$3.5M New School District Office Plans Move Forward

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

During the Tuesday, Oct. 19 meeting of the Londonderry School Board an Ad Hoc committee presented their plans on construction of a new School District office.

The School District moved to Kitty Hawk Landing a few years ago after the building were in adjacent to the Town Hall was deemed unsafe and torn down.

The committee is made up of School Board member Bob Slater, Tony DeFrancesco, a local realtor and volunteer, the school's Business Administrator, Peter Curro, Superintendent Scott La-liberte, Facilities Director, Alan Miller, residents Jake Butler and Tim Siekmann and Marc Lehoullier a Senior Project Manager for the Trident Group.

DeFrancesco presented the findings of the committee, who started with a brief history of why the district moved to the Kitty Hawk building where they are currently renting space.

He explained that the district has always felt that this solution was a temporary one and felt that the plan they were presenting would save the taxpayers money in the long run.

DeFrancesco explained that, "Time is of the essence," and that if the district doesn't move soon, they may lose the "pad-ready" site where the school district office previously existed.

The location adjacent to Town Hall, he explained, has utilities available and will take very little site development.

He added that if that site is used there will be over a million dollars saved in cost avoidance.

DeFrancesco said that the plan would be to construct a two-story, 9,000 square foot wing to the existing Town Hall and have it look like it was constructed at the same time as the original building.

Lehoullier was instru-

School Board Approves Pay Raise for Special Ed Assistants

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry School District has had trouble filling special education assistant positions which is why the School Board recently asked the District Administration to explore options to help recruit new applicants and to retain the ones they have.

In a memo to the School Board it was pointed out by Londonderry School District Human Resources Manager Heather Meninger that during the pandemic it has been particularly difficult to fill vacancies.

"This year has been especially difficult with COVID, retirements, and general staffing shortages that have impacted every industry; the retail and service industries have increased their starting pay to $15-$20 per hour for entry level positions," she wrote in the memo. "As a comparison, our compensation rate for these positions is $13.11-$13.34 per hour."

Londonderry Business Manager Peter Curro said that he along with other staff members and the School District's legal counsel looked at different possible options but determined the only one they could go with immediately to increase pay for employees is by changing the pay grade.

"Our issues stem from the current labor

Variance

8x12 foot extension to the patio and explained that the patio was already non conforming because it only had 12 percent of green landscaping where 33 percent is required. With the extension it meant that they only had about 11 percent.

Drescher also explained that they know that they should've gotten a variance before doing the extension.

"We are the first to admit that we are here to right a wrong. This is an after the fact variance," he said.

Drescher explained that they built a wall for the patio as part of the expansion of it which they feel was an improvement to it.

He said that when the owners bought the business it was in tough shape and have continued to improve the property with the support of the landlord.

"We would contend that this is an improvement," Drescher said.

He said that they would be willing to do what is needed to rectify the situation.

"Tell us what to do and we will move forward," Drescher said.

He also said that they wouldn't be adding any more additional seats.

"Nothing is being added that expands the footprint of the building," Drescher said.

It was explained by Gregg Ryan, one of the owners of the restaurant that they wanted to make improvements to the patio because of the COVID-19 pandemic.

He said that they still have a lot of customers who go there and if the seating is full outside then they don't eat there.

"It's real, it affects us," Ryan said.

It was explained by Londonderry Zoning Administrator Nick Codner that when the owners originally went to the Planning Board to get approval to put a roof on top of the existing patio; they were told that if they wanted to expand at all they would need to get a variance from the Zoning Board of Adjustment which they didn't do until now.

Codner said that if they get a variance for the expansion they would then need to go to the Planning Board for a site plan review, and would need to bring their site plan up to compliance.

The main concern that Board members had was in regards to the safety of the wall.

One of the questions that was asked was whether or not they have had an inspection done on it.

Codner explained that since they didn't get a variance approved for it they haven't done an inspection on it.

The Board ultimately thought it was best to have the applicant supply them with an engineer report about the safety of the wall before they make a decision on the variances. The Board and Ryan both agreed to have the cases continued to their November meeting.

"We're just trying to keep it safe," Zoning Board of Adjustment Chairman Neil Dunn said.

Pay Raise

shortages but continue to be impacted by the lack of compensation we provide when compared to nearby districts. An immediate increase in pay is warranted to remain competitive and retain staff," Meninger said in the memo. "We're able to accomplish this by increasing the special education assistants from grade 3 to a grade 4. This would increase their pay an average of $2 per hour, thereby allowing us to hire at $14.99-$15.13 per hour."

