School Board Begins to Discuss Upcoming Goals

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

After voters in town voted in support of the proposed operating budget and a $5-million bond to improve the infrastructure of the schools, the School Board discussed potential goals for the Spring and Summer.

“With the Budget behind us, I was hoping to have a discussion that we can start on March 21 and continue to tease out the School Board’s priorities for how we use our meeting time over the Spring and Summer of 2023,” Superintendent, Dan Black, said in a memo to the School Board.

One of the things that Black pointed to is master planning, saying they can give updates on the bond process as they move ahead with it.

Another area that Black suggested they discuss during upcoming board meetings is safety upgrades.

“We can update the board as more of the projects are set up and completed,” he said.

Other things that Black suggested they look at during the school board meetings coming up could focus on short curriculum updates, student presentations, and setting up the district for the release of a new five years of the strategic plan for the Fall of 2024.

School Board Chair, Bob Slater, said he likes the idea of having periodic updates on where they are academically as a district so people can

On-Going Mammoth Road Issues Raised at Traffic Safety Meeting

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Traffic Safety Committee met for the first of their four yearly meetings on Monday night, April 3, with the most attention on an issue Mammoth Road residents are having with speeding and the intersection at Grenier Field Road.

There has been an ongoing problem with speeding on Mammoth Road, with drivers using that old section of town as a cut-through and about 20 concerned citizens attended the meeting to see what could be done.

Londonderry Police Chief, Kim Bernard, acknowledged the ongoing concern and gave a brief overview of past infractions at the intersection.

Bernard explained that he has gone through the reports generated over the past seven years and most of the accidents, since 2016, were due to drivers failing to yield and going through the intersection without stopping. Police responded to between three and four accidents at the intersection in those seven years.

Committee member and Fire Chief, Darren O’Brien, whose lived in the area for over 30-years, said that there has been a few things done over the years to make improvements, which has helped, but the speeding issue is still a major problem.

O’Brien also mentioned that despite the “No Thru Trucking” signs that are posted on the road, trucks travel through there at all hours.

He said he’s seen patrols on the road, but feels that speeding drivers see them, slow down, and as soon as the police leave, the problem persist.

Committee Chairman, Bob Ramsay, acknowledged that during his

School Board Approve 2023-2024 School Calendar

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The School Board approved the 2023-2024 school calendar during their March 21 meeting.

Superintendent, Dan Black, said the proposed calendar was “highly vetted” and was created in the AD Council.

From there Black said they allowed time for “comments from the different unions and then checked many times over for compliance with our CBA contracts, federal holidays, and all other issues we need to manage with a School Calendar.”

One of the major changes made for this year’s school calendar is switching a workshop day from October to February, in order to accommodate the Presidential Primary.

Black explained that with the amount of people who come to the fieldhouse to vote that day, it becomes extremely difficult to have kids in school that day.

“From what we know now, the New Hampshire Presidential Primary is scheduled for February

6, 2024,” Black said in a memo to the School Board. “Due to the size of the vote, we typically close down school that day to help prioritize the vote and manage traffic on Mammoth Road. Whatever day the NH Primary Day happens, we will shift that workshop day.”

Another change was moving the November Parent Conferences “back a little.”

“We are cognizant of the problems with ‘No School November’ and also internally we have been having conversations to better aligned our natural report card timelines and parent conferences,” Black said. “For that reason, we moved the Parent Conference Day in November away from election day because we do not need it then, it was moved to a later Friday in November so we have a less fractured and disjointed November Calendar.”

Black said they “believe” that by next year they are going to push Parent Conferences to early December, which is when they have to plan for a federal election in November of 2024. He noted they made adjustments and scattered the conferences so there wouldn’t be any overlap.

Under the school calendar, the first day of school will be on Aug. 29 and the last day of school for Moose Hill will be June 10 and on June 13 for all other schools.

Thanksgiving holiday break will be from Nov. 22-24, and Winter holiday break will be from December 25-January 1. February break will take place from February 26-March 1. April break will take place from April 22-26.

Black noted that this year they could only have five snow days until they ran into the Juneteenth holiday, and next year they would be able to have seven snow days saying it’s a more “favorable June calendar,” than this year.

