Local School Bus Driver Turns Himself In for Sexual Assault

Dewey Wambsganns, a local school bus driver, who was wanted by the Londonderry Police Department on five counts of aggravated felonious sexual assault and one count of false imprisonment, turned himself in on Friday, June 21 morning in Waxhaw, North Carolina.

Now, the Londonderry Police is waiting on his arraignment information and to arrive from that state in order to bring him back to the Granite State.

As of Tuesday, Wambsganns was still being detained at the Union County, N.C. Jail.

According to a press release, Wambsganns, 59, who goes by the nickname "Chip," moved to Londonderry about 18 months ago, and on Thursday afternoon, June 20, local police was asking

Timeline on Stonehenge Road Remains Funding Confusing

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

During the Town Council meeting that was held on May 6, Town Manager, Kevin Smith, approached the Council with a problematic situation regarding the Stonehenge Road Route 28 improvements project (the "Project").

This proposed Project was to put a traffic light at the intersection of Stonehenge Road and Rockingham Road, in order to alleviate traffic problems that frequently occur at the intersection.

Smith explained that back in 2017, the Town of Londonderry asked the

New Hampshire Department of Transportation (DOT) to consider putting the Londonderry Project on their Ten Year Plan (2019-2028). The Project was not on the plan currently, but the Town offered to use the grant funds it received from the governor (as a Block Grant Aid) in the amount of $519,000, to move the Project into the current Ten Year Plan and accelerate the requested improvements at the intersection of Stonehenge Road and Route 28 in Londonderry.

That offer was accepted by the DOT, however, Smith continued to say that he had recently received a letter from the DOT recapping the history of the Project. The letter stated that the real cost of this Project would be $1.7 million and not the $1.2 million the town originally believed would be the cost of the improvements to this area. The DOT required the town to pay 50 percent of the total cost of the Project. Therefore, the cost to the town would now be $837,000 and not the $519,000 (grant amount) originally anticipated by the Town. The increased cost presented by the NH DOT to

School Board Members Get Educated on Right To Know

IDAN VINITSKY

William Phillips, an Attorney for the New Hampshire School Board Association and Barrett Christina, Executive Director of New Hampshire School Board Association, were invited to the June 18 School Board meeting to discuss the Right To Know law.

The discussion focused on two main situations: Non-Public Sessions and Non-Meetings. The presentation began with the Right To Know basics, which specifies that the law's purpose is "to ensure both the greatest possible public access to the actions, discussions and records of all public bodies, and their accountability to the people." The statute does not create the public's right to open government, but codifies into statute a right expressed in the state constitution: "The public's right of access to governmental proceedings and records shall not be unreasonably restricted."

Attorney Phillips went on to emphasize the last sentence and explained that proceedings refer to meeting of public bodies and the governmental records. The definition of a "meeting", according to the Right To Know law, said Phillips, is the convening of a quorum of the body, "whether in person, by means of telephone, or electronic communication, or in any other manner that allows all participating members to communicate with each other contemporaneously."

Phillips added that the end of that definition is meant to say that a meeting can also be one member of the governing body calling over the phone to another one and the second one, in his turn, call-

Old Home Day Committee Provides Updates on Fireworks, Parade, Booths

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

As Old Home Day approaches, Aug. 14 to Aug. 18, a meeting of the committee took place on Thursday evening, June 20.

Kathy Wagner, long-time Old Home Day Committee Chair, spoke about the new flags that the committee hopes to purchase as replacements for the older flags that are hung along Mammoth Road.

Wagner informed the group at the meeting that currently, the committee has purchased 25 new flags and poles at a cost of $1,500.

Later, Wagner mentioned that it was suggested to add 20 more flags, so the flags would continue all the way to the end of the parade route. The price for 20 additional flags and poles is $1,200. The Town Council and the School Board have each made donations of $300 toward this cause.

The committee is also asking local residents for contributions toward the flags, with a donation of $50 to complete the purchase of the flags. The flags will be utilized by the Town and presented on Mammoth Road on four separate occasions: Memorial Day, Veterans Day, Independence Day and during the Old Home Day Parade.

In the event the town receives more than the $600 needed to complete the purchase of the flags, it was suggested that any excess monies received could be contributed in some way to the local veterans. However, this decision will not be made until a later date.

During the next month, the OHDC will announce who was chosen to be this year's Parade Grand Marshall and who won the bid for fireworks.

The Londonderry Fire Department is in charge of the fireworks display, and they are currently scheduled for Friday evening during the Old Home Day Celebration. If there is a cancellation, due to inclement weather, as it has been for the past two years, the "rain date" this year will be that Sunday.

With the fireworks display being cancelled in previous years and the money dedicated for those cancelled fireworks is kept by the Londonderry Fire Department budget.

The committee and the Londonderry Police Department discussed the possibility of having the fireworks at the high school's football field this year, but no final decision has been reached concerning the location for the fireworks display.

Wagner, announced that the Foreigners Journey band cancelled their performance anticipated for Aug. 14. and that the Concerts on the Common group will arrange for another band.

Wagner then talked about booth reservations for the Town Common on Saturday's event. There have been 32 booths already reserved and she called for more businesses to buy their spot.

There are approximately 20 booths spaces left for purchase, with the price range varying.

Community non-profit groups will pay only $40 for a booth and for businesses the cost is between $125 and $250, plus $10 for electricity.

Tammy Siekmann, Chairwoman of the Londonderry Democratic Committee, provided the Old Home Day Committee members with an update during the meeting on regarding the Democratic Party Candidates and their presence in town on Aug. 17, the day of Old Home Day's parade.

Siekmann said the different candidates will set their tables and a representative for each candidate will be present and answer questions.

All 24 Democratic Candidates received an email with the guidelines for the parade day and most will likely be sending representation, but will not be marching in the parade in person or arriving in town. Congressman Chris Pappas and Gray Chynoweth, a Candidate for Executive Council are planning on walking in the OHD Parade.

Senior Resources Committee Holds Its Monthly Meeting

JOHN J. GOGLIA
LONDONDERRY TIMES

During the Senior Resource Committee (SRC) meeting held on, Tuesday, June 18, Police Detective Justin Hallock was introduced and will be serving as the new Londonderry Police Department liaison to the committee.

