Town Searches for Someone to Farm Mack Land

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The town of Londonderry is looking for someone to show some interest in farming the land that was recently purchased behind the Grange #44 at 114 Pillsbury Road.

At the end of last year, on Dec. 29, the town posted an advertisement on their website soliciting interest for the lease of Town Property.

The ad read, "The Town of Londonderry is soliciting interest for a lease of the Town's property at 114 Pillsbury Road. The property was

Warrant Article for School District Office Sent to Ballot

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

After a committee was formed earlier this year to explore the possibility of building a new District Office, the Londonderry School Board had a bond hearing for the project during the Jan. 18 School Board meeting.

Because of serious air quality issues at the Mammoth Rd., Complex the School District had to move its District office to Kitty Hawk in 2018 where they have 10 one year leases. It essentially means that while they are in a 10 year lease they only need to give eight months notice in order to get out of the lease.

School Board member Scott Slater was one of the members of the Committee and said that while "nobody's pleasantly surprised with the price of things today," he said that it would make sense for the long term financials of the District to pay to own their own building instead of leasing.

He also said it's not a good thing to have a lease with a private landowner for any municipal buildings.

During the meeting it was announced that the total projected budget for the project is $4,799,082.

It was explained by Londonderry Business Administrator Peter Curro that the total bond amount would be $4.5 million, which will be paid back over the course of 20 years.

In year one of the lease which will have construction going on the School District will need to pay $206,130 for the lease of the current building along with $45,000 in interest for a total of $251,300. They will also have to pay a one time cost of $200,000 for fit up costs.

Budget Committee Reviews Town Warrant Articles

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

During the Jan. 19 Londonderry Budget Committee meeting the Committee heard a number of different proposed warrant articles to decide whether or not they support them.

"We will be voting on anything that is monetary and the non monetary items we will abstain from voting," said Budget Committee Chair Chad Franz.

Town Budget

The FY 23 budget was one of the warrant articles that the Committee discussed during the meeting.

The proposed budget this year is $38,996,68. If the warrant article is defeated, the default budget will be $39,069,640 which is the amount of the appropriations contained in the operating budget authorized for the previous fiscal year, with certain adjustments required by previous action of the Town or by law.

If passed, the Town will need to raise $21,124,977 in property taxes, resulting in a tax rate impact of $4.099 per $1000 in property value.

Expendable Maintenance Trust Fund

One of the warrant articles discussed was in regard to the Town raising and appropriating $180,000 to be placed in the Town's Expendable Maintenance Trust Fund for the purpose of repairing and maintaining town facilities and infrastructure. $90,000 would come from the June 30 Unassigned Fund Balance.

If passed it would mean that the Town will

Young Road Housing Variance Continued by Zoning

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

After being continued from the Nov. 17 meeting the Zoning Board of Adjustment re-heard a case regarding the building of 55 single family homes at 22 Young Road, at the Jan. 19 meeting, where the builder ultimately asked for another continuation.

During the meeting the variances being sought were to eliminate the use requirement that at least 75 percent of single family and two family dwellings shall be restricted housing for older persons in the multi-family residential zone and to allow 55 residential 3 bedroom units where only 35 are permitted.

The property is owned by the Edgar L. Pitts and Winnifred L. Pitts Revocable Trust and Cedar Crest Development is the developer for the proposed project.

Aaron Orso, the co-owner of Cedar Crest Development, explained that at the last meeting the Board wanted more information about gas line development procedures, test pits, and blasting issues. He also said that they tried to incorporate the things people would want to see in Londonderry based on the master plan.

He explained that right now they are in the midst of a major housing crisis shortage and they feel that they can provide some relief to it with a project like the one they are proposing.

Orso said that they are going to be around 2,500 square feet in size and are planning to advertise it to middle class families and first time home buyers by keeping the costs down.

Nick Codner the Zoning Administrator for Londonderry said that the soil data being submitted means that they are able to have 20.65 three bedroom houses instead of the density being proposed.

He recommended that if the Board isn't clear on their numbers then they shouldn't vote on it until they discuss it more with staff.

Orso said that they are looking for relief from the table and want to go with the New Hampshire Department of Environmental Services recommendation which would mean they can have a maximum of over 60.

