Town Council Approve Grant for Scobie Pond Boat Launch

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

One of the agenda items during the July 10 Town Council meeting was in regards to a grant for a boat launch at Scobie Pond.

Town Manager, Mike Malaguti, explained that the Conservation Commission found potential funds through a grant opportunity which specifically is designated to allow upgrades for town and city owned boat launches.

"There is a grant program that requires a match of 25% from the municipality," Malaguti said.

Malaguti said the boat launch isn't intended for being for boats like motor boats and instead for kayaks.

He said they received a quote for $25,500 for an all season dock. He

Junkyard Licence Hearing Sparks Citizen Ejection

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

During the July 10 meeting of the Town Council, the yearly process of licensing the two junkyards in town took place and as is the usual case, issues were raised by resident, Richard Bielinski Jr.

One of the license renewals was for Murray's Auto Recycling.

Assistant Building Inspector, Brad Anderson, gave his report on Murray's and told the council that there were times, occasionally throughout the year, when he had to remind the owner that his vehicles were visible above the fence line.

Anderson also explained that the owner, Ed Dudek, told him that there were times when the shredder he uses was down during that period, which caused a backup of cars being shredded, he claimed this was the reason for the vehicles being piled up too high in the yard.

Anderson said he told Dudek to obtain a letter from the shredding company to confirm what the dates were, which he said, Dudek provided.

Town Councilor, Ron Dunn, asked if auctions are allowed on the property, noting there was an ad in the Londonderry Times, a couple of months prior, indicating there would be an auction held at the business.

Anderson said he wasn't aware and Town Council Chair, John Farrell, interjected there was no evidence of the auction happening in person or online.

It was also noted by Anderson that they have had complaints of auctions in the past, but never found evidence.

"I've had complaints about auctions happen-

67 Townhouse Units Proposed for Gilcreast Near Hannaford

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

A conceptual discussion took place for a plan to build a 67-unit multi family residential project on Gilcreast Road near the entrance of Hannaford's.

During the Wednesday night, July 12, Planning Board meeting, members heard from Tony Marcotte, who was representing the applicant, Genex Construction Group, on the idea of constructing the 67-unit multi family residential project at 50-52 Gilcreast Road.

Marcotte said that aside from Genex being the developer of the project, they would also be in charge of managing the property themselves after the construction.

He said they were looking to build townhome style units on the two parcels.

"We're proposing 67 two-story townhome units," Marcotte said.

He explained that they would all be two bedrooms and under the town's parking requirements they are required to have two parking spaces per unit, however, they would have a total of 142 parking spaces, which is eight more than required.

Marcotte said that the project is in the C-I zone and they are proposing to build three 16-unit buildings at first, which is allowed under zoning and then the rest the following year.

He said the proposal so far is for the units to be 20x40 units, which equal 1,600 square feet,

Elected Official Arrested on Having Child Sex Abuse Images

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

An elected official, who is a longtime member of the Londonderry community, was arrested last week for the Possession of a number of Child Sex Abuse images.

According to a press release issued by the Londonderry Police Department (LPD), Timothy Siekmann, 59, of Londonderry was arrested on Thursday morning, July 13, at about 10:10 a.m.

The release stated that Londonderry Police Department detectives responded to an address on Hovey Road in an attempt to locate a subject who was wanted by the LPD for multiple charges of Possession of Child Sex Abuse Images.

The arrest warrant was issued to Siekmann after several months of investigation in coordination with and assistance from the NH Internet Crimes Against Children (ICAC) Task Force, Portsmouth Police, and Derry Police.

Siekmann was taken into custody without incident at his home on Hovey Road and was transported to the LPD for booking and was held without bail. Siekmann was transported to the Rockingham County Jail in Brentwood, and was arraigned via video at 1 p.m. on Friday, July 14.

Siekmann was charged with 15 counts of Possession of Child Sex Abuse Images, all felonies contrary to NH RSA 649-A:3 and are punishable by up to 20-years in jail.

Siekmann has been elected to the Budget Committee a number of times and his current term is due to expire in March of 2024.

Town Council Discuss Potential Easement For Merrill Family Property

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

During the July 10 Town Council meeting, the council discussed a proposal for the town to explore purchasing an conservation easement for 22 acres off of Mammoth Road, which is part of the Merrill Farm land.

It was explained by Town Manager, Mike Malaguti, that there has been a lot of discussion about the development in the north part of town and the 22 acres was one of the remaining undeveloped areas.

Malaguti said it was recommended by the Conservation Commission that the Town Council agree to enter a purchase and sales agreement for the easement.

"Only the Town Council can authorize this transaction," Malaguti said.

He said were looking to see if the Town Council was interested in potentially entering an agreement before they negotiate further.

