Londonderry Man Arrested, Charged With Killing Wife

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Little over two months after an investigation began on what was initially described as a "suspicious death," the New Hampshire Attorney General's office announced on Friday, June 7, that William Argie had been arrested for the murder of his wife, Maureen Argie, at their home on West Road on or about April 4.

The official news release by Jane E. Young, the Deputy Attorney General and also carried the names of New Hampshire State Police Colonel Christopher J. Wagner and the Londonderry Police Chief William R. Hart.

William Argie, 46, has been charged by the police with two alternative counts of second degree murder, one for knowingly causing the death of his wife Maureen, 41, by strangling and/or smothering

Planning Approves Buildings Amid Citizens Water Concerns

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Despite a number of concerns raised by local residents during the last Planning Board meeting, board members granted a use permit and unanimously gave a conditional approval for the construction of two new buildings on Nashua Road.

The suggested plan is for two multifamily buildings, one will have four apartments and the other six. Each apartment will have two bedrooms and a den. It will be located on 244 Nashua Rd. and the curb will cut in approximately 1,500 feet east of the intersection with Route 102.

According to online records, the 6.6 acre lot had a previous old site plan for a church to be built in it. The property was put for sale at $249,900 (The recent update was on May 13, 2019) and currently, the sale is pending. The application that was reviewed by the Planning Board was submitted by the current owner of the lot, Londonderry Church of the Nazarene and the applicant, Leonard Vigeant, who wishes to build the two buildings.

At the hearing, Mr. Vigeant told the board members the his plan had already received the necessary permits from the state of New Hampshire and that he is expecting to receive the driveway permit from the New Hampshire Department of Transportation in the near future, as the department might have a few comments regarding the driveway plan.

The Londonderry Conservation Commission did not oppose the project when it was brought up for discussion and the Londonderry Heritage Commission did not have any problems with the proposed sign for the development. The Heritage Commission did ask to see

School Board Gets Update on WLLO LP Radio Station

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Londonderry High School Curriculum Coordinator, Shawn Flynn, and John Beaulieu, a technician for the Londonderry School District, presented the Londonderry School Board members with an update on the WLLO LP radio station that is located at the Londonderry High School gymnasium.

The presentation, held at the beginning of the Londonderry School Board meeting, on Tuesday, June 4, revolved around the research that was made into the use of the School District's radio broadcast capabilities and the ways to maximize the equipment the School District possesses.

The Londonderry School District currently has an operating transmitter and tower, which are located at North Elementary School.

Beaulieu said during the presentation that in the southern part of town, reception for the local radio station is not very good, and that probably has something to do with the transmitter's location.

There have been discussions about the purchase of a second transmitter that could increase the distance of reception.

At the transmitter's location there is also an online transcoding device, receiving content.

The content is uploaded to a server with the backbone software system, which is currently on six Mac-based systems at the high school (Two at the tech office computers and one at the radio classroom, the Athletic Director's office, a laptop that is being used for sports and music event and the studio located above the gymnasium).

School Board Presented With System of Care Update

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry School Board was presented with an update on the Londonderry School District System of Care Program, during its meeting Tuesday, June 4. The four year program is concluding its third year soon.

The System of Care program began in the 2016-2017 school year, and that year, a special mental health week was held. There were 25 attendees also received youth mental health first aid training, the school staff had a workshop delivered by the National Alliance for the Mentally Ill (NAMI) named See the Student, not the Illness and at South School, all students between first and fifth grade watched the movie Inside Out, while the classroom teachers were provided with talking points and conversation starters to debrief after the showing.

The second year saw the establishment of a district wide Mental Health Committee, where all levels, buildings and staff received representation. There was work on the definition of mental health and two sessions were held about youth mental health first aid, attracting 30 attendees each. Each member of the Londonderry School District staff received a monthly email providing ways to take positive steps to support their own mental health.

This school year, 2018-2019, included a Wednesday Wellness Series, where multiple lectures and talks were given, providing the attendees with different tools. A monthly System of Care meeting was held, with the core team of the program participating and community partnerships were built with Manchester Mental Health, who sent its Educational Liaison to attend the System of Care meetings. In addition, two rounds of data had been collected (In the fall and winter) and the work on a family resource guide with community resources had begun and is scheduled to end in the next school year.

The South Central System of Care collaboration (Londonderry, Salem, Hudson and Merrimack) developed a common timeline, common staff and tool for data collection this year. The work was presented in both the South Central Superintendents Meeting and the New Hampshire School Administration Association Best Practices Conference on Students Behavioral Health and the plan for next year is to offer collaborative professional development and collect data from K to 12 grade.

South Central System of Care's common vision is to mobilize the four South Central districts in order to create and/or improve the System of Care for all students in grades K to 4. The main next steps for the 2019-2020 school year are to hone the data collection for grades K to 5 and expand data collection to grades 6 to 12, as well as offer three large family and staff professional development opportunities: Anxiety is Treatable It's OK to Say (In the fall of 2019), Minding Your Mind (In the winter of 2019-2020) and another spring program that was yet to be decided.