Curro told the School Board that they would only be able to take an up or down vote on the proposal otherwise it would be considered negotiating. He said that if they didn't like the proposal they could consider reopening the contract but didn't think that was the best choice.

"This in our opinion is the option to address the issue now and hopefully moving forward," Curro said.

As part of the presentation Meninger also told the Board what the maximum amount it would cost the District if they decide to increase the pay.

Meninger said the maximum amount for this year would be $290,786.29 if they filled all of their vacancies by Nov. 1 which she said wouldn't likely be the case.

She said that estimated increase for next year would be $370,801.31 if they are able to fill all the vacancies.

One question during the meeting came from Heather Burke during the public comment portion of the discussion. She asked if they do exit interviews with each person who chooses to leave the district.

It was explained by Meninger that they try to but sometimes people aren't willing to come in after to take part in one.

School Board Vice Chair Sara Loughlin said that she thinks it's important for the District to limit the amount of turnover they have because of the connections they make with the students.

"I want to say I see first hand what it means to have a dedicated and committed support staff in the schools everyday," she said. "I see students who have one on one paras everyday and the connections they make with those paras are sometimes more than they make with the actual teachers."

One of the final questions asked was the approximate amount it costs the school district to send a student to a different district because they don't have the services that a particular student needs.

It was explained that the approximate cost ranges from $70,000 to $120,000 plus the cost of transportation.

The School Board ultimately approved the proposed increases with a vote of 5-0.

Now Is The Best Time To Be Heard

To all the residents who stay home while elected officials and paid department heads craft the school and town budgets. You give up your right to complain when taxes go up. Now is the time to start thinking about attending budget hearings to ask all of your questions, and state your concerns that pertain to how tax money is being spent.

As taxpayers, residents have every right to ask question, see documents, and change the way and what money is being spent, along with how much of your money is being spent.

To all the residents who stay home we expect you are satisfied with your taxes and how, and where your money is being spent.

It can be very frustrating and intimidating to state your case at a meeting and you may even feel like no one is listening. If you do, there are some other ways to get your message out. You can also send a letter to the board and ask for it to be read during the public meeting if you are unable to attend. You can write a letter to the editor to run in the paper and raise awareness to concerns.

As you can see there are ways to get your message, your questions, and your concerns out in the public for discussion.

When all of the public budget hearings are over, your next shot at participatory democracy comes at the town deliberative session, school deliberative session, and or town meeting. Where you can amend warrant articles. However at this point you cannot change the intent of the articles, you can only amend the dollar amount before the get on to the ballot.

Starting some time in the end of January until the beginning of February there is a filing period open for town and school elected positions that are open. Check the towns calendar listings for details.

In a country founded on citizen participation, in a state where the voice of the individual is honored, and in towns that are still small enough to listen to individual citizens, elected office is a possibility for anyone who cares to make the effort.

You'll have a say in what happens, you'll be responsible for helping your town move forward, you'll truly be part of your community, and you'll be part of democracy in action.

Response to School Board

To the editor,

It is interesting to see how two people can see the same facts and come to different conclusions. I view the actions of the Londonderry School Board as prudent and sound decisions. The criticism was that a majority of the Board voted to fill the vacancies and adjourned the public meeting to continue in executive session. The writer also criticized the selection of Nancy Hendricks and Greg DePasse over other potential candidates.

Here is my reasoning on this issue. First, the school attorney has advised that only the School Board has the authority to select interim members.

Second, that the Board had only three remaining members - the minimum necessary to have a quorum and conduct business. In fact when one of the remaining board members had a personal emergency, a meeting was adjourned for lack of a quorum.

Third, in reviewing the applications online, I think that Nancy and Greg were clearly the most qualified, Nancy, served several terms on the board in leadership positions, and Greg had a wealth of school administration experience. We are very fortunate that two such well qualified people volunteered given the toxic environment and huge amount of work on the school board's plate.

Fourth, while the writer did an excellent job of citing the importance of Board decisions on our property taxes, I would argue that this calls for immediate action with the most experienced people possible. In fact, I would go further in suggesting that the impending decision on the school district administrative buildings, and current labor negotiations argue that we need a full Board with the requisite experience.

With respect to the decision to adjourn the public meeting after selecting the new board members, the atmosphere in the public meeting was loud and contentious. The Board had already delayed selection of new members to allow for public interviews of all candidates and thus needed to get to work on all the outstanding school issues.

Personally, I thank the Board for their dedication and service. We will have an opportunity as an electorate to decide on the vacancies in March. It's not too soon for potential candidates to announce their intentions and qualifications. Everyone should be carefully vetted before we vote.