During the meeting the Board was read a number of letters of support from residents and those in the real estate business.

One person who wrote in support was Camela Shea, the owner of O'Shea Tea.

She said that she has been a resident in Londonderry for 20 years and said "The one constant is the need for housing."

Shea said that they can further strengthen the community by bringing in new families through the housing. She also said it will help with job creation, new spending, and tax revenue.

One abutter who spoke against the proposed project was Sarah Clark who is a 14-year resident of Londonderry.

She said that she lives on Copperfield Lane and said that she doesn't feel that the developer addressed any of the five spirits of law, especially for the density.

"To me in no way do they address the five letters of the law," said Clark.

Clark said that she also talked to a lot of the neighbors who feel that there are issues about the proposed density for all different reasons.

She also noted that there will likely be an increase in traffic with it being used as single family homes instead of elderly housing which will increase the number of cars going in their neighborhood.

"I don't want extra traffic in our wonderful neighborhood we have," said Clark.

Clark also said that they have a letter from people who live in the neighborhood who are against the density and the switch from elderly housing.

Orso said that they would have to go through the Planning Board for traffic studies and recommendations and said that they would be working with Town staff and abutters.

Another neighbor to the proposed development that spoke was Tricia Ferguson who said that she agreed with Clark and also said that they feel that they will have diminished property value for their property. Right now they have open fields and trees behind their homes but if the houses are built they are going to be looking at houses instead.

Orso said that since they are selling brand new homes the sale prices for them will only support stronger value for neighbors. He told the Board that if they had an appraisal report it would clarify it.

Deb Paul, the Town Council Liaison for the ZBA said that right now they have a natural buffer between the abutters and the proposed development. If they build the development it will be taken out.

She said that while Orso said they are willing to work with the neighbors on things like landscaping and fencing they didn't say anything about negotiating less houses being built.

Paul said it is what people are concerned about and what she is concerned about.

"Please take in consideration the many people who gave you a petition who live there," said Paul.

She also noted that the size homes are good sized and that they will be about the same size as the new homes on Gilcrest which are on the market for $675,000.

John Cronin, the attorney representing the developer said that because of the property features if they wanted to do something less dense it can't be developed.

Orso said that for about 50 lots it would cost them about $150,000 to $175,000 for the land and road costs per lot and right now the average cost for construction is about $200 for each square foot of the house.

After a break from the meeting Cronin said that he spoke with Orso and said that he wanted the opportunity to speak to the neighbors to see if they can come up with a plan that generally works.

"I think we heard enough tonight to know that there is some strong objection based on the current plan," said Cronin.

The ZBA approved a cost continuance until the Feb. 16 meeting.

that the payment will be $274,000 a year on average. But because of the money they will be saving on the lease each year it will ultimately be an increase of $68,730 a year.

The bond rate is expected to be at 2 percent and Curro said that the bond rate moves very slowly.

"Bond rates you know don't move quickly," said Curro.

During public comment Amy Wheeler asked how large the previous building was. Curro said that it was 6,800 square feet.

It led to Wheeler pointing out that the proposed building is larger.

"So we're going up about 3,000 square feet for about the same amount of staff that we had before," said Wheeler.

She also questioned if there was any consideration to reduce the size of some of the larger rooms including conference rooms.

School Board Chair Amy Finamore said that not all of the square footage would be dedicated to office space due to the way it's laid out.

She also noted that they need good sized conference room space so staff can work together on various projects in person.

"They do a tremendous amount of collaborative work," said Finamore.

Curro said that the School Board had to take two different votes during the meeting. The first was to allow the question to go to the ballot. The second is whether or not the School Board supports it.

"I see no reason to not move this forward to the warrant," said School Board member Greg DePasse.

He said that a lot of work has gone into it and that the financing is almost cost neutral. It was also noted by DePasse that this would be just moving it to the ballot.

"At least it moves it to the next step," said DePasse.

School Board Vice Chair Sara Loughlin said that she agreed with getting out of Kitty Hawk as soon as possible but doesn't think they exhausted all of their options within the District temporarily for offices.

It was also pointed out by Slater that they may not have the space available to build the new office in a couple of years.

The estimated tax impact is five cents per $1,000 of property value.

