The Londonderry High School held its their annual Day of Giving live and in person again this year, with dozens of students past and present dotting to this very worthy cause.

Friday, Jan. 6, marked the 17th year of the charitable tradition, where students (known as Angels) gather to donate at least eight inches of their hair to people losing their own while battling cancer.

This year, donations went to Children With Hair Loss, Wigs For Kids, and Locks of Love, said LHS teacher and pep rally/Day of Giving presenter, Steven Juster.

Some of this year's Angels had waited years to take their place on the floor, said LHS student, Sarah DeFazio, in her greeting to the School Board Get Picture of Possible Default Budget

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

During the Jan. 3 School Board meeting, Superintendent, Dan Black, presented to the School Board what would likely need to be cut if the default budget is passed this March.

Black explained that right now they're looking at less than a 2% increase between the operating budget and the warrant articles, but he noted they are nervous the operating budget may not be approved. "We're nervous about that. We tried to limit the growth as much as possible," said Black.

Black said if the operating budget isn't approved they would have to make cuts to academics.

"We will need to cut into the academic program and we will need to cut into the co-curricular program. That's not something we take lightly. That's not good news," said Black.

He noted the difference between the proposed operating budget and the default budget is a little under $400,000.

Black stated they looked at 12 different reductions that would likely have to happen if the budget was at default levels.

One of the reductions would be to move library media materials district wide to default levels.

The district would also make reductions to the general supplies at the schools.

"it's not returning to default, but it's definitely taking it down a little bit," said Black.

For the gifted and talented supplies, they

The Saga of the Leaky Roof at Leach Library Continues

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

During a recent Town Council meeting, the on-going issue of the Leach Library Roof came up to request the release funds from the expendable maintenance trust fund for a leak.

Director of Public Works, Dave Wholley, explained that they recently had a roof leak at the Leach Library that needed to be repaired, the temporary repair was made on Dec. 9.

"The $6,200 is for the emergency repair," Wholley said, noting it would also pay for the permanent repair expected to be made this spring.

"The permanent repair is ready to go this spring," said Wholley.

He noted that this wasn't the first temporary repair made at the library over the years.

"There have been some other temporary repairs to this in the past," said Wholley.

Town Councilor, Deb Paul, noted that since she has moved to town, the town has had to make repairs to this roof a number of times.

"I just feel like we spent a lot of money on this roof," said Paul.

Town Council Chairman, John Farrell, said they have always had problems with the roof. "Let's be honest it wasn't built correctly to begin with," said Farrell.

It was noted by Town Councilor, Jim Butler, that when it was built they didn't have a clerk of the works for it "Which I think was a mistake," Butler said.

Wholley said that when he came to town in 2021 they were making repairs to a different portion of the roof.

Addition Variance Approve for Home on South Road

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

A variance request in order to encroach 19 feet into the 40 foot front setback for an addition at 14 South Road was in discussion at the Dec. 21 Zoning Board of Adjustment meeting.

It was explained by the owner, Gretchen Ingersoll, that they were looking to build an addition for the master bedroom at the house that would go 19 feet into the 40 foot front setback.

She told the Board that the home was built over a century ago and the home as it is now encroaches 19 feet into the front setback and the way it is currently designed doesn't allow for the addition to be built in any other way.

"Our house was constructed over 100 years ago and currently does encroach into that same space," said Ingersoll.

"In order to optimally utilize our available land and to add a bedroom in an aesthetically pleasing way we would need to put an addition to the left of the house," said Ingersoll.

Ingersoll also noted that the addition of the full master bedroom and bathroom on the first floor of the house would allow them to be able to utilize it as they go into their retirement years.

"Substantial justice is done by allowing us to add a master suite to the first level of the house enabling us to live comfortably," said Ingersoll.

Ingersoll also told the Board that if they granted the variance it wouldn't impact the property values for the rest of the neighborhood, noting that it would be more in line with the rest of the houses.

"The addition would actually bring our property more in line with the style and character of the neighborhood (and) feature more square footage in a modern style than currently exists with our house," said Ingersoll.

One question raised from the Board was in regards to the size of the addition. Ingersoll told the Board that the plan would be to make it about 20x25.

Another question that was asked was if they would be moving closer towards the road if they built the addition. Ingersoll said they wouldn't be.

During public input, David Colglazier, from Moulton Drive said he was in favor of granting the variance.

He explained that they share 50 to 60 feet of property line with the Ingersolls and have lived next door to them since 2001.

"They have been very good neighbors," said Ingersoll.

He said he had no issues with the proposed variance at all.

