Police Department Looks to Improve Retention of Officers

PAUL CONYERS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Deputy Chief of Police, Kim Bernard, expressed several goals for the Londonderry Police Department in 2022. Bernard pledged that the Police Department would “continue being financially responsible to the budget” of Londonderry. One issue raised by Bernard was the cost of maintenance. Costs include yearly maintenance on boilers, heating, and cooling systems. The duct system has not been cleaned since the current department moved into their building. It will require $30,000 to properly clean the ducts, well above the $18,700 budget the department current has for the expense. Vehicle maintenance is another ongoing expense. Bernard found

Concerns Raised Over Elderly Taxes at Town Council Meeting

PAUL CONYERS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

During the April 11 Town Council meeting, members and the public expressed concern over the taxes paid by older residents. There are concerns that the current tax brackets have not been adjusted for inflation.

Councilor Joe Green has expressed a desire to reform exception caps for the elderly. Under the current system, an unmarried elderly resident of Londonderry making up to $40,800 has an exemption with the rate at $50,300 for married couples. Green proposed a discussion on how to raise these limits without a negative impact on the town budget. He further stated that “as prices continue to increase past Covid, these numbers are a little bit low.”

Another suggested reform was in reexamining a law regarding members of the elderly community with a deceased spouse. Under current rules, only a living married couple falls under the higher exemption rate. A widowed individual receiving two pensions is considered single, with the $40,800 exception cap.

In public comments, resident Joan Chmielorz spoke at length about the personal impact of the current tax burden. Chmielorz described giving “every cent” of her federal tax refund back to town in July.

She also described needing to borrow $375 from her grandson. “I am begging you because I think I’m going to have and sell my house and leave, I am begging you, to think about the poor people...this is killing me.”

Groundwater Protection Ordinance Sent To Council

ALEX MAM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

During the April 13 Planning Board meeting, the Board held a public hearing for a proposed zoning ordinance amendment that would add a Groundwater Protection District.

“The purpose of this ordinance is, in the interest of public health, safety and general welfare, to preserve, maintain and protect from contamination existing and potential groundwater supply areas and to protect surface waters that are fed by groundwater,” the proposed ordinance reads.

The proposed ordinance lays out what the prohibited uses are in the Groundwater Protection District:

- A. The development or operation of a solid waste landfill;
- B. The outdoor storage of road salt or other deicing chemicals in bulk;
- C. The development or operation of a junkyard;
- D. The development or operation of a snow dump;
- E. The development or operation of a wastewater or septage lagoon;
- F. The development or operation of a petroleum bulk plant or terminal; G. The development or operation of gasoline stations.

The proposed zoning ordinance amendment also explains what the regulations are for existing non-conforming uses. “Existing non-conforming uses may continue without expanding

Conservation Commission Discusses Plans for Landscaper Plan

HENRY GREENBAUM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Conservation Commission discussed a site plan submitted by Outdoor Pride Landscaping LLC at their Tuesday, April 12 meeting.

Robert Duval of TF Moran attended the meeting on behalf of his client. "The site is about 2.6 acres, and it is a site plan for a landscape contractor who has a warehouse and repair building where he takes care of his landscape trucks," said Mr. Duval. "There is an outdoor storage area on gravel to the right, a paved circulating area in front of their building and then a gate. Outside the gate, there are about 15 or so parking spaces and a driveway on to Kitty Hawk Landing."

Duval gave the layout of the site plan for Outdoor Pride, but the Commission was unclear of the history behind the site, so he was asked to clear that up. "The most recent buyer of this lot was S.W. Cole. They were planning to build their office building on this site, but they have decided to make other plans and put it back on the market," said Mr. Duval. "This buyer, Outdoor Pride, now holds a PNS on the property and is looking to develop it."

Outdoor Pride Landscaping bought the property from S.W. Cole so they can expand their operation into Londonderry.

Duval also explained that there is a leveled pad area by the parking lot that was put there by the people who owned the property before S.W. Cole. Outdoor Pride wishes to readjust that pad area so it can conform to Londonderry's regulations regarding drainage and open space.

After going over the on-site details, Mr. Duval transitioned into discussing the off-site details of the plan concerning the six lots that surround Outdoor Pride's newly acquired land.