The School Board voted 5-0 in favor of sending the bond warrant article to the deliberative session.

The School Board ultimately voted 3-2 against supporting the warrant. Slater and DePasse were the two Board members in support of it.

Following the School Board vote the Budget Committee voted 7-0 in support of the warrant article.

previously owned by Mack's Apple's and was sold to the Town in 2021. The Town is looking for a lessee who will maintain the property as an apple orchard and make other permitted agricultural use of the property. All revenue generated from the property will be the lessee's. Nominal rent of $1/year is anticipated, in exchange for maintaining the orchard."

A link to a questionnaire was given on the page for those interested to fill out. It also included the Conservation Easement Deed, which contained applicable use restrictions.

Those interested were asked to submit the completed questionnaire, and direct questions, to the Assistant Town Solicitor Mike Malaguti at mmalaguti@londonderry-nh.org.

The applications are being accepted through Jan. 31, 2022.

Questions on application include:

- Please summarize your community involvement, past, present, and future.

- Please summarize your intended use of the property.

- Please state whether you intend to permit public access to some or all of the property, and how, generally, you plan to regulate such access.

- Do you carry general liability insurance? If so, what are the policy limits for: 1) Liability; and 2) property damage?

- Do you propose to store equipment on-site? If so, do you propose to erect a structure on the property?

According to Malaguti, as of press time, a number of inquiries have been received by the town so far.

Malaguti responded, "The Town put the lease of this parcel out for all interested members of the public to apply. The parcel was leased to Mack's Apples last year without a public process because Mack's was already farming it, and any mid-season interruption in the maintenance of the orchard would have been harmful to the apple trees. The Town believes it is important that an opportunity of this significance be opened up to the public as part of a transparent selection process."

He added, "We have received about half a dozen applications, including from Mack's, and a number of general inquiries as well. The deadline is Jan. 31. I anticipate the Town Council will review the applications on Feb. 7, and the Conservation Commission will do so at their February meeting."

Playing an Active Role

Deliberative sessions are the times specifically set aside to discuss and potentially change warrant articles.

Residents don't vote on whether or not to approve, they vote on the warrant article as is. The warrant article at deliberative sessions are not voted in, but instead on whether or not changes should be made and or to send the warrant article to the ballot on Election Day.

At deliberative session, voters can amend a warrant article (except those whose language is prescribed by law), so long as they do not change the subject matter. They can change the dollar amount, or they can leave it as proposed.

School and Town budget articles, for example, can be amended up or down before they go to the ballot in March. That's why you often hear the fear that some groups will "pack" the deliberative session and "force" their views on everyone else by changing the dollar amount. Someone can say to add money to the budget or take money out.

There's no force. It's up to whichever registered voters decide to show up or not. If the turnout is poor and few people are there to promote or defend their views, the majority of those present will have their way. It's all in the hands of the voters who attend.

To participate in the deliberative session, all you need do is register to vote, attend deliberative, pay attention as the moderator explains the rules, read the proposed warrant articles, listen to public comment and vote on any changes or to send the article as is to the warrant.

The articles on the warrant hit us where we live, and as New Hampshire residents, we have the right to express our views in a forum specifically designed for that purpose, and to change articles if we have the votes. It's the articles that come out of deliberative session, not necessarily the ones that were on the warrant before the session begins, that we vote on in March.

Voters are clearly in the seat of power. That's why it's so important not only to attend, but also to stay for the whole deliberative session. In the grand scheme of things, it's not such a time consuming commitment to make.

In some towns, a deliberative session takes an hour or so, in others towns could be up to four to five hours or more, depending on the length of discussion.

Plan to attend, and play a role in one of the participatory forms of democracy alive today.

We can wave the flag and claim to be patriotic all we want but if we really believe in democracy, the deliberative session is the place to be.

So go to the school district deliberative and the towns deliberative.

If you want to play an even more active role speak out and let your voice be heard.

Two Comments

To the editor,

First, YEA! Londonderry Notices are back where they belong. A shout out to Deb and Chris Paul for there generous offer to publish for free. But with Kevin Smith touting his business acumen (as he prepares to run for Senator) that he brought to Londonderry, certainly Londonderry should be able to afford to pay. As a taxpayer, I would hope our town will decide to do so.