"I am very much in favor of this. The property has always been well kept," said Ingersoll.

No one spoke in opposition to the proposed variance during the meeting.

ZBA Chair, Jacqueline Benard, asked when the house was originally built. Ingersoll said it was built in the 1800s.

The ZBA approved granting the variance to allow the addition.

Financial Business Gets Approvals for Shed Variances

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Zoning Board of Adjustment heard a request for a variance to allow a shed to be built during their Dec. 21 meeting.

It was explained by Daniel Jozwiak, the owner of Bean Counters Financial Services, which is located at 254 Nashua Road that they were looking for three different variances, one to allow them to encroach 14 feet into the 40 foot front setback, another for them to encroach 20 feet into the 30 foot side setback, and the third one to allow them to encroach 7.5 feet into the 15 foot green perimeter buffer setback.

Jozwiak explained he was looking to build a 12x16 foot shed on the property.

The proposed shed would be placed at the end of the parking lot," said Jozwiak.

It was explained by Jozwiak that the shed is required to provide shelter for their tractor and the tools needed to be used to maintain the property and to maintain things like supplies and ice melt.

One question that was asked was why there aren't any other spaces available on the property for the shed.

Jozwiak explained it was an odd shape property that is a "triangle" property and was built at the low end of a long hill.

"The property is a little bit weird," said Jozwiak.

Jozwiak also noted the sides of the property slopes down to the drainage areas.

He said "the back is all wooded and that there isn't any access to it".

Jozwiak said they wouldn't have to tear down any trees in order to have the shed there.

"No trees will be removed for the shed installation and the green area won't otherwise be affected," said Jozwiak.

It was asked if the shed would have any effect because of it being placed where parking spaces are and Jozwiak responded saying that there wouldn't be, noting that most of their business is being done remotely or off site.

"Normally there's no customers," said Jozwiak.

Jozwiak explained that there are currently a total of 14 parking spaces on the property and they normally only use three to four spaces.

When asked, Jozwiak said the parking lot is the only thing that currently encroaches on the front setback and that the building itself doesn't at all.

Jozwiak told the ZBA that it would only be a one story shed, but didn't have the exact height readily available during the meeting.

No one from the public spoke in support or against the variance request during the meeting.

The Zoning Board of Adjustment unanimously approved all three variance requests. The one condition was that it could be no larger than a 12x16 foot shed.

The next ZBA meeting is slated to take place on Jan. 18 at 7 p.m.

New Variance For Electric Vehicle Repair Shop Approved

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

After receiving approval during a previous Zoning Board of Adjustment meeting, Scannell Properties, which is located at 36 Industrial Drive, was in front of the zoning board, during its Dec. 21 meeting, asking to be granted a variance from the District Services Table to allow a 32,237 square foot use of an automotive repair facility for electric vehicles within a 50,353 square foot building, where only 10,000 square feet is allowed by conditional use permit.

It was explained by John Levenstein, who was representing the applicant, they previously received approval during the last meeting, however, the square footage that was on the application was smaller than they were looking for.

One variance request was a variance regarding the size of the service facility and another was to allow a vehicle sales establishment in the Gateway Business zone.

Leo Leighton, from Scannell Properties, explained they had a tenant lined up, however, it wasn't announced at this time, saying they would like to remain "anonymous at this point in the process."

Since the vehicles are completely electric and aren't hybrids Leighton said they wouldn't have any gasoline vehicles there.

"These vehicles are extremely environmentally sensitive,"

It was explained by Levenstein the majority of the building is for service and they would have 26 service lifts and 20 work bays for servicing the vehicles.

"There's no facility within southern NH that repairs and services these electric vehicles," said Levenstein.

Levenstein said the facility would be within the same range of the other buildings in the area.

"The building will be 50,353 square feet," said Levenstein.

He also stated there are other businesses in the area that have service components to it.

During the previous meeting, one of the conditions that was made as part of the variance approval was that there wouldn't be any combustible engines that could be worked on the property.

With him being in front of the Board again, Leighton, explained he was looking to have that looked at again.

He said for the tenant "They need to look at it from the worse case scenario and what flexibility they have," saying there could come a time when they may need to sublease part or all of it.

"That limits their flexibility," said Leighton.

As a developer, he said the value of the asset and being able to get financing could also be impacted.

"Those are the different aspects we are considering," said Leighton, ZBA Chair, Jacqueline Benard, said it means they would be looking to repair any types of vehicles, instead of just servicing electric vehicles.

"You want to be able to do any type of vehicle automotive repair," said Bernard.