It was explained by Malaguti that one of the benefits the Conservation Commission sees with getting the property in an easement is the fact that it connects to an existing Merrill family owned land and other conservation land.

Malaguti stated that it would also help to provide a wildlife corridor if there is an easement on it.

Malaguti noted the purchase price would be $150,000 and if the property isn't appraised at that price, they could leave the deal. He added that it would be paid for by Conservation Commission funds, which wouldn't impact the budget or tax rate.

A question raised by Town Councilor, Ted Combes, was what happens if the appraised price comes back higher than what they are offering.

Malaguti explained that when they enter agreements, they make it so the town doesn't have to pay a different price if it comes back higher.

Council Chair, John Farrell, said he wanted to receive more clarification if the proposal is to buy a conservation easement or if they are looking to purchase the property.

Ken Merrill said they were looking to find out if there was an appetite for the town to negotiate with them.

"We're here because we would like to get your opinion if we can work together to preserve this parcel," Merrill said.

The Town Council agreed to have the administration continue to negotiate a proposal, which would need to come back to the Town Council before a formal agreement could be approved.

There was no timeline given for when a formal proposal would be in front of the Town Council.

Fire Department and Recreation Get OK for Purchases

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Town Council voted on a number of different requests to withdraw funds from capital reserve accounts during the July 10 Town Council meeting.

One of the requests was for a withdrawal of funds from the Fire Department's Fire Equipment Capital Reserve Funds.

It was explained by Fire Lieutenant, Bruce

Hallowell, that they were looking to withdraw $41,647.19 from the reserve fund in order to purchase 10 sets of firefighter gear.

Hallowell explained that the $20,000 in their safety line of the budget would be able to account for the 10 sets of equipment they look to purchase each year, however, that isn't enough anymore, which is why they need to use the reserve funds.

He explained that they have about 60 firefighters and each get two sets for a total of 120 sets, which is just under $300,000 to maintain and why they look to purchase a few each year.

The Town Council approved the withdrawal.

Another withdrawal request was from the Recreation Department Capital Reserve Funds for a total of $5,000.

Finance Director, Justin Campo, said the funds would be used for the purchase of a new lawn mower in order to mow the town's recreational fields.

He said they received four bids and would be going with a diesel motor, one from Turf Depot.

The remaining $17,079 for the cost of the lawn mower will be coming from the operation budget.

The Town Council approved the request.

A third request was from the Cable Equipment Capital Reserve fund in order to purchase cable access equipment for the school district, which the Town Council approved.

Campo explained that each year they get $32,500 through Comcast for their cable access with $8,000 of it being earmarked for the school district's.

"This is the school district's annual request," Campo said.

Additionally, Director of Engineering, John Trotter, was in front of the Town Council looking for a withdrawal of $557,000 from the Roadway Maintenance Trust Funds, which was approved.

The Town Council also accepted unanticipated funds for a number of different items, including $965 from the rabies clinic, a donation for police department equipment for $500, and $1,500 for the Health Trust Wellness program for a total of $2,965.

The Town Council also waived its first reading for a rezoning request for 556 Mammoth Road. Town Council Chair, John Farrell, announced that the public hearing would be taking place on Aug. 14.

Town Council Approve Proposal For Pillsbury Road Pump Station

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Town Council discussed entering an agreement with Pillsbury Realty Development, who is the developer for Woodmont Commons, to build a pump station on Pillsbury Road during the July 10 Town Council meeting.

It was explained by Town Manager, Mike Malaguti, that there is a lack of sewer capacity to build out Woodmont Commons and impacts the rest of the Route 102 corridor when it comes to development.

"It's an issue we've been trying to address for a number of years," Malaguti said.

He said when they originally approved the master plan for Woodmont Commons there was always an understanding to have more capacity it would need to be a private and municipal cooperation, which he said is in the developer's agreement.

Malaguti said that $4 million was awarded through community project funding from Congress, and the town would allocate $2.6 million from the sewer enterprise fund.

As part of the agreement, Malaguti stated that the developer is bringing $1.15 million to the project and would be responsible for paying for any excess amount over the original estimate. The total project is estimated at $7.75 million.

"As we all know, construction projects aren't getting cheaper," Malaguti said.

Malaguti said the success of Woodmont Commons is important for the success of Londonderry as a whole.

"The success of Wood-mont Commons is the success of the town of Londonderry and Londonderry taxpayers," Malaguti said.

He noted for example, in the tax year that ended April 1, Woodmont was at $2.2 million for town tax revenue and $5.1 million for the school side.

Malaguti said the funds would come from the sewer enterprise fund, which is funded through user fees and doesn't have a tax impact associated with it. He added that the funds are already available in the account.