No members of the School Board objected to the proposed calendar.

The next School Board meeting is slated to take place on April 6.

School Board Approve Changes to LMS Program of Studies

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The School Board discussed proposed changes to the Londonderry Middle School Program of Studies during their March 21 meeting.

Principal, William Van Bennekum, said that normally they just make some grammatical or minor updates to the Program of Studies, however, this year they were proposing more substantive changes.

“But actually this evening we do have some program changes,” Van Bennekum said.

Van Bennekum said they have taken some proactive steps to provide new student opportunities this year.

One of the changes is for computer sciences. It was explained they moved up a seventh grade class to a sixth grade class called “Digital Skills and Applications.”

It was explained by Londonderry Middle School Curriculum Coordinator, Meaghan Nason, that they shifted it up to help engage students in what makes a computer a computer and about various careers in computer science among other things.

A new seventh grade computer science course was also proposed, which will have a focused approach to robotics for students.

The new courses that will be offered are non performance or music alternatives options, where seventh and eighth grade students will be able to take a class per semester, instead of performance or exploring music.

It was explained by Londonderry Middle School Assistant Principal, David Sutherland, that they are excited to offer their students different courses and the courses were “born out of a task force” that was focused on scheduling.

Sutherland said there is a shift in students picking music at the middle school and wanted to come up with different non performance options, while also keeping their robust music program intact. He added that they worked with teachers to come up with the courses they would be offering.

“We meet with them repeatedly to find out how we can make sure that when we offer these options that we communicate in a way to the students that we still value the music program that we have and want them to stay in here and not go to these other course packages if they were very much interested,” Sutherland said.

He said they have seen little to no drop in students leaving chorus or band in seventh and eighth grade.

“That means our kids that really want music are still doing it,” Sutherland said.

One question raised by Vice Chair, Sara Loughlin, was who would be teaching the different classes.

Sutherland said they would be taught by teachers from different departments.

Loughlin asked if they would be following a curriculum, which Sutherland said is being developed for the different courses.

Loughlin said she liked that they will have a variety of classes they can offer and not just performing classes.

“I do like the variety and I think little kids are often getting nagged about taking music year after year when they have no interest in it,” Loughlin said.

School Board member, Amanda Butcher, also noted that when students have an interest they are motivated in the classes.

School Board member, Kevin Gray, said he liked the addition of the computer science classes.

The School Board unanimously approved the changes to the program of studies.

Senior Resources Committee Optimistic About Its Future

PAUL CONYERS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Senior Resources Committee came together for March 21 meeting to discuss where to go next with 2023 events. The focus so far has been to gather feedback from the public for new ideas, while looking into new locations for events, especially this year's Senior Expo next Fall.

Surveys for what Londonderry residents hoped to see at the 2023 Expo are still coming in and will be until March 2023. Police liaison, Patrick Cheetham, described the survey results as being "across the board," with no consensus over when to hold the Expo, where to hold it, or what events to have.

Even with few solid ideas so far, Committee Senior Resources Chair, Jim Green, suggested moving the 2023 Expo to a different venue.

"We were thinking of moving from the [Londonderry] High School gym to the cafeteria for this year's activity," said Green. "We want less crossover with the sports teams, and we want a large room to do some classes during the Expo."

As the cafeteria has limited parking, another suggestion included renting golf carts to shuttle attendees to the Expo. While the Committee hoped to have a solid plan in place by the end of April, with a date sometime in the Fall.

The Committee plans to have a booth at Old Home Day more extensive than the small presence Senior Resources had at the event in 2022.

"The biggest thing we need for the Expo is volunteers and more definitive ideas about what people want to see," said Cheetham. He encouraged Londonderry citizens to send the Senior Resources Committee ideas for the Expo. "We appreciate all suggestions; we take comments seriously."

Erin Matlin announced that the Leach Library after dark has several events planned for April, including a Library After Dark screening of Casablanca and a puzzle exchange. The library gave away "450 puzzles" at the event last year.

Director of Senior Affairs, Ilona Arndt, announced the start of "about a dozen new programs" at the Londonderry Senior Center, including a Jam Session on Sunday April 16 from 2 to 5 p.m.