Second, is Jonathan Esposito making such a fuss about classroom observation at North School, so that he might be one of the first to collect the $500 reward that MOMS for Liberty is offering for reporting on discrimination being taught in Londonderry. Thanks to our legislature for passing such a rule in the first place. Our teachers have been hamstrung in teaching our history.

Tax Fairness for NH Private Road Residents

To the editor,

The New Hampshire Private Road Taxpayers Alliance (NHPVRTA), a state-wide nonprofit organization is supporting two bills currently filed in the NH Senate for the 2022 legislative session. SB250 enables municipalities to adopt a tax credit for qualified private road property owners. SB250 grants municipalities the authority to identify qualifying communities and to determine the amount of the tax credit based on certain factors. In addition, individual private road residents would have to apply yearly for such a tax credit. State Senator Sharon Carson with support from State Senators David Watters and Regina Birdsell and State House Representatives David Lundgren, Doug Thomas, Al Baldasaro and Tom Dolan are sponsoring SB250.

The second bill, SB246 is relative to forward looking legislation and would benefit future residents who may decide to reside on a private road. SB246 is mandatory legislation that would require developers of new private roads with a at least 4 units to create a Capital Reserve Fund of no less than 50% of the estimated costs to replace those roads at the time of completion of the project. Those funds would be turned over to the residents to defray future road costs. Apartment complexes and campground facilities are excluded from this legislation. Senator Regina Birdsell with support from State Senator Sharon Carson and State House Representative Wayne MacDonald are sponsoring SB246. If enacted into law both bills would take effect on April 1, 2023.

The NHPVRTA was specifically formed to advocate for tax fairness and equity for private road residents. The passage and implementation of either or both these bills are currently in the hands of your state legislators in Concord. Information about the bills and what you must do can be found by clicking on the yellow post-it note at www.nhpvrta.com. All private road residents should sign up for email notifications and encourage others to do the same. SB246 has been assigned for a hearing before the Senate Election Law and Municipal Affairs Committee (ELMA) on Monday, Jan. 24, 2022 at 1:45 p.m., in Concord. SB250 has also been assigned to ELMA and a hearing date should be set very soon. Concerned residents should immediately request the entire ELMA committee to support both bills via a single email located on the NHPVRTA website. They should also, call, write and/or email their State Senators and State Representatives requesting support of SB246 and SB250. Private road residents need to share this information, organize local efforts and act now to ensure passage of both bills. Tax fairness and relief will not happen without some effort by all private road residents.

Zoning Board Continues Case For Wiley Hill Road Home

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry Zoning Board of Adjustment heard a case regarding a variance to allow a single family home to be built on a property with 100.58 of frontage while 150 is required during their Jan. 19 meeting.

Representing the owner Belize Real Estate Holding was Doug MacGuire. The property is located at 8 Wiley Hill Rd.

MacGuire explained that he met with the direct abutter, and said that they felt that the original home location proposal would be too close to the property line.

Because of this he said that he moved the location to be more centrally located on the property making it 93 feet of distance from the property line.

MacGuire explained that the property frontage is reduced by the abutting property. He explained that the abutting property utilizes frontage that isn't directly in front of their home to accommodate their frontage. Because of this it creates a different shape for his client's property.

He said that aside from the frontage they would meet all other criteria.

Speaking against it was Lynn DiCiccio who said her husband and her are the direct abutters to the property. She said that they talked to MacGuire before last meeting which led to the new proposal.

One of the things that she pointed out is that all the other houses in the area are spread out and have natural buffers.

"The lot and the placement of the house which is less than 100 feet from our master bedroom goes against the Londonderry rural and agricultural heritage," said DiCiccio.

Another concern that she pointed to is the fact that the pictures of the property are at least 10 years old.

It was pointed out by DiCiccio that when the property was recently purchased the zoning regulations were in place so the developer knew that it shouldn't have been built on the property due to the frontage issue.

According to DiCiccio when they bought their property they were told a house wouldn't be built at 8 Wiley Hill Rd., because of the frontage.

MacGuire argued that it wouldn't be much different than the rest of the neighborhood saying that he felt it was in line with what the level of density is.