"It's entirely funded and replenished by user fees," Malaguti said.

In addition to being beneficial to Woodmont's development, Malaguti stated that it's also critical for building out the rest of the area.

"This is consistent with the town's planning and management of our anticipated sewer capacity needs," Malaguti said.

If the project were to move forward, Malaguti noted it would require a full environmental study to be done at the federal level.

Ari Pollack, who is the lawyer representing Pillsbury Realty for the project, said they would eventually hit a wall of having more development if they aren't able to build out the infrastructure.

In terms of the timeframe, Malaguti said they would bid out the project during the "colder months" and if all goes to plan they would likely begin construction next year, which would take about a year to complete.

The Town Council approved entering into an agreement.

ing on that property," Anderson said.

Dunn said he got a report from a resident who said there was a time when a box truck was parked outside of the property, which he said he had a photo of.

Farrell noted there needs to be evidence of violations and they need to be reported in order for any enforcement actions to take place.

Bielinski tried to speak several times during the meeting and was ultimately told to leave by Farrell.

Farrell stated that there is no public comment allowed and if he tries to again, he'll ask him to leave.

Dunn then told the chairman that Bielinski had made him aware of an RSA that would show that public comment should be allowed if complaints have been filed against the junkyard.

Farrell again stated they would not be taking public comment.

One of the concerns Bielinski was looking to raise was in regards to an enforcement document filed with the court.

He was then ushered out of the meeting by a police officer.

Town Manager, Mike Malaguti, then asked Dunn to clarify the RSA.

After Malaguti read the RSA, Farrell suggested the council take a short recess to discuss it.

Following the five-minute break, Farrell opened up public comment, but the only residents wishing to comment had already been asked to leave.

With no other comments, member, Chad Franz, quickly motioned to approve both licences. One for Murray's and the other for S&S Metals Recycling Inc.

Before the vote, Dunn wanted clarification on complaints issued.

Malaguti said there was an enforcement document filed, but said sometimes courts misfile documents.

"The court lost it," Malaguti said.

In regard to S&S, Anderson noted that there were times throughout the year when the front of the property on Rockingham Road "needed attention to maintain compliance with licensing conditions as well as keep the aisles open in the yard for fire trucks in the event of a fire."

"Mr. Solomini addressed these issues, the front of the lot remains in compliance and the aisles have been opened," Anderson said.

Anderson said he was recommending approval for both of the license renewals.

The Town Council approved the two license renewals.

After the meeting, Bielinski shared a copy of the RSA that was discussed during their break.

RSA 236:95 License Requirements states, in part, that "At the time of the hearing, the commissioner of transportation or his agent shall hear the applicant and all other persons wishing to be heard."

In section 236:117 of the requirements, it states, "The governing body shall hear from the applicant and all other persons wishing to be heard on the application..."

Contacting Dudek on the question of Auctions being held at the yard, he said it's a requirement by the state in order to change the name on a title of an abandoned vehicle (RSA 262:33) to recover towing cost. "No one has ever shown up to the auctions," Dudek said.

Taste the Local Flavors

There's been plenty of talk lately about maintaining the "rural lifestyles" of our communities while the population density is on the rise. One of the hallmarks of a rural community and of the NH countryside local farm stands and farmers' markets is thriving in our area.

In recent years, farmers' markets have sprung up in the downtown heart of big cities. We can find them in Portsmouth and Manchester, and that's a blessing to residents who want fresh, local fruits and vegetables and either don't have enough land to grow their own or can't get into the countryside to buy them at the source.

We don't have to worry about that. Our community is close to a source indeed, they are the source in many cases and you can't get more local when it comes to food than we are.

Derry, right next door to us, has a thriving farmers market every Wednesday.

There's something particularly satisfying about residents getting together for a couple of hours a week to shop outdoors. It's not certain what you will find. Whether it be flowers, fresh breads, fruits, vegetables, homemade soaps, organic dog biscuits, maple syrup, live music and entertainment, or crafts for the kids, it has something new every week.

Meanwhile, farmers in Derry and Londonderry offer traditional farm stands as well. Their agricultural bounty is available for residents and tourists alike every day, right at the farm where it's grown, and often with a U-pick option.

Local products and local people come together at all of these ventures, turning shopping for food into a time to visit with friends, maybe find a couple of new recipes, learn about fruits and vegetables that aren't so common, and get healthier in the process.

If you like supporting your neighbors and keeping your dollars local, then farm-stands and farmers markets are an ideal way to patronize small businesses and strengthen the local economy, cutting out the middle man in the process.

The farmstands and farmers' market shark back to the market days of past centuries, when area residents would come to town to do their weekly shopping and visit with their neighbors.

Living where we do, we don't have to reinvent the wheel to find community and good eating close to home.

