to learn of the Woodmont Orchard sale after I left the Council. I then decided it was time to get back on the Town Council and dive into this new development process to steer it to something the town could accept and afford.

The Council has managed to reduce our town tax rate by attracting industries especially in and around the airport. But, there is more to still do.

We were just listed as the second safest community in NH! This is a result of our hard work to assure our police and firemen are among the most highly trained in the business. When I fell off my roof, they arrived in minutes and carefully transported me to a trauma center with a broken back. The neurologist said that because of the excellent job by Londonderry's first responders, I would not suffer paralysis that might have happened without expert care. I am a blessed man.

Last year you elected me to represent Londonderry as a state representative enabling me to bring my presence/experience on the Town Council to Concord. This assures that my colleagues at the state fully understand the impacts of their legislative efforts and resulting impacts to our town. Especially noteworthy are unfunded mandates that could force a rise in local property taxes. You can count on me to throw that red flag. I have your back.

Here in Londonderry, we have more development with its impacts. I urge you to maintain the expertise I bring to the Council. You have come to know me and my leadership style. You don't have to wonder about my competency. I hope you'll return me to the Town Council to finish the job. I ask for your vote on March 12th.

Thank you,
Tom Dolan

Police Department Generator Article 15 Not what you were Told

To the editor,

Article 15 is asking to spend 175,000 dollars to purchase a generator. A presentation was done at the deliberative session explaining the need. It was explained that the current unit is 17 years old and beyond its serviceable life. Questions were asked and answered. I would like to go back and watch the meeting again to review the questions and answers, but I cannot. While it was recorded it cannot be played back by the cable studio due to equipment failure. This led me to make my own calls to see what the situation really is. I spoke with both the Town Offices and the Police Department. First, generator lifespan is measured in hours of use not years in service. The median hours for a generator of this type before needing a major service is approximately 30,000 hours. The current generator at the Police Department has 533 hours of use showing on the meter. Beyond its serviceable life, obviously not. I was also told that it is not large enough to power the whole building. I found that hard to believe. The generator was put in when the building was built years ago. If it had been sized properly for the building it would have had approximately 20 percent reserve capacity. One of the power saving upgrades done recently was changing the lighting to LED's. LED's use 80 to 90 percent less power than incandescent bulbs, thus lowering the load on the generator. This should be a major savings in a building of this size. The output of the generator and power consumption of the building need to be analyzed to see if it currently meets requirements. When asked if this had been done, I was not given an answer. Next, I asked if we were getting a trade in allowance for the old unit

Cable Access Television Makes Leap in Bandwidth Connection

MACK LEATHURBY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Londonderry Access Community Television (LACT) is making a jump to support the Town with high definition audio and video production from nearly any key location. With the updated mobile production kits, LACT will be able to broadcast, stream, and record events, meetings and TV shows from almost anywhere in town. The new production infrastructure will enable higher quality production that could provide more visual and sound detail with easier broadcast setups and quick production access from even remote locations.

The new set up will help the LACT team to provide more reliable recordings including better on demand internet access media for important Town events. This capability should help minimize potential problems like recently occurred during the recording of the Town's Deliberative Sessions.

Most of the Town Deliberative Sessions were not available for community viewing due to a glitch that occurred during the recording from the high school. New technology capabilities that are now being set up to enable redundant recordings providing backups to overcome such glitches from impeding on demand community access to important event broadcasts.

In addition, venues including the high school and other district schools are being connected up to the outside world with much more reliable internet and broadcast cabling that will provide infrastructure to connect to internal systems. While the schools still need an upgrade to their in-school facility internet and broadcast cabling, the new connections should help optimize the internet and communications systems as they are upgraded internally.

The cost of these upgrades do not create a tax burden to residents as the upgrades are being done by Comcast as part of their new franchise contract with Londonderry. The franchise contracts also include supporting the Town's LACT with capital payments for certain types of production equipment upgrades. In addition, the Town is in the process of applying for a High Definition TV station upgrade that Comcast is beginning to support across key town franchises in NH. While a High Definition Community TV Channel is down the road, there is a strong likelihood that Londonderry will receive such support in the near future.