It was explained during the meeting that after doing a quick review John Trottier, Assistant Director of Public Works and Engineering for Londonderry had some concerns about the application including for site distance and that some information was missing.

The Board said that they wanted it to be reviewed and signed off by Trottier before they take a vote on it.

The Board ultimately approved a continuance of the case to the Feb. 16 meeting.

School Board Reviews Reopening Plan Modifications

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry School Board heard a proposal to modify some areas of the School District's reopening plan during the Jan. 18 Board meeting.

Assistant Superintendent Dan Black said that what was in their proposal is updates from the original plan.

He said that the modifications came after there has been change in guidance at both the state and federal level and after seeing what has worked and what hasn't worked throughout the last two years.

He said that one of their main goals is keeping everyone safe and also continuing to educate their students.

"We want to keep students and staff safe and we want to keep in-person schools open," said Black.

Black said that they want to focus on those goals simultaneously.

It was also explained by Black that they wanted to find a "more sustainable approach" for the remainder of the school year rather than just universal masking saying that they don't think universal masking is sustainable for the rest of the school year.

"We want to move from an indefinite universal masking to a more situationally based temporary masking when necessary," said Kim Carpinone.

Londonderry High School Principal Jason Parent said that the Administration felt that it was important to bring regulations to a local level.

"We really want to take this back to the local level," said Parent.

For vaccinations, the Administration said that it will continue to be optional.

"Vaccinations are recommended, but not mandatory. The district is not permitted to require them, nor may we require students/families to disclose their vaccination status. This includes teachers in classrooms," the current plan states.

The language that they proposed to add states "The District will make an effort to share more COVID-19 vaccine information with staff and families and align with NH's emphasis to choose to be vaccinated as a mitigation strategy. We will work with staff and students who choose to get vaccinated to keep that status up to date."

Black said that one of the toughest things with the updates to the plan is coming up with a timeline.

"This is the hardest thing," said Black saying that they spent a lot of time thinking about it.

He said that one thing they know is that Winter months will always be tougher to make any transitions because respiratory and other viruses are at their highest during the winter months.

Black told the Board that the "Administrative Team is looking for approval to make this change when conditions from our current 'Omicron Peak' become more manageable. We hope it could be before the next school."

He said if the School Board wanted a hard date for when they will implement the changes he said that two weeks after February Break would be a reasonable goal which would be around March 21.

Black said that when things are deemed appropriate they are ready to manage the changes.

We're ready to manage this when things become safer," said Black.

One thing that was also mentioned by Londonderry High school Principal Jason Parent during the presentation is that the pandemic has had an effect on mental health.

"This has clearly taken a toll on our students, on our families and on our educators," said Parent.

Parent said as a community they have come together to discuss topics like the opioid crisis and vaping to name a few and he thinks they should have one for mental health.

"I think it's time to make a similar effort with mental health," said Parent.

School Board member Bob Slater said that he thinks that the principals can run the schools better than anyone else but has a problem with the way they went about the process saying that they didn't have any public input on it.

"My problem is we didn't get the people involved to give you input," said Slater.

School Board Vice Chair Sara Loughlin said that she thought waiting until March is too late and asked if they could look at moving up the implementation sooner to possibly before vacation.

Loughlin also said that they need a log of who has had COVID saying that she wouldn't be surprised if 25 percent of the students have had it based on the numbers from the past six weeks.

The School Board ultimately voted in favor of allowing the School District to implement the changes they proposed in the plan when they are ready.

"These funds will also be used to study the potential costs of acquisition of existing utility infrastructure by the Town, potential costs of adding necessary infrastructure, potential expenses related to remediation of water contaminated by PFAS and other contaminants, and the potential costs to provide potable water to Londonderry's residents at reasonable rates. It will also ask voters to approve raising and appropriating $310,000 for the Town to contribute to the construction of the new School District Offices and directly related expenses such as landscaping or reconfiguring the Town Hall complex.

School Board Discussed Medical Advisory Committee

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

During the Jan. 18 Londonderry School Board meeting one of the discussions revolved around the Medical Advisory Committee.

Before the School Board heard a proposal for their modified reopening plan, questions were raised by some Board members if anything in the plan came from the Medical Advisory Committee.