Hassan Campaign

To the editor,

Recently, reported that, "The Hassan campaign said its third quarter contributions came from more than 215 cities and towns in NH, 'showing the strength of Senator Hassan's grassroots support in the Granite State'.

The campaign said 95 percent of the contributions were $100 or less.

Early and record-breaking support is helping us build a campaign that is talking to voters in every community about Senator Hassan's record of solving problems for NH,' said campaign manager Aaron Jacobs."

How nice of the Hassan campaign to tell us a totally unbalanced story that has no purpose other than to treat the voters of NH like fools.

Since the Federal Election Commission has the total donations to Sept. 30 registered, but not yet broken down online, let's look at the first half year. The Hassan campaign is reported to have collected $6,168,441.36 during the first two quarters, Jan. 1, 2021 to June 30, 2021. That's an impressive amount.

What the Hassan campaign neglected to tell us was that $5,729,553.89 (92.88%) of that was from OUTSIDE NH.

They forgot to mention the dozens of $1,000 and $2,900 donations from 1,487 Californians and 1,120 New Yorkers, many of whom list themselves as "Self Employed" or "Not Employed". (Hmmm) Of course these are only two of the 49 other states, in addition to people on Guam and in foreign countries, who donated to Hassan.

If you really think Hassan is going to vote for and support the 7.12% of the donors from NH instead of the 92.88% of the non-NH donors, you might want to think again.

I hope the voters of NH will see Senator Hassan for what she is, a representative of the Democrat Party that is hellbent for establishing a socialist government in the US. They will give billions of dollars worth of "free" gifts to citizens AND to illegal non-citizens, demanding in return that they obey the dictates of non-compromising politicians and bureaucrats. That was/is the policy of Cuba, Nicaragua, the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics,

School Board Hears Presentation on Virtual Learning

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

As the COVID-19 pandemic continues it means that students in school districts across the state and country continue to have to quarantine at times due to either testing positive for COVID-19 or from being a close contact.

With that said it means that school districts have had to adapt to make sure students aren't falling behind in their classes while they aren't able to physically be in school.

During the Oct. 19 Londonderry School Board meeting the Board heard a presentation from the principals at the different schools who explained what the expectations are for staff and students when it comes to learning during quarantine.

Assistant Superintendent Dan Black explained that they surveyed the different school principals and put together a document of the different things they are doing at the schools for when a student needs to do distance learning due to COVID.

At the elementary school level it was pointed out by North Elementary School Principal Paul Dutton that they find that it's important for their students to have active participation in the lessons.

While there are times when it is appropriate for the students to be part of live engagement during quarantine they don't think it's appropriate for the whole school day.

"At the elementary level 'room and zoom' the idea of a static camera in the classroom for the duration of the school day is not developmentally appropriate for our learners. Our learners are not independent and require active learning not passive learning through a screen," Dutton said. "Throughout the school day our teachers and students are constantly moving around the classroom and interacting with each other, they are all active participants in the classroom learning process."

Londonderry Middle School Principal William Van Bennekum said that the nurses notify the curriculum coordinator for students who will be on a 10-or-20-day quarantine.

He said that throughout the pandemic the nurses have been notified about positive cases including on the weekend.

"Their work has been incredible throughout this whole pandemic," Van Bennekum said.

He also said that they set up tutoring for students who are on the long quarantine, and the amount of tutoring sessions varies depending on how much the student needs. Typically it's two times over the course of a 10 day quarantine and four days over the course of a 20 day one.

For the high school level Jason Parent, the Principal at Londonderry High School said that the most commonly used way for students to get their assignments is through Google Classroom.

He said during the meeting that they want to make sure that they have good communication and that if any students or parents or guardians are concerned about the way distance learning is going when they are in quarantine then they should reach out to the school.

"If our students or our families feel that the virtual learning environment or platform isn't going as desired please reach out to us," Parent said.

Parent said that while it's not the most ideal environment for students to be learning remotely while in quarantine they are trying to make the most out of it.

School Board member Nancy Hendricks said that she liked that there is more than one way for students and parents to be able to interact with teachers and for students to learn while they are out during quarantine.

"I'm pleased to hear that there's not a one size fits all," she said.

She also echoed the fact that it's imperative that parents and guardians reach out if they have any questions about distance learning.

It was asked by School Board member Bob Slater if they would be able to put the full document presented to the Board on the School District's website. Superintendent Scott Laliberte said they would be doing so the next morning.

School Board member Greg DePasse suggested that they send out constant reminders about the policies through emails so parents and guardians know what they should be doing when their child is out for an extended period of time.

The full handout presented to the School Board can be found on the Londonderry School District website.