Drew Caron has managed and lead the LACT production efforts for 16 years. Caron, himself is a Londonderry High School graduate who trained in film and broadcast production while in the Air Force, before working for five years at a Nashua media production company.

Erin Brodman who works with Caron, has been with LACT for the past 12 years. Erin is involved in many community productions and supports the LACT Summer Camp; Brodman has trained lots of community members about TV and Media production and one of her current projects involves working with a Middle School club once a week helping them with production projects.

Caron is happy to let the community know that the first phase of a major upgrade to the access TV was completed. Caron says, "We will be able to transmit high definition audio and video from virtually any key area around Londonderry. We appreciate the Town's support and want to let the community know that media production and viewing is taking a big leap forward and we will be able to accommodate the community in ways we could not in the past."

Caron says the community will soon see optimized, sharper pictures from their internet and TV connections to LACT internet and live broadcasts. It will take about five to eight weeks for systems to be connected to the new cross-town connections of high bandwidth fiber cable that Comcast has now installed at key venues around town including the Town Commons, Town Hall rooms including Moose Hill and other meeting rooms, Leach Library, Londonderry High School Gymnasium, the Middle School and other schools in the district.

Last year the Town extended its franchise agreement with Comcast for the next 12 years with the Town receiving franchise fees allocations for internet and media distribution. Comcast finished the first phase of this upgrade in February as they installed their ILoop Fiber technology to connect to LACT. This new installation means that the bandwidth for internet streaming and media access that was limited by older, imperfect bandwidth coax wire has now been replaced with optical fiber light pipes that will act as much bigger conduits for better signal flows, thus enabling faster data speeds and high quality media.

LACT will now begin to connect the fiber cables Comcast installed with appropriate in-house and remote venue production components over the coming weeks.

and was told yes. I was later informed that the old unit was staying. Why would it be staying if it is beyond its serviceable life? It's staying because the Police Department is going to have two generators. Not to increase capacity, but to have a backup generator for the current backup generator.

This will require maintaining and fueling two units. The Town Council did not even know this was the plan. Yet the Town Council by a 5-0 vote recommended a yes vote. Watch the beginning of the March 4 Town Council meeting. I have many more questions to get answers to before we have the whole picture. The Town Council should respect the taxpayers and not expend the funds should this article pass until we have all the correct answers. The taxpayers are also due an explanation as to why the article was so misrepresented. Vote NO on article 15. We need and deserve more answers.

Sea Cadet Program Holds Inspection and Awards Ceremony

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Last month, the U.S. Sea Cadet Corps Program held its annual Inspection and Awards Ceremony on Feb. 14 where a number of young cadets were recognized for their efforts. The event was held where the group trains at the Army Reserve Center on Harvey Road in Londonderry.

The group is comprised of two programs. The Navy League Cadet Corps, which is the junior program for young people ages 10 to 13, and The Naval Sea Cadet Corps, a senior program for ages 13 to 17.

This junior cadet program introduces its members to naval life through the instruction of basic seamanship and leadership. Members participate in monthly drill sessions and during school breaks and in a one-week orientation class as well as in specially-designed annual training sessions. The purpose of the junior program is to prepare cadets for success if the wish to move onto the senior program.

The senior cadet program exposes cadets to the rigors of a military training. Cadets are required to attend a two-week recruit training camp. After this, cadets are eligible to participate in a variety of advanced training sessions. These sessions serve to expose cadets to seamanship and seagoing subjects. They also focus on developing an appreciation for our country's rich naval history, customs and traditions.

The ceremony began with the Presentation of Colors, and was quickly followed by an inspection of the young cadets. This was performed by five officers Andrew Nash, John Murphy, Joseph Hagan, Peter McCann and Elise Jewett.

During the annual ceremony, a number of awards were given out.

Mitchell Nault received the Navy League of the United States (NLUS) Sea Cadet Youth Medal & Ribbon.

Logan Jolly received the NLUS League Cadet Youth Medal & Ribbon.

The Daughters of the American Revolution Outstanding Cadet honor went to Nathan Gadzik.

The VFW Naval Sea Cadet Award went to Robert Cariello.