Transmitter

The district had recently purchased new backbone radio software and the content of the local station is located on a server owned and maintained in Virginia. The new system's big advantage is its ability to have a live broadcast from any location with internet access, using a laptop. At the moment, four people (Teacher Karen Robinson, Beaulieu, Athletic Director Howard Sobolov and a student intern) know how to operate the backbone software, after they were trained during the past winter.

The current programming includes music with student intros, the fifth graders newscasts, live basketball games at all levels, Londonderry Middle School and elementary schools concerts, students podcasts from the sports journalism classes and athletics events and interviews. Beaulieu could not tell how many people listen to the broadcast, but said he will come up with the numbers for the podcasts, where it can be counted.

The broadcast can be locally heard on 102.9 FM and a new addition on the Londonderry School District's website, a yellow button on the top right corner of the page, leads to a link where the broadcast can be listened to. That button can also be reached from the Londonderry School District's mobile app.

Flynn said that a curriculum for radio broadcasts lessons is being written these days, with the hope to add it to the school's curriculum next year. The school members also suggested to teach the students how to create radio oriented commercials and one of the future goals of the program is to integrate sports journalism class assignments and develop more original radio shows before the relaunch in the next school year (Fall of 2019).

Planning

more lilacs (The purple lilac is the official flower of New Hampshire since 1919) in the landscaping plan and Mr. Vigeant said that he added a Korean style of the flower.

Mr. Vigeant presented the Planning Board with the proposed architecture for the building, saying that the Heritage Commission accepted the architecture – A traditional New England style. The two building will have a front similar to each other and the color will be neutral and tan.

The main concern that was discussed, first by the board members and then by neighbors, regarded the pumping of water from the well that will be drawn to serve the new buildings. The applicant's developer told the board members that the chances to draw on someone else's water are extremely low, but the members suggested that as this is a dense area, a problem might arise when adding 20 new bedrooms and the people leaving around the property might suffer trouble with their water supply, from their wells.

Followed that conversation, two residents had expressed similar concerns. One said that she will now be getting her well tested, on her own expense, to make sure that the new development does not change her water supply situation. She added that she objected to the previous plan of building a church in that location and that there is also a traffic problem, with people trying to get to Route 102. She added that the intersection near the lots has seen several accidents over the years, including one by a senior citizen, only several months ago.

Another citizen, from a nearby property, said that his property is already wet from March to June and he fears that the new project increase the wetlands in the area. To this, the Planning Board Chairman Arthur Rugg answered that the developer must contain all the water from its property and the applicant showed that the proposed plan has a pond to collect storm water, where it could be disposed over time.

The American Flag Symbol of Freedom

On June 14, 1777, the Second Continental Congress passed a resolution to establish an official flag of the 13 United States. The flag would be 13 stripes, alternating red and white, with 13 stars, white, in a field of blue. The national flag of America was born. That flag would forever become the symbol of the United States, a symbol of a country forged in the fires of a revolution and tempered with the blood of its patriots.

The American flag stood firm and resolute above Fort McHenry through that perilous fight. Was raised on Mt. Suribachi, on the island of Iwo Jima, by men willing to give their lives for what the flag represented. It saw action on land and sea throughout Europe and the Pacific region during the Great War. It was in the mountains of Korea, the jungles of Vietnam, the deserts of North Africa and countries of the Mideast. It was raised above the rubble of the Twin Towers as an indication of America's strength and determination to survive and it shines down upon us from its place on the moon.

The flag represents those who have served this nation in the military, and those who now serve, and proudly salute that flag. Last week was Flag Day a day set a side to retire our flag with honor and respect. For many people June 14, Flag Day will be like any other day, its importance and meaning being lost in the sands of time.

The American flag represents a nation dedicated to freedom, hope and opportunity. It represents the blood shed by those who served under that flag, and those that "gave their tomorrow's so we can have our today's."

It has been said, "In honoring our flag, we honor the American men and women who have courageously fought and died years, patriots who set an ideal above any consideration of self. Our flag flies free today because of their sacrifice."

America rose from the ashes of a fiery revolution to become a sovereign nation against improbable odds. It created its own history, its own heritage, and its own flag. As President Teddy Roosevelt pointed out almost a hundred years ago, "We have but one flag, the American flag." Let us honor and respect that flag — "the star-spangled banner, o long may it wave, o'er the land of the free and home of the brave."

So, please do not just toss them out bring you old flags to your local post, legion, etcetera, and let them retire them in an honor they deserve. Thank you.

White House Staff Out Of Control

Letter to the editor,

A White House staffer, who works for President Trump, sent a message to the Navy in the Pacific to "minimize the visibility of the USS John S. McCain" during Trump's visit to Japan. This constitutes interference in naval operations.

The USS John S. McCain's crew was not invited to events on the USS Wasp, at one point a tarp was seen obscuring the USS John S. McCain's name, and at another point a barge blocked the name of the ship.

The ship was originally named after Senator McCain's father and grandfather, both past admirals in the U.S. Navy. I am sure crew members are proud of their ship, but have to be dismayed at the request from the White House, and Trump's constant criticism of the late Senator McCain.

It appears White House staff members are assuming authority they do not have in military matters. This is scary. Could White House staffers send communications to military commanders who are engaged in military operations around the world?