He said, "These six lots off-site were originally designed back in 2002 to drain to a common tension pond that is just across the street from [Outdoor Pride's] site...That lot [across the street] really has little on it but there is an easement on that property that favors the other six lots. They were all given an allocation of stone water run off at the time."

He continued to explain that S.W. Cole had an approved plan to build a facility on the lot now owned by Outdoor Pride. It was discovered at the time of the approval that the pond needed some maintenance work as it shrunk, and it needed to be restored to its original size.

"It was agreed by S.W. Cole that they would do that [maintenance] work," said Duval. "The new buyer is sort of inheriting this requirement to do this work." S.W. Cole had all the plans approved but never did anything with the site.

Duval explained that they sat on it for four years before putting it on the market which is when Outdoor Pride came in and bought the property. The maintenance work on the pond is the only thing that Duval claims needs to be worked on in terms of conservation.

The Conservation Commission had plenty of feedback to give and Duval agreed to adjust the site plan with the feedback added in and will present the new adjusted plan at a later meeting for the board's approval.

The Commission's next meeting will be on Tuesday, April 26 in the Moose Hill Council Chambers at 7 p.m.

Moose Hill PTA Raises Funds Through Clothes Drive

The Moose Hill School PTA recently wrapped up a fundraiser called "The FunDrive," where members collected clothing and household goods for the thrift store Savers who then paid for the items.

According to Michelle Sullivan, the Moose Hill School PTA Treasurer, "As soon as we posted the donations needed for the fundraiser, the community donations started coming in quick, filling up the front vestibule of Moose Hill. I knew I wouldn't be able to store everything for the month at my house. I started to reach out to the Londonderry community for help.

Local businesses Trend Moving and Storage and RightSpace Storage were contacted and offered support for the fundraiser.

As the month went on donations steadily rolled in. Sullivan said, "It was exciting and a bit overwhelming at times but I couldn't believe how much people were donating! The storage unit was filling up quickly. Towards the end of the month I could barely fit in any more items."

A team from Trend Moving arrived on April 1 to help with the moving of the donations.

The group dropped off over 3,700 pounds of goods at Savers, but unfortunately, this did not allow us to hit the goal we were shooting for but it did allow us to buy six new bikes for Moose Hill School, which was the teachers request.

Sullivan added, "We might have not hit the goal we were shooting for but we definitely saw how amazing our community is! I would love to share this information with the town!"

Planning Board Sends Poultry Ordinance to Town Council

ALEX MAM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry Planning Board held a public hearing on a proposed zoning ordinance amendment related to poultry on April 13

Planning Board Chair Arthur Rugg said a lot of research was done on the topic.

"Our staff has done quite a bit of research on it," said Rugg.

Londonderry Town Planner Colleen Mailloux said she learned about it while they worked to draft the proposed ordinance.

"I learned a lot about chickens," said Mailloux.

Under the proposed ordinance lots between one and two acres will be allowed to have no more than 12 poultry, other than turkeys. They will be allowed to have no more than six turkeys.

For lots between .5 and one acre they can have no more than six poultry and no turkeys.

No poultry will be allowed on lots smaller than .5 acres.

The proposed zoning amendment also states that no roosters, geese or guinea fowl will be allowed.

Other regulations for lots smaller than two acres includes having the poultry property enclosed at all times.

"Enclosures must be roofed (wire or mesh roofing is acceptable) and shall be adequate to prevent the poultry from escaping from and trespassing on public or private property," the proposed ordinance reads.

Other language states that "a minimum of three square feet of sheltered coop and 10 square feet of enclosed outdoor run shall be provided per bird, with the exception of turkeys which require a minimum of 6 square feet of sheltered coop and 10 square feet of enclosed outdoor run per bird."

The enclosures will need to be at least 25 feet from any property line as part of the proposed zoning amendment.

Mailloux said the proposed ordinance wouldn't change anything for lots that are two acres or larger.

Planning Board member Jake Butler said he thinks the proposed zoning amendment has made progress since it was first being drafted.

"I think it's pretty good. It's come a long way since it first started," said Butler.

He said he thinks it's reasonable what they are proposing.

Planning Board member Roger Fillio also thought it was good.

"I'm happy this is a good start, you have to start some place," said Fillio.