Regarding Lions Hall

To the editor,

I Just read the article on the Lion's Hall in The Londonderry Times and it really upsets me.

I have been a member since 1995, and was past president of the Loins Club and a Londonderry resident since 1986.

We the Lions dedicated our time to the Londonderry community from eye care, scholarships, to our seniors, and other charities in town.

Back in 1970 the town of Londonderry gave us the Londonderry Lions Hall to manage and take care of. Before my time, but my past members spent endless hours of there own time, putting a band-aid on an old building.

In the past 30 years my Lion Brothers and I have done the same, fixing an old building. We have spent money and sweat equity maintaining this old building. I want to thank my Londonderry Lions Past and Present for their hard work on maintaining this building and all fundraising for the town of Londonderry for the last 53 years.

Lion Motto, "We Serve, which to Lions means selfless service to others in need in our local communities."

Why No Pickleball in Londonderry?

To the editor

I have now played twice at the new pickleball courts at Sawmill Park in Litchfield. Many people have told me they are the finest tournament size courts in all of New Hampshire and I do not doubt that at all. Only last spring, members of the Litchfield Pickleball Association (LPA) approached the Litchfield Recreation Commission (RecCom) with hopes of outfitting the tennis court surfaces for pickleball. RecCom, like Londonderry's Recreation Department is committed to providing activities for people of all ages and abilities. There is a large number of Londonderry residents who have been members and supporters of the LPA for many years playing indoor pickleball at Talent Hall in Litchfield. RecCom initially contacted several companies for estimates to refinish the tennis courts at Sawmill Park for multi-use sports (pickleball and tennis) only to learn that the costs exceeded their budget. The reconfiguration of the tennis courts for multi-use wouldn't have any major impact on either sport. RecCom then uncovered a significant amount of funds available through impact fees (at no cost to residents or taxpayers) that potentially could be used to expand existing or adding new facilities.

RecCom, then collaborated closely with volunteer members of the LPA going through several rounds of designs and had the potential site surveyed. They considered such factors as handicap parking, wetlands issues, layout to maximize the number of courts, future considerations in the park and even optimal orientation of the courts to the sun.

After all parties agreed on a plan, they presented it to their Board of Selectmen (BOS) who approved the use of the impact fees. After seeing the survey report and the site plan a local company generously agreed to donate their services to clear the land, grade it, pave it and install the ground pad. RecCom then requested bids for the court painting, nets, fencing and signage, etc. and selected the vendors they thought would be best and the easiest to work with. Now Litchfield still has the two original tennis courts and six brand new state-of-the-art pickleball courts. This project would never have come to fruition if not for Litchfield's RecCom, LPA, and their BOS working together and the generosity of two local companies donating their time and substantial services. The six pickleball courts opened earlier in June and gives local picklers another option to consider for play.

If Litchfield can get it done, why not Londonderry?

Problems with ZBA

To the editor,

On June 21, the Zoning Board of Adjustment (ZBA) denied David Coscia the variance request to house a horse on their 1.5-acre property (2 acres is required) for his child with autism who would use the horse as part of his therapy. Three doctors provided written recommendations for this equine care plan. I have never met the Coscia family, and have no interest or benefit from writing this letter.

I am disgusted at the ZBA for denying this variance request. A neighbor came and spoke out against this variance request which had to influence the board, citing the levels of nitrogen which could leach into the wastewater and smells that could emanate from the manure. This is why the variance was denied?

I encourage the ZBA to drive around Londonderry during business hours and see the seemingly endless landscape companies spreading fertilizer on lawns. They are spreading nitrogen which makes the lawns green. Does the ZBA have concerns about these companies contaminating our drinking water? Of course not, so why is the board taking advice from a neighbor who is who is concerned about nitrogen leaching from manure.

Second, the smell issue was brought up. The Coscia family addressed that, saying they would have a company come to the house and take care of the manure weekly. Seems like a pretty reasonable solution. Problem solved.

At at this same June 21 meeting, the same exact meeting! The Zoning Board APPROVED two other variances, one for a garage 20 feet into the required 40 feet setback, and a second to allow an accessory dwelling 5.5 feet encroach into the 15 feet required. How does this get approved but equine therapy for a child does not? It sure seems that the Zoning Board likes to approve building variances, but not variances that could positively affect a child's life.

There is no forward or progressive thought on this board. They should all resign. Get some new blood in there. This request is a layup and they butchered it. A tax paying family came forward with a reasonable request, and you couldn't see the forest from the trees. All they do is approve builder after builder variances, and finally, before them, is a variance that affects a child, and they deny it because of nitrogen and bad odors.