The distinction of being named the Sea Cadet of the Year was given to Mitch Nault by John X. Murphy.

LHS Band Plans 2020 Trip, School Board Applauds Student Projects

LONDONDERRY TIMES

Serge Beaulieu, district Music Director, spoke to the board about a planned LHS band trip in March 2020 to Washington, D.C. and New York City. He said, "the Lancer Marching Band has a great opportunity to participate in the St. Patrick's Day Parade in Washington, D.C. and New York City all in the same trip. This is a tremendous opportunity since both of these parades are regarded as top parades in the nation for bands to participate in."

"In addition, the Symphonic Band has officially been accepted to perform at the world-famous Carnegie Hall in New York City as part of the New York Invitational Music Festival. We are very fortunate that the dates line up so that all of these performances could happen in one trip. We are seeking school board approval to move forward as soon as possible because the cost of a 5-day trip is higher than normal and we want to give families as much time as possible to fundraise."

The trip from March 13-17, at the cost of $1,000 per student was approved by the School Board. While the students will miss two days of school, the bus trip down and back to would allow them time to work on schoolwork.

On another topic, LHS seniors Maddie Sanborn and Natalie Brooks returned to the School Board to address concerns raised in the Dec. 2018 meeting about their proposal to introduce therapy dogs at the high school.

Their senior project, Paws for a Cause, aims to start a reading therapy pilot program this Spring in the Literacy for College and Careers class. Students are required to take the class in 9th grade if they have did met the benchmark for reading on the PSAT 8 test. The therapy dog and its handler would be provided free by Therapy Dogs International (TDI).

At the Dec. meeting, board members expressed concerns about liability, students with allergies, and students with a fear of dogs. Regarding allergies, Sanborn said that for the pilot, they would use the outdoor classroom and that students could opt out and choose to do independent reading in the library instead. If they pilot is successful, the spaces used in future years would be considered at that point.

Similarly, students who were afraid of dogs could opt and do independent reading. In addition, parental notifications would be sent home. In the Dec. meeting they shared that they had surveyed parents about their interest in the program. 37 people replied that they were interested and two replied that they were not interested.

On the topic of liability, Sanborn said that school's insurance company agreed that the therapy dog would be allowed as long as list of conditions are met.

The students provided a letter of support from Reading teacher Amy Dowling whose class would take on the pilot. In it she said, "Because reading is a silent activity, requiring a great deal of focus that my students often struggle to maintain, I am constantly trying to think of new ways to keep them engaged in the class and the act of reading. A therapy dog will help some of my most struggling readers to stay more focused, control their anxiety and provide a sense of calm in a class."

With their concerns addressed the Board agreed to let the pilot program run this spring and to review results.

The Board also heard from students and advisors about a variety of programs running at the elementary and middle schools to promote kindness in the schools among the students and staff.

Students at LMS described their Kindness Ambassador program. The program encourages students and staff to recognize people in the school with compliments written on sticky notes and kindness rocks.

At recognition events, students who received compliments had them read aloud by adults from around the school, town government and town service departments. For teachers, "compliments and coffee" sessions were hosted, with compliments read to teachers while enjoying donated coffee.

At North School, students set a goal to do 1000 acts of kindness by the end of November. Each classroom was stocked with many suggestions of kindnesses that students could perform. Students also raised money for charity by performing good deeds at home in return for $1 from their parents.

At Matthew Thornton, the student council put up encouraging quotes and posters throughout the school and also created a kindness board where people could be recognized for kind acts. In addition, scented pencils were distributed to all students on Valentine's Day.

At South School, they instituted a local version of an I Got Your Back campaign which focuses on kindness, respect, including others, and being a voice for people who need one. At South School if a teacher sees a student showing kindness, they get a kindness coin. Students who accumulate coins get a certificate and an I've Got Your Back t-shirt.

How The Planning Board Oversees Development In Londonderry

With all the development going on in Londonderry, you may wonder what role the Planning Board plays in managing the development? It plays a short-term, tactical role by reviewing and approving or denying commercial, industrial and residential site plans.