Leighton said there wouldn't be any change to who the tenant is and what they are going to be doing.

Vice Chair, Suzanne Brunelle, said she was concerned about the number of parking spaces being proposed.

"Potentially there could be 330 cars parked there," said Brunelle.

Levenstein said it may be something the Planning Board has an issue with.

"In all fairness, I think the Planning Board is going to have issues with it," said Levenstein.

The ZBA approved the new variance request with the condition that no combustible engines are allowed to be serviced on site.

Executive Health & Sports Center Subdivision Gets OK from Planning Board

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Planning Board had a formal review of a subdivision application during their Jan. 4 meeting to create four lots at 1 Highlander Way and 4 Sparkes Ave.

Bob Duval explained, from TF Moran, who was representing the applicants, the Benton Family Trust, that they own the lease rights to the property in question and are looking to purchase the lots from Manchester-Boston Regional Airport.

Mike Benton, from the Benton Family Trust, explained they have been leasing the property for a number of years and was looking to purchase the lots from the Airport.

It was explained by Benton that before the pandemic when the airport decided they wouldn't be extending one of their runways they made the decision to see if they were interested in purchasing the lots.

It was explained by Duval that right now they are all under the parent lot and in order to complete the sale there has to be subdivision approval in order to create the lots "which is why we're here tonight," Duval said.

He went on to explain that the site has been used by Executive Health & Sports Center for many years.

Duval said they went through the Zoning Board of Adjustment process already and had received approval, including for variances for setbacks that were needed.

"We received site plan approval for the five lots," said Duval.

Duval stated all the conditions that are currently part of the site will continue to be in place and they weren't seeking any other changes.

"That's not being contemplated by this action," Duval said.

It was noted by Duval that they had to receive approval from the Federal Aviation Administration in order for the sale to happen. He noted that their approval would be expiring next month, which is why the subdivision approval was time sensitive.

Duval explained to the Planning Board that one of the lots would ultimately be for the health and sports center and the other one would be for the tennis courts.

No abutters spoke in support or against the proposed subdivision during the meeting.

The Planning Board gave conditional approval for the subdivision plan.

Also during the meeting, the Planning Board approved recommending making Lynn Wiles and Jeff Penta as alternative members to the Southern NH Planning Commission. The Town Council was expected to make their decision during the Jan. 9 meeting.

In other matters that evening, the Planning Board voted to continue the public hearing regarding changes to the scoring criteria for the Capital Improvement Plan to their Jan. 11 meeting.

“I Have A Dream”

As we celebrate the life, the legacy, and those words that inspire a nation. We recognized Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. as a groundbreaking civil rights leader whose devotion to equality under the law helped move the nation.

He believed the problem was that America's founding ideals, promises, and dreams had yet to be extended to all citizens. Though he was taken from us far too soon, his words and example continue to reverberate to this day.

One may only hope that enforced segregation is a thing of the past. People of different races are far more likely to interact as equals now than in the past. We as a nation have made great strides toward getting rid of racial injustice. Yet racial inequality still remains a problem, one can only shake their head and ask why?

King played an important role in trying to bridge some of the differences between blacks and whites. He forced many Americans to finally face up to the injustices they had allowed to fester for so long and to finally conclude that it was finally time to fix them. This did not bring about an end to the conflicts, but eventually it did lead to progress.

Today, America desperately needs leaders who are able to appeal to the people, go across racial, ethnic or ideological beliefs. Too many politicians aim their messages at like-minded individuals without any serious or effective attempt at persuading others to their cause.

Some use inspiring outrage in their opponents as a political tool in itself. Using the division as an advantage to push their own agenda.

All of us have a role to play in determining whether we move in a more positive direction or continue in the negativity that has gripped this country. We as a country should never forget our past for it is way to easy to repeat it.

As we remember King and his dream of an America in harmony, let us all consider whether we are serving the forces of unity or the forces of division. The choice belongs to each of us. Let's pay tribute to King and his famous dream by working to bring it at least a bit closer to reality.

Yet many children today learn something different. Critical race theory-inspired curriculum teaches, students that “people are primarily defined by their skin color and group identities, not their individual character and their actions”. Dr. King's dream continues to uplift and inspire, he a beacon of bright light.

Stop the labeling.

Free and Reduced Lunch

To the editor,
At the Londonderry

School District, we are grateful to participate in the National School Lunch Programs Free and Reduced Lunch Eligibility Program. For about two years, all of us in Londonderry with children in our public school system benefited from free breakfast and lunch due to generous eligibility criteria set by the USDA. When our current school year began back in September, we went back to the regular eligibility requirements.