Also, Laurie B. Renke was introduced as the new part-time Londonderry Town Senior Transportation Coordinator.

Renke explained that she started the week prior to the meeting, she has an office at the Senior Center and she will be responsible to review, assess and make recommendations regarding senior transportation issues in town.

The committee determined that they will follow up, by next month's meeting, on a previous request to a local supermarket to make modifications to their delivery service for seniors.

The group will further discuss its 2019 goals at the July meeting, since several members were not present.

The technical training by high school students for seniors will be put on the July agenda.

The committee also agreed to not have a meeting in August due to vacations and the 120th Old Home Days celebrations Aug. 14 to Aug. 18. They will attempt to schedule the September meeting at the All-American Assisted Living facility in Londonderry.

There was a discussion about a 92-year-old, long time resident, who is in need of assistance in maintaining his lawn. A suggestion was made that the committee members consider reaching out to churches, scouts, other seniors, and any organizations or businesses to determine if there are any volunteers willing and able to provide assistance in this case. The possibility of assisting others in similar needy situations on a case-by-case basis was considered.

Cathy Blash, Senior Affairs Director, agreed to be a contact person in this endeavor. Joe Green, Town Council Liaison to the SRC, expressed his desire to try and have the SRC address any senior issues requiring volunteer services one-at-a-time. This will avoid the possibility of disregarding individual pleas for assistance.

Also discussed:

- The Senior Center recently held their annual volunteer appreciation luncheon for their 58 members.

- The Senior Center is planning a July barbeque, an August ice cream social and they are organizing the senior night picnic during Old Home Days week.

Holiday Paper Break:

During the week of July 4, the staff at Nutfield Publishing will be taking a much-needed break. As a result, the Londonderry Times will not be published on Thursday, July 4. We appreciate your understanding and wish all of our readers a happy Independence Day spent with family and friends.

Celebrating July 4

If you think celebrating the Fourth of July is just a matter of firing up the barbecue, getting out the sparklers, or heading to the seacoast or the mountains for a three-day weekend, we invite you to reconsider. The Fourth of July is also known, of course, as Independence Day, and that's the reason for this extra day away from work and for the life you live today.

The Declaration of Independence was finalized on July 4, 1776, and set the colonies on the path toward their emergence as a nation. Political speeches, fireworks, and red, white and blue bunting are fine for the day, but the signing of the Declaration of Independence is a lot more than a reason for a party. We think the Declaration of Independence, signed by New Hampshire's own Matthew Thornton among others, is a document that should be read regularly. It reminds us of who we are as a country and assures that we continue in the tradition of those who fought to establish a free nation, whose leaders were expected to listen to those they serve.

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness" are perhaps the document's most famous lines, but the list of injustices attributed to Great Britain makes for good reminders of what our government should never become. That's particularly timely reading during a time when political attacks sink to unpleasant levels in the throws of an upcoming election, such as we are experiencing this year.

It's also a straightforward and simple document; "Life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." Sadly, not qualities every nation freely grants its citizens. How we pursue that happiness is left to us to decide, not dictated by a ruler. Often we take that for granted, but to many people across the planet, it's only something to dream about.

So figure out what makes you happy as you enjoy your holiday weekend. A hearty meal, a good place to swim, and a sky full of sparkling fireworks all make for a pretty good celebration of freedom.

Hopefully you will pause for a moment to thank those who made it all possible in 1776 and also thank those who still fight to keep our freedoms. We are all so fortunate to live in a free Country.

Have a fun and safe celebration.

Beer and History!

To the editor,

Beer and History was on tap at The Londonderry Historical Society's c.1859 Parmenter Barn on Tuesday, June 18 and we had a great time celebrating it!

We thank Glenn Knoblock for presenting his outstanding program, "Brewing in New Hampshire: An Informal History of Beer in the Granite State from Colonial Times to the Present." It was made possible by a grant from New Hampshire Humanities. Glenn, while focusing on the early commercial brewers like Frank Jones out in Portsmouth, brought along many slides for illustration and made sure to include a couple of popular old Londonderry taverns of the time, White's Tavern and Plummer's Tavern.

We chose Long Blue Cat Brewing Company to partner with us on this event because we knew they were interested in NH's early brewers (especially Frank Jones) and the history of brewing from talking with them during previous visits to their 298 Rockingham Road establishment.

After Mr. Knoblock's talk, Shane Sorenson of Long Blue Cat Brewing Company gave a little history about the building that the LBCB is housed in, including that the beams supporting the structure came from Manchester's historic Amoskeag Mills, the countertops were milled from planks from the old Frank Jones Brewery mentioned above, and the doors separating the LBCB bar from the brewing area came from the former Rockingham Race Track.

Shane also served up some quite tasty, locally flavored brews like a Honey Ale, Maple Brown Ale and a smooth rich Porter, and brought along his own spicy roasted pistachios and homemade salsa and chips from LBCB for all to enjoy. The Historical Society provided the root beer, ginger ale and water, pretzels, and dark chocolate brownies topped with white chocolate, caramel, and more pretzels. And it couldn't have been a nicer night with beautiful weather.

We appreciate all of you in the Londonderry community who came out to enjoy this event where we got to learn about the history of brewing in New Hampshire and taste some of the great brews from a great Londonderry brewery- Long Blue Cat Brewing Company! We can't thank them enough for donating their time and their great beer and snacks for the tasting to round out the evening's events and help make the night such a success!

A final thanks goes to the Londonderry Times for attending the event and posting notices about it beforehand. We appreciate all you do for the nonprofits of this community!

ing a third party and so on and so forth. Phillips said that in the past, that was the only way to communicate over the phone, unlike in the present where a conference call or an immediate messages group could be used. Even in the case where the first member calling does not speak directly to the third or the next ones, if a subject that has anything to do with the board's work had been discussed and passed from one phone call to the other, that counts as a meeting.