Ex-Officio Deb Paul said she is happy that they are going to allow property owners with less than two acres the opportunity to have chickens.

"I'm happy that this is in place," said Paul.

Paul noted that she has already gotten many calls from people who are excited that they may be able to get chickens for their property now.

The Planning Board ultimately voted to send the proposed ordinance to the Town Council for their consideration.

Rugg said that the Town Council will have two readings on it with one being a public hearing. The first reading he said would be to introduce it and then the second reading would be a public hearing.

The Public Hearing will be on May 23 at the Town Council meeting.

or changing to another non-conforming use, but must be in compliance with all applicable state and federal requirements," the proposed ordinance reads.

Some uses are exempt from the provisions of the proposed ordinance as long as they are in compliance with all applicable local, state, and federal requirements. They include:

A. Any parcel located within the Airport District is exempt from this Groundwater Protection Ordinance;

B. Any private residence is exempt from all Performance Standards;

C. Any business or facility where regulated substances are stored in containers with a capacity of less than five gallons is exempt from Section 4.6.8.11, Performance Standards, sections E through H;

D. Storage of heating fuels for on-site use or fuels for emergency electric generation, provided that storage tanks are indoors on a concrete floor or have corrosion control, leak detection, and secondary containment in place, is exempt from Performance Standard E;

E. Storage of motor fuel in tanks attached to vehicles and fitted with permanent fuel lines to enable the fuel to be used by that vehicle is exempt from Performance Standards E through H;

F. Storage and use of office supplies is exempt from Performance Standards E through H;

G. Temporary storage of construction materials on a site where they are to be used is exempt from Performance Standards E through H if incorporated within the site development project within six months of their deposit on the site;

H. The sale, transportation, and use of pesticides as defined in RSA 430:29 XXVI are exempt from all provisions of this ordinance;

I. Household hazardous waste collection projects regulated under NH Code of Administrative Rules Env-Hw 401.03 (b)(1) and 501.01(b) are exempt from Performance Standards E through H;

J. Underground storage tank systems and aboveground storage tank systems that are in compliance with applicable state rules are exempt from inspections under Section 4.6.8.14 of this ordinance.

Planning Board Chairman Arthur Rugg said that they had spent a considerable amount of time on it, and said that they modeled it based on the state model for groundwater protection.

Londonderry Town Planner Colleen Mailloux said that they recognize that they are going to make updates based on new watershed protection areas being developed in town and as some are taken away in the future.

"It's an administrative obligation that will be the responsibility of the GIS manager," said Mailloux.

Planning Board member Ann Chiampa said that she is glad they are going to have it in town.

"I'm glad to see this coming," said Chiampa.

Ex-Officio Deb Paul said that she thinks they need to check on the updates to the watershed areas frequently.

"We need to keep checking this on a regular basis," said Paul.

Paul said that having the data being as accurate as possible is really important.

"We have to really keep track of this moving forward," said Paul.

Mailloux said that they are going to be looking for feedback from other communities that have similar ordinances to see how often they update them.

Planning Board member Roger Fillio said that he thinks its a step in the right direction.

"It's a good first step," said Fillio.

The Planning Board ultimately voted unanimously to send the proposed zoning amendment to the Town Council for their review. The Public Hearing will be at the May 23 Town Council meeting.

Make Earth Day Everyday

Earth Day is celebrated on April 22 every year. The day aims to raise awareness and inspire more and more mindfulness, and to protect the environment as well as focus on the need for conservation.

The earth provides us with everything we need to grow food and live healthy lives. These are our natural resources like; land, water, animals and plant's, this day is meant to be spent celebrating the planet's natural resources.

From space earth, looks like a big, blue marble, with all it's blues and greens, wrapped in swirls of white. From our vantage point, the Earth still has beauty, but it is often marred by smoke in the skies, or ruined waterways, or trash stuck to the side of the streets. It sometimes seems that humans have treated the earth not so much as a garden but as a dump.

Our planet is referred to as "Mother Earth" why it gives us food, water and shelter. Earth Day is a reminder to keep our eye on the big, blue marble, a reminder that Earth is neither a garden nor a dump, it is our home, and it is our life-support system.

Earth Day began April 22, 1970, as a time for all people to celebrate the planet Earth and renew our dedication to making the world safer, healthier and cleaner for ourselves and all of the generations yet to come.