Here is a reasonable solution for both parties: Approve the variance for the Coscia family for 1 year. Let the Coscia family hold up their end of the deal (cleaning up the manure, etc), and after 1 year have a second hearing for a permanent variance granted. At the point neighbor concerns can be addressed. To deny this request right from the gate seems wrong, and frankly cruel, and not following in the spirit of what your role as a ZBA board is.

Lancers Percussion Goes Over the Edge

Within 12-24 hours of last years Old Home Days parade a formal statement was issued regarding a WWI replica vehicle dawning a controversial flag that added itself to the parade following a particular political candidate convoy. That was also an over the weekend event.

Where is the statement? Where does the council stand on this elected individual and his child porn charges? Why is there no community information and official statement?

By choosing not to making a statement and by leaving this persons name on the town website not only does it demonstrate a double standard for how the council and town manager address incidents that impact our community, but it borders on the appearance of bias.

The flag that was offensive to some did not put this community and our children at risk. This pedophile is.

For almost a year there has been an active investigation and this information was kept from the community while the "trustee" maintained his position. He was allowed to not only work the election in March but ran for an electable seat without disclosing this information to our community.

These faulty, unpredictable scatter-bombs kill civilians in unconscionable numbers when they detonate as planned... and yet a significant percentage fail. These "duds" lie inert for who knows how long, only to explode and indiscriminately slaughter innocents when they are later disturbed. We know this. We know it is wrong. Cluster munitions have

What does MISNOMER mean?

To the editor

A great grandchild asked me, "What does MISNOMER mean?"

What better way to answer that inquiry than a visit to Webster's dictionary? MISNOMER: a name wrongly or un-suitably applied to a person or object. I explained it as best I could. Later as I mused about my definition, the "person" that came to mind was Joe Biden. The "object" was that stumbling, bumbling, incoherent and mentally compromised.

Once again, Joe Biden. Can you think of Joe Biden as "commander in chief"?

Commander denotes strength; a Chief means a great leader. Neither of which seem appropriate for Joe Biden. MISNOMER?

Here is a great example; trying to defend Joe Biden in his attempts to defend his Son some say seems appropriate. Not an easy task. A Son dismissed from the U.S. Military for inappropriate conduct. Enters Civilian life that encompasses criminal activity. At this point a caring father might have a sit down heart to heart with his Son who seems to have gone astray. A strong father perhaps at one time, but not now Joe Biden. This is not an opportunity to be wasted. Rather than a reprimand, father joins Son and voila, a crime syndicate is formed. A true caring Son would never bring disrespect or dishonor to his family. A strong father would have ended these insults to the family. The important word in the last statement is "Strong". Once again a Misnomer for Joe Biden.

To my Democrat friends, are you better off now than you were before Joe?

OBITUARY

Paul Albert Dube

Paul Albert Dube of Hooksett, NH, was born at home in Hudson, NH, to Albert Dube and Lydia Morin Dube on Jan. 14, 1942. He passed away at Havenwood Heritage Heights in Concord, NH, on July 5 at age 81.

Paul attended Hudson public schools and the Camp Waya-Awi School in Rangely, ME. He was everlastingly grateful to Laura Sharp, an extraordinary teacher at Waya-Awi, and he treasured his long friendship with Mrs. Sharp and her family.

Paul served in the US Army from 1963 to 1966. A member of the Army Corps of Engineers, he was most proud of his participation in the building of the Freedom Highway in Thailand during his deployment there. Paul was primarily employed by two NH commercial construction firms during his working years: Ferd Corporation of Hollis and Turnstone Corporation of Milford. As a project superintendent, he was firm and exacting, but encouraging, and as a result he was respected and beloved by the men who worked on his crews. Paul was a skilled craftsman in several media, particularly in wood and masonry. He was also a thoroughly-engaged, excellent cook!

Paul and his wife, Marcy McKenize Dube, the love of his life, shared many adventures over their 27 years together. Paul was blessed by his beloved son from a previous marriage, Shawn, who died suddenly in 2019 at age 48 due to an aneurism.

Paul had a big voice, a generous heart, and an enduring sense of humor. Adored by family and friends, he is survived by his sister, Alice Lavoie, of Londonderry and his sister, Claire Bouffard and her husband, Paul, of Concord, and by his brother, Leo and his wife, Priscilla, also of Concord. He is also survived by Shawn's widow, Myra J. Dube and his granddaughter Elizabeth Z. Dube of Orlando, FL. In addition, Paul is survived by his stepsons, William Cantwell of Merrimack and Steven Cantwell of Davenport, Florida. Paul also leaves many loving nieces and nephews. Paul was predeceased by his parents, his wife, Marcy, his son, Shawn, his sisters, Theresa Gendron and Gertrude Asselin and his brothers-in-law, Rene Gendron, George Lavoie and Roger Asselin.