"We're just going to open the door to the Senior Center for its members, and Londonderry senior citizens over 55," explained Arndt. "I don't know if I'm going to have 20 people or 200 people, but we're going to have a coffee shop atmosphere with coffee, and tea, and we're going to ask for donations, there's no fee. I'm going to ask people to bring snacks if they want to, we'll see what happens."

Arndt also outlined a few more practical resources from the senior center, including legal help for senior citizens, a St. Patrick's Day breakfast on March 31, and a rabies vaccination center for pets. "I'm hoping to integrate the senior center into town functions."

Londonderry Senior Resources Committee is scheduled to hold its next meeting on Tues. April 18 at 6 p.m., in the Sunnycrest Conference Room.

Heritage Commission Continues Review of Proposed Warehouse

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Heritage Commission reviewed a proposed site plan for the construction of a warehouse and storage facility that would be located at 88A Harvey Road during their latest meeting on March 23.

Nathan Chamberlin of Fieldstone Land Consultants was representing the owner at the meeting and he explained that the project was originally in front of the Heritage Commission last year and they have since incorporated comments from that meeting.

One of the differences is that instead of building two one story buildings, which would be 24,800 and 25,800 square feet, they are proposing to build one large building instead.

"The applicant wants to put it in one big warehouse," said Chamberlin, saying it would be about 58,000 square feet and isn't as big as some other warehouses.

He explained that they would have a couple of offices in the front and a loading dock in the back.

One of the proposed changes came in regards to the landscaping plan.

"We added some lilacs," Chamberlin said, noting it was a comment made during the previous meeting.

Another item that was asked to be addressed during the previous meeting was the stone wall in front of the site. Chamberlin said they were able to move it onto the site. It was said previously if they could restore it.

For signage, he said they will be going with a 10 foot monument sign with a stone base.

"I think it's a really good looking sign," Chamberlin said.

Another question asked was whether or not there would be a single tenant or more than one. Chamberlin said it likely will be one, but they would be able to accommodate more than one.

"Possibly two tenants," said Chamberlin.

Another question that was asked was whether or not there would be more than one sign.

"At this time, just the free standing sign," said Chamberlin.

It was also asked if they would have separate signs if they have more than one tenant there. Chamberlin said they have separate signs if it's allowed.

Heritage Commission Chair, Krystopher Kenney, said that overall the plan looks a lot better compared to when they went to the Heritage Commission the first time.

"The landscape looks much better," Kenney said.

Kenney said they would need to provide a full lighting plan for the next meeting and it was also asked to confirm if the different tenants would have different signs.

When asked if they would have lighting on all night, Chamberlin noted they would likely have motion sensor lighting, but would provide a full plan.

The next Heritage Commission meeting is slated for May 25.

Is Free Speech Worth Fighting For?

Why are we so quiet?

Free speech is one of the fundamental principles enshrined to us in the First Amendment of the U.S. Constitution. "Congress shall make no law... abridging the freedom of speech."

Free speech is described as the freedom to express opinions and ideas without limitations or hindrances. It's ones liberty to speak without being censored or limited.

This fundamental liberty, the right to free speech, the right to peaceably assemble, the right to free press, and the right to petition your government are essential to preserving a healthy democracy.

The First Amendment right entitles and empowers you to hold your representatives accountable year-round. It enables you to have your say about policy and politics.

It is important to use your voice and question decisions you don't agree with or understand.

Free speech did not come cheap or easy and many people died on our behalf so we, as free Americans, could enjoy this right.

Freedom of speech gives you the opportunity to express your thoughts, opinions, views, and ideas without restrictions or obstacles.

It's ones right to speak without being censored. However, the freedom to express ourselves is becoming limited.

It is best to come to public meetings and voice your concerns and opinions in a public forum. If for some reason you can't attend, you should be able to write a letter and have it read in public.

Free speech is critical for individuals. It is very important that people have the right to say what they feel, express their ideas, and question authority. It is important to understand and question policy issues and politics.

In a dictatorship you lack this right to speak freely. There is no ability to question the government. This form of government allows complete control by the state even though government is meant to work for the people by the people. This is why our founders made this amendment number one. One could say that free speech is useful for developing and testing ideas in search of truth.