However, the reality is that if a proposed development meets the town zoning requirements, it is difficult for the Board to reject a development plan. Importantly, though, the Planning Board plays a very important role in establishing and amending the zoning regulations, so they can have a lot of influence over how Londonderry develops.

Before getting into details, here are some basics about the Board. The Town Charter dictates that the Board have nine members, of whom six are voting members appointed by the Town Council and three are ex officio voting members.

The ex officio members include the Town Manager, or his designee, an administrative officer of the town chosen by the Town Manager, and a councilor designated by the Town Council.

There are also three alternate non-voting members appointed by the Town Council. In the absence of a regular voting member, the Board chair appoints an alternate to act as a voting member for a specific planning board meeting.

The Board meets twice a month. At the first meeting, held on the first Wednesday of each month, the Board holds public hearings on new subdivision and site plans. At the second meeting on the second Wednesday of the month, they hold public hearings on ordinance/regulation amendments or re-zonings, preliminary conceptual discussions on plans, workshops and continued public hearings for site plan applications.

In reviewing development proposals, the Board is guided by applicable zoning ordinances and special zoning districts. Both provide sets of rules that developments must follow. Generally, this means that they consider whether the development's impact on public services such as water supply, transportation, fire protection or schools can be absorbed by the town.

They also consider how harmonious the development is with the rest of the town and they assess whether current town roads are adequate to handle existing and prospective traffic. They also factor in the environmental impact of the development with a primary focus on wetland impacts.

Zoning ordinance amendments can be initiated by the Planning Board but must be approved by the Town Council to become law. The flurry of 55+ developments in town is partially a result of a zoning change made in the past to allow much greater housing density than is allowed for a single-family house. The elderly housing regulation allows between eight and twelve housing units per acre compared to one house per acre for a standard single-family house.

As part of their review process, the Board can grant or deny zoning waivers that have been requested by the developer if it finds, by majority vote, that strict conformity with the regulation would pose an unnecessary hardship to the applicant and would not be contrary to the spirit and intent of the regulations. Alternately, a waiver may be approved if specific circumstances of the development or conditions of the land indicate that the waiver will properly carry out the spirit and intent of the regulations.

Developers also have the option of going to the Zoning Board of Adjustment to seek waivers. In practice, many developers go this route before bringing their full site plans to the Planning Board.

All potential development projects are also evaluated by town planning staff to determine if they have a regional impact. If the Planning Board agrees that a project has a regional impact, then notifications to neighboring municipalities and the Southern New Hampshire Planning Commission must be made fourteen days in advance of the public hearing, so that their representatives can provide input at the Planning Board meeting.

When considering the potential regional impact of a project, the Board considers the relative size and number of dwelling units involved over a period of time or the phasing of a commercial or residential development; the proximity of the development to a municipal boundary; the impact upon transportation networks; anticipated emissions, such as light, noise, smoke, and odors; and proximity to regional aquifers or surface waters.

What a glorious feeling, I am happy again! Just singing - singing in the rain.

Kids Coop Theatre (KCT) is delighted to present "Singin' in the Rain" Jr., the second production of KCT's 2018-2019 season. The 32-member cast features children ages 8 to 15 from Derry, Londonderry, Hampstead, Sandown, Manchester, and Windham, in a professional production aimed for audiences of all ages.

"Singin' in the Rain" Jr. will be performed Friday, March 8th at 7pm and Saturday, March 9th at 1pm and 6pm, at the historic Derry Opera House, 29 West Broadway, Derry, NH. All tickets are $13.00 each and are available at www.kids-coop-theatre.org and charming romantic comedy; the show takes place at the end of the silent movie era, where speaking roles present new challenges for the actors and actresses. The characters in this story need to make a sudden transition from what was supposed to be a silent move to appear in one of the first musical movie pictures with singing that was ever made.

This production is also the eighth Annual Young Directors Showcase, where KCT teen members take the helm and fill the three directing roles — Director, Music Director, Choreographer. This is an opportunity for talented young people to gain valuable experience on a different side of a production, as the teen team is responsible for developing the vision of the show and managing rehearsals.