If a meeting is held, the law requires the public body (board or committee) to provide posted public notice of the meeting, allow the public to attend, conduct deliberations and decision making in public, unless a non-public session exception legally applies, and they must make appropriate minutes of the meeting.

The non-public session, which is common at the School Board meetings, was further discussed at this point with Attorney Phillips explaining its necessity and the boundaries it has, to create checks and balances: "The rationale for non-public sessions is that there are certain matters that warrant discussion – and even decision making – out of the public eye", said the presenter.

The School Board Chair, Nancy Hendricks, added: "Sometimes the perception of people is that we go behind closed doors and gossip and make decisions... people do not understand that we are bound by specific elements of the law."

Phillips talked about the differences between "Non-Public Sessions" and "Non-Meetings", which are not considered official meetings and do not have to follow the law's requirements that apply for official Board meetings. The law recognizes four occasions/matters which are excluded from the definition of "meeting" altogether: an "unintended and inconsequential social discussion" strategy or negotiations with respect to collective bargaining, consultation with legal counsel or circulation of draft documents.

What Is Londonderry's Plan For Its Water Resources?

ALYSSA GRIFFIN
LONDONDERRY TIMES

About 70% of homeowners in Londonderry get their water from private wells. There are several perks to private wells. They are very reliable and you're not charged for your household water consumption. But owning a well comes with a big and often overlooked responsibility. Having your water checked is a must.

Chances are if your tap water comes out clear and doesn't smell or taste funny, you don't think twice about what's in your water. After all, what you can't see won't harm you, right? Well, now it might be time for Londonderry residents to rethink that.

Londonderry is home to two Superfund sites. The United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) defines a Superfund as "contaminated sites due to hazardous waste being dumped, left out in the open, or otherwise improperly managed, including manufacturing facilities, processing plants, landfills, and mining sites."

One of these Superfund sites is the Auburn Road Landfill, a 200-acre site where in the 1960s', over 1,000 drums of chemical waste were deposited. In the 80s', it was closed after toxic chemicals were found in the ground and surface water. Now, residents near the Auburn Road area receive water from Manchester. The town of Londonderry has worked to cap the contaminated soil, remove the drums from the site and continue to work with the EPA to ensure public and environmental health and safety around the site.

The other Superfund site identified in Londonderry is known as the Tinkham Garage, where the current Home Depot, surrounding businesses, and households are currently located. Oil and washings from septic tanks were improperly dumped in the late 1970s, contaminating hundreds of wells, causing them to shut down. Residents in that area now receive water from a municipal source to help eliminate exposure to toxic chemicals. The EPA is still looking into the contaminated water as of this date. In 2014, a statement was released that the site is in compliance with protecting the public and environmental health.

The town of Londonderry has worked and cooperated with the EPA on the cleanup of these Superfund sites; however, it is never 100% guaranteed that no more chemicals are being carried through the groundwater below these areas of our town and possibility migrating to other surrounding areas. Therefore, it is a possibility some of the residues may be in your well water.

Londonderry residents need to be reminded of the possibility that their ground water could possibly be contaminated. This is an important reason why private wells should continue to be monitored by homeowners.

Another reason why residents need to be reminded of this is because of the work being done to create Exit 4A. The Federal Highway Administration, New Hampshire Department of Transportation and the Town of Londonderry admitted, in a published draft about the environmental impact of building Exit 4A that, "Several lakes, ponds, and streams in the Project area may be affected by the construction and maintenance of any of the Alternatives." The draft also said, "A total of 40 private wells in Londonderry were identified near the Alternative corridors." This is a concern because arsenic is often released when blasting bedrock, a known human carcinogen, which can very easily percolate into our groundwater. This contaminated water is then drawn into the ground water and local well sites. Just like other toxic elements, such as lead, arsenic stays in our bloodstream forever and too much of it can cause serious health problems, such as cancer and kidney failure.

Well water can also become contaminated through other means such as a leaky septic system, chemical fertilizers, livestock waste, pesticides, and contaminated surface water runoff.

As of January, the Town of Londonderry is undertaking a water quality and quantity check of its municipal wells and also private wells with the consent of homeowners. It is anticipated that this study will be completed by the end of this month. The results should be released to the EPA and made available to the public in the upcoming months. At that time the town and the EPA will work together to hopefully undertake the next steps in its water purification, treatment and conservation efforts. As of right now, Londonderry has no long term plan for water conservation. If residents don't speak up about their water concerns, then there is a strong possibility no solid plan will ever go into effect. If this is a concern of yours, I urge you to reach out to the town council and/or town manager about what changes you'd like to see made.

Now I'm not implying that all Londonderry wells are riddled with carcinogens and other toxic chemicals. Instead, I'm informing you that these are unfortunate realities of how our, and most other countries, water supply system works. As much as you have a right to clean drinking water, you have the responsibility to check the water. The New Hampshire Department of Environmental Services (NHDES) recommends that private wells be tested every three to five years. Upon results, it may be recommended you install a filtration system in your household or make other changes to your well. This may seem costly upfront, but it's worth doing rather than gamble on becoming sick due to water contaminants and having the pay the expensive associated medical bills.

To find out more about how you can get your water tested, visit the NHDES website at: www.des.nh.gov/organization/divisions/water/dwgb/well_testing/index.htm

As a final note I'd like to thank resident Ray Breslin for information on groundwater in Londonderry and pushing for an article to be written about it.

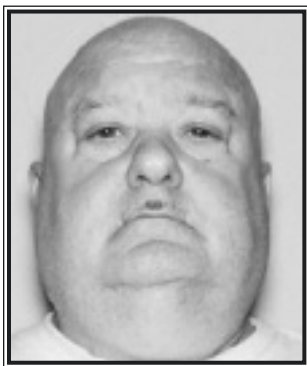

Assault

for the public's assistance in their attempt to locate him, under an active arrest warrant.

Local Police believed that he was traveling toward South Carolina or Tennessee, where he used to live.

The victim who is accusing Wambsganss is a girl under the age of 13 and according to the Lon-

she told her family about the assaults that happened over a three day period, while she was at a friend's house.