If all you hear is only one voice you are left with a very unbalanced perspective. That is why it is good to have lots of point of views.

If you agree that free speech is essential, that government should not restrict its critics, and that everyone has the right to support any causes they believe in, then it is time to reclaim your independence and freedom. I hope to see you speaking at meetings.

I leave you with this quote from Janis Joplin, "Freedom's just another name for nothing left to lose".

Recent Events

To the editor,

Let me say first that I am new resident of New Hampshire. I read the Londonderry Times in order to learn about the goings on of my new hometown and get educated on how things work. Coming from a large city, I didn't vote on the city or school budgets. We didn't elect a school board. I am also attempting to learn what a Town Moderator is. So the Times is very educational for me.

What I am sensing is somewhat of an autocratic central government. From the reorganization plan that eliminated a position and how it was handled, even though a large amount of people spoke against the elimination, to holding elections in the middle of a snowstorm. In the last two issues of the paper were LTE that that helped lead me to this conclusion. The most recent one, from Jane Cooper, expresses my feelings very well.

I was very much looking forward to my first election. I wasn't however going to risk my life to vote. It was impossible for me to get my car out and a warning from Ever-source advising that there are down wires near me. Nor was I aware that absentee ballots were available on Monday. There needs to be better communication from the Town. Perhaps push notifications to peoples cell phones.

While Londonderry was not the only town to proceed with elections, 70 other communities made the decision to postpone elections. It's sad that approximately 10% of the eligible citizens made decisions for all of us on March 14. Better luck next year.

Don't Stifle Speech

To the editor,

I have some questions regarding how the Town of Londonderry holds Effective Public Meetings under RSA 91-A:2. Town Council Chairman John Farrell gave rules for public comment at the 3.20.23 organizational meeting, but are they even enforceable? I don't believe so!

The Town Council received a presentation from Stephen C. Buckley Esq. of the NH Municipal Association on 06/22/2017 regarding setting rules and regulations for public comment. THREE of our current 2023 Councilors were in attendance: John Farrell, Jim Butler, and Ted Combes. The NHMA clearly advised the Town that public bodies: CAN set a time limit, CAN set the place and order of Agenda in which public comment can happen, and CAN restrict fighting words. The NHMA clearly advised the Town that they: CANNOT regulate all other speech by the public body that would not constitute fighting words.

On April 18th 2018, The Town Council adopted the rules referenced by current-Chairman Farrell. Then-Chairman Tom Dolan stated at this meeting that many of these adopted rules were "aspirational" and "not enforceable." I.E.

while they may serve as an effective guide for what productive comment "may" look like, these rules would simply be recommendations, not enforceable as a matter of policy, and not able to be used to curtail citizen's speech during Public Comment. Current-Chairman Farrell was in attendance and voted in favor of these rules, being present for Then-Chairman Dolan's remarks.

Why then, is Current-Chairman Farrell telling citizens they cannot speak about employees? Why does he say we cannot speak about items not on the agenda? While Chairman Farrell is certainly charged with running an orderly meeting on behalf of the public body, he is not the arbiter of what is acceptable free speech during public comment, and the Town has previously been advised of this.

Further, as Chairman Farrell is fond of noting, prior sessions of the Council cannot encumber the current Session. So while these rules, aspirational or not, were approved in 2018, the current session of the Town Council DID NOT vote to approve them at the 3.20.23 Organizational meeting. If the current session of the Council wished to adopt these Rules, Section 3.2A of the Town Charter requires that the Council would have had to hold an approval vote adopting the 2018 Rules as such, during the 3.20.23 Organizational Meeting. The Town Charter is clear that this all must occur within 10 calendar days following their elec-

As no such vote occurred, the Town Council has currently not adopted any formal Rules regarding public comment for the 2023 Session. The most Chairman Farrell can continue to do is to enforce a 5 minute time limit, which, interestingly enough, the Council had been reducing to 3 minutes for the last several years, WITHOUT voting to adopt rules as such!

I encourage citizens to come utilize their free speech, without arbitrary restrictions from the Council, during public comment at the upcoming 4.10.23 Town Council meeting.