If you are eligible- or think you may be eligible- for free or reduced lunch, you must reapply every school year. You may be eligible if your income meets certain limits, your household receives NH SNAP, FDPIR, or NH TANF benefits, or you are housing a foster child. Those who are eligible for free lunch pay nothing out of pocket for breakfast or lunch, while those who are eligible for reduced meals pay nothing for breakfast and 40 cents for lunch, with the eligibility for reduced meals having higher income brackets.

A family of three qualifies for free meals if their yearly household income is less than $29,939 but qualifies for reduced lunch if their income is up to $42,606. For a family of four, these limits increase to $36,075 and $51,338 for free and reduced lunch, respectively.

As a School Board and School District, we want to make sure that any family that is eligible is aware of how to apply and receive these benefits- children cannot focus on learning when they are hungry, and cost should not be the reason students are not eating at school. Applications are confidential- no one knows that your student is receiving free or reduced lunch. If you need help applying, or you are unsure if you may qualify, please reach out to your dining services director Krystle Connell at 603- 432-6941 x2230 or send an email to kconnell@londonderry.org

Thank you,

Roof

“That repair has held up,” said Wholley.

Wholley explained that because of the different elevations of the roof and the way it was designed they may always have potential issues with it.

“It's potentially always going to be problematic,” said Wholley.

One question asked by Farrell was whether or not they were aware of any other major issues with the building.

Wholley said aside from the roof and changes they have made to their HVAC system he isn't aware of other major issues.

“There's no structural issues with the building at all,” said Wholley.

The Town Council unanimously approved releasing the funds and also requested that city staff look into how much it would cost to replace the roof.

Also at the meeting, the Town Council had a first reading for proposed changes to the commercial and industrial property tax incentive program.

Town Manager, Mike Malaguti, explained previously that the program essentially allows for businesses that have new property value worth 15 million dollars or more to get tax breaks. For existing businesses, they can also get tax breaks if they have an additional 15 million dollars in value.

It was explained by Malaguti that since they implemented the program in June, they haven't had anyone apply for it.

congratulatory remarks, which led into three student speakers.

Jessica Stewart, Rylee Baez-Law, and Cody Watson were asked to speak to fellow grads and their families. Each had an emotional story to share about their experiences with the program.

Day of Giving

audience. DeFazio was the first student to pledge for this year's Day of Giving, and in her own words that day was, along with her fellow pledgers, "anxious, nervous, and also very excited."

Among those who had been waiting years to give, included Angel Lindsay LaBossiere, who had been growing her hair for five years after first hearing about the Day of Giving when she was in the fourth grade.

Student, Lexi Apoltz, was a repeat Angel this year, having given her hair three out of her four high school years, said Juster. During one of her donating years, Apoltz was the only student to submit an "after" photo for the school's social media, an otherwise seemingly simple gesture that at the height of the COVID pandemic would help lift the spirits of the Lancer Nation when it was needed most.

In addition to holding a Guinness world record for its Day of Giving, LHS also remains the only secondary school to have an American Cancer Society real-hair wig bank, said Arianna Soucy, student and pep rally floor team member. Over nearly two decades, the students have been able to provide thousands of wigs to thousands of cancer patients all over.

"All Lancers, all of you, are part of this legacy," said Soucy.

LHS Senior and 2023, Angel Danielle Goodall, told Londonderry Times that walking into a full gym this year "just felt more complete," and that having everyone there in person helped give everyone a better perspective of what it means to donate hair.

Goodall gave a message of encouragement to her fellow students, as well as anyone else who might consider donating hair, when asked how would make a reduction of $3,000.

"This is a hard one to make," said Black noting the budget isn't very big to begin with.

Black said as they make deeper cuts, the tougher it gets.

"As we get deeper I think a lot of these choices get tougher," said Black.

It includes making cuts to staffing levels.

One of the cuts Black pointed to is a staff member at South School. He noted that making reductions of force is difficult because of the way the collective bargaining agreements are set up; it doesn't necessarily mean the cut would be made from that particular school and instead the teacher being cut could be from a different school.

If they made further cuts they would have to cut a teacher from the middle school, which would have an impact on their foreign language program.

"I think we want to make sure we give kids enough opportunities to take foreign languages in the middle school," said Black.

He also noted they may have to make a cut to the high school.

Black said explained the final cut would be to not have a temporary classroom at North School noting that it would mean they wouldn't have a music classroom.

He said overall the cuts they would have to make wouldn't be good for the school district.