One day before the alleged assaults happened, Wambsganss told his acquaintances that he was moving back to Tennessee. He did not have any criminal records prior to this allegation, but was said to be a known firearms enthusiast and police feared he could be armed and asked the public to only call in if they see his vehicle and not approach it.

Eventually, at approximately 9:15 a.m. on Friday, Wambsganss turned himself in, and after confirming his warrant, was immediately taken into custody. The charges that are currently being sought against him are not alleged to have occurred on school property or on a school bus and the victim was known to Wambsganss outside of his profession as a school bus driver in Londonderry.

Police added that they are aware of parents that may be concerned about the current allegations due to his profession and proximity to children.

The Police Department

is asking people who believe that their child may have had inappropriate contact with Wambsganss to contact the LPD Detective Division and seek advice on how to speak to their child about the subject: "We are available to conduct private and confidential interviews as well", said the press release.

Londonderry YMCA Celebrates 20 Years With A Family Carnival

MELISSA BETH RUIZ
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Residents from the area are invited to the YMCA of Greater Londonderry to help celebrate the two decades of serving the community.

On Thursday, July 18, the Greater Londonderry Y will be hosting a family carnival on site to celebrate its 20 years of being open.

Activities will include a bounce house, face painting, balloon animals, petting zoo, archery, carnival games, cotton candy, popcorn, and much more. Admissions for the event is $5 per person, $20 per family, and children one and under are admitted for free.

All of the proceeds will benefit the YMCA's Annual Reach Out for Youth and Families Campaign, which impacts the lives and youth of families every day.

Funds from the Reach Out for Youth and Families Campaign go toward the YMCA's financial assistance program, helping families who would otherwise not be able to afford it participate in memberships, camp programs and childcare at the Y, according to Greater Londonderry YMCA Child Care Director, Stacy Neville.

Neville mentioned that the upcoming carnival was one of several different events that the Greater Londonderry YMCA holds to raise funds for the campaign. However, this will be its first summer event and will be much more family focused than its adult-centered wine-tasting fundraisers.

"A good community turnout will make it an annual thing," said Neville.

In its 20 years of operation, the Greater Londonderry YMCA has expanded from a basic summer camp offering a few children's programs to offering before and after school care for all elementary schools in town, a middle school program, its camp enrollment has increased threefold, an outdoor pool has been opened with membership available to the community, and a small circuit room has been opened with membership available to the community as well.

Neville said that the Greater Londonderry YMCA hopes to expand its footprint and offer programs on a larger scale to meet the needs of a growing community, eventually increasing its workout space, as well as expanding camp and childcare programs for families who need it as the town's population grows.

The carnival will be taking place from 6 - 8 p.m. on July 18. Parking will be available in the parking lot of the YMCA building located at 206 Rockingham Rd.

For more information on the YMCA Family Carnival, contact the Welcome Center at (603) 437-9622.

For further information on services offered by the Greater Londonderry YMCA, including upcoming events, see the organization's Facebook page, YMCA of Greater Londonderry, or visit its website at www.graniteymca.org.

Local Teen Arrested for Second Degree Assault for Second Time

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

A Londonderry 18-year-old male was placed in preventative detention and is awaiting his July 16 hearing at the Rockingham Superior Court in Brentwood, after he was recently charged, for the second time in little over a month, with offenses against a 16-year-old, who has been recognized as his former girlfriend.

Alexis Martinez was first arrested by the Londonderry Police Department on Apr. 18 and charged with kidnapping and simple assault. He was arrested four days earlier by the Massachusetts State Police and released on bail, after the same minor female was able to contact the police and say that she was being held inside his vehicle against her will. Martinez drove them to Littleton, MA, where he was stopped and arrested.

He was released on personal recognizance and at his May 3 hearing, Martinez was ordered not to have any kind of contact with the victim, direct, indirect or through a third party. He was also ordered to comply with the bail conditions from the Massachusetts State Police. However, on the morning hours of Saturday, May 25, he and the victim exchanged text messages and she agreed to come and meet with him.

According to Mar-

tinez's case file at Rockingham Superior Court, the 16-year-old female parked her car in front of 55 Hall Road, saying later that she did so to avoid detection because of Martinez's bail conditions. She then entered his vehicle "to talk about their relationship." As he entered his own car, he immediately asked her to relinquish her cellphone, but she did not do so, fearing he would destroy the device.

He started driving around the neighborhood, finally returning to his home. At that point, he grabbed the victim's arms and attempted to take her cellphone. Trying to escape, she bit his left arm and Martinez choked her, placing his hand around her neck and pressing. The Londonderry police officer who interviewed the victim and her mother shortly after the incident said that the victim had noticeable marks on her neck.

When she tried to leave the car again, Martinez grabbed her hair. Eventually, she was able to exit the Martinez's vehicle and began walking towards her own vehicle. He followed her and she vomited on the ground, allegedly as a result of the choke. He agreed to drive her back to her car, and she reentered his vehicle. But instead of driving her back, Martinez headed towards Manchester.

After approximately 30 minutes of driving, the victim poured coffee on Martinez's lap. He stopped the car in Manchester and she exited again. Martinez quickly left the area, while the victim was screaming for help in the middle of the street, until a local female arrived and walked her inside her home. She helped the victim contact her mother and the mother came to pick her up. They went back to retrieve the victim's car from Hall Rd. and continued to the police station.

A little over an hour later, at 1:35 p.m., four policemen arrested Martinez outside his home and during his investigation he said that the victim was fabricating the events. The officer investigating him was able to see a bit mark on his arm.

This time, he was charged with 2nd degree assault, domestic violence, strangle, kidnapping and breach of bail. He was arraigned on May 28 and entered, for the second time, a Not Guilty plea.

Berkshire Hathaway Home Services Donates $60,000 to Veterans Count

Berkshire Hathaway Home Services Verani Realty is excited to announce that the company recently raised $60,000 to benefit Veterans Count through two events hosted by their philanthropic endeavor, VeraniCARES.