There will be no calling hours. As Marcy did before him, Paul has willed his body to Tuft's Medical School. A memorial Mass is planned for 4:30 p.m. on Saturday, July 29 at Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church at 180 Loudon Rd., Concord, NH.

In Paul's memory, lend a hand, share a skill, and be there for a friend in need, as he did so willingly throughout his lifetime.

Assisting with arrangements is Phaneuf Funeral Homes and Crematorium, Manchester. To view Paul's online tribute, send condolences to his family, or for more information, visit <https://phaneuf.net>.

Conservation Commission Review Second Woodmont Medical Complex

PAUL CONYERS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Conservation Commission met on July 11 to discuss an updated plan for the ongoing Woodmont Commons project.

Chris Nickerson and Kevin Smith were there to give a presentation on behalf of Pillsbury Realty, the master developer for the project and its 30,000 sqft. medical facility. The company recently completed a similar, two-story complex in the same area last June.

"We've just had a tremendous response from the Planning Board and the community, really far beyond expectations for the business that we've developed for the first site," said Nickerson. "There's an incredible need for specialty medical services that we can provide, and that's what we have in mind."

The Woodmont site is on a two-acre plot of land with 150 parking spaces at the rear of the site to meet the needs of medical office users. Utilities are already on the site, and construction should not have much impact on any surrounding wetlands. Based on the local response, the building will have an all-brick aesthetic.

"It's about as clean cut as it gets," summarized Nickerson. "Hopefully, we can put a shovel in the ground this fall."

There was an objection to the proposed landscaping, which included two potential invasive plants. Nickerson expressed his willingness to swap out any problematic plants, possibly with sterile cultivars.

Nickerson promised to take all suggestions into account before making a formal submittal to the Planning Board.

Another presentation came from Earle Blatchford, Senior Project Manager of Hayner/Swanson, for a conditional use permit on behalf of Evans Family LP/CJE Nominee Trust.

"We're here for some infrastructure work in support of the warehouse being proposed at 13 Page Road," said Blatchford.

The work includes extending the sewer line to the new land, and improvements to Page Road itself, and the extension of a water vane from Manchester Water Works from Mammoth Road. These improvements will cross wetlands in the area. The sewer extensions will be designed to serve 14 Page Road in preparation for a possible future construction project.

"Plans include a temporary wetland disturbance, and I say temporary because the intent is to have a tree cutting before removing wetland material to stockpile it, preserving the seed bank before returning the material back to what it's at now," explained Blatchford.

Other additions to the plan include a stormwater drainage plan to meet Londonderry environmental requirements. Commission members already did a site walk.

"We were wondering if you could put a conservation restriction on a small piece of the project where the wetlands are?" asked Commission Chair, Marge Badois. She was referring to a narrow strip of land on the site unsuitable for development and hoped to see it protected.

Blatchford could not give the Commission an answer, but promised to relay all questions to the developer.

Commission members unanimously recommended approval of a conditional use permit, passing on questions to the Planning Board.

The Conservation Commission is scheduled to meet again on Tuesday, July 25, in the Moose Hill Council Chambers at 7:30 p.m.

added that it wouldn't be required for them to take it out during the winter time.

"It doesn't require a whole lot of maintenance," Malaguti said.

Malaguti explained that they submitted the grant application and one of the requirements part of it is for the Town Council to accept it in an anticipated fashion and they agree to take care of the dock if they receive the grant and move forward with the project.

He stated that they applied for $30,000 and the town match for the grant would come from the conservation fund.

"It doesn't have a budgetary impact," Malaguti said.

One question raised by the Town Council was about potential repairs or maintenance that may be needed.

Malaguti said he couldn't guarantee it would never cost the town any money, but they could also look at working it out with the Conservation Commission if needed.

In addition to people being able to use the boat launch to go out on the water, Conservation Commission Chair, Marge Badois, said it would also be a good place for fishing for people who can't get out on to the water, which is the case for some people who live in the area.

One concern raised by Town Councilor, Jim Butler, was in regards to more people using the parking lot for purposes other than going out on the water and is concerned there will be more people using it.

Malaguti said he was aware of some of those issues from his time as prosecutor with the town.

During the public comment portion of the public hearing, Ann Chiampa asked if residents who live in the immediate area would be contacted and if there would be any other access points saying she was concerned about there being more traffic potentially.

Malaguti said there wouldn't be any other access points.

Council Chair, John Farrell, noted that it's generally hard to get there.

The Town Council ultimately accepted the unanticipated revenue during the meeting.