"They're not attractive, there's a lot of problems with them, they definitely cut into our academic programs and they cut into our co-curricular programs," said Black.

School Board member, Bob Slater, who asked previously for the administration to look at what it would take to get to the default budget levels, said he wouldn't support any of the cuts presented.

"I for one will not touch any of these items," said Slater.

she would like to see the event grow in the years to come.

"It's not as scary as it seems," said Goodall. "The act of giving (hair) away is better than having (extra)."

Math teacher and newcomer to LHS, Caroline Chaput, gave her hair for the first time at the gathering on Jan. 6 as a way of advocating for preventative care and cancer screenings.

Chaput told the Times that her mother had been diagnosed with breast cancer in 2017, and when Chaput herself underwent screening, she discovered she carried genes that made it more likely for her to develop the same cancer at some point.

"Seeing what this event does and all the awareness it brings...I felt like I could play my part in this for people who aren't able to get preventative care," said Chaput.

Haley Buonomo, another LHS Angel, spoke at the event on behalf of the school's Foods class, highlighting a fundraiser in support of the school's Foods Class teacher, Shannon Shurtleff. Buonomo said that Shurtleff had been working through treatments for Leukemia through this past semester, adding that thankfully the teacher was able to be home for the holidays.

Among the students to stand was Katie Croteau, whose aunt had been diagnosed with stage four ovarian cancer. Croteau was present for her aunt's decision to shave her head while undergoing treatment, said Juster, and at that moment knew that she would donate her own once she got to high school. Croteau's aunt was there to be the one to cut her hair at the occasion.

Student, Cassidy Reidel, was donating her hair in honor of her grandmother who had been diagnosed with non-Hodgkin's Lymphoma. Juster said, "Cassidy worried the loss of her (grandmother's) hair would take away her sparkle, but she received a real-hair wig and never lost her spirit." Reidel's grandmother was called out among the crowd, and her cancer-free diagnosis was met with applause from all in attendance.

Mya Gaspie, joined by sister duo, Reiley and Brooke DeVall, were also there to give their hair for the cause. The younger DeVall sister was a guest from Cawley Middle School in Hooksett. The older DeVall, along with Gaspie, recalled the ripple effect that was the joy of Day of Giving their freshman year and had decided in that moment to donate their hair their senior year. This was that year for the two friends, and a bittersweet one, at that.

The DeVall sisters had tragically lost their younger cousin to cancer, who passed at only three years old. Their combined donation this year was about more than completing a pledge, said Juster.

Roger Grondin, right, was recognized by Steve Juster for the countless photos he has taken over the years at the Day of Giving.

The Londonderry High School's Lancer Dancers were on hand for a performance at the Friday morning Pep Rally.

Sophomore Reagan Anderson has eight inches taken off her long locks during the Day of Giving event at the high school gym.

was one with "a story Hollywood could not write," said Juster. Shortly after coming to the school district, teacher, Kerin O'Brien, would find herself in her own fight against cancer. Juster went on to explain that O'Brien would receive a wig through the donations of students in 2016 with the help of LHS teacher and coach, Chrystena Ewen. The following year, O'Brien would cut Ewen's hair at the 2017 Day of Giving.

This year, the touching story would come full circle. Having made a full recovery, O'Brien was on the floor to give her own hair to help someone else facing a battle similar to her own.

As the final story was about to be told at the 2023 Day of Giving, a hush quickly fell over the spirited crowd.

Juster read to the audience a story put together in LHS Senior, Teresa Bompastore's, words, which recalled the passing of her mother when she was a little girl. Before her mother's passing, Bompastore saw how receiving a wig helped make her mother "feel more normal and a little more like herself during her battle...more like a 'regular' mom again to me and my brothers..."

"I want to be able to do the same for another woman, just like another brave person did so generously for my mom."

Bompastore later told Londonderry Times that seeing the whole school rally together that day made her feel "so happy inside," recalling how unifying the Day of Giving was her freshman year, before the pandemic.

Bompastore said that she has originally heard about Day of Giving through her four older brothers, and that she had been anxious to give her own hair for years, and had worked up the courage to do so for this year's event.

When asked what she might say should she ever have an opportunity to meet the family of the recipient of a wig made from her hair, Bompastore said she would tell them she understood what they were going through, that she had seen for herself the difference between having a real hair wig made for her loved one. She added that she would say she was hopeful her wig would help bring them the same sort of comfort during such a difficult time.