Erin Matlin Becomes the New Director at Leach Library

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

When Erin Matlin, the new Director of the Leach Library, was 15 years old when she got her first job at a library working as a library page where she helped with shelving books and with programs.

A few years later when she was a junior at Franklin Pierce College, in Rindge, she realized that being a librarian is what she wanted to do.

"To be honest, I did not realize I wanted to be a librarian until my third year of college,"

Matlin said. "I had been working in libraries all through high school and would come back during the summers while I was in college to help out and I realized that third year that I really enjoyed the work, decided to change my career path to include getting my Graduate degree and become a librarian. I have no regrets."

Since becoming a librarian she has had the opportunity to work in all the different areas libraries have to offer.

"I have been a librarian for over 19 years. I have had the opportunity to work in every department in a library and those experiences have made me appreciate this career and those who work it so much more," Matlin said.

Matlin said that while some things have changed for libraries over the years she enjoys being able to help the community through the different services they provide.

"I love being a librarian and working in a library. Libraries are such special places where we can serve any age of the population and offer so many wonderful services," Matlin said. "Of course, the way we serve the public has changed over time, the overall goal is the same; to provide a space with resources that will benefit and enrich the lives of all members of our community."

Originally from Long Island NY she spent some time in MA before settling in Derry over six years ago with her family.

When Matlin heard about the opening at the Leach Library she knew that it would be a good fit.

"I was very excited to see the position for Library Director in Londonderry become available," Matlin said. "With my previous job being a 40 minute commute and in Mass., I was excited to have a chance to work close to home and in NH. I also think that Leach Library has done some amazing things for the community and I was looking forward to being part of that."

Matlin said that she is excited to be part of the community in her new role.

"I am thankful and excited about this opportunity and look forward to working with the Londonderry community," she said.

Zoning Board Approves Sign Change for Gas Station

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

At the Oct. 20 Zoning Board of Adjustment meeting one of the cases was in regards to a variance to allow a change to a non-conforming sign, without losing its preexisting status.

The applicant was Midwest Convenience/Sunoco and The Matarozzo Family Trust and the location for the sign was for 66 Nashua Road.

Representing the owners was Carolyn Parker, who said they are going to be going from a Speedway gas station to a Sunoco and they would be maintaining the same location for the sign and it would have the same square footage as now. They would also be adding the name of the convenience store to the sign which is called Rebel.

"It has been in the same location for 40 years," she told the Board.

Since it is already a non-conforming sign she explained that they have to get a variance approved by the Board anytime they make any changes.

Because they are adding the name for the convenience store she said that they will be lowering the font for the LED lettering for the price sign from 14 inches to 12 inches.

Board Chairman Neil Dunn said that his concern with the proposed content of the sign is that it would look cluttered because it would have the two different business names on it.

Parker said that since the Sunoco gas station and the convenience store are two separate businesses they both want to have visible signage.

One of the questions that was asked by the Board was in regards to what makes their circumstances unique for why they should be allowed to not have the required setbacks.

Parker explained that the property starts further back from the road than most properties so in order for it to meet the 15 foot setbacks it would have to be in the parking lot where people drive in and out.

Before they took a vote, Dunn asked if they should put any restrictions on the electronic sign saying that it can't be flashing or moving. It was pointed out that those restrictions already exist on it.

The Board ultimately approved the variance for the sign.

Parker said that the other variance that they were looking for would be to allow them to have a third sign on the property. She said that however, when she went to get a permit for the second sign she was told that it was too big which meant that she needed to get a variance for it.

"I don't think I can ask for a third one when I don't have a second one," Parker said.

She ultimately asked to have the case withdrawn without prejudice and said that she would apply for a new variance for the second and third signs. The Board approved the request to have the case for the third sign withdrawn without prejudice.

 cted by the committee to develop and send out a RFP to construct the building.

DeFrancesco said they had eight responses and interviewed three contractors.

He went on to say that the current interest rates for bonds are at about two percent and the anticipated cost for the new wing would be between $3.3 and 3.5 million. They were looking at a 20-year bond for the building.

They group was hoping to get the request to the taxpayer on the March 2022 ballot and if it passes they would be in the new building the following year.

By moving, the School District would owe their current landlord $300,000 and could be paid by adding to the bond or be taken out of the unassigned fund balance.

Lehoullier explained that there is currently some issues with construction materials but hoped that would clear up by the time they start construction.

Curro explained that two large bonds would be paid off in the next two years, one would be a High School bond and the other is a maintenance bond, so this would be a good time for the project.

He also added that he thought a ten-year bond would work better than a 20-year.