The Medical Advisory Committee is a group of volunteer medical and science professionals assembled to help the District's Administration better understand the COVID-19 pandemic.

It was explained during the previous meeting by Assistant Superintendent Dan Black that those who joined asked that they be anonymous.

"They are afraid of the verbal abuse they get for helping us, they are afraid of the harassment they may get from other members of the public," said Black.

School Board member Bob Slater made the argument that if they were going to have the Committee then they should be following the New Hampshire Right to Know laws.

"I think it's great to have this Committee but I think you have to follow 91A laws," said Slater.

Slater said last year when they created a reopening task force the School Board picked who was on it and they discussed what board members would be liaisons for it.

For the Medical Advisory Committee, Slater said that wasn't what happened.

Slater said that when he is making decisions as a School Board member he is doing so on the behalf of the community and wants to know who is giving information.

"I'm never going to take advice from a black box on the behalf of other people," said Slater.

Black said that the plan they wanted to present to the Board was created by the School District's Administration.

"What you have today is a plan from your Administrative Team," said Black.

Slater said that he wanted to hear what the rest of the Board had to say about the Committee.

"I want to hear if they want to move forward and have it changed so we do it the proper way rather than hear this plan. That's why I want to hear from my colleagues," said Slater.

School Board member Nancy Hendricks, said that she agreed with Slater.

"I think that any Committee that meets... and reports to the Board should be transparent. Process matters, procedure matters. Policy matters. If it didn't we wouldn't have it," said Hendricks.

She said that she felt that if there was any advice coming from the Committee regarding the plan then they shouldn't be deciding on it until they know who the advice is from.

"If we're going to take any advice from any members of this Committee that we don't know, I think that's in question," said Hendricks.

Black said that the only changes in the proposed plan came from the School District's Administration.

School Board Vice Chair Sara Loughlin asked if all the members on the Committee specifically said that they didn't want their identities known.

"They basically said that they didn't want to be subjected to any public harassment," said Black.

School Board Chair Amy Finamore ultimately said that she wanted to hear the proposed plan from the Administration.

"I would like to hear the proposal from the Administration," said Finamore.

Peter Curro, the Business Administrator for the School District said that they vetted it with the School District's attorney who said they weren't in violation of rules by having the Medical Advisory Committee.

"The Medical Advisory Committee is an administrative group made up to work with and talk to the Administration to come back with this plan. I can assure you there's no 91A violation or rule," said Curro.

Curro said the Administration is allowed to seek expert advice from experts.

"The Administration always has the right to seek experts to come up with an opinion or a report to the Board if the Board has asked," said Curro.

Slater thought they should have a public hearing on it.

"I just think for transparency that we should not make any decisions or discuss it unless it's a public forum," said Slater. "I just want to have public comment and some more input."

The School Board ultimately heard the presentation. See page 6.

Lancer Gymnastics Team Adds Another Season Win

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry High School Gymnastics team traveled north to Plymouth over the weekend and added another top finish for their third win of the season.

The team faced about nine other schools on Saturday, Jan. 22 at Top Gun Gymnastics. Teams included Plymouth Regional, Salem, Bishop Brady, Bow, Exeter, Salem, Winnisquam, Newfound Regional, Campbell and Pembroke Academy.

The Londonderry contingents had the team high score at the meet with 125.95 points. Salem trailed to take second place with 123.45; Plymouth Regional was third with 116.15; and Exeter High School came in fourth with 102.9 points.

Starting on the vault, the Lancers had a solid performance from senior Nikki Stone who led the team with a 7.7. Sophomore Lilly Haggett had a 7.6, freshman Sophia Beauregard scored a 7.55 and junior Ava Ruppel had a 7.35.

On the Bars, the team pulled out clean routines from three girls. Beauregard managed to place third with her score of an 8.05, senior Makenna Lord got a 7.5, and sophomore Amanda Robinson had a 7.05.

On the Beam, Lilly Haggett had another good routine and got a second-place result with a score of 8.65. Senior Ella Houghton placed third with an 8.5, and Amanda Robinson also had a stuck routine, scoring an 8.0.