The entire process,

from "hiring" to opening night, is overseen by two professional mentors who guide the teens through what it takes to bring a show to life. The "Singin' in the Rain" Jr. production is being directed by Tim Gore (16, Londonderry), with music direction by Allison Newey (17, Pelham), and choreography by Jillian Pooler (16, Derry). The young directing team is overseen by professional mentors, Maureen Mansfield and Marilyn Olbricht.

The lead roles include Sandown's Logan Young as Don Lockwood, a silent film star with humble roots as a musician, dancer and stunt man. Megan Luteri from Derry is Lina Lamont, his uninspiring leading lady, who has a comically grating speaking and singing voice that becomes a nightmare in her "talkie" movie role. The movie they are making was originally going to be a silent film, but things had to change and Lina's disastrous squeaky singing attempts are about to become catastrophic for the movie.

However, Don's best friend, Cosmo Brown played by Ryan Carrigan of Derry, comes up with the idea to overdub Lina's voice with the fantastic voice of a talented singer named Kathy Sieden, played by Bryn Steinmetz of Derry. The musical evolves into a hysterical comedy, when the movie becomes a premiere night smash and the opening night audience clamors for Lina to sing live. Don and Cosmo quickly improvise to meet the audience demands by getting Lina to lip-synch while Kathy sings into a second microphone while hidden behind the theatre curtain. The comedy story that evolves from this point is hilarious and indeed one reason this musical has won so much praise and is such a timeless classic!

Discounted group tickets are available for groups of 10 or more for the Saturday matinee only and includes a meet and greet with the cast and crew.

Kids Coop Theatre is a 501(c)3 educational charity founded in 1997 with a mission to provide children ages 8-18 a fun, safe, non-competitive environment to develop talent, self-esteem, learn teamwork and leadership skills, and make life-long friends through acting, music and dance.

KCT programs are open to area children, so children from Derry, Londonderry, Litchfield, Hudson, Salem, Hampstead, Danville, Manchester, Bedford, Windham, Pelham, and Chester, and beyond have participated in their shows.

KCT is a cooperative organization that recognizes the importance of family involvement. With the exception of the professional artistic directors hired, every job from set construction to costume design to tickets sales as well as the management of the organization is performed by dedicated parent volunteers working with the kids.

KCT always puts out a great show and it is so fun to see how the kids put their heart and souls into KCT Productions like "Singin' in the Rain" Jr. Don't miss it or you will miss out on a fun time and an entertaining performance!

LHS Girls Start Strong, But Exit DI Tourney in Quarters

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Londonderry High School's Girls' Varsity Basketball team had its 2018-19 season come to an end on Saturday, Mar. 2, with a quarterfinals loss in the Division I tournament, but not before getting this year's biggest playoffs surprise.

On Wednesday, Feb. 27, the 12-seed Lady Lancers traveled to Salem and shocked the fifth seed with a 49-44 win. The two teams faced each other for the second time in five days and after the Blue Devils closed the regular season with a 17-point win over LHS, this time Nick Theos and his players found an answer and became the only lower seed to get a first round win this year.

Seven quick points by Michelle Marino led Londonderry to a 12-7 lead after one quarter. Ashley Rourke opened the next one with five points and the lead jumped to 17-7, before Salem answered. At the half, the visitors were still ahead, 19-16. The third quarter belonged to the Lady Blue Devils and a 12-0 run, coupled with three straight free throw misses by Madison Haggett was enough for Salem to enter the final eight minutes in a good position, leading

The game went down the wire and Londonderry, smartly, kept pushing the ball into Salem's paint, with the Blue Devils unable to stop the Lancers' intensity and committing fouls after fouls. Londonderry went to the line 18 times in the last quarter, scoring 15 of those free throw attempts.

With 42 seconds on the clock, Marino scored a huge bucket and after a Salem miss, Theos saved his team with a well-timed timeout instead of losing possession on a jump ball. Marino was sent to the line, scored once and senior Paige Velie made the biggest play of the game, getting the offensive rebound from that miss and icing the game from the line.