DeFrancesco added that the ad hoc committee was hoping to get the project on the ballot in March, but needed $98,500 to get started and to get an exact figure on the total cost.

Curro said that the cost for that would come out of unused general fund money.

DeFrancesco finished by reiterating the need to move quickly to save the taxpayers money on the pad-ready site adding that the site may not be available down the road.

He and Slater had talked to the Town Council the night before and felt that if they moved soon, there wouldn't be an issue with using that site.

Chool Board member Sara Loughlin wondered if 9,000 square feet was really need and she was told by Curro that the amount was a bit less than what they are using currently.

New member Greg DePasse wanted to know whether the school district would have the support of the town on this project.

Town Council chairman John Farrell was attending the meeting and explained that if the plan moves forward there is about $300,000 that can be contributed to the construction and that the town solicitor is currently looking at ways to make that happen. He also explained they have no plans for the space at this time, but, he does not have control over future board decisions.

Member Nancy Hendricks wondered whether the school district would own the land that they built a $3.3 million building on and it was explained that the town would be possibly be leasing the land to them for about one dollar a year.

The board voted to move forward with the allocation of the $98,500 for the district office and supporting information will be requested.

The vote passed 4-1, with the chair, Amy Finamore voted against it.

Alarming Development Overreach

To the editor,
 Back On July 19 I attended the Town Council meeting where a zoning change to "Multi-family Residential-III" was granted for properties located at 20 and 22 Young Rd. I was alarmed by the specifics of the development plan presented by DHB Homes and Meisner Brem Corp. (engineers).

While growth in Londonderry is expected and inevitable, the proposal that was presented includes over 50 homes sited on small lots and interconnected with roads only 22 feet wide (which is below town code). With only a single inlet/outlet to the development, this raises serious concerns about accessibility by emergency vehicles, particularly for homes located furthest in. The plan also includes building homes out over the current gas company easement that runs north-south through the western portion of the proposed development.

The proposed development will be the topic of review in upcoming Planning Board meetings and it is my hope that the board will rein in this development overreach and place public safety ahead of profit to arrive at a more sensible plan.

Lancer Field Hockey Team Gets to Quarters With OT Win

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry High School Field Hockey team treated their home crowd to an exciting 2-1 win in the first round of the New Hampshire Interscholastic Athletic Association's Division I Championships last week.

After that big win, the Lady Lancers were not able to topple the number one seeded Exeter High School Lady Blue Hawks in the quarter-final round.

The LHS team started the tournament on Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 20, as the number eight-seeded team in the bracket and hosting the Keene High School Lady Blackbirds who were seeded ninth in the tournament.

The two teams were very evenly matched and both battled for possession throughout the scoreless first period.

In the second period Keene took the lead in the contest with a goal at 9:26 left in the half.

Lancer senior forward Rease St. Gelais scored with help from fellow senior Katherine Doherty to tie the game at 1-1 with just over three minutes left in the game.

The score stayed knotted at one for the remainder of the game despite the strong offensive push put forth by the Lady Lancers

Blue Devils Deliver Lancers First Loss of the Season

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry High School Football squad 2021 season's unbeaten streak ended on Friday night, Oct. 22, when the team traveled to Salem High School and were beaten by a very good Blue Devil bunch 35-21.

The Lancers came into the game riding high on a seven game unbeaten streak while Salem was mounting a three game streak of their own, coming off wins against Nashua North, Keene and Windham.

The LHS squad's starting quarterback, senior Aidan Washington was back in action after being sidelined with a leg injury suffered during the Mack Plaque game in September.

The Lancers knew the win would be a difficult one from the very first drive, when they were stuffed on two running plays and had an incomplete pass to go three and out to start the game.

The Salem Blue Devils were the first to get on the board that night, with a 75-yard touchdown run against the Lancer defense on just the second play of Salem's first drive.

Lancer running back Jake Schena put his team in good field position with an exceptional run during their second possession of the game, but after a tipped pass attempt went into the hands of a Salem defender, Londonderry's second drive ended with Salem starting at on their 35-yard line.

The first turn over of the game resulted in a long drive possession for Salem and they added seven more points to start the second quarter.

Down by 14-points early in the game, a position LHS hadn't been in this season, the Lancer quarterback put Londonderry in excellent position to score with a 36-yard keeper, putting the Lancers at Salem's 37-yard line.

Hayden Austin added a 27-yard run one play later setting up the first LHS points of the evening with an eventual 19-yard touchdown run by full back Matthew Perron. Londonderry was pushed back 10-yards after a holding penalty in that productive drive.