Wolves vs. Lambs

To the editor,
The Nashville killings by a troubled youth under the care of a physician was indeed horrible and senseless as are all mass shootings. The question is how to stop these senseless acts? A tough question that can't be addressed in the word-limitation of this venue. However, I would make one thing clear. Long guns/rifles or handguns used in these killings are inanimate objects and cannot themselves kill. Only the hand of man can pull the trigger. Invariably when guns are used in these senseless acts, those opposed to gun ownership come out of the woodwork screaming for elimination of assault weapons. What is an "assault weapon"? The U.S. Army defines it as "a firearm designed to feed cartridges, fire them, eject their empty casings and repeat this cycle as long as the trigger is depressed and cartridges remain in the feed system, and must have a lever to switch from single shot to automatic". Can anyone buy an automatic firearm? No. Automatic firearms were banned from most individuals by the Federal Government in 1934 and reaffirmed in 1994; and can only be purchased by certain licensed individuals subject to stringent background checks. All mass shootings or gun-

Word Parade

Students and staff at Matthew Thornton Elementary School celebrated Reading in Our School's recently with the first Vocabulary Parade, an event planned by the Reading Department. Students were encouraged to pick a word and then make a costume using the word's definition. From there, those participating paraded through the inside of the school and judges selected a winner at each grade. The winners were: First grade, Finley Hale, for the word "miscellaneous;" in second grade, Eric Ariza, won with her "feast" outfit; third grader, Gianna Marullo, chose "radiant;" in fourth grade, Lily Oliveira, took first with "lackadaisical;" and in fifth grade, Esyiah Nieves, won with the word "flotation."

murders have been by semi-automatic firearms requiring pulling the trigger each time to fire a bullet and don't have a lever to switch from semi to automatic. These are not assault weapons per the military's definition. Those who advocate banning "assault weapons" have no clue what they're talking about. When Mr. Biden and the liberal media argue banning assault weapons, they strut out the AR-15 and similar rifles since they look like military weapons, but in fact they are not as defined by the US Army as they can't fire automatic and don't have a lever switch. Their rhetoric is designed to inflame and dupe America into believing the AR-15 and similar semi-automatic firearms are assault weapons. They are not. The anti-2nd Amendment advocates want to ban all firearms as they attempted in 2013 to include semi-automatic rifles and handguns; and ultimately all guns including single-shot firearms. If Democrats get their way, all hunting

Sign Variances on Nashua Road Get Approved by ZBA

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

There were a number of variance requests made for the property located at 107 Nashua Road, in regards to the signage, they were ultimately approved during the March 15 Zoning Board of Adjustment meeting.

It was explained by Paul Botting, from Pro-Source Signs, who was representing the owners, that they were looking for a variance to allow an existing sign of 63 square feet where a maximum of 30 feet is allowed, a request to allow an existing sign within 10 feet of the front property line, and to allow an existing pole sign where a monument sign type is required.

Botting said they were also looking for a variance to allow a wall sign with an area of 96 square feet, where a maximum of 30 square feet is only permitted in the district.

It was explained by Botting that the sign was in place before the zoning for the Route 102 performance district was created, which is where the business is located. He added that the business is looking to upgrade their signs with internal LED lighting and to make it more environmentally friendly, they would also be improving the appearance of the sign.

Botting explained to the board that the flag pole sign has been in the same spot as it is now for many years and hasn't had any negative impact on anyone. He added that if the board wasn't to grant the variance, then they would have to go and get a new sign put up.

Botting noted that the sign wouldn't be facing a residential neighborhood and would help guide patrons to the business.

"We believe the hardship has been established," said Botting.

When asked about the particular hardship for the property itself, the owner, Karen Manelas, pointed out that they are essentially landlocked; among other hardships they have there because of where the property is located.

"We're essentially landlocked," said Manelas.

One question raised was whether or not there would need to be any improvements made to the pole or the structure aside from the cosmetic improvements being made.

Botting said they have no problems with the actual structure of it and instead they are just attempting to make it look nicer.

"The structure is sound," said Botting.

No one spoke in favor or against the variance requests during the meeting.

The Zoning Board of Adjustment voted in favor of approving the various variances.

The next Zoning Board meeting is slated to take place on April 19 at 7 p.m.