Trump's White House is out of control.

As a former Navy enlisted man and naval officer I do not appreciate White House no nothing landlubbers ordering ships around.

D-Day Remembrances

To the editor,

With the completion of the D-Day remembrances, the service and sacrifice of some soldiers is not well known in the USA. Those of you who have met me know that I used to be British. I grew up in a region called the "South Hams". It was where the training for the landings took place because the geography is strikingly similar to Normandy. Several villages were completely evacuated so that training could occur.

As D-Day drew closer, Eisenhower grew concerned that many of his troops had never seen combat. To get them more prepared he ordered that training use live fire. Machine guns set up in the low hills behind the beach were set to aim a little high but used live ammunition. Being only an infant during the war my personal memories are limited to the bombers flying over to Plymouth and to my mother fixing the black out before lamps could be lit. However, my father was the Police Constable for some of the neighboring villages. He told us that during the live fire training about a dozen men were killed by friendly fire. Additionally several landing craft were intercepted and sunk during training by a German torpedo boat with substantial loss of life. Those men may not have reached Normandy but they also died to defeat the Nazis and the racism they fostered.

If you should visit England try to visit the South Hams, located between the towns of Kingsbridge and Dartmouth. Go to Slapton Sands where a monument has been erected to those men. There is also a tank that sank when one of the landing craft was torpedoed. It was only comparatively recently recovered from the sea. The entire crew of that tank were trapped and drowned.

Congratulations LHS

To the editor,

Congratulations to the Londonderry Varsity Baseball Team for an impressive season and a fantastic run through the play-offs that culminated in a State Championship. Outstanding effort.

It was a real pleasure watching you play the game, playing it the right way, with talent, passion and fun. You deserved this championship. I can't mention you all, but the outfield of Luke Marsh, Zack Luongo and Nick Cote is the most talented outfield I have ever seen at the high school level. The skill in which they covered the gaps, went back on deep balls and the strength of their arms was a big part of the teams success. The entire team defense was solid in the games I witnessed.

Timely hitting was in evidence, also. The table setters of Brandon Fish, who is only a Sophomore, and Reece Manor, a Senior who had a magnifi-

A Proposition to Londonderry on a Greener Community

ALYSSA GRIFFIN
LHS GRADUATE SUBMISSION ♦

It's hard to understand the side effects of global climate change when we aren't seeing and living them in this present. Londonderry isn't an island community that's slowly watching the ocean devour our land. We don't live in tornado alley where the frequency and intensity of thunderstorms are rapidly increasing. Having the courage to modify a lifestyle seems daunting. Change is scary, I understand that. However, it doesn't have to be. Below is a list of easy ways you can change your habits to become more Earth-friendly. All change starts small, but if even half of Londonderry gets on board, the impact would be astonishing.

10 Simple Ways You Can Make Your Household Greener

1. Reuse boxes/bags instead of buying new ones for celebrations. Don't write the name of the gift recipients directly onto the box/bag so they can reuse the bags too. Package birthday or holiday gifts in old food or electronic boxes. Not only does it cut down on waste, but is a harmless prank to play on family and friends.

2. Hosting a celebration? Instead of getting plastic plates and utensils, order plant-based products. Amazon.com and Thrive.com have lots of affordable options if you can't find any in stores, plus it might inspire your party guests to order the same when they host.

3. If you fertilize your lawn, avoid toxic chemicals. Chemicals sprayed into lawns seep into the soil and eventually the water supply and/or bodies of water such as ponds and lakes. This will only make purifying water more costly in the future, shut down local water sources and/or prevent access to popular swimming spots. Not to mention, the manufactures of these chemicals pollute hundreds of gallons of water a day making their products. A mixture of a gallon of vinegar, a cup of salt and a tablespoon of dish soap can have the same effect as manufactured chemicals. Want a different green option?

Thankfully, with a quick Google search, you'll find hundreds of other natural weed killer ideas.

4. Buy reusable cloth snack pouches instead of plastic Ziploc bags. If the last thing you want is more laundry, you can order paper or plant-based bags instead. Anything that isn't one use plastic is much better. Some brand suggestions are BioBag and Unni, both found on Amazon.

5. Purchase green household cleaners. Instead of relying on chemicals to clean, natural solutions do the job just as well. The benefits are worth the switch, it makes the air in your home purer, it is less likely to aggravate those in the home suffering with asthma, it is less likely to cause skin irritation or other health issues and can even be more cost effective. Some well-known brands include Seventh Generation and Ecos cleaners (Tested by my mom, she loves them both!)

6. Uncluttering the house? Separate your toss pile into three categories: donate, recycle and trash.

Unwanted books can be donated to the Leach Library, summer camps or shelters. Clothes that don't fit can also be sent to shelters and churches. Check the town's Recycle Center to see what bigger items they can take off your hands. Unwanted school papers and notebooks can be recycled. Staples collects unwanted binders, as well as the middle and high school. The goal is to make your trash pile the smallest of the three.

7. Have a printer? Purchase 100% recycled printer paper instead of the regular kind. Most of the time, you can barely tell the difference.