What We Saw, Learned, and Accomplished as Reps

SUBMITTED BY STATE REPS KRISTINE PEREZ AND RON DUNN

The 2023 NH House Session was an incredible opportunity for all to learn and improve their negotiation skills and their ability to compromise. With the House almost equally divided amongst Democrat and Republican Representatives it became of the utmost importance to be in attendance for votes.

Your Londonderry Representatives were there!

Londonderry also had the honor once again to have Rep. Sherman Packard elected as the Speaker of the House, a job filled with many challenges. Speaker Packard managed to maintain order and decorum with almost 400 individuals in attendance despite sometimes heated discussions.

We are proud to be Londonderry's newest members of the House that delivered a historic bipartisan budget with an unprecedented voice vote. The Budget delivered much needed relief with absolutely no increase in existing taxes. In fact, we will become a personal tax-free state in 2025 with the elimination of the dividends and interest tax! An additional highlight, especially for Londonderry, is that we will receive $9,000,000 for water infrastructure. These monies will enable water to be brought from the Merrimack River through Litchfield to Londonderry, the start of a long and expensive project to bring water to all those that choose to participate. An additional win is the substantial increase in funding to public education as well as public charter schools. With available members of the workforce being a major concern in New Hampshire, the passage of the Universal Reciprocity Bill is a major improvement and will help. If one moves to New Hampshire with a profession that requires a license, that may now be transferred. Some of the focus of the Session was working to maintain the "Status Quo" thus keeping existing Laws, that work, in place.

Bills for the 2024 Session must be in place by Sept. 15, 2023. Please feel free to reach out and discuss any specific concerns you might have prior to that date so that we might assist in making them known.

With our first year done, we have a newfound respect for the complexity of the process and those that serve. It has been an incredible experience for us this year and we look forward to continuing to serve the Town of Londonderry in the future.

We are hosting three "Meet and Greets" sessions at the Leach Library this year. Our last one for this year will be on Aug. 22, from 6-7:30 p.m. downstairs in the library meeting room. Please join us.

and for they're to be gutters and a slope roof. He added that some units would have basements, but not all of them.

Currently, the plan is to go with "earth tone colors", but he said they could change as much as they want based on recommendations from the Heritage Commission, which they will need to go in front of when they submit their full plan.

Right now there is a vacant restaurant on the property, which they will be taking down, Marcotte said.

"That would be removed," Marcotte said.

Marcotte explained that the majority of the frontage would have a landscape fence at the buffer and they may have a small patio area for each unit.

"There's plenty of green space for recreation use," Marcotte said.

As of right now, he said they aren't proposing to have a sidewalk on Gilcreast and instead they would have internal sidewalks for people to move around the complex. They would also have public water and sewer.

Based on the studies they had done, Marcotte explained that they would have about four vehicle trips per day and one trip during peak hour traffic, for a total of about 260 cars per day.

Director of Engineering, John Trottier, said he thinks traffic is going to be a big issue and they should work with the other proposed developments in the area so they can include the future numbers.

About four vehicle trips per day and one trip during peak hour for traffic.

Planning Board member, Lynn Wiles, said he thought it would make sense to have some type of walkway to Hanaford's, saying that people would walk over there anyways.

"I think people are just going to walk over there anyways," Wiles said.

While there were concerns expressed about the traffic situation, Marcotte said they could be allowed to have a commercial use instead.

"A commercial use would be worse," Marcotte said.

Planning Board Alternative member, Tony DeFrancesco, said he was happy about the possibility of bringing more housing to the area.

"The entire southern tier needs housing, this is a great way to do it," DeFrancesco said.

Post 27 Seniors Win Three as Season Winds Down

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry American Legion Post 27 Senior

Baseball squad are heading into the final week of the regular season with an 11-7 record after winning three of four games last week.

The Post 27 Seniors had two shutout victories, a 6-2 win and a close 2-1 loss in their weeklong stretch.

Londonderry began their week in Exeter, on Tuesday afternoon, where they came away with a 8-0 win over Post 32.

Owen Carey and Ryan Williams went three for four at the plate to contribute to the 13 hits and five RBIs the team tallied in the game.

Williams also had an impressive game from the mound, pitching seven innings, giving up just four hits, striking out six, and walking three batters for the win.

The first run of the game came in the second inning, when Drew Heenan crossed the plate by stealing home.

The second run came off the bat of Drew Heenan, who singled to centerfield after Liam Stott doubled to center.

The Post 27 crew tacked on six more runs in the seventh with six singles, a walk, and an error by Exeter.

Two days later, Londonderry was out-hit 7-4 in the first game of a double-header against Coffey Post 3, in Nashua, in a close 2-1 loss at Holman Stadium.

Starting Post 27 pitcher, Kevin Rourke, had a tough day on the mound after coming off a no-hitter in the previous week. He pitched five innings, gave up seven hits and one run before handing the ball to Jayden Hamilton, who gave up the winning run on a pass ball with two outs in the sixth.