Salem next drive ended with a incomplete pass on fourth down, but that optimistic drive for LSH ended quickly with another interception at the 3:25 mark in the second quarter.

The second Lancer turnover of the game resulted in seven more points for Salem for a two-touchdown lead going into the halftime break 21-7.

Londonderry tried for a long pass play as the period was ending, but that resulted in Washington throwing his third interception of the evening.

The game looked as though it was going to go in Londonderry's favor after an interception of their own, but the Lancers were not able to capitalize on the turnover.

Lancer senior Aidan Washington was back after his injury but had a tough night, throwing four interceptions in Salem.

In the next Londonderry possession, Washington was replaced by Drew Heenan, and he helped get the game to within one touchdown when Perron had a six-yard run into the end zone, making the game 21-14.

In the fourth quarter, Salem scored two more touchdowns and Londonderry only scored once for the for the two touchdown loss.

That tough loss puts Londonderry at 7-1 heading into the final game of the regular season. That game will be at home against another tough Division I opponent. The Nashua North Titans will head into Lancer Park on Friday night, Oct. 29, coming off a 42-41 final seconds win over the Pinkerton Academy Astros.

Lady Lancers Finish Season with Four Straight Wins

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry High School Girls' Soccer team will be riding a four-game winning streak as the head into the New Hampshire Interscholastic Athletic Association Division I playoffs.

The Lady Lancer squad finished out the regular season with convincing wins against four division opponents. In the last two weeks they have outscored their adversaries 18-2 and will enter this week's tournament as the number 10 seed in the bracket with their 9-7 overall record.

Last week, the Londonderry team finished the regular season with two home games played under the lights behind the High School.

On Tuesday night, Oct. 19, the team hosted the Nashua North Lady Titans and beat that team in a 5-0 shutout on what was a rather cold and windy night.

Londonderry scored three of its five goals in the first half.

Junior Drea Dwyer was the first to score, with the assist going to freshman Reagan Anderson in the 12th minute of the game.

Senior Brynn Foster was second to score, she was assisted in the 26th minute from fellow senior Ashlyn Doucette.

In the 37th minute, senior Deven Bizzarro hit the net assisted by senior Ashley Manor.

Junior Mia Stowell scored the only two goals of the second half in the shutout.

One of the goals was assisted by Manor and the other was unassisted.

The Lady Lancer squad had a staggering 16 shots on the opponent while Londonderry goal tender Liana Sawyer only needed to make one save.

In the final game of the season, at home against the girls from Alvirne High School, Londonderry celebrated their senior members and beat the Lady Broncos 4-1.

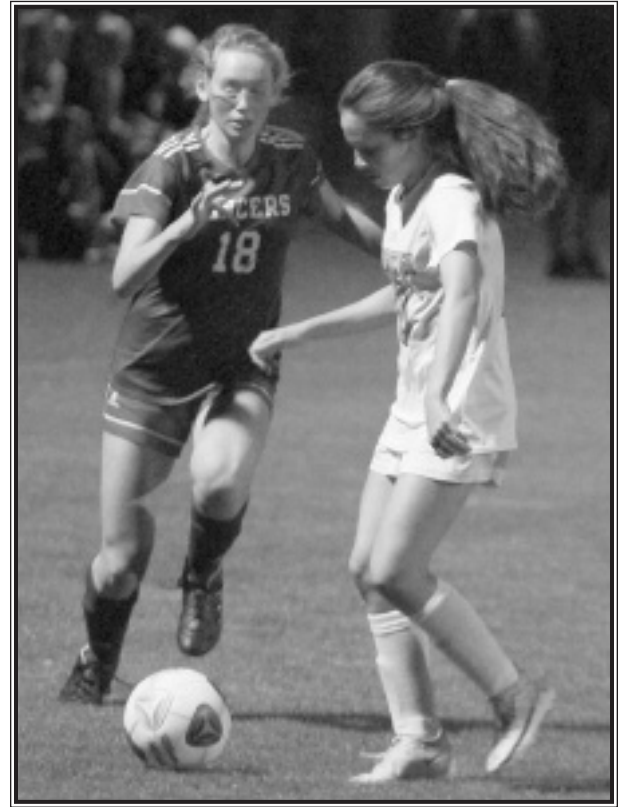

Goals in the first half were both by Londonderry, senior Madison LeClair scored with an assist from Bizzarro and Manor had a goal on a penalty kick near the 30-minute mark.

The Lady Broncos cut their deficit in half with the first goal in the second period, but Stowell and Anderson combined for two more unanswered strikes.

Londonderry had 13 shots on the goal in the game while Alvirne managed eight. Sawyer made five saves in the victory.