OBITUARY

Karen Keegan-Hutchinson

The Honorable Karen Keegan-Hutchinson, 76, of Londonderry, NH, passed away on Sunday, March 26th, 2023, at Elliot Hospital in Manchester, surrounded by her family. Karen was born July 7, 1946 in Heidelberg, Germany, and moved to the United States at the age of three. She was raised in Brookline, Mass., and had been a resident of her beloved Londonderry for the past 51 years.

Karen attended nursing school and worked as a registered nurse before finding her true calling as a licensed realtor. Karen operated Blue Eagle Realty for over 40 years, and she was enthusiastically involved in her community. She was former chairperson of the Londonderry School Board, a member of the School Building Committee, and a longtime participant in the Londonderry Old Home Days Parade. Karen also served as a Londonderry Representative in the New Hampshire House for over 20 years. She was a die-hard Republican and true Patriot who loved her country. She cherished spending time with her family, and always looked forward to yearly trips to Cape Cod with her daughters and granddaughters. Karen adored the beach, especially shelling, and loved spending time in Fort Myers Beach and Sanibel Island, FL. She also enjoyed canoeing on Loon Pond, was an avid gardener, and always hoped to one day see a Big-Foot or a UFO.

She is survived by her loving husband of 37 years, Royal "Hutch" Hutchinson, son Michael (Jana) Keegan of Saco, ME, daughter Patricia (Randy) Williams of Old Orchard Beach, ME, daughter Tracy (Tom) Marion of Weare, NH, and daughter Kristine (Aaron) Keegan-Bastarache of South Portland, ME. She is also survived by her eight grandchildren, Andrew, Joseph (Megan) and Steven Forlano, Stephanie and Trevor Marion, Jordyn Bastarache, Avery and Elaina Keegan, and great-granddaughter Arianna Forlano. She was predeceased by her mother Gesila Lovatt, father John Hannon, and her first husband, father of her children, Richard F. Keegan.

"I'm glad you hit on that," said Slater.

Slater also told the School Board members that he wants people on the board to feel comfortable approaching him about adding things to the agenda.

"There's a lot of good ideas out there, no one should be limited to put something on the agenda," said Slater.

da," said Slater.

He added that depending on the schedule, they may have to wait a couple of weeks, but they will be able to address it.

"Anything you think needs discussion, please reach out," Slater said.

School Board member, Kevin Gray, noted they passed their maintenance bond and doesn't want to see them in the same position in 20-25 years when they have a lot of equipment that needs to be replaced all at once.

He suggested that it's something they discuss down the line to come up with a way to address it on a rolling basis.

"What I'd like to discuss is kinda a plan to mitigate that," Gray said.

In other news, the School Board also accepted several resignations and retirements.

The resignations accepted includes Elaine Davis, a support staff member at Matthew Thornton, Erin Donovan, a teacher at Londonderry High School, Apryl Forest, a support staff member at Matthew Thornton, Kelly Gordon, a teacher at Londonderry High School, Robert Lees, an energy consultant for the school district, Felicia Lodato, a custodian

Cassidy Named Budget Committee Chair

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Budget Committee selected its new committee officers for the upcoming year during their March 30 meeting following the town election.

For the past year, Steve Breault served as the committee chair, however, he didn't run for re-election.

Elected as Chair of the committee was Patrick Cassidy.

Selected for the Vice Chair role on a unanimous vote was Joe Gagnon.

For the Secretary role, Tim Siekmann, a member of the committee, asked if the Secretary could get a copy of the meeting so they can watch it after and do the minutes instead of trying to do them while the meeting is going on.

"Otherwise it's hard to participate in the meeting," Siekmann said.

Siekmann pointed out that at one point they had a lengthy discussion about having the executive assistant for the Town Manager do it since they already do it for the Town Council, another elected board. He said the discussion centered around why one elected body gets that and not others.

"It would be nice to get someone else to do it," Cassidy said, however, he added that it would be good to pick someone in case that doesn't pan out.

The Committee selected, Maureen Hardy, as its Secretary.

Also during the meeting, the committee determined the different liaisons for the upcoming year.

One of the new liaison positions that was discussed during the previous meeting was for the Town Manager. Cassidy said they talked about it so they can see what is going on with the town from the Town Manager or Finance Director, who they generally work with the most from the town.