8. Reduce your red meat intake. The amount of methane released into the atmosphere is greater than the carbon dioxide emissions from our transportation system. Though it's rarely talked about, methane is 84 times more potent than carbon dioxide. The biggest emitter of methane is cattle, which can produce a gallon of it up to every 2 hours. Thus, any cut down on red meat consumption would be beneficial to the atmosphere.

9. Support local farms and farmers markets. Not only is this great for the New Hampshire economy but is a fun day activity with your family. Locally sourced food is more often than not organic, cruelty-free and/or farmed with sustainability in mind.

10. When it's time to upgrade appliances, purchase Energy Star Certified ones. The products are of high quality and proven to reduce your energy bill.

As you can see, most of these suggestions aren't difficult to adapt. That's the point, a more sustainable lifestyle isn't impossible or too costly like some believe. Though you may not see a direct positive difference in your life, the Earth, your children and grandchild, and everyone who is advocating for a cleaner world thanks you for your efforts. I hope you give these ideas serious consideration and find other ways as well to be a more sustainable member of society.

cent high school career, were devastating to opposing pitchers. What a great job.

Pitching was solid all season from a stable of fine arms, but Nolan Lincoln, a Junior, has to be singled out for his mastery during the play-offs, including a totally dominant effort over Bedford in the 1-0 final.

Congratulations to the LHS staff who kept the players focused and congratulations to the coaches at LAFA who taught the players the fundamentals at an early age and instilled in them a love for the game. Without them, none of this happens.

It was a real pleasure watching you all perform. Thank you for your effort, your passion, your ability, and continued success in the future in all your endeavors.

Londonderry High School Holds Adult Education Graduation

LONDONDERRY SCHOOL BOARD SUBMISSION

On Thursday, June 6, the Londonderry High School held an Adult Education Commencement and saw 25 graduate through the program, six of whom were from Campbell High School in Litchfield.

Londonderry Superintendent, Scott Laliberte spoke, and told the graduates, "Through your own will, you faced something very difficult. You are already success."

School Board Chair, Nancy Hendricks, stated, "Your perseverance, hard work, and determination paid off."

Jeff Parsons, a counselor from Campbell High School, compared the students to diamonds stating, "You had intense pressure and you became a gem." He also thanked the Londonderry School District for allowing the Litchfield students to attend the program.

It should be noted that this is a tuition-based agreement, similar to the District's arrangement with Hooksett.

The graduating class chose Ian McCormack as their student speaker from LHS. "I used to think that night school was for the lazy. Now I realize it's just a different way - a way that puts us in control." Ian stated he was grateful for such a program and cited its necessity for students who needed a different way. He ended with thanking his father for his support and encouragement during his educational journey.

The evening would not have been complete without the tradition of a . Adult Education teacher, Casey Roop, and 10th grade LHS student, Chloe Ferraro, sang the class song "Don't Stop Believing." just before the presentation of the diplomas.

The graduates were: Noah Bahan, Nick Batista, Ariana Bernardini, Mike Carco, Shauna Choate, Jacob Chulada, Jacob

her and the other for recklessly causing her death under circumstances manifesting an extreme indifference to the value of human life, by strangling and/or smothering her.

When contacted, Jeffery Strelzin, the Associate Attorney General at the New Hampshire Attorney General's office, said the reason there are two alternative counts, is that often there is an overlap of criminal conduct with more than one criminal statute and since prosecutors do not know exactly how the evidence will play out at trial, they will often bring more than one version of a charge at a time. A defendant can only be punished for one version if convicted of both. Mr. Strelzin also said that at the time, no further details of the investigation could be released.

Argie, who online records show works as a physician assistant, is scheduled was arraigned at the Rockingham County Superior Court on Monday, June 10, where he pleaded not guilty.

The news release stated that the charges and allegations are merely accusations and that he is presumed innocent until proven guilty.

State and local police did not release Maureen Argie's identity at first, until her relatives received the notice of her death, but a State Police Major Crimes Unit's truck was visible and parked for many hours near the Argie's property on 118 West Rd. in Londonderry. The Londonderry Police Department was also present at the crime scene during that time.

Police involvement in the case began when in the evening of April 4, officers from the Londonderry Police Department conducted a welfare check at a residence on 118 West Road and found Ms. Argie's body inside the house.

An autopsy was conducted the next morning by the office of the Chief Medical Examiner, but the results were inconclusive and the cause and manner of her death needed further studies and investigation

Argie's obituary said that she was born in Lynn to Joseph and Anne and lived in Londonderry for many years. She worked as a Case Manager and Social Worker for Merrimack Valley Elder Care Services and volunteered at the Community Caregivers of Greater Derry. According to the obituary, she was survived by two children.

A GoFundMe page has been created shortly after her death, on April 12, to support the two young children, who were displaced from their home and were put the care of Maureen's mother-in-law, Brenda Quinn. Almost 200 people have already made donations to that page and approximately $16,000 has been collected until now.

But of course when dealing with extreme heat and flames, there's always a risk.

According to the most recent data from the National Fire Protection Association, fire departments across the country responded to an average of 10,200 home fires between 2013 and 2017. These particular fires, involving the use of grills, hibachis, and barbecues, caused an average of 10 deaths, 160 injuries, and $123 million in direct property damage.