Marino led the LHS scorers with 18 points, Rourke finished with 12, Courtney Shay had ten, Colleen Furlong scored four points, Velie three and Katie Sullivan two. "We thought we might match up well against this team and it proved to be true", said Theos postgame, "We made foul shots in the fourth quarter and that is how you close out game. And defensively, the kids worked so hard and we held a good team to 44 points. We grow up a lot. That is our signature win." Marino added: "Before the game we kept repeating that this is not our last game. The free throws and intensity were the biggest change from our previous meet with them".

Londonderry's journey was stopped on Saturday, Mar. 2, in Manchester, with a lopsided 58-39 loss to the fourth seed Memorial who finished the season 16-3. The Lady Lancers could not find their offense in the opening quarter and quickly trailed by double digits, 14-3 after the first eight minutes.

They put up a fight and kept the game relatively close, with a 26-19 Memorial lead at the half, but the home team proved to be too strong and escaped to a 39-27 lead after three quarters, before closing the game with a 19-point win and securing a semifinals match against Bishop Guertin on Thursday, at SNHU. Pinkerton and Portsmouth will battle for the second ticket to the finals.

Shay led Londonderry in the quarterfinals with ten points, while Rourke scored eight. "Unfortunately, we dug a big hole for ourselves in the first quarter", commented Theos, "We had chances to close the deficit, but it wasn't our night. Memorial was the better team in this one, but it doesn't take away from the season we had. We reached the same point last year and hopefully next season we can find a way to get past the quarterfinals".

LHS Boys Hoops Team Enters DI Tourney as Fourth Seed

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

After dropping back-to-back games, for the first time in the 2018-19 season, against the top two teams in Division I, the Londonderry High School Boys' Varsity Basketball team used the final week of the regular season to quickly recover and regain momentum.

With a couple of wins on the road, the Lancers finished their season with a 14-4 record and entered the tournament as the number four seed (after winning the tie-breaker over Winnacunnet).

On Tuesday, Feb. 26, the Lancers had another very close win, a 55-52 victory on the road over Goffstown who were 6-12. Ethan May scored seven of the nine Lancer points in the opening quarter and LHS was trailing for the majority of the first half, as the home team took a 23-19 lead into half-time.

Londonderry's offense started clicking much better after the break, and in the final quarter May took over the game, scoring 15 points out of his game high 30 in getting the slim "W" for the visiting LHS squad. Jackson Cox finished with ten points, James Buttafuoco had seven and Will Reyes and Dean Haggett scored four points each.

On Friday, Mar. 1, Nate Stanton's team knew that an away victory over Nashua North (10-8) will be enough to jump from fifth place to fourth in the final standings. It was not easy, but the Lancers eventually came out on top, with a much wider 50-41 win.

Londonderry opened with a bad first quarter on offense, trailing 15-9 after one, but turned the game over and led 20-19 at the half. The Lancers were up by six points with eight minutes to go (36-30), before closing the game in the final quarter.

May led in baskets again with 17, Cole Keegan had 13 points, Cox scored 11, Haggett finished with four, Buttafuoco with three and Luke Marsh had two points.

On Tuesday, Mar. 5, the Lancers were scheduled to host a first round game against Nashua South, after the Londonderry Times went to print. If the LHS squad advances, they will play another home game on Friday night starting at 7 p.m., which will be their quarterfinals match-up, against the winner of the Winnacunnet and Dover game.

LHS Hockey Team Suffers a First Round Loss in Tourney

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

After the last game of the regular season helped the Londonderry High School Boys' Varsity Ice Hockey team (8-10-1) enter the playoffs as the number eight seed and host a first round game, but things did not go well for the Lancers on Wednesday, Feb. 27, and their season was over with a tough 4-0 home loss to the ninth seed Salem Blue Devils.

Peter Bedford's team arrived at the Tri Town Arena in Hooksett after closing the regular season with two straight losses. The Lancers had hopes to regain their momentum and qualify, but Salem had its own ideas and scored a quick goal, just 4:41 minutes into the game, thanks to a deflected shot.

Londonderry was not able to get good chances in front of the goal for the majority of the match, but was still just one goal behind until the final minutes. With 6:03 minutes left to play, Salem was able to double their lead and LHS collapsed and conceded a third goal, just 38 seconds later. The final Salem goal was an empty-net one and the Blue Devils went on to celebrate with their fans.