The joy at the end of the final act of the ceremony was palpable, as Juster made sure to have the audience stand so that for the first time in three years, they all could see with their own eyes the beauty of the moment as Bompastore called out, "Three, two one...CUT!"

Once again, the Lancer Nation proved, even as individuals, they were all cut from the same cloth, in the sense that each of them shares an enthusiasm for helping their community.

Lancers Marching Band Headed To Jolly Old England

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Members of the Londonderry Lancers Marching

Band and Color Guard were gathered in the band room early Friday morning, Jan. 6, and received the news that the group has been invited to march in the 2024 New Year's Day Parade in London, England.

The announcement was made to the band by Steve Summers, the chair of London's Mayors Association, via a videoconference from England.

The New Year's Day Parade and Festival will take place on the first of January of 2024, giving students lots of time for fund-raising.

Summers told the students that about 8,000 participants have been invited and about 200,000 spectators are expected to be along the parade route. He added that there was an estimate of about 350 million people watching the 2023 event.

The parade starts at Piccadilly square, goes through Piccadilly Circus, through Trafalgar Square by Big Ben and Parliament, and finishes near Westminster Abby.

Music Director, Serge Beaulieu, said they have been aware of the offer since early November and have been in discussions with the London committee since then. The Londonderry School Board will need to give the trip their blessing before it has been made official.

Lancers Girls' Basketball Get Much Needed Win in Keene

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

After suffering a tough 78-21 defeat at the hands of the Division I powerhouse, Bishop Guertin, the Londonderry High School Girls' Basketball team traveled to Keene and notched their second win of the season.

On Tuesday, Jan 3, the Lancer ladies suffered a 78-21 loss to the Lady Cardinals on that team's home court. With the win over LHS, BG remained undefeated, getting overwhelming wins over Goffstown (73-47), Portsmouth (60-35), and Pinkerton Academy (75-30).

Three days later, Londonderry took on the Keene Blackbirds, where they were able to hold their opponents to under 30-points for a much needed 37-28 victory. The win brought the LHS team's season record to 3-2 in the third week of the regular season.

Both teams had difficulty scoring that evening with Londonderry's biggest shooter of the game getting 13 baskets, while Keene high-scorer got just seven.

Londonderry had its strongest offensive quarter in the first, with four players outscoring KSH 13-9. The LHS squad only managed six in the second period and finished the half at 19-17.

The Lady Lancer

scored nine-points in each of the two remaining quarters and held Keene to seven in the third and only four in the final period for the victory.

Freshman Samantha Sullivan had a team-high of 13-points with three, two-point buckets and going 7-8 from the free-throw line.

Sophomores Reagan Anderson and Kathryn Sloper both turned in eight-points. Anderson had eight from the line and Sloper got two, three-pointers.

Seniors Jordon Furlong and Shannon Ball

Reagan Anderson

each had four-points in the game.

The Lancer team will host two games this week, the first was scheduled for Tuesday, Jan. 10, against Dover High School (3-2). On Friday night, Jan. 13, the team is slated to face the Salem Blue Devils (2-3) starting at 7 p.m.

Londonderry Hockey Squad Travels North for 4-2 Victory

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry High School Varsity Hockey Team had over a two week wait for its fifth contest of the Division I winter season and was able to capture their second win during a trip north facing the Hanover High School squad.

This was the team's second away game to start the season, and they were able to stay perfect on the road with a 4-2 victory over the Hanover Bears.

Londonderry needed to shake off a 7-1 loss to Concord that had happened before the holiday break.

The Lancers fell behind quickly during the Jan. 7, meeting at the James W. Champion III Rink in Lebanon, with Hanover scoring the first goal of the game at 13:00.

Senior Lancer Andrew Cameron tied the game at 1-1 with a goal from just outside the net with four-minutes left in the first period.

Hanover was able to knot the game, at two apiece with 40 seconds left on the clock to end the second period.

Londonderry went ahead for good at 7:30 in the final period when senior James McPhail scored.

Senior Ben Padyula put an insurance goal into the net with about two and a half minutes left in the game on a wrist shot from just inside the blue line.

The Lancers will try for their third win when they play Pinkerton Academy (1-2) on Wednesday, Jan 11, on their home ice at 3 p.m.

The team will then face Nashua North-Souhegan (2-0) on the road on Saturday, Jan. 14 at 12:40 p.m.

Londonderry Boys' Basketball Suffer Two More Losses

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

There hasn't been a lot for new head coach Jaryd Piecuch to celebrate in the early goings of the winter season. His very young Londonderry High School Basketball squad dropped two more games to finish last week at 1-5.