The Lady Lancers will take their four game winning streak into the DI Tournament at Exeter High School on Wednesday, Oct. 27, to face the number seven seeded Lady Blue Hawks who finished at 10-4-2.

Londonderry faced Exeter in the first game of the season and lost 5-1, but are hoping momentum will help get through the first round of the playoffs.

Lancer Boys Soccer Finishes Regular Season Strong

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry High School Boys' Soccer squad finished their regular season last week with two commanding wins and will take their 11-5 record into the Division I playoffs as the number six seed and will host Pinkerton Academy in the first round of the tournament.

The final week of the season started on Tuesday, Oct. 19, with a trip to Nashua North High School facing the 7-8

Titans at Stellos.

In that one-sided contest the Londonderry boys outpaced their opponent by a final score of 4-1, with three of the goals coming from senior Owen Gingrow. Fellow senior Devin Sen was the other Lancer to find the back of the Nashua net.

Gingrow's first goal came at the five-minute mark in the first half with the assist coming from Tyler Kraft.

Three minutes later Gingrow put his second score in with a pass from senior John Baumann.

Devin Sen made it 3-0 in the 23rd minute of the first half with the assist going to Kraft for his second of the game.

Gingrow scored his final goal of the game in the 62nd minute of the second half with the assist gong to Sam Street.

North's only goal came in the 76th minute

Londonderry sophomore goaltender Jason Reilly made four saves in the win, including a key stop at the end of the first on a penalty kick.

Head coach Todd Ellis commented, "We really rebounded well after our tough loss, and I was able to get everyone into the game. We moved some players around for the game today and it produced a nice result. When we limit our touches, move off the ball, and defend well, we are successful and fun to watch."

In the final game of the regular season, the Lancers were on the road again, this time in Hudson against the 6-8-1 Alvirne Broncos.

The LHS squad took that game 3-1 with goals by Kraft, Cristian Levantovski-Correa and John Baumann.

The Lancers scored twice in the first half, with Kraft getting his on a Penalty Kick in the 36th minute and Levantovski-Correa getting his two minutes later from Kraft.

The final Lancer goal came in the second half when Baumann had nice half volley in minute 52.

Reilly made three saves in the game.

Ellis said after the game, "Alvirne did a nice job of getting numbers behind the ball. Fortunately, we were able to do enough to get the win and secure the sixth seed for the playoffs."

Lady Lancer Volleyball Finishes Season with Three Wins

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry High School Girls' Volleyball team finished the regular season last week with three victories against division opponents, dropping just one game in the three matches.

With those victories, the Lady Lancers finished the season with an outstanding 13-5 record and will be entering the NHIAA Division I playoffs as the number six seed and will host their first round game.

The Londonderry girls started the week on Monday night, Oct. 18 with a home contest against the Lady Purple Panthers of Nashua South High School and won that match in straight sets.

Senior Kelsey Sanborn had 13 kills, and four aces in the win.

Junior Lexi Small finished with 22 assists and two aces while junior Madi Saucier had six kills and two aces.

Senior Laura Haas helped the team with four digs and three aces.

Junior Bella Elgueza-bal had four digs and two aces in the win.

After that convincing victory, the team headed to the Queen City on Wednesday, Oct. 20, to play Manchester Central where they faced a Little Green Team that only had one win this season.

The Lancer ladies made sure they didn't get their second as they improved to 12-5 with a 3-0 shutout win.

Highlights in the game include: Junior Ashley Sarazin getting four kills and two blocks; junior Samantha Fortier managed six digs; and Saucier contributed four kills and four aces in the rather easy win for the team.

The final game of the regular season was at home Friday night, Oct. 22 against the Alvirne High School Lady Broncos (6-12).

The final home game also served as the team's senior night, where each of the graduating players were recognized for their efforts. This year the team will be losing four graduating seniors. Laura Haas, Abby Sakellar, Kelsey Sanborn and Abby Woodruff were all presented gifts before the start of the game.

The Lancer squad got their thirteenth win in that match and dropped just one of the four games played. In the lost game the LHS squad got behind early by a wide margin but finished with a close 25-23 edging.

Sanborn finished with nine kills and five aces.

Haas had 11 digs and four aces, while Woodruff hammered six kills and Sakellar added four assists and three digs.

The Lady Lancers will host the Nashua North Lady Titans in the first round of the playoffs Thursday, Oct. 28, starting at 6 p.m. Nashua is the number 11 seed and finished the season on an eight game winning streak with a 10-8 record.

They lost to Londonderry 3-2 at the end of September.

Field Hockey

throughout the third and fourth periods.