Rourke, Carey, and Hamilton were the Post 27 batters with hits, with Rourke getting two of the four hits in the game.

Two Londonderry Twirlers Heading to World Championships

The countdown is on for four Red Star Twirlers from Southern New Hampshire to represent the United States in the International Baton Twirling Federation (IBTF) World Championships in Liverpool, England. The competition runs from Aug. 4, with opening ceremonies and continues to Aug. 13 with the closing ceremony. All events will be held in the M&S Bank Arena with hundreds of twirling athletes from all over the world, from Japan to Croatia, Norway to Italy.

Those representing the United States had to qualify by placing top six in the elite divisions of competition at the NBTA National Championships in 2022. They will all convene back at The University of Notre Dame on July 24 to compete again in preparation for the Worlds.

The Red Star four are the only twirlers from New England to qualify. In the last year, all four, with their coaches Gina Hutchinson and KeriAnn Lynch Unger, have taken the prescribed music for each discipline and choreographed routines to capture all the elements required.

The duets of Emily Cowette and Morgan Torre, both of Londonderry and Tiana Barton, Derry and Jadya Vincent, Windham have worked to perfect routines to capture the Cowette, the current Purdue Golden Girl, will be back to compete for Miss College Majorette of America, where she placed third runner up against fifty two competitors in 2022. To do this, she needs to perform well in solo one baton, xstrut, which combines ballet technique with the snap of jazz to emulate the moves one uses when leading a marching band down the field. The final event of the combined requirements is a modeling routine in gown with an interview by two judges. This portion is preparation for college and career interviews as well as the Miss America Scholarship Program, in which many Red Stars have won almost a million dollars over the past thirty three years. At Worlds, Cowette also qualified to represent the United States in freestyle and three baton.

Pairs partner, Morgan Torre, graduated from Suffolk University and started her summer off by winning the Miss Nashua Scholarship Pageant last weekend. She has now qualified for Miss New Hampshire, 2024. Torre was first runner up for 2023.

In addition to Pairs with Cowette, she will represent the USA in three baton.

While the World Team members are working for two major competitions, five more Red Stars are also working just as hard for the Nationals at Notre Dame in two weeks. Tabitha Flattes, 15, Lennon Kate French, 8, Lyla Hill, 8, Madeline Pierce, 8, and Madison Russell, 8, are excited and ready. Coaches, Hutchinson, Lynch Unger and Ashley Tiller are polishing, timing and working the challenging tricks with the added eyes of Coaches Jessica Avelar and Alyssa McLaughlin Palmunen and assistant Patricia Calder. The Red Stars want to thank all who have donated to their trip to Worlds. As in any sport or art, National and International competition is expensive. From airfare to accommodations, and unlike the Olympic athletes, majority of funding is on these athletes. This WORLD competition is, in fact, a first step to hopefully getting baton twirling into the Olympics. It has all the elements of figure skating and gymnastics, and to be an elite baton twirler, takes proper training, coaching and hard work. As many more countries have developed elite level twirlers, the possibility exists and The Red Stars from Derry, New Hampshire are proud to be part of this opportunity.

Alan M. Cooper

Alan M. Cooper, longtime resident of Lexington, Mass., and Londonderry passed peacefully in his home in Bedford, surrounded by his loving family on Thursday, July 13, 2023.

Alan was born on Aug. 10, 1936 and was raised in Revere, MA. He received his Bachelor's Degree from Boston State College and his Master's Degree from Northeastern University.

He was a devoted, loving husband who put his wife Marjorie above all else until the very end. They traveled the world together and made memories that will last a lifetime. They were the definition of soulmates.

Alan loved to help people, whether it be teaching his students in Lexington for 35 years which he had a love for that cannot be put into words, or spending his time volunteering at the Lawrence homeless shelter helping those who were less fortunate.

He dedicated many years of his life to playing, listening, and teaching music. He also spent many hours creating endless pieces of amazing artwork. It was something he loved to do.

He is survived by his wife of almost 58 years, Marjorie (Kesser) Cooper, one son Matthew A. Cooper and his wife Dana, one daughter, Remi Jo Witherbee and her husband James, five grandchildren, Joshua Witherbee and his wife Krista, Erika Tillis and her fiancé Nathan DiMauro, Paige Witherbee, Nate Cooper, and Addie Cooper, one brother, Harvey, and his wife Diane.

He was predeceased by two sisters, Ruth Kane Goldman and Bernice Goldfarb.

He is also survived by his best furry friend Colby and his grand-fur babies, Delilah, Tater Tot, Coach, Elsa, Gizmo, and Zeppelin.