The Floor competition was the team's best event of the day, Ava Ruppel placing third with a score of 8.65, Lilly Haggett placed with an 8.6, junior Peyton Beirne and Sophia Beauregard also contributed to the team score with 8.0 and 8.5 respectively.

Lilly Haggett was able to place fourth in the All-Around with a score of 31.95.

Head coach Heather Tuden was happy with the strong overall result at the latest meet. "We had a rough start to the day, but the girls were able to pull it around to take first again this week over Salem. This time of year we need to be careful to not overwork the team to ensure they are at their peak performance for states in three weeks."

The Lancers last meet of the regular season is scheduled at home, on Tuesday, Feb. 2, where they will celebrate five of the team's seniors.

High School teams scheduled to participate are: Pinkerton Academy, Pelham, Raymond, Campbell, Newfound Regional, Plymouth Regional and Coe-Brown Northwood.

Londonderry Boys Basketball Lose Three Straight Games

Lancer senior Aiden Warren goes up for a block on Astros Sean Jenkins during Saturday's 64-58 loss to Pinkerton. Photo by Chris Paul

LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry High School Boys Basketball team finished a tough stretch of games last week, losing three straight division games to put their season record at an even 7-7 with four left to play.

Their week started on Tuesday night, Jan. 18, when the Lancers traveled to Goffstown High School to take on the 8-2 Grizzlies where they lost 62-49.

The loss put the Lancers season record at 7-5, and two days later the team hosted Manchester Central whose season record stood at 4-5.

In the game against the Little Green, the Lancers were missing four key players from the line-up, including senior Mike Rosatano, who usually accounts for a significant amount of team's scoring.

Despite that, the LHS squad got off to a strong start, scoring 19-points in the first quarter to Central's 10-points.

In the second, Londonderry stumbled a bit, but still led 26-20 by the half.

In the third quarter the Lancers were still cruising along, tacking on another 21-points to lead 47-37 heading into the final period.

That's where the lack of manpower reared its ugly head and Londonderry was outscored 22-8 by their visitors for the tough 59-55 loss.

Senior forward Aidan Warren led his team with 16-points. Junior Kevin Rourke finished with 13-points and freshman Mason Paquette had nine in the loss.

Senior guard, Justin Hoggard, had six-points and senior, Tyler Murray managed five.

In the team's third game of the week, against Pinkerton Academy, the team was still missing the same four players and once again, despite getting off to an exceptional start in the game, they fell short in the second half for a 64-58 loss.

The Lancers came out of the gate strong, keeping pace with the Astros, who were at 10-2 on the season. Londonderry and Pinkerton each scored 11-points in the first, with Londonderry getting three, three-pointers.

The Lancers hit for five, three-pointers in the second, stunning Pinkerton, and giving LHS a 32-25 lead by halftime.

In the third, the PA offense was fired up and the Londonderry three-pointers stopped hitting their target. The third quarter ended with a 48-42 Astros lead and that six-point deficit carried on throughout the fourth, with each team scoring 16-points.

Warren was once again the high point-getter for Londonderry with 17.

Murray, Hoggard and Rourke each had 11-points. Paquette finished with eight-points.

Pinkerton scored 17 of 19-point from the foul line and Londonderry had 10, three-pointers in the game.

Londonderry will play Merrimack High School (3-10) at home on Monday and Exeter High (9-4) on the road Friday night.

Lancer Hockey Squad Splits With Salem and Windham

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry High School Hockey team had two games last week with teams they had previously beat earlier in the season.

In those two contests, the Lancers lost 5-4 to the Salem Blue Devils in overtime on the road and beat the Windham Jaguars 3-2 at home in overtime.

The Lancers had previously beat the Blue Devils 4-2 in a home contest during the second week of the season, but in their second meeting, at the Icenter in Salem on Wednesday night, Jan. 19, the LHS opponent battled to a 4-4 to end regulation and Salem wound up scoring in the extra period to tie up the season contest between the two and hand Londonderry their third loss of the season.

Senior forward Noah Malcolm had three goals in the game while sophomore Connor McInnis got the other goal.

Then on Saturday, Jan. 22, the Lancers skated to a 3-2 win at home over the Windham Jaguars in another overtime-extended game.