"The leading causes of home grilling fires are failing to properly clean the grill or having a flammable object too close to the grill," said Lorraine Carli, vice president of Outreach and Advocacy for NFPA.

According to NFPA, June is the second peak month for grilling, just behind July. Many households may have already fired up their grills for Memorial Day, but many more may be operating theirs for the first time this season, or will be soon planning to.

"...It's a good time to inspect your grill to make sure it's in working order, especially if it hasn't been used during the winter months," said Carli. Carli has also advised grill operators to continue inspecting their grills before every subsequent use further into the season.

In their mission to eliminate death, injury, property and economic loss due to fire hazards, the NFPA has issued some important safety tips for safe grilling this season.

Propane and charcoal grills should only be used outdoors, and grills should be placed well away from the home, from deck railings, and out from under eaves and overhanging branches.

Children and pets should be kept at least three feet away from grilling areas. A grill should never be left unattended for any amount of time.

Always make sure that a grill lid is open before lighting, and keep the grill clean by removing grease or fat buildup in trays to prevent it from catching fire the next time it is in use.

If using a starter fluid for a charcoal grill, use only charcoal starter fluid. Never add charcoal fluid or any other flammable liquids to an already lit fire. Keep starter fluids out of reach of children and pets, and away from any heat source.

Be sure to use an extension cord for outdoor use of electric charcoal starters.

When finished grilling, let coals cool completely before disposing into a metal container.

When using a propane grill for the first time of the season, be sure to check the gas tank hose for any leaks. To do this, apply a light soap and water solution to the hose. Any propane leaks will release bubbles.

If the grill has a gas leak, by smell or by the soap and water test, and there is no flame, turn off both the gas tank and the grill. If the leak stops, get the grill serviced by a professional before trying to use it again. If the leak does not stop, contact the fire department.

If at any point gas can be smelled while cooking, back away from the grill immediately and contact the fire department, and do not attempt to move the grill.

If a flame goes out while cooking, turn the grill and gas off and wait at least five minutes before re-lighting it.

For further information on grilling safety, and for more resources on preventing loss from other fire and electrical hazards, visit www.nfpa.org.

Spagehetti Dinner to Help Eagle Scout

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The United Methodist Church (At 258 Mammoth Rd.) will be the home of a spaghetti fundraising dinner this Monday, Jun. 17. The dinner is led by Trevor Barth, a local 15-year-old boy scout, who is trying to raise money for his Eagle Project with Troop 109, one of three boy scouts troops in Londonderry.

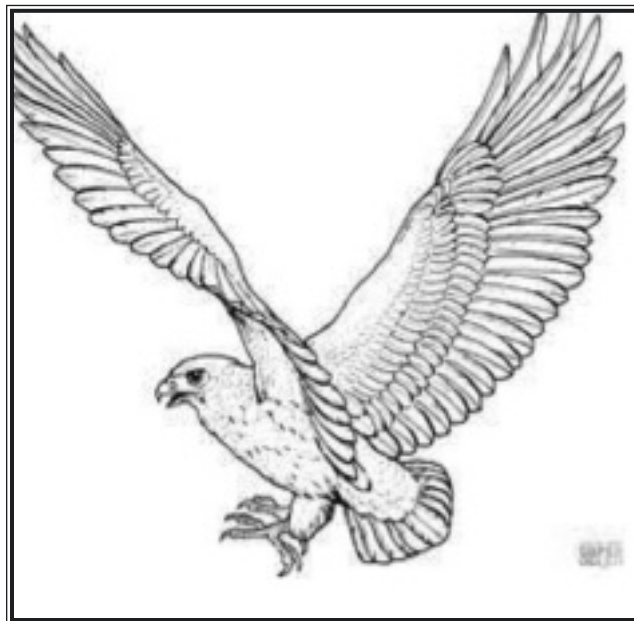

The doors will open at 4:30 p.m. and the dinner will go on until 7 p.m. The cost is $7 for an adult and $4 for children six and under. There will be spaghetti served, as well as a salad, a drink and a dessert and people can also make a donation.

Barth, who is finishing his freshman year at Londonderry High School, hopes to raise a $900 during the summer for his project, an Eagle sign which he designed for South School, the elementary school he used to attend. The aluminum sign already received the approval of the school's director and will be hung at the front of the school ones it is ready. As Barth is not 18 yet, a family friend will do the cutting work for the sign, but Barth was in charge of the design, a skill he learned from classes he took and from his father, who works in the field.

The Eagle Project must receive a board's confirmation before the Boy Scout's 18th birthday and after Barth made his presentation to the board, he began thinking about ways to raise the money. His mother, who works at Timberlane High School and helps the student council there, suggested the idea of a spaghetti dinner and Barth, four other boy scouts from his Troop, family and friends, will be cooking, serving, greeting and cleaning in the event.

Beside the spaghetti dinner, Barth also has plans to have a fundraising carwash. The date was not finalized yet, but it will probably take place around the end of July. He expects at least 40 people to attend the spaghetti dinner, where he hopes to raise almost half of his final goal.