On May 23rd, VeraniCARES hosted its second annual Comedy Night at the Blue Ocean Music Hall in Salisbury, MA which was organized by Verani Realty regional manager, Cindy Winthrop. Two weeks later on June 6th, the 75th anniversary of D-Day, VeraniCARES hosted a Dueling Pianos event at The Tupelo Music Hall in Derry, NH that was organized by Verani Realty regional manager, Cammie Ferreras. At both events Verani Realty agents, staff, and their guests opened their hearts and showed their willingness to give back to veterans. Through ticket sales, silent auctions, speed raffles, and donations, a net amount of over $43,000 was raised between the two events. An additional donation from VeraniCARES brought the total donated to Veterans Count to $60,000!

Veterans Count, the philanthropic arm of Easterseals Military & Veterans Services, provides critical and timely financial assistance and services when no other resources are available to service members, veterans, and their families, to ensure their dignity, health, and overall well-being. Joe Emmons, Senior Vice-President of Development for Easterseals, commented, "The beauty of our Veterans Count program is that it is a local charity. The money that is raised in New Hampshire stays in New Hampshire. We very much pride ourselves on the fact that ninety cents of every dollar goes directly to the veterans."

Giovanni Verani, President of Berkshire Hathaway HomeServices Verani Realty added, "A special thank you to all of our agents, management team, VeraniCARE ambassadors, and especially all of our clients, without whom we would not have raised this much money. We're looking forward to doing it again next year!"

Verani Realty has always had a commitment and dedication to helping better the community. In late 2015 VeraniCARES was established and it has quickly become a big part of the company's identity. Since inception, VeraniCARES has raised over $250,000 and donated to over 50 local organizations. Agents and staff alike donate their time and energy by participating in the many VeraniCARES volunteering and fundraising events which take place all throughout the year. Many Verani Realty agents also donate a portion of their commission to VeraniCARES which is matched by the company.

VeraniCARES also sponsors Verani for Veter-

Smith would now require the Town to pay over $300,000 more for the Project.

Smith then suggested to the Council several options to move forward on this matter. Town Council Chair, John Farrell, decided to go with the first suggestion and to respond to the DOT by crossing off the new number ($837,000) and inserting the number ($519,000), that was initially agreed upon in the agreement between the Town and the DOT. Farrell also added that in the event the DOT still demanded the $837,000 from the Town in order to continue the Project, the Town should take the issue to its attorney.

There were three additional Town Council meetings held since that initial discussion, but the subject had not been raised again by any of the Town Council members or administrators.

It has also not been made public as to whether any agreement has been reached with the DOT. The Londonderry Times looked into this situation and filed a request with the Town pursuant to Chapter 91A of the NH R.S.A.'s concerning this issue.

The response from the Town, to the 91A request by the Londonderry Times, revealed that the DOT had sent a letter to Town Manager, Kevin Smith, dated March 29, 2019.

Smith did not inform Town Council Chair, John Farrell, of the DOT's letter until about a month later on April 29.

The subject of that letter was not discussed with the full Town Council until over a month later when Smith brought the matter to the attention of the Town Council at the May 6 Town Council meeting.

In the March 29 DOT letter, it refers to a meeting held on March 5 between DOT officials and the Londonderry Town Manager.

At that meeting Smith expressed his concerns with the budget as shown in the adopted Ten Year Plan, and requested an accounting of how the town's share increased from $519,000 to approximately $837,000.

The information received through the 91A request concerning this Project, showed that the Southern New Hampshire Planning Commission (SNHPC) submitted a revised plan to Commissioner Victoria Sheehan, which included this Project in the current Ten Year Plan.

At this time the Londonderry Project was submitted with a cost of approximately $1 million that would be needed to complete the Project. At that time, due to the Project being ranked as low priority by the SNHPC (seventh out of ten projects), the DOT did not review the cost of the Project.

In a phone conversation with a DOT official, the Londonderry Times was told: "It wasn't engineers who made the initial review and gave that estimated cost. When we did our review eventually, we came up with the $1.7 million cost."

That review was made after the Town and Christopher Pappas, who was on the Governor's Executive Council at the time, approached the DOT about using the Block Grant Aid towards the Project. The DOT staff then evaluated the budget and determined that $1 million was not likely to be sufficient for the Project and that a signalized intersection might be constructed for approximately $1.5 million and a roundabout would be approximately $1.75 million.

A public hearing was held in Londonderry on Sept. 14, 2017 and once again, the town suggested it's willingness is to allocate all of the funds received from additional highway block grant (the $519,000) towards the Project. The DOT official told the Londonderry Times, "The Project costs that were discussed by Kevin Smith at the meeting in Sep. 2017 were incorrect". After the DOT stated that the costs for the Project would range between $1.5 million and $1.75 million, the town was still saying it would fund half of the project for $519,000.

Alos discovered through the 91A request, is that the Town's initial estimation for the Project, in mid-2017, was not correct and that issue was never discussed and revised with Pappas.

After the hearing in Sept. 2017, the Londonderry Project, pending approval (received several months later), was added in Jan. 2018 to the Ten Year Plan at a cost of $1.71 million and also included a comment that said: "Town to provide 50% match".

On April 10, 2018, when the Ten Year Plan was presented to the Senate Transportation Committee, the recommendation under the Londonderry project was slightly changed to reflect that the Town could use any kind of funding for the project and was not limited to the Governor's Block Grant Aid (the $519,000). The comment as presented read, "Town is willing to fund 50% of project or $870k total".

In August of 2018, almost four months later, after the Ten Year Plan was approved by the State, the Londonderry

Project was now included as a priority.

According to the information received from the 91A request, it indicates that two Londonderry administrators then exchanged emails discussing their confusion about the $1.7 million cost, and the Town's 50 percent share of that cost.

The total cost had been known a year earlier and the Town's share of that cost has been included in the Ten Year Plan document presented at least seven months prior. The Town now asked a DOT official how the total cost "ballooned to $1.7 million". It appears that Londonderry officials initially believed the total cost of the project would be $855,000. However, in actuality each party to the agreement (the Town and the DOT) are responsible for paying $855,000 toward the total cost of the Project in the amount of approximately $1.7 million. The DOT official that was contacted responded in Feb. 2019, admitting that there is a problem with the budget and stating that the initial estimation "for the scope of the work does appear to be low considering other similar projects for T-intersection and/or roundabout."