There are a few simple tips on improving environmental conditions. You can do them every day and contribute to the positive effect on the planet.

Sort the trash, and follow the "R's" reduce, reuse, recycle, repurpose, repair, unnecessary things to have a usefulness.

Take part in the improvement in your town and home, by reducing expenditure of gasoline, reduce energy usage, pick up and clean roadsides, and think satiability taking a peace of your lawn and letting be a garden.

The water, as amount of fresh clean water become less and less. Scientists ask everyone on the planet to take care about the resources of water and to spend water only reasonably, lowering usage. By the way, you will not only save the water resources.

We have to make efforts about care of the planet not only once a year, but also every day. You can easily take part in this operation. Our future, also as future of our descendants, depends on it.

These acts may well save the life-support system for our children and their children and all of our descendants to come.

We should do all that we can to be good stewards of our planet.

Long journeys are comprised of small steps, one after another.

Enough small steps, by each one of us, may well save the Earth ... yesterday, today and tomorrow.

Russia Is The Immoral Enemy

To the editor,
After Putin invaded Ukraine, the U.S. administration timidly succumbed to Putin's threats to widen the war if the U.S. and NATO became directly involved. We abandoned Ukraine to the Russian war crimes machine by not confronting the aggression within Ukraine. Economic sanctions against Russia and the supply of defensive military equipment to Ukraine will not stop the wanton deaths and destruction. They need combat aircraft, tanks and long range offensive missile systems.

The murdering of Ukrainian civilians by the Russian military is similar to the German atrocities committed in Europe during WWII, and the ramifications of the U.S. and NATO not going into Ukraine will reverberate in Europe for many years.

Russia could have military forces closer to the borders of NATO countries, and Russia could threaten these countries unless they agree to leave NATO.

The world is faced with a Russian tyrant who is intent on expanding into other countries and willing to achieve his aims by warfare. The free world will be locked in a new Cold War and possible military confrontations with Russia as Putin tries to recreate the Soviet empire.

NATO should be encouraged to increase its military forces; and offensive missile systems should be deployed in NATO countries.

Russia has exhibited inhumanity to man, and it is the immoral enemy of mankind.

Taxes

Councilor John Farrell explained a few possible difficulties with tax reform. He noted that "23% of [the budget] runs the town, and 75% of it runs the school." State law prevents the Council from pulling any money out of the school system, limiting possible options.

One suggestion was asking the School Board to look into education funding. Despite having fewer students, funding levels have remained the same. Maintaining the financial safety of Londonderry is a central goal.

Any new tax exemptions would need to come out from the smaller, town side of the budget. Existing concerns include maintenance for public buildings and more funding for public safety employees. Londonderry is also below goals to rebuild the undesignated town budget. The alternative to make Despite concerns over where to find the money, the Council has pledged to discuss possible solutions for tax reform. Unexpected revenue from the federal government and unspent budget money provides some possible solutions to the issue.

Green proposed changes "without any tax impact" using unexpected revenue sources and leftover money from other projects. He asked Finance & Administration if it is possible to use "tight analysis" and "to pass on tax rates and elderly exceptions to people who need them." Acting City Manager Michael Malaguti advised that tax credits are possible with the current budget surplus, though not necessarily a good idea.

The discussion remains open on when and how to change the law without impacting the budget. Tax reform will be revisited in the next public hearing.

Veteran taxes public hearing is May 9th

Planning Board Discuss Tree Cutting On Adams Road

ALEX MAM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

During the April 13 Londonderry Planning Board meeting the Board had a public hearing for the removal and trimming of trees by the Londonderry Department of Public Works along Adams Road.

Planning Board Chairman Arthur Rugg said that if the road is deemed as a scenic road the Planning Board has to have a hearing on it for any changes.

Londonderry Town Planner Colleen Mailloux said it's an opportunity for the public to understand that they are cutting down some of the trees and the reason for it. She said that the ones that they have identified are hazards.

"There's some sort of intimate danger there," said Mailloux.

Director of Engineering and Environmental Services John Trottier said that 11 trees have been marked.

Trottier said that the last time they did a big tree removal was about 20 years ago when they cut down 40 trees. He said that when they cut down the trees they will also look at what needs to be trimmed, and will do so.