Bedford said post-game, "For two periods, it was an up and down game, but we didn't execute enough, we didn't bury the puck, we didn't finish. There were two minutes there that we lost our way. I have a group of young hockey players and that is a great experience for them. Unfortunately, this is the end for our seniors here."

With that loss, LHS missed a chance to face Pinkerton in the tournament's quarterfinals, but with Salem moving on to that game, they were able to upset the number one seeded Astros 3-1 thanks to some very good goaltending.

Zach Rheault, left, and Anthony Federico have been major contributors this season for this Lancers, unfortunately LHS was unable to score against the tough Salem goalie last week. Photos by Chris Paul

Lancer Cheer Team Finish Ninth in Winter Spirit Prelims

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Londonderry High School's Cheerleading team competed last Sunday, Mar. 3, at the New Hampshire Interscholastic Athletic Association 2019 Winter Spirit Preliminary round, held at Pinkerton Academy's Hackler Gym. The Lady Lancers finished their day in the ninth place out of the 16 teams competing. The top five teams qualified for this Sunday's finals, which will also take place at the Hackler Gym, at 11 a.m.), where they will face the top five finishers from the Division II and III preliminary round.

Londonderry finished eighth out of the 16 Division I competing high schools with a team score of 81.7 points. Bishop Guertin finished one place above the Lancers with 82.9 points. In order to qualify, Londonderry needed to beat Concord's 93.5 points was enough for the fifth overall place. The home team, Pinkerton, won the event with 105.8 points and the rest of the qualifying teams were Dover (second place - 94.3 points), Salem (third place - 93.7 points) and Nashua North (fourth place - 93.7 points). Head Coach Chelsea Dennis reflected on her team's performance, "We covered the rubric as best we could, but we were not able to prove to the judges that we deserved a spot in the finals this time. A dismount we had performed all season, without issue, was deemed illegal and moved us from seventh place to ninth place. Not the final outcome we had hoped for, but we wish the best of luck to the teams chosen to move on to finals." Assistant coach Nicole Otis added: "We have worked really hard all season and the girls went out there, with a bunch of new changes we put in and we have tried to mas-

Hagearty Finishes 14th in New England Championship

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Patrick Hagearty was the only athlete representing Londonderry High School during the 32nd Annual New England Interscholastic Indoor Track & Field Championship, held on Saturday, March 2, at the Reggie Lewis Center in Boston.

Hagearty finished the competition in 14th place among New England's best shot putters, after throwing for 49 feet and 1.5 inches. This capped off his successful Indoor season, that included a state title in that event, last month.

The lone Lancer was part of the third and final group of competitors, where he faced some fantastic rivals, one of them, Aiden Felty of Innovation Academy in Massachusetts, won with a new Meet Record of 66 feet and 10.25 inches, breaking the previous record by over four feet. Second place went to Jason Montano from Thornton, Maine, after he too set a new Meet Record (63-02.50), but it was not enough for the title.

Hagearty fouled in his first two attempts and set his score in the third and final try, not continuing for the final round. His result from the NH State Meet (51-04.50) would have given him the 12th place in the New England competition.

"I was really gunning for a big throw early," Hagearty said during the event, "I knew I would need one to make the final.

My first two throws were big, but unfortunately, I wasn't able to save them. I was a little disappointed, but will just keep working and come back stronger for the spring season".

The Londonderry High School ski team's top skier this season, Breyton Evarts, represented the team last sion's State Meet competed against each other.

Evarts had two races, the Giant Slalom and a Slalom, with each skier receiving two runs in each race. In the Giant Slalom, she finished 15th with a total time of 1:23.80 minutes, only 5.58 seconds away from winner Isabella Cronin from White Mountain. Evarts had a time of 40.85 in her first attempt and finished the second one after 42.95 seconds.

She ranked 19th in the Slalom. Her first run took only 38.11 seconds and the second one 40.28 seconds, for a total time of 1:18.39. Evarts finished 10.51 seconds away from the Slalom winner, Sierra Prica from Profile (1:07.88).