At that point, the March 5, 2019 meeting took place between the DOT and Kevin Smith. and the Town Council Chair was notified a week later. The DOT letter and the March 5 meeting were discussed at the Town Council meeting on May 6, 2019.

It is also worth noting that on March 12, 2019, Londonderry held elections, however, the ballot did not include any warrant article concerning the need to spend over $300,000 more than was initially planned for completion of the Project.

The DOT did not respond as to any communication between the Town and the DOT that may have occurred from the time of the public hearing in Sept. 2017 and the letter dated March 29, 2019.

The DOT did indicate, from information received that, "It took the Town and the DOT a year to build the contract that was attached to the letter the Town received. We are at a crossroads now and the Town must make a decision regarding if it wants to commit to the Project and keep the Project in the Ten Year Plan. If the Town does not want to pay the extra $300,000, we will have to begin a conversation with our Executive Council and see if we want to keep the project, postponed it or cancel it altogether."

The DOT indicated that this Project was not originally a regional priority and was only accelerated because the DOT expected, and is still expecting the Town to pay its 50 percent share of the costs. "If this wasn't the case, the project would have probably been added to the plan only in 2027. The project was added for 2021 at the request of the Town We wouldn't have done that if the town were not willing to pay 50 percent. The Town's offer to use the Block Grant Aid was very unusual. We don't have anything like that in any other town across the state. Now, the Londonderry Town Council must make a decision."

Local Resident Gets Past the Century Mark, and Still Cruising

Larry Gould celebrated his 101st Birthday on Tuesday, June 18 at the All American Assisted Living facility in Londonderry. Gould was presented a cake that his sister-in-law Sharon Crowell brought to the party that featured one of the antique cars Gould had collected over the years. Old cars was his passion throughout the years, and as a special gift, Deb Paul of the Londonderry Times helped arrange for her friend Roger Fillio to drop by with his antique Plymouth to take Gould out for a spin around town. Gould made his way out to the car waiting outside, and needless to say, he was thrilled with the ride.

Lancer JV Also Winners of the Baseball State Tourney

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

It has been an amazing baseball season for Londonderry High School. On June 10, the Varsity team won its first state title in five years, and you could say they received some inspiration from the Junior Varsity team, who were crowned as state champions two weeks earlier after a dominant season.

For the JV team, this was the first title in 17 years. The last coach to lead the young Lancers to glory was the current Varsity coach, Brent Demas. This time, the JV team was managed by Ben Byerly, who continued with many of the kids to the Junior American Legion Baseball League that is happening these days.

The Lancers finished their regular season with an outstanding 12-4 record and in the tournament's first round, as the number one seed, tied with Windham 5-5 after scoring four runs in the seventh inning with the season on the line, to tie the game and stay alive. Next, the Lancers beat Bedford 5-3 and advanced to the knock-out rounds.

In the semifinals, Londonderry was all over Salem, winning 12-2 in five innings and in the finals, held at Londonderry High School's Varsity Baseball field, the home team jumped to a quick 7-0 lead after the opening inning and went on to beat Goffstown High School 13-3, again in five innings.

"The kids truly saved their best for last", said Byerly. "The championship game was the first time in the season that we scored 13 runs. The team played great defense in that game as well. Every kid with an at-bat recorded at least one hit and it was a great team win. The kids came ready to play."

Byerly added, "Coach Demas should be excited about this group for next year. They were told on day one that they had the talent to win the tournament, put in the work all season to get there and came through. The guys really wanted it. We had great captains and great kids, which makes it a lot easier. Watching their maturation was a great joy for me. They had a 'never say die' attitude and played until the last out was recorded."

The team's roster included: Sam DiCicco, Jack Marshall, Braeden Griffin (Captain), Kolby Begin (Captain), Jake Holdsworth, Zach Smith, Alex Cafaro (swing player w/ varsity), Nate Carroll

LHS Freshman Baseball Team Stopped in Tourney Finals

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Londonderry High School's Baseball program enjoyed three finals appearances this past spring season, including one by the school's Freshman team.

The young Lancers had five wins and eight losses during the regular season, but elevated their game in the Freshman Tournament, beating in back-to-back game the third seeded Dover

High School and the second seeded Exeter, before losing in the finals to the top seeded team, rivals Pinkerton Academy.

Coach James Freda said that the team's best game was that semifinals win over Exeter, where his team made an incredible comeback, winning 10-9 after trailing 9-1 in the sixth inning.

"We did not win a championship, and lost more than we won, but the players played hard regardless every game. We were hampered by injuries and low numbers throughout the year. Each player improved in each aspect of the game. Some more than others, but from the first game with four dropped pop-ups to the last with no errors, the team took all the instruction well. I was very proud to coach such good players, but more than that, good young man."

Londonderry Post 27 Looking For First Win in Senior League

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Two more losses last week left Londonderry American Legion team still looking for their first win in this summer season of the Senior District II league. The Londonderry Greeley Parmenter Harington Post 27 team hosted Rochester on Tuesday, June 18, and dropped the close contest by a 6-4 count.

Londonderry's Zack Luongo pitched for five innings and Owen MacDonnell picked up the final two in the game.

In the game, Reece

Manor reached home in the first inning to tie the game at one run apiece, but the visitors scored twice more in the second.

Londonderry answered with two third-inning runs, as Manor and Zach Rheault ran around the bases, but Rochester scored two more times in the fifth and one in the seventh to take the game. A late run scored by Nick Cote was not enough for the home team to even the score.

The next senior Post 27 game was on Friday, June 21, where they took on Portsmouth on their home diamond. That game also had a less than desirable ending, with a 7-2 loss.

The visiting team took an early 4-0 lead with two runs in the second and two in the third inning.

Londonderry managed scored in the bottom of the third, but Portsmouth kept hitting, scoring a run in the fifth and two more in the sixth inning, with Londonderry getting the final run of the game, in the bottom of the sixth inning.

Ryan Killelea pitched 5 2/3 for Londonderry and Sean Cavanaugh took the mound for the final 1 1/3 innings.