Planning Board member Ann Chiampa said that she is concerned that the road is becoming less scenic.

"That scenic road is becoming less scenic," said Chiampa.

Chiampa said that trees make up part of the scenic view particularly during the fall.

"They are part of that view especially in the fall," said Chiampa.

She also argued that they need to do something as a Town to keep it scenic.

"We should do our part keeping it scenic," said Chiampa.

Rugg said that they can look into it.

"We will have to look at what we can do for replacement of trees," said Rugg.

Ex-Officio Deb Paul agreed that the trees do make a road attractive but she also said that this is a safety issue and maybe the property owners would be willing to plant new trees if they get taken down on private property.

"It's not the town's property, it's the land owner's responsibility," said Paul.

One question that was asked was what the projected timeline would be for the tree removal.

Trottier said that it would likely take a couple days and it would be done within a month.

He said that they would keep one lane of traffic open the whole time it is being done.

Planning Board member Jeff Penta asked where the wood goes when it is cut down.

"Typically it goes back to the yard," said Trottier.

Planning Board member Lynn Wiles said that he agreed with the staff's assessment.

"I agree with your assessment," said Wiles.

Wiles said he thinks that it would be a good idea if they can buy 11 trees and plant them somewhere else in town.

Planning Board member Roger Roger Fillio said he agreed about planting new trees in town but said that they should talk to the Conservation Commission if they are going to do so.

Department of Environmental Services and St-Gobain Performance

The NH Department of Environmental Services (NHDES), represented by the Office of the Attorney General, and Saint-Gobain Performance Plastics (SGPP) announced Monday they have reached an agreement to permanently provide safe drinking water to approximately 1,000 properties located in portions of the towns of Bedford, Hudson, Litchfield, Londonderry, and Merrimack. The agreement also provides a framework for moving forward on additional properties that may be impacted by SGPP.

"We are pleased that the State and Saint-Gobain were able to reach agreement to provide safe, alternate water to approximately 1,000 properties in this five-town area, where private drinking water wells have tested above the State standards for PFOA. The families and businesses occupying these properties will finally get a permanent solution, after a long period of relying on bottled water," said Bob Scott, NHDES Commissioner. Attorney General John Formella added "Ensuring safe drinking water is something we take very seriously. This agreement is an important step forward in a continuing, multi-faceted effort to ensure impacted NH residents have access to clean drinking water."

Following the initial discovery of perfluorooctanoic acid (PFOA) in area drinking water in 2016, which NHDES attributed to air emissions from the SGPP plant in Merrimack, NHDES launched a massive testing effort to determine the extent of the contamination and conducted emergency rulemaking to establish a groundwater quality standard for PFOA of 70 parts per trillion. SGPP and NHDES worked cooperatively to quickly address those properties at greatest risk, providing interim bottled water to impacted residents, and point-of-use treatment systems (POET) or water-line connections to over 500 properties, primarily in Litchfield and Merrimack. In 2018, the State and SGPP entered into a Consent Decree (CD) memorializing responsibilities with respect to the work already completed, providing water-line connections to an additional 302 properties, and setting the groundwork for future remediation efforts.

In September 2019, NHDES lowered the state drinking water maximum contaminant level (MCL) to 12 parts per trillion for PFOA and directed SGPP to commence an extensive well sampling program. At present, approximately 1,000 additional properties have tested above the new standard and have been offered bottled water by SGPP. Pursuant to the agreement, a total of 353 specific properties have been identified to receive either a waterline connection or a POET. Further, SGPP must propose an alternate water solution for the more than 600 remaining properties that have been offered bottled water. In addition, as sampling is completed, SGPP will propose solutions for newly identified wells testing over standards.

This agreement will provide waterline connections or a POET for 353 specific properties including:

OBITUARY

James Francis Segalini

James Francis Segalini, 83, of Londonderry, NH, passed away suddenly and unexpectedly while working in his yard on April 10, 2022.

Born in Hanover, NH, Jim was fiercely passionate about his country and family from the start and dedicated his life to both. After graduating from high school, he started out in chemical engineering and switched to a B.S. in business administration at University of NH, graduating in 1957.