The design to be funded

The Eagle Project is the boy scouts final project and asks the leaders of each project to give something back to their community, while showing the skills they obtained along their boy scouts years, such as communication, leadership and teamwork.

Lions Club to Have a Memorial Ride and Event on Jun. 22

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry Lions Club will be holding a special motorcycle run in memory of club member Sherman Packard's wife Joanne, a long-time Londonderry resident and a familiar face in the local community, who passed away last year.

The memorial ride will begin at 10 a.m., on Saturday, Jun. 22 at the Londonderry Lions Club, which is located at 256 Mammoth Road. The riders are invited for a scenic ride to the lakes region that would take a few hours and end at the starting point, the Lions Club. Registration will be held prior to the start of the ride and the costs are $10 per bike or $20 for the ride and a T-shirt.

Riders who do not wish to join the tour and the ride to the lakes region are still encouraged to arrive to the Lions Club, where food will be provided for all registrants. From there, they can just take a two or three hour ride and come back for the rest of the program, which will include a 50/50 raffle, a motorcycle jacket raffle and many other activities. The Lions Club will be receiving people starting 8 a.m. and the event will end at 5 p.m.

Sherman Packard, the husband of the late Joanne, says that he hopes to see 200 or maybe even 300 riders joining the one-time event. He has been a member of the Lions Club for many years and they are the ones who came up with the idea to have a memorial for Joanne.

"Every penny that we collect will go to her different charities", says Sherman. Joanne Packard, who lived in Londonderry for 45 years, was involved with five charities in the area and the money will be split between those organizations: The Liberty House (Which helps homeless and struggling veterans), The Soup Kitchen in Derry, The Salvation Army (For over 20 years, Packard led the Salvation Army's Toy Run and helped collecting toys worth thousands of dollars for families in need. The money will go to the Salvation Army's Toy Fund), The New Hampshire Motorcyclists' Rights Organization and the Lions Club, where Packard gives away scholarships and helps run many programs). "We don't have an amount we want to reach", says Sherman. "Our goal is just to collect as much as we can. A few thousand dollars. My wife was very involved in those charities and has done so much for other people and this is a way to say goodbye. A lot of people knew her in this community and I hope that everyone who wants would come to the Lions Club and stop for a burger or a hot-dog. We will be there."

American Legion to Host Fundraiser for Boy with Leukemia on Jun. 22

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Greeley Parmenter Harrington American Legion Post 27, on 6 Sargent Road, Londonderry, will be hosting a fundraiser for Mason's Army on on Saturday, June 22 from 1 to 5 p.m.

Mason Wills is a two-year-old boy from New Hampshire who was diagnosed with leukemia a few months ago. Him and his parents Ben and Steph (who have three more children), had to spend two months at the hospital and Mason has to arrive to the Dana-Farber Cancer Institute in Boston, Mass, every other week for more treat-

His parents' insurance only covers about 80 percent of the high costs of all the treatments and Mason's uncle, Brandon Keeley, recruited his friends who operate the successful Facebook page "New England Pittmasters" to help him with a day he promises "Will be fun". Their goal is to raise at least $10,000 and help Mason's parents. Keeley hopes to present the parents with a check at the event, in front of everyone. At least one of the parents, as well as Mason's two older brothers, will be at the event. Mason himself cannot attend, as he has high risk leukemia and can't be around people.

Tickets for the event are being sold for $30 and kids under 12 enter for free. Keeley says that they already have almost 200 people attending, but will be happy to receive more donations, either from people who buy tickets or on their GoFundMe page that was created. He also operates a Facebook page named "Mason's Army Assembles", where he promises to keep providing updates about Mason after the fundraiser, for people who wish to know how the toddler is feeling.

The ticket price for the event includes food, as the New England Pittmasters will be cooking BBQ ribs, pulled pork, brisket, burgers, hotdogs and other kinds of meat that were all donated by many local businesses. There will also be a DJ on site and many outdoor activities (If the weather allows it), such as games, corn hole and more.

Everyone attending the event will receive a bracelet with Mason's Army Assembles and New England Pittmasters names on it and will have the chance to win one of the many raffles that were also made possible thanks to donations. The prizes include a Boston Bruins hockey stick signed by the current team, three pairs of Boston Red Sox tickets, one year membership to the Executive Health Club in Manchester, Lee Brice concert tickets, Eccobee Home Smart thermostat, Webber Smokey Mountain smoker, a family photography session and gift cards for packages, wine tasting and tour for group of 20, Granite State Escape Room $200 group pass for game, over 20 gift cards from local restaurants ranging from $25 to $100, free rounds of golf and gift cards and products from several salons.

Lancer Baseball Squad Clinches Title with One Run Shutout

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

It was a pitching duel, from the first pitch of the game all the way to the last one. And when it was all said and done, the Londonderry High School Varsity Baseball players were celebrating on the mound, surrounding their junior pitching star Nolan Lincoln, who delivered an outstanding complete game shutout to help give the Lancers their first state title in five years, their fourth since 2004. The Lancer squad handed the Bedford Bulldogs a slim 1-0 in the Division I final held on Monday night, June 10, at the Fisher Cats stadium in Manchester.