Londonderry Post 27 Juniors Get First Win of the Season

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Londonderry got its first win of the season on Tuesday (June 18), a dramatic 6-5 walk-off over Newmarket in eight innings. Londonderry scored a run in the second inning and Newmarket took the lead with two runs in the top of the next inning, but the locals answered with two third-inning runs of their own to lead 3-2.

The visiting team stayed hot, scoring twice in the fourth and another run in the fifth and building a promising 5-3 lead, but Londonderry came back with a run in the bottom of the fifth and the tying RBI single by Adam Wholley in the seventh, with the team down to its final out. Then, in the eighth inning, Braeden Griffin singled with two outs and Zach Smith sent him in with the winning single.

The next day, Londonderry lost 10-1 in Dover. Jake Holdsworth doubled and then scored in the second inning, but that was all Londonderry got, while Dover took control of the game with four second-inning runs and three more in the third.

On Monday, June 24, despite having a very strong first inning offensive push, Londonderry lost a close home game to Raymond, 8-7, bringing the team's record to 1-5. Post 27's starting pitcher, Gavin Parent, was knocked out early when the strike zone started to elude him in the second, but things didn't go well for his reliever either in the close loss.

Londonderry hosted Salem on Wednesday, after the Londonderry Times went to print and has games in Alvirne High School against Hudson on July 5, at 5:30 p.m. and at home against Portsmouth on July 8 at 5:30 p.m.

Lancer JV Boys Lacrosse Team Wins 13 of 15 Games

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Something good is brewing in the Londonderry High School Boys Lacrosse program. The Junior Varsity team, led by coach Brian Costigan, finished the spring season with a tremendous record, 13-2 and it looks like the Varsity team is about to receive some great talent in the near future.

The JV Tournament, which was supposed to be held at Pinkerton Academy, was cancelled in April due to uncertainty regarding the new fields there, but nevertheless, the Lancers were able to enjoy this season, with their only losses coming against Pinkerton and Timberlane: "Before the season began, I was certain we would have a strong team and we did", commented coach Costigan. "Not only did we end up with a 13-2 record, but we achieved that while playing all 22 young men evenly. Our best performance was probably against Exeter. The entire game was close but we remained focused and won."

Costigan added that the team did not rely on just a few talented players, but received contributions from every member on the roster, "This speaks volumes about our middle school and freshman and reserve programs, as they are doing a tremendous job in getting this young men Varsity ready."

The team's roster: Eachern, Johnny McKinnon, Jesse Morin, Aiden O'Loughin, Devin Ortiz, Evan Parker, Kerrick Peterson, Jackson Romanek, Brandon Savage, Nick Villianeau, Ian Ward, Artie Wilkinson.

Concord Crew Team Opens Summer Season with Local Rowers

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Concord Crew Team's first session of summer rowing began on June 24 and will run until July 18, with the second session of the season starting on July 22 and ending on Aug. 15. Over the years, the team was home for many Londonderry and Derry kids (Last year, five seniors from Londonderry High School and one from Pinkerton Academy graduated from the team), who practice in one racing boat races, with eight rowers, one coxswain and one shell in each squad. The team meets between Monday and Thursday, 5 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. during the summer season.

According to Steve Gurney, President of the Board of Directors, in the competition season, fall and spring, the team typically has 75-85 athletes. During these seasons, the team practice Monday through Friday after school and on Saturday morning and the regattas, the races, take place on Saturdays and Sundays.

The team enjoys the facilities of the Whittemore Boathouse (named after Bret Whittemore, who provided much of the funding for it), which Gurney says "rival that of many college rowing programs." The boathouse is located on the Merrimack River, off of Loudon Road and adjacent to the Everett Arena in Concord. During the off-season in the winter, the team has indoor practices three times per week, where the kids can maintain their fitness and improve their skills on rowing ergometers. These practices can sometimes happen even during the month of March, as there is still ice on the river.

The regattas take place in NH, MA, CT and

NY. The fall season consists of head races (against the clock) of 5,000 or 6,000 meters. The spring season races are sprints of typically 2,000 meters. The team was founded in 2001, when Concord High School Assistant Principal Susan Noyes asked teacher Jim Cobb to help start a crew team for the fall season. Currently, Concord Crew has 11 part-time coaches.

The kids range in age from eighth graders to senior. Kids going into seventh grade are eligible to participate in the Summer Learn to Row program. Each of the summer sessions cost $275. Registration fees for fall and spring seasons have been $550 and there is an additional $90 hospitality fee for food services at all day regattas.

JV Team Shows LHS Softball Program Ready For Next Era

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Londonderry High School's Softball program will enter a new era next year, after the retirement announcement of long-time coach Wayne MacDougall. The school's Junior Varsity team's players will be part of that era and during the spring season this year, they showed that there is plenty of talent coming up in the next few years.

The team, coached by Ian Horseman, had a very impressive 12-5 season, but did not participate in an end of the season tournament. "The kids adapted and adjusted very well to both my personality and coaching style", said Horseman after the season. "They showed their skills and abilities consistently and played to the high level expected for LHS softball. Overall, it was a very successful season which hopefully will continue onto the Varsity level, as the girls move on and upwards."

Horseman marked an 11-5 home win against Spaulding at his team's top performance: "Going in, we knew that Spaulding would be a good team, as their Varsity team is always competitive and they have a good community developmental system. We played pretty much flawless softball in that game, both offensively and defensively. From a coaching perspective, it was also very good as I asked the girls to really focus in prior to the start of the game, and they did just that. It's always nice for a coach when the kids do that."

The team's roster: Reyanna Broadhurst, Kylee McGurn, Talia Ferguson, Maya Rutina, Kayla Miles, Madisyn Bickford, Kylee Dodge, Sarah Frasier, Madison Rankin, Emily Rivera, Cailin Borovicka, Mikaela Bartholomew, Isabella Jarek.

Leaders Suffered First Loss in 50+ Softball League

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Two games were held last Tuesday, June 18, at the Londonderry 50+ Softball League and the big result came from the second of these games, as the leaders, Justin Time Snacks (AKA Eagles), lost their perfect record and their undefeated season with a surprising loss, while the other four teams in the league are all still in the mix for the second place.