Immediately afterward, he joined the Air Force to become a pilot. That plan did not work out, but if he had completed pilot training, he would never have met his wife, Aud, in England. They wed in 1961, just six months after meeting, and together they went on to have three children.

Jim's military career moved them from England to Texas, Nebraska to North Dakota, and Virginia. Finally, they moved to NH, three children in tow, where, in 1981, he retired as Lt. Colonel to begin a career with Digital Equipment Corporation.

Throughout his management career in Information Systems Technology, Jim put his family first, always, and was a dedicated husband and father. He turned down promotions if he thought they might cost him time with his wife and children, and he always made a point to be home for family dinners every weeknight. He has left a legacy of love.

Jim was a strong, kind, loving, and supportive father and husband. His knowledge and guidance was the foundation of his family. His children went on to pursue careers in management and sales, counseling and education.

In 1991, Jim became a Christian, and he became very passionate about his faith in Jesus. Especially during his retirement, he served people in need through outreach programs and as an elder in Londonderry Presbyterian Church. He volunteered at Sonshine Soup Kitchen in Derry, and Faithworks Ministry of Orchard Christian Fellowship; he was currently active in several Bible studies, including Windham Presbyterian Church. Jim also became a beloved substitute teacher at Windham High School for six years. Former students frequently stopped him in the community to say thanks, years after he had them in class.

Jim was predeceased by his brother, John, mother, Madelyn, and his father, John Segalini. He leaves behind his wife of 60 years, Aud, his daughter, Nina (Segalini) Sutton and her husband Clement "Chip" Sutton; daughter, Kristin Margrethe Coffin and her husband Peter Coffin; and son, Erik John Segalini and his wife Jennifer Segalini. He also leaves behind 5 grandchildren, of which he was very proud: Jesse, Brenner, Ryan, Allison and Natalie.

In Lieu of flowers, a memorial fund is being set up. Donations should be made out to Erik Segalini and mailed to PO Box 426, Oakland, FL 34760. Include James Segalini Memorial Fund in the memo line. Thank you.

Calling hours and funeral services were held. Interment was in the NH State Veterans Cemetery, Boscawen, NH. Arrangements were by the Goundrey & Dewhirst Funeral Home, 42 Main St., Salem, NH. To leave an online condolence, please visit Jim's tribute page at www.goundreydewhirstfuneral.com.

that the department is "budgeted for $4,000, we've been at $4,000 since 2012. We're well over that every year." Oil changes alone for police vehicles average at $5,000 every year.

Recruiting and retention is another chronic, ongoing issue not unique to Londonderry. If an applicant passes a strict background process, it takes one year for them to go through local training and the police academy in Concord.

Open Enrollment is one solution to the staffing problem. Throughout the year, the Services Bureau will advertise that Londonderry is taking open enrollment. The program solicits certified officers throughout NH, skipping the training process, though it still takes time to find new officers.

Bernard found that attrition is an ongoing problem. He said that "two months ago we lost an officer to retirement, we have another retiring at the end of this month, we have another retiring in July." He noted that "there's not many jobs out there where you have to say goodbye to your wife and kids or your husband" to work late nights and early morning. At the height of COVID, short-staffing meant some officers were getting called out up to three times per week. All three retirements are early retirement, and that police attrition is a nationwide problem, not one restricted to Londonderry.

Officer salary was cited as a secondary problem in combination with difficult working hours. Londonderry has historically had a comparatively high salary next to other departments in the state. However, it still does not compare to the pay of jobs in the private sector.

Acting Town Manager Mike Malaguti reiterated that the staffing shortage is "not just a Londonderry concern, it's something that people are thinking about at the state level and local communities, probably every local community around the state." Assistant Manager Lisa Drabik has experience studying the recruitment issue. She cited anecdotal evidence that the recruitment problem is particularly generational. Younger recruits are more concerned with quality-of-life issues, a concern the department can take into account.

A final note was the necessity of having a plan to increase recruitment. Creative solutions have often been as simple as putting up recruitment posters in local gyms.

Lady Lancers Softball Team Start Season with Two Wins

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry High School Softball squad hit the ground running when they opened up the 2022 spring season with two strong wins home and away.

After going 4-1 in the pre-season against a number of tough Massachusetts teams, the Lady Lancer had a 5-0 shutout win over the Winnacunnet Warriors in their season opener at home, then beat Manchester Central-Memorial 6-2 in the Queen City.