The crowd and the weather were fantastic that night, and so was Lincoln, the Londonderry ace who also helped the team eliminate the number one seed Concord just six days earlier in the semifinals. Going into the finals, the Lancers faced an equally tough opponent, in Trevor Anibal, the Bulldogs' junior pitching ace.

Lincoln was throwing strikes from the start, and after a quick 1-2-3 inning for him in the first, the Lancers had a great chance to scoring some early runs, with two runners in scoring positions and one out after a Reece Manor double, but Brandon Fish was thrown out at home.

In the third inning, the Bulldogs managed to put a man on second base, but nothing more than that, and the game remained scoreless until the bottom of the fourth.

In the bottom of that inning, Nick Cote got a single, stole second and ran all the way home after a two-out RBI single by Sean Cavanaugh, who saw his ball dropping right before Bedford's right fielder.

Lincoln kept getting quick outs and did not allow a man on third base throughout the entire game. He retired the first two batters in the seventh and final inning and a fielding error followed by a single gave the Bulldogs some hope, but eventually the Lancers got the final out on second base and celebrated.

"It was a great team win, so I am really happy," said Lincoln. "I had confidence in my defense all day. I knew that if I threw strikes, they will make plays behind me. I have been working all year with my great coaches. My fastball worked really well in this game. I worked on a couple of things mentally throughout the week and it paid off. I have never felt anything like this. It feels amazing and I love it."

Coach Brent Demas added, "Nolan showed today why he is one of the best pitchers in Division I. It is very difficult for the other team to prepare for him, he just throws strikes. This team was able to reset it again and again and today again. I knew before the season that we are good and competitive, but I'd be lying if I'd say I expected to be here. We just had the mental ability to do it."

Recce Manor also spoke after the victory, "It feels amazing. We all worked together and played together our whole lives and we did it.

And Nolan pitched a hack of a game. We knew we can go all do way. It's a feeling that I couldn't even imagine."

Catcher Jack Dingman added, "I felt comfortable today. Catching for Nolan is a second nature. We have been playing together since third grade. I know exactly what he is going to do and how is he feeling. This is a dream come true for me. The team looks up to me a lot as a leader so I have to bring good energy and pump them up so they can be ready to go."

Ex-Lancer Finishes Up Stellar Lax Career with Keene State Owls

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Chelsea Lewis says that when she started playing lacrosse there wasn't a team for her age, so her father trained her. She was at the middle school, and didn't have a strong connection to the game at first, but her parents pushed her to give it another shot and eventually, she joined a team of older girls. That's also when she realized: She's pretty good at this. Now, finishing her career with Keene State Women Lacrosse team, everyone in her college is also aware of that fact.

Lewis played soccer at Londonderry High School until her sophomore year and earned four letters in lacrosse. Her talent was not missed and as a junior, she was recruited by Division I teams and ended up going to UMass Lowell for her freshman year, before she decided that this was not the right place for her, "I didn't like it and my parents encouraged me to transfer to a place that would be a better fit", she says in an interview recently.

She met with the Owl's coach, Katie Clark and decided to join the team before the 2017 season. As a sophomore at Keene State, she was named to the Second Team All-Conference, appearing in 17 games and scoring 38 goals, including a seven-goal game at MIT. As a junior, she upgraded to First Team All-Conference (The Little East Conference), thanks to 57 goals and 22 assists. This year, leading her team all the way to the tournament's semifinals, she had 43 goals (second best in her team) and 54 total points (also second best). In the semis match, the attacker had three of Keene State's five goals.

Lewis only played for the Owls for three years, but that did not stop her from breaking a school record with 30 free position goals. She also finished tied for seventh ever in goals (138) and ninth in points with 181, "We had a great season", she says. "I really loved my team, being part of the group. We danced in the locker room before games to get into the right rhythm." One of Lewis's teammates this season was freshman Meghan Jackes, also a Londonderry graduate.

Now, as she prepares to leave college, Lewis says she wants to move to Florida in a few months and become a flight attendant. She hopes to travel and see the world, but plans on keep playing lacrosse and already has a few summer leagues on her calendar, "At Londonderry High School I learned about hard work and perseverance and I brought those things with me to college. Playing with different personalities at the high school made it easier to do the same later. We were always taught at the high school to work for what we want to achieve and we were never given anything 'for free', which helped me a lot in college, because there, only the ones who work and try the hardest get to play. Not everyone."

Ex-Lancer Chelsea Lewis recently graduated from Keene State College where she was a stand out on the Owl's Girls Lacrosse team.

Five LHS Athletes Compete in New England's Track and Field Championship

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Five athletes represented Londonderry High School at the 74th annual New England Interscholastic Track and Field Championship Meet, which was held last weekend on Saturday, June 8, at Thornton Academy in Saco, Maine. The event concluded the outdoor Track and Field season.

Senior star Patrick Hagearty was able to finish his successful high school career with the eighth place in the Discus Throw, thanks to a 150'1" feet result. The winner, Kyle Moison, broke the facility record with a 182'3" throw. Hagearty, the only athlete from the Lancers boys' team, also took the 12th place in the Shot Put competition, with a result of 50'4.25".