Senior captain Brandon Savage had two goals in the game and junior forward Drew Cameron had one goal.

With those two games in the book, the team crossed the halfway point in the season and now have a record of 7-3. The team has one game scheduled this week and will face Exeter High School (5-1-1) on Jan. 29.

LHS senior Noah Malcolm had three goals against Salem.

Lady Lancer Basketball Suffers Two Defeats, One Win

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry High School Girls Basketball squad had one road win and two losses at home last week and are now at 6-8 as they head into the final games of the regular season.

The Lady Lancers started the week with a low-scoring 38-33 loss at home on Tuesday, Jan. 18, to the Goffstown Lady Grizzlies.

Londonderry fell behind early, 14-7 in the first, but then held Goffstown to three in the second quarter to lead 20-17 by the half.

The game was tied at 26 heading into the final period where GHS out scored LHS 12-7 for the win.

Senior forward Olivia Chau scored nearly half the team points with 16.

Freshman guard Kate Sloper had nine-points and junior Shannon Ball finished with eight.

In the team's second game of the week, at Manchester Central, on Thursday, Londonderry was able to come away with a 56-52 victory of the Little Green for their sixth win of the season.

That celebration was short-lived as the Lady Lancers took on the undefeated Lady Astros on Saturday afternoon where they were outscored 72-49 in a very one-sided contest.

Pinkerton was coming off a big win against Bishop Guertin for the 12th consecutive win two days earlier and that head of steam rolled over the Lancers on Saturday.

LHS trailed 16-11 after the first quarter and 35-25 by the half.

In the second half, Pinkerton was able to tally 37 to Londonder-ry's 24 for the lopsided win.

Sloper had a big game, scoring 20-points and Chau had 18-points.

Londonderry has four games left to the regular season they played Merrimack on Monday and will play Exeter at home on Friday night.

The grand opening fundraiser will raise money for the athletic program at Londonderry High School where Goyette graduated in 1993 as an honor student and athlete.

The new restaurant located at 4 Orchard View Dr., hopes to break records with its 3000 coupons distributed throughout the community offering a free regular sub as a thank you for a $3 or more donation to Londonderry High School athletic program. The fundraiser will run from Wednesday, Feb. 9 through Sunday, Feb. 13.

"We are proud of the Jersey Mike's brand and all the good it spreads nationwide, especially in such harrowing times. The culture at Jersey Mike's is to deliver top notch sandwiches and customer experience. I am very lucky to have the privilege of bringing this phenom brand to my hometown," Goyette said. "It feels full circle because Shaw's here at the Apple Tree Mall was my first job in high school. It's exciting and nostalgic and an honor to hopefully become a staple in the community."

Goyette is an exemplary Jersey Mike's franchise owner who shares the company's commitment to quality products and superior customer experience, and who is dedicated to giving back to the local community. With a 25-year background in commercial finance, Goyette not only chose the Jersey Mike's family based on its culture, trajectory, and opportunity in New England. He was also compelled by the March Month of Giving throughout the brand. Opening three stores in the last eight months, starting in Exeter, NH last May, Goyette can't wait for his three locations to participate in Jersey Mike's Month of Giving this March.

The first philanthropy event Goyette participated in after committing to Jersey Mike's was helping construct a playground in Randolph, MA that honored fallen officer, DJ Simmonds, who lost his life while apprehending the Boston Marathon bombers. This left an indelible mark on his decision to join the Jersey Mike's family. Since 2010, Jersey Mike's locations throughout America have raised more than $41 million for local charities directly impacting the communities they serve. Goyette is eager to charge into this March's Month of Giving in Londonderry. He is confident that his hometown will significantly contribute to the national effort.

At heart, Goyette is a sub guy. He loves the menu. When asked what to try first, Goyette suggested, "The #13, the Original Italian he recommends trying it Mike's way - with onions, lettuce, tomatoes, red wine vinegar and olive oil blend, oregano and salt. It's all about the juice."

The store hours are 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., seven days a week. For coupons and incentives follow Jersey Mike's Londonderry on Facebook and sign up for Shore Points on the Jersey Mike's app. It's user friendly and has worthy incentives to frequent your local Jersey Mike's. You can also call the store directly to order, 603-505-4390.