In the fourth quarter, the Keene goalie kept her team in the game after a penalty was called inside the shooting circle.

Londonderry's big offensive standout, junior Meghan Daileanes was denied the go-ahead goal on the penalty shot taken just in front of the Keene goal tender.

After the final seconds of regulation play ended in the 1-1 tie, the LHS offensive efforts continued through the first ten-minute overtime period, but both team's were able to keep the ball out of their respective goals.

The Lancer ladies had a number of attempts failed in the Blackbird end of the field.

In the second overtime period, Daileanes broke through the Keene defense and barreled her way past the Blackbird goalie for the double overtime game-winning goal.

Londonderry junior goal tender Kathryn Martin made five saves in the game.

The jubilant Lady Lancer squad marched off the field with a much-deserved victory, but knew they would have a much tougher time in their second round game of the playoffs.

In that contest, the Londonderry crew had to travel to Exeter High School to face a Lady Blue Hawks team who only lost one game in the regular season and had only given up a total of nine goals and scored 68. The LHS bunch was not able to get on the board and Exeter scored four goals to move on in the playoff while the Lancers season ended.

CDC, Medical Professionals Recommend Caution This Halloween

MELISSA BETH RUIZ
LONDONDERRY TIMES

This year's Halloween may be just a little bit closer to what families had been used to before COVID-19 came along.

Rochelle Walensky, director of the Center for Disease Control, made a statement this past Sunday regarding trick-or-treating as the pandemic continues.

"I would say put on those costumes, stay outside, and enjoy your trick-or-treating...it's critically important that we gather, that we be together with family and friends during these holidays, and we have the prevention strategies that we know work to be safe for (them)." said Walensky.

While this is encouraging, continuing cases of COVID-19 and the Delta variant do remain a concern. Though vaccinations offer some protection, there are those ineligible to receive a vaccine, or who remain at greater risk.

To ensure the safety of children and grandparents, or others who might not yet be equipped to handle the scarier germs, trick-or-treaters, their chaperones, and candy providers should still follow a few basic guidelines.

Walensky reminded that outdoor activities, such as those with ample space between others, are still safer than those done indoors. However, avid haunted house seekers may still enjoy some of the neighborhood's indoor attractions, if they have a limited guest count, proper ventilation, and properly-fitting face coverings on at all times.

Dr. Shira Doron of Tufts Medical Center to NBC Boston this year, said "...I don't even recommend a mask outdoors, unless it's a ghost mask."

Anyone who feels ill or has symptoms of COVID-19 or even a cold or flu should sit this Halloween out and settle in for a night.

Some of last year's considerations may still come in handy this year. Those with compromised immunity who would still like to hand out candy might consider putting an "honor bowl" while greeting from a safe distance, indoors if possible.

Those who are more creative can take a page from last year's pandemic Halloween book and fashion a "candy chute" or catapult for kids to catch candy.

Upon coming home, trick-or-treaters, and parents should wash their hands before eating any candy. Hands should be washed with plenty of soap and water for at least 20 seconds at a time.

This year may be more relaxed than last year in many ways, but keeping each other at ease should still be a priority.

NH Callers to Enter Area Codes Starting Sunday

MONIQUE BRAND
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Since last week, New Hampshire will be among the many states that will need to use 10-digit dialing for local calls, due to a national rule change that will enable a quick way to call the National Suicide Prevention Lifeline.

Vermont is also added to the ongoing list.

People with the area codes 603 (New Hampshire residents) and 802 (Vermont residents), will need to dial the area code and then the seven-digit telephone number for local calls as well as ones to other area codes, according to the Federal Communications Commission (FCC), which regulates interstate communications.

For those who don't comply, calling the seven digits alone in both of those states will result in a recording being played about needing to dial all 10 digits to make calls.

The reason behind the change is to allow the FCC to set up the number 988 as the line for the National Suicide Prevention Lifeline across the country, much as 911 is used for emergencies and 311 for local government.

But 988 is also used as the first three digits of phone numbers in 82 area codes across 35 states, according to the FCC, including New Hampshire. Those area codes are the ones being transitioned to 10-digit calling on Sunday, so the local 988 numbers can still be reached.

NH residents can still use other three digit dialing services such as 7-1-1 (relay services) and 2-1-1 (public resources).

According to a news release from the state's department of emergency services, emergency officials urged the public to change any computers, like fax machines or alarm systems, programmed to make seven-digit calls, and for locals to add the area code into their emergency contact information, stationary, email signatures and other places where their number is listed.

To reach the National Suicide Prevention Lifeline before 988 goes into effect - around next July - call 1-800-273-8255 (1-800-273-TALK).