Head coach Dave Johnson is in his second season leading the LHS squad and finished the 2021 season with a 12-6 record. The Lady Lancers made it as far as the DI quarterfinals in first year.

Sophomore starting pitcher Olivia Cutuli had a more than impressive start on the mound during the home opener against the Warriors. She allowed just two hits and got 13 strikeouts in the win and also batted in two runs with a home-run to help with the win.

The Lady Lancers started strong in the Monday afternoon, April 11, with Cutuli getting three quick strikeouts in the first inning.

In the bottom of that inning, senior Emily Rivera scored the first run of the season on a pass ball with two outs.

In the third, Rivera got to first on a two-out single and Cutuli put the team in front 3-0 with a homer to centerfield.

The fourth inning had the girls score the final two runs of the game, thanks to three singles and an error by the WHS catcher.

Overall, the Lady Lancers had eight hits in the game, Rivera was three for three in the game, with a double and two runs scored. Cutuli had the game's only dinger and drove in two to help her cause.

Makenna True, Samantha Minton, Liana Sawyer and Lauren Laudani each had singles in the victory.

Two days later, the team traveled to Manchester where they battled into extra innings at 2-2 until the fourteenth inning where they came away with a 6-2 win over Central-Memorial.

Sophomore Sarah Woodruff took the mound for LHS after two innings and lasted 12 innings, giving up seven hits and a homerun for the win.

The game had a promising start, with Rivera continuing her hitting streak with a single and a steal, followed by a walk by Cutuli, but the first ended scoreless.

Junior Mya Gaspie pitched the first two innings and gave up two hits and a run in the second.

In the third, Londonderry tied the game at one with a True single and a Rivera run.

Londonderry took a 2-1 lead in the fourth when Madisyn Bickford scored from third on a ground ball to short-stop.

Manchester tied the game in the seventh with a runner on third and a bunt to second base.

The game remained scoreless for seven more innings until the Lady Lancers rallied in the bottom of the 14th for four runs. The inning

Lancer Baseball Squad Suffers Two Losses to Start

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry High School Varsity Baseball team started their season with two tough losses at home last week. The first was a one-run loss to the Souhegan Sabers in their home opener, followed by a 7-4 loss to Manchester Central-West two days later.

In the first game of the season, the Lancers got behind by two early on and were never able to muster enough runs to overtake Souhegan in the seven-inning contest.

Junior pitcher Connor Fennell was saddled with the loss, despite pitching six strong innings, giving up three hits and two runs.

Johan Pena

The only two Saber runs came in the first inning after a shaky start by Fennell when he spotted his opponent three runners on two walks and a double. Then, both runs were scored on a fielder's choice.

The Londonderry pitcher settled in after that first inning and kept SHS scoreless for the following five innings, but the Lancers offense was only able to score once in the fifth inning.

Sophomore, Johan Pena hit a line drive double to left field to bring in Jayden Hamilton, who had reached on a single, cutting the LHS deficit to 2-1.

The Sabers pitching remained too tough for the Lancers in the final two innings of the game with LHS batters getting just one walk and six outs to end the game with a slim one-run loss.

The home squad had just four hits in the game, struck out 13 times and had three walks.

Pena and senior Adam Wholley each had doubles in the game.

Two days later, at home on Wednesday, April 13, the Lancers had four pitchers take the mound and suffered a 7-4 loss to Manchester Central-West.

Manchester was spotted four runs by the fourth inning before Londonderry got on the board with two runs in the fifth inning.

The Lancers tied the game at 4-4 in the seventh, to force extra innings, but gave three back in the eighth for the 7-4 defeat.

Junior Mike Crowley was the starting pitcher for the Lancers, going three innings, giving up two runs on five hits and three walks. Crowley struck out three batters.

Junior Kevin Rourke was given the loss after pitching two and a third innings in relief with one hit, three runs and six strikeouts.

Tyler Miles was 2-2 in the game with one RBI.

Junior Connor Fennell was the Lancers starting pitcher in the season's home opener.

Wholley, Owen Carey, and Jon Wilson each had doubles in the game. Games this week. Two at home against Exeter and Timberlane and two on the road against Trinity and Concord.