Sophomore Nikki Longua competed in the 100-Meter Hurdles, finishing fifth in her heat and 21st overall with a time of 16.85 seconds. Londonderry also sent two athletes to the Pole Vault competition, Ashley Griffin managed a 12th place finish after clearing a height of 10'3" and Suzie Moore took the 17th place with 9'9".

Moore and Hagearty were also named to be part of the New Hampshire All-State teams for the spring outdoor season.

Senior Maddie Croteau Perseveres After Severe Injury

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

“It was a warmup jump and I must have hit the mat in a weird way or something. By foot just went completely sideways and my ankle was dislocated. I broke a bone and tore every ligament there is there. It was very traumatic. A really severe injury.”

Londonderry High School senior, Madolyn (Maddie) Croteau, was ranked first in the state as a junior when she was getting ready for the big Dual-Meet with rivals Pinkerton Academy, only one week before the 2018 Outdoor Track and Field Division I Championship, when the devastating injury happened.

“It was just a freaky accident”, says her Pole Vaulting coach, Bill Newcomb. “The recovery process was a long one. It took a while. But Maddie told her mother ‘It will happen. I will make it happen’, and she did.”

On May 24, just a year after that awful day, Croteau not only won the Division I State Championship in Pole Vault, she did it by improving her personal record by a whole foot and going over the 10 foot and six inch bar. “Right after the injury, the first thing I could think of is that it was all over. That I could never go back to doing what I love so much. It was a real shock; the doctors suggested that I will never compete in sports again. Many people thought I couldn’t do it but I just wanted to compete so much.”

Londonderry High School senior, Maddie Croteau made quite a recovery after her ankle injury in the pole vault last season. Photo by Chris Paul

When the ambulance came to rush her off to the emergency room, she needed oxygen because the pain was so strong. At the hospital, she had to wait an hour and a half until the specialist arrived, because the doctors were not able to reconnect her foot. After spending several days in bed, Croteau’s long road back began. It was a difficult physical and mental fight, which included reinjuring the same ankle once again, in a gymnastics competition: “I was in a cast for a long time. I wanted to return to gymnastics too and worked all summer. They told me it would take a full year and I was back after four months. And on it and in my first competition, in the first routine, I was injured again. That was the end of my gymnastics career.”

But it wasn’t the end for her Pole Vaulting career. Croteau says that other than her family, she received a lot of support from two people, The school’s Athletic Trainer Michelle Hart-Miller and her coach, Newcomb, “Michelle helped me so much during the summer to make myself stronger. At first, I had a hard time even walking. My ankle became swollen every morning and I had to learn how to deal with it. I broke 11 bones and had two surgeries in my life and this was by far the worst one. My coach was always so supportive, so positive. He and I had many conversations and he said that what happened to me was horrible, but that I have to believe in myself and comeback.”

Despite all the support, Croteau admits that coming back wasn’t easy, “In my first trainings after the injury, everything came back to me and it was really scary. Seeing the mat where I was injured and everything. But Coach Newcomb was always there, making sure I am safe and helping me in getting through the big mental challenge.”

Newcomb added, “Maddie is very talented. The never gave up and even runs with the 4x100 team. I had the privilege of coaching her since she was a freshman and even then she already qualified for the state’s Meet of Champions. She was a bit frustrated in the beginning of this spring season, because it was tough coming back from the injury, but we knew she could make it.”

Croteau was also a standout on the Londonderry Gymnastics team, this year, still recovering from the injury, she hit the competitive mats only a few times.

What’s next for Croteau? She will be attending James Madison and says she wants to keep vaulting in college, “Winning the state championship was a relief... No, not a relief. Just surreal. There was a point where I just wanted to retire, because it felt like too much, but winning and enjoying that moment with my coach was special. There is no such feeling in the world. All the hard work paid off in the moment and I am so happy I never gave up.”

LHS Has Six Boys and Three Girls Voted for Lacrosse All-State Teams

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Junior defender Kyle Proulx is representing Londonderry High School in this year’s First Team All-State for Boys’ Lacrosse Division I. The teams were announced earlier this week.

Proulx led the Lancers defensive efforts, as the team, coached by Roger Sampson, finished the regular season with a 10-7 record and as the seventh seed going into this year’s Division I Championship. The Lancers lost in the quarterfinals of that tourney to the eventual champions, the Pinkerton Academy Astros.

The boys’ team has five more players in the Second Team All-State: Senior attacker Anthony Federico, Junior attacker Cole Keegan, senior midfielder Patrick Murphy, the long-stick midfielder Thomas Fougere and the team’s face-off man, senior James Toomey. Jason Pescia was selected as Assistant Coach of the Year next to Marty Auger from Pinkerton Academy.

As for the Lady Lancer squad, after a 9-9 regular season that also ended with a playoff quarterfinals loss to rivals Pinkerton, three of Londonderry High School’s Girls’ Varsity Lacrosse team players were recently voted into this spring season’s Second Team All-State.

Senior Grace Chicko, who was one of the leaders of the Lady Lancers’ offense, was one of the four attackers who were selected for the team. Junior midfielder Sarah Duarte was voted in as well as senior defender Kaitlyn Bedell.