The first game of the week, between American Nationals and Birch Tree Counseling Center saw the first draw of this season, as the game ended with each team scoring 14 runs. In the next game, the Eagles, who won each of their first five games of the season, suffered their first loss, 12-11 to Efficient Energy Systems.

Thanks to their big victory, Efficient Energy Systems is now ranked second in the league with six points, after playing five games. Birch Tree Counseling Center is third with four points from five games, while American Nationals only played four times and also have four points. Rocco's Pizza, who had a bye week, is fifth with three points from four games. The Eagles, despite their loss, still have a big lead at the top of the table, with 15 points after playing six times.

Lancer JV Volleyball Team Rebuilds in a Tough Season

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Just like the school's Varsity Volleyball team, the Londonderry High School's Junior Varsity team is in rebuilding mode, which led to some struggles this spring season and a 2-9 record, followed by two losses in two games in the JV Tournament.

Out of the two wins, the team's young coach Tim Sullivan thought that the comeback at Hollis-Brookline was his players best game this season, as Londonderry lost the first set, but went on to win the next two. In the third set, the Lancers lost the lead twice, but elevated their game in crunch time and won.

Sullivan only joined the team as a head coach six games into the season, as the team held a 1-5 record. He told the Londonderry Times that his main goal in the short time he had to work with the kids, was to have everyone buy into a culture: "I emphasized the word 'ubuntu', a person is a person through other people. For example, to be my 100 percent as a coach, all of the players had to give their 100 percent. I believe that we not only met our goal of creating a culture, but excelled at it. Everyone came to practice and strived to be better, which brought us closer. I am looking forward to seeing everyone work hard in the offseason."

The team's roster: Caden Elghazal, Shane Ball, Danny Peters, Aidan Galan, Sam Seibert, Ethan Byerly, Dylan Strong, Austin Cardosi.

AD Howard Sobolov Speaks of the Cycle, Future and Challenges

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

This interview with Howard Sobolov, Londonderry High School's Director of Athletics, was conducted in a perfect timing. Just a few hours before the school's Varsity Baseball team managed to beat Bedford in the state finals at the Fisher Cats stadium and win the Division I Championship.

For the baseball team, he adds. "Prior to me this was the first state title in five years. For the entire school, this was the first "ball sports" (or puck) varsity state title since the basketball teams won both boys and girls back in 2015, over four years ago. "I don't really look at that", says Sobolov, as we begin the interview in his office, a much quieter place than during the fast-paced school year.

"Things are cyclical,"

he adds. "Prior to me being here, the school hasn't won anything in about five years and when I got here, we had a good five or six year run. And even this year, we had the football team as the number one seed with a young team, girls' soccer in the finals, the softball middle school teams are doing well. We are back on the upswing, talent-wise, so hopefully we are going into another good cycle."

Sobolov has been around for a while now. 11 years to be precise. He has seen it all and when asked what the main reasons were for these past four years, he suggests that the numbers had something to do with it: "We lost a significant population piece. We were at 1,650 and now we are at 1,500 and that is after we took over 100 Hooksett kids. There are fewer kids in the community these days, but population is starting to turn again. We added lacrosse in the middle school to help with that and we cut very few kids at that level, to try and build up the numbers again. The larger the school, the larger the pool."

But even when you do have the kids, it does not promise you that they would stay: "We lost some kids to prep schools", he says. "They were good athletes, who could have helped us, but we don't begrudge them anything. They do it because they think it's a better way for them to achieve the goals they want to achieve. I am always sad to see a good athlete go. For example, there was a boy, one of the best in the basketball team and maybe we would have won the title this year if he stayed, but I wish him nothing but the best and hope he gets what he wants, a Division I scholarship. I think we have the best basketball coach in the state, but that's what he and his parents decided to do."

"We were pretty competitive over the board, over the years", he emphasize. "Sometimes winning titles is just a bit of luck, kids peaking at the right time. We are the eighth largest high school in the state and we compete pretty consistently with schools our size, like Exeter for example. We beat them in some things, they beat us in others. That's a school that I look at and they are a little better than us right now, but there were times we dominated them."

Despite the lack of state titles or the population problems in recent years, there are some teams at the school who are clearly overachieving. The two Varsity Basketball teams this past winter season were a good example, with the girls upsetting the number five seed on the road and the boys making a surprise run to the Final Four. But how do you create more of these teams?

"It all starts with the coach," believes Sobolov. "The most important thing is who we hire and that is a challenge. If I was a General Manager of a team, I would hire for one sport. Technically, I am the General Manager of 30 teams, so I'm looking to hire the best coaches in a wide variety of sports and sometimes the pool isn't large. We want to provide the kids with coaches that can help them maximize their athletic and academic potential. That is why we are here. Whenever we have a coaching opening, I am trying to find those transformative coaches and one of the challenges is finding people who are available at 3 p.m."

So who's the ideal candidate? A teacher, if you ask Sobolov. "Someone who works in the system. Because then, they can connect with the kids during the day. We do an interview process with a committee and we don't always get it right. When that happens, usually the candidate sees it as well and steps away. Sometimes we have to make the change because we don't think it's a great fit for us. I think we have done a pretty fair job over the past 11 years. You need coaches that connect with the kids. Coaches that say 'just do what I say and don't question me', that doesn't work anymore. Maybe just for some legendary coaches who are around for 40 years. But if you don't have it as a new coach, it usually doesn't work. And I like it, I want them to connect."

Speaking of legendary coaches, Sobolov has some kind words on his colleague from Pinkerton Academy, Brian O'Reilly, who might be leaving the lacrosse team after a second straight state title: "He said about three years ago that he would give up lacrosse first, but that he had a great group and wanted to see how it goes. He doesn't need to prove anything to anyone. He has been doing it for 40 years and he is the best lacrosse coach in the history on New Hampshire. Kids have changed a lot over the past four decades and he has adapted and still wins. He has a huge pool of kids to choose from, but still got to coach them. He is a Hall of Famer, the best in the state and I think the world of him."

Note: This is part one of a two part interview story.