Siekmann pointed out that they could have a Town Hall liaison in general, and could get the information from whoever has it.

"It's just to see what Town Hall has going on," Siekmann said.

The rest of the Budget Committee agreed, and Hardy was selected.

Cassidy also asked members of the committee if there was any interest in having different department heads come in and talk to them during the Spring and Summer about the way their budgets work, which others on the committee agreed was a good idea.

He said in addition to putting a face to the name it allows them to hear how they plan on ending their budget year. It was pointed out that when it comes to next year's budget those meetings will give them a baseline to see how any budget concerns are being addressed.

It was also noted that there is a 91A training video explaining how it works, which people on the committee can watch.

Cassidy said they can also attempt to set up different tours of departments like they did last year, including departments like the fire department and DPW.

The next Budget Committee meeting is slated to take place on April 27.

rifles/shotguns and self-protection handguns will be banned. Truth is there are 25 million guns out there. Can we believe the bad guys and deranged are going to relinquish their guns if the 2nd Amendment is overturned? The bad guys, the wolves, will have guns and we the lambs will be at their mercy. If confronted in your home by a wolf who threatens to do you and your family harm or worse, wouldn't you want a means to protect yourself and family? That's a question for some to mull. I prefer not to be a lamb. So when Mr. Biden and his supporters talk banning assault weapons, I wish they knew the difference between an assault weapon and sporting and self-protection firearms. Their rhetoric shows their ignorance of the whole concept of why the 2nd Amendment was put forth by our founding fathers; the right not to be a lamb.

Safety

30-plus years on the board, that section of "Old" Mammoth Road has been a consistent problem and they've tried to address concerns over the years.

John Trotier, the town's Director of Engineering and Environmental Services, explained that over years, a number of possible solutions have been discussed, including making a four-way stop at the intersection, painting stripping in the road to keep drivers in their lane and installing speed tables (speed bumps), but these are not usual installed on rural roads.

He also mentioned that "There's no pill for stupidity." If people are doing things to avoid stopping for pedestrians, lines on the road will not help.

Robin Stewart, who lives near the Rail Trail, asked if there is a reason why the town couldn't make that section of Mammoth a dead-end. "You should be able to protect our village because it's going to continue to grow," she said.

Trotier responded that the town had looked to do that back when they installed a pump station near the beginning of the old section, but found that the trucks from Wallboard Supply wouldn't be able to maneuver their trucks through Sanborn Road.

Stewart responded, "One business shouldn't dictate everything else." They should be able to figure things out by going to the end of the road she added.

Resident, Steve Kelly, and his son-in-law, Brian Mead, told the committee they have overwhelming support from the neighborhood for a permanent solution to the problem. Kelly said that he and Mead spent the weekend gathering names on a petition that they are giving to the town in hope that a gate would be installed on Mammoth at Page/Grenier Field. He cited speed, trucks, and accidents as their main concern.

Ramsay stated that the town has to be very careful not to favor one area of problems over another, saying that there are other neighborhoods with similar issues and they have to be fair to everyone in the community. Ramsay said, "We're trying to figure out what to do, but it's a very difficult balancing act."

A number of residents cited the fact that this area is different because of the old structure of the neighborhood and the density of housing as well as the proximity to the road. They also brought up the fact that many pedestrians are using the area because of the Rail Trail.

Bernard pointed out that one of the biggest issues with having a gate at the intersection would be the fact that truck drivers wouldn't see the warning sign and would get stuck at the gate with no way to turn around.

One question raised was whether or not the area fall under a "Historic District" and would be able to establish other rules to protect the area.

Town Manager, Mike

Malaguti, said he wasn't sure if that were the case and would need to check into it. He also mentioned that he would present this to the Town Council and see what sort of solutions they can come up with. He also mentioned there are a number of on-going traffic engineering studies taking place in regard to this area.

Mead asked what the time frame of these studies are, saying that this has been going on for 30-years.

Malaguti restated that the town has been working with engineers to improve the area and by the next meeting he hopes to put forward a solution.

Ramsay finished by saying the committee is aware of the problem and they are doing the best they can given all the ramifications.