The Lancers week began on Tuesday, Jan. 3, with a road trip to Bedford High School, where the team was unable to get on the board until after the Bulldogs mounted a 23-0 lead.

The LHS squad was able to start scoring after that, but far too many turnovers led them to a tough 88-53 defeat.

One of the few highlights in the game was having sophomore Mason Paquette score 19 points including four, three-pointers. Senior Kevin Rourke finished with 10-points, sophomore Jameson Seamen had nine and junior Ryan Williams scored six points.

At home, on Friday night things looked much more optimistic as the Lancers were able to jump out to an early lead, with Rourke sinking two quick three-pointers, but the team ultimately fell 63-48 against the Keene Blackbirds who outlasted them in the second half.

With their hometown fans behind them, Londonderry maintained a good lead through much of the fast-paced first quarter, until the final seconds of the initial period that ended in a 14-14 tie.

The Lancers fell into another scoring slump to begin the second period until Paquette sank an outside shot after just over three-minutes.

The second quarter ended with Londonderry scoring eight to Keene's nine and the teams went into the half at 23-22.

The Lancers came out strong after the break, scoring a quick five points, but ultimately let the Blackbirds regain the momentum. The home team finished the third period with 12 and the fourth with 14. Keene scored 40-points in the second half.

Rourke had an impressive night, scoring 21-points with four three-pointers and Paquette finished with 12-points.

The Lancers team will be on the road for the next five games and will try to snap their three-game trend at Dover High School on Tuesday, Jan. 10.

On Friday night, Jan. 13, they will take on the Blue Devils in Salem.

Londonderry Gymnastics Lineup Captures Victory Despite Injuries

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry High School Gymnastics team traveled to the A2 Gym and Cheer center in Salem on Friday night, Jan. 6 and was able to take first in the competition with Salem High School despite having a number of athletes out with injuries. Campbell and Alvirne High Schools also competed at the event.

The Lancers gymnastics team scored 119.1 points to the Blue Devils score of 115.4 at the event.

Starting on Vault, Ava Ruppel was able to place second with a score of 8.5, just behind the winning score of 8.55 by Campbell's Skyla Houle. Alex Pena, who was flipping her vault for the very first time, put up an 8.1. Marlie Fitzgerald and Jess Bolduc also helped the team scores.

On the Bars, despite some extremely hard judging on the LHS girls, Ava Ruppel managed a third-place finish with a 7.35. Lili MacDonald, Peyton Beirne and Alex Pena put up solid routines for the Lancers.

The Beam wound up being one of Londonderry's best event that evening with Ruppel placing first after receiving a 7.9. Alex Pena followed with a second-place finish receiving a 7.65. Jess Bolduc and Peyton Beirne were able to get a tie for third-place, with each getting a 7.6.

The Lancers also had a clean sweep in the Floor Exercise. Alex Pena was able to tie with Skyla Houle, from Campbell High School, for first with an 8.8. Peyton Beirne came in second with 8.75 and Jess Bolduc placed third scoring an 8.25.

Ava Ruppel placed third in All Around with a total score of 31.9.

Lancers head coach Heather Lennon was ecstatic with the outcome "We are so happy with the way the girls preformed this past weekend. Out of our team of 16 girls we only had six who were able to complete due to injuries and illnesses. Some of our girls' competed in events they hadn't done in over a year, but they were able to step up and help us beat Salem."

The Londonderry team's next meet is scheduled for Sunday, Jan. 15, against Bishop Guertin at Noha's Gymnastics Academy in Manchester.

OBITUARY

R.S. "Bob" Steenson

R.S. "Bob" Steenson of Londonderry, NH, whose warm embrace of family, friends and community will be sorely missed by those whose lives he touched, died on Dec. 17 at the age of 94 after a period of declining health.

An exceptionally kind man with the astonishing capacity to remember the faces, names and personal history of just about everyone he ever met, Bob cared deeply about his family, friends, his extended Converse family and the entire Londonderry community.

Robert Stanley Steenson, Jr. was born March 15, 1928 in Plainfield, NJ, the only child of Robert Sr., a gifted mechanic with his own auto service business and Catherine (Noll) Steenson, a nurse. His fondest childhood memories involved his cousins Joan and Jim, his grandfathers Andrew and Isaac, and time spent on a farm on the shores of Lake Champlain in Ferrisburgh, VT.

A few days after his graduation from Snyder High School in Jersey City, Bob and his two best friends enlisted in the United States Marine Corps. He served from 1946-1948 achieving the rank of Sergeant. He served again in 1950 and '51 after his college studies at Miami University of Ohio were abbreviated by the Korean War.