Softball

started with four singles. True, Woodruff, Noelle Dobe and Bickford had singles to go ahead 4-2.

Two more insurance runs were added in the extra inning before Woodruff finished with three quick outs to finally end the game.

Londonderry had 18 hits, while Manchester had just nine in the game.

Woodruff got the win after throwing 205 pitches with 11 strikeouts, seven hits, one walk and just one earned run.

The LHS squad was scheduled to take on Exeter and Timberlane on the road to start this with a game against West-Trinity at home Friday afternoon at 4 p.m.

Lady Lancers Lacrosse Squad Starts Season at 2-1

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry High School Girls' Lacrosse strung together two strong wins against Hollis-Brookline and Merrimack after suffering a season opening loss to Bishop Guertin.

The Lady Lancers season started on Monday, April 11, with a rather forgettable 15-1 loss to the Lady Cardinals on the road, but the team quickly rebounded with two very convincing wins on Friday at home and on Saturday on the road. On Friday, the LHS squad evened their season tally to 1-1 with a 12-2 win over the Lady Tomahawks of Merrimack High School.

After successfully defending an initial offensive threat to start the game, the Lady Lancers went up quick with goals by freshman Ava Naar and junior Meghan Daileanes and senior Caroline Leone.

The fourth goal of the game was scored by Naar, for her second of the game.

Daileanes and Leone both finished with three goals in the game, while sophomore Lilah Melia each added two goals to the LHS side and sophomore Ashleigh Leone and senior Tara Wright each has a goal.

Only two goals got by senior goalie Quinn Brown.

In Londonderry's 10-8 win over Hollis-Brookline on that team's home field, Caroline Leone scored four times with one assist. Daileanes added two goals and an assist and Wright had two goals and sophomore Natalie Washington got two goals and an assist.

The Lady Lancers are scheduled to have two games on the road this week. The first in Nashua South on Monday and the second at Exeter High School against the Lady Blue Hawks.

Londonderry Boys Lacrosse Takes One of Three to Start

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry High School Boys faced two of Division One's toughest teams to start the 2022 spring season and were overmatched in both of those games unfortunately. They were able to come away with their first win sandwiched between those two losses.

less than a minute. The second goal came two minutes later and the Cards never looked back by controlling many of the faceoffs.

After getting down by six in the first period, Aiden Huard gave LHS their first points of the game on a rebound in front of the net.

Londonderry got its second goal of the game, just before the first half ended. Junior Nick Lemay scored on a breakaway after a steal in the Londonderry end to finish the half 15-2.

The BG squad relaxed the offense a bit in the second half, scoring just four to Londonderry's three.

In the Lancers second game, on Friday, April 15, the team traveled to Merrimack High School and got their first win of the young season with a 10-7 victory over the Tomahawks.

The celebration of that win was quickly silenced when the boys hosted the Exeter High School Blue Hawks on Saturday morning and lost 18-3 in another rather one-sided contest.

The schedule didn't get much easier this week for Londonderry, who played Nashua South on Tuesday, April 19, in Nashua. South has started the season with two lopsided wins.

In the season's home opener, LHS struggled to get on the board against the 2021 Division I State Champion Bishop Guertin Cardinals, and fell 19-5 in that game.

The BG squad began their scoring early with the first goal coming in

Lancer Tennis Teams Still in Search of First Team Win

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

With the Londonderry High School Boys' Tennis team starting its first season in three years and the girls' still in a rebuilding phase, the two contingents are still in search of their first team win.

The two team's second week ended with two team losses against Manchester Central and Bedford High School.

For the Lady Lancers, Sophomore Maylee Valentin got the team's only individual win last week, beating her Lady Bulldog opponent 8-5 in her singles match as the number six player.

Junior Catherine Brown had four wins in her singles game in the number two spot.

The team was shut-out against Central on Wednesday, April 13.

For the boys' squad, the states number one player, LHS senior, Cam Poitras, kept his winning steak going with an 8-0 win against his Central opponent on Wednesday and an 8-4 win in his singles match against Bedford.

Against Manchester, Poitras and freshman Connor Lord accounted for the only team win and fell 7-2 to that team.

Londonderry fell to the Bulldogs 8-1 in Bedford on Friday, April 15.