After his discharge from the USMC, Bob worked at the renowned Tobler's Sporting Goods in Union City, NJ. He leveraged that experience into a sales position with Hodgeman Rubber Company in NYC. Upon the Converse Rubber Company's acquisition of Hodgeman in the early 60's, Bob started on the path that identified him personally and professionally for the rest of his life as "Uncle Bob" of Converse. After his retirement 34 years later from the position of National Sales Executive, he stayed active in his Converse family, founding the Converse Archives with his great friend and colleague Mike Blandini. Bob's pack-rat tendencies stocked the original archive with examples of almost everything the company had produced over the last half-century.

A resident of Londonderry for 49 years, Bob devoted many hours to his community making a significant impact on the early development of town and school athletic programs through his support of the Londonderry Panthers football program and as president of the Boosters Club. Later, as a 20+ year member and past president of the Londonderry Lion's Club and an enthusiastic supporter of Londonderry's police officers, firefighters and school district, he maintained his commitment to the town well into his 90's.

Bob was predeceased by his beloved wife of 50 years, Barbara Steenson. He is survived by his son Bob and his wife Linda of Canterbury, NH, daughter Susan of Londonderry, NH, son Jeff and his wife Nancy of Danville, NH, granddaughters Annie Steenson of Boston and Joy Steenson of New York City, and cousins James Steenson, Joan Lisowski, Bonnie Seufert, Betty Alyce York, Jim Bowman, Fred Wilkins, Linda Wilkins, Andy Noll and Gail Silva.

Calling hours will be held at Peabody Funeral Home, 290 Mammoth Rd, Londonderry on Friday Jan. 27, from 5 - 7 p.m. Services will be Saturday, Jan. 28 at 10:30 a.m., at Peabody Funeral Home. OBITUARY

Kristina Lindsay Jensen-Nikolaidis

Londonderry & New London, NH
 Kristina Lindsay Jensen-Nikolaidis died peacefully at her home at the age of 60 on Jan. 4, 2023, surrounded by her loving family.

Kristina was a long-time resident of New London & Londonderry, NH. She was born in New London, NH on Dec. 10, 1962, to Jack W. Jensen & Joan M. McFadden. She & her brother, John Mark, were raised in an enriching, adventurous household. Her father, a humanities professor at Colby Sawyer College & a local minister, passed onto her his love for cultural history & sense of wanderlust.

After graduating from Kearsarge Regional High School in 1981, Kristina attended Colby Sawyer where she was able to travel with her father, and his students, to Athens, Greece. Falling in love with the country, she stayed in Greece to study abroad, & went on to live there for 8 years. During this time, she traveled much of Europe as well as Turkey & Egypt, in which her well-known love for camels was born. It is in Athens that she met her husband, Christos N. Nikolaidis. The pair married in June of 1990 & eventually moved back to Kristina's hometown of New London. After starting their family, Kristina & Christos moved to Londonderry, NH where they have raised their 3 children for the past 25 years.

Despite her ongoing, trying health issues, Kristina led a life of joy, never letting anything dim the dazzling light inside of her. She had a way of making friends of strangers wherever she went, leading with kindness above all else. She would say that her life was so incredibly full, most prominently due to her amazing children. It was her greatest achievement and joy to be their mother & to fill their home & hearts with her warm love. From kitchen dancing & goofy impressions, to elaborate birthday parties & weekend adventures, Kristina lived for creating happiness & wonder for all. Through this, she continued to travel by road trips & camping, & most fondly by frequently traveling to Disney World with her daughter.

Kristina is predeceased by her father Jack in 1990, her brother John Mark in 2007, & her mother Joan in 2019. She is survived, & will be deeply missed, by her husband of 32 years, Christos & their 3 children, Jack, Alexander, & Sophia.

Kristina, Momma - you were the heart & soul of our family & will be endlessly missed. In our laughter & in tears, in the night stars, in the wide blue sky & blowing wind, in the morning's hush, we know you will be with us. Until we meet again.

Per her wishes, a service will be held on Saturday, Jan. 21 at 11 a.m. at the South Danbury Christian Church in Danbury, NH, where her father was a longtime minister. A reception will follow, location to come. All are welcome to attend & celebrate Kristina's beautiful life - colorful attire is encouraged. In lieu of flowers, please consider making a donation in Kristina's memory to the American Cancer Society, VNA of Manchester and Southern NH, or a charity of your choice.

To sign an online guestbook, please visit www.chadwickfuneralservice.com.
