Fire Department Gets OK for Changes To Its Fee Schedule

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

During the most recent Londonderry Town Council meeting, on Oct. 16, one of the agenda items was in regards to proposed changes to the fee schedule for different services the fire department charges for.

It was explained by

Town Manager Mike Malaguti that they have a fee schedule but they haven't updated it "in quite a while."

He said that essentially they were looking to update the fee structure to be similar to other communities since they have been falling behind with covering their costs for a while.

Malaguti also noted that they added fees in anticipation of possible changes to the fire department regulations like call box monitoring.

Division Chief Brian Johnson said the Town charter requires that they look at the fee schedule every two years, which they have

Community Gives Feedback on Future of Old Lions Hall

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

On Oct. 14, members of the Londonderry community had the chance to address their opinions on what the future of what is known as Lions Hall should look like and be used for during a community forum session hosted by Town Hall staff.

The forum came after a presentation made earlier that week by Public Works Director, Dave Wholley, and from representatives of Weston & Sampson, who presented the Town Council with a conceptual plan of what it could be used for.

Former Town Councilor and Publisher, Deb Paul, said since the town already spent funds on studies, "it would be reasonable beyond a doubt to fix the water issues," and make it usable, which would be significantly less than the approximately $3.5 million price tag estimate for potential renovations.

Wholley told people in attendance that last year the original evaluation of the building cost about $18,700 and this year's conceptual design cost about $18,750 for a total of $37,450.

Paul said it is like when someone buys an old house, you do the important work first like stabilizing the floor and getting the first floor done making the building usable, while waiting until we have a clear direction as to what the residents wish to use it for.

By doing it in phases, it will not be a financial burden and it will allow us time to look at all the options.

State Rep., Kristine Perez, who is also a Londonderry resident, said she was concerned about the conceptual design's price tag, along with the fact that it didn't include fixing the water problem and all of

Lauzon Proposes Athletic Field Study For Schools

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

During the Oct. 17 School Board meeting, the School Board was presented with a preliminary proposal to potentially allocate funds to conduct a field study in next year's budget.

It was explained by Superintendent, Dan Black, that they do their best to make sure they let the School Board early on in the process of any potential new items that may be added to the budget.

"I think this could be a priority we discuss in the budget season,"

Black said.

He explained that they learned a lot from the master plan study, and they thought they could do the same for the fields.

It was explained by Athletic Director, Jimmy Lauzon, that they had a field study committee before in the 1980s, with the idea of finding out the conditions of the fields that existed then.

He said, however, over time they began to get more fields and added a track and more teams. Lauzon explained that after the passing of the former chair of the group, it began to dissolve, but has recently reestablished itself to study the current fields again and to look at the future.

Lauzon said that group came up with a prioritized list of what issues need to be addressed.

He stated that they felt that they should get

Heritage Commission Continue Proposed Medical Center

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

During the Sept. 28 Heritage Commission meeting, one of the agenda items was in regards to an application for a design review of a site plan to construct an approximately 12,000 square foot medical building and an approximately 3,000 square foot bank and associated site improvements.

It was explained by Sam Foisie from Meridian Land Services, who was representing the applicant Bill Greiner, that the property is located about a third of a mile off of Exit 5 on Route 93. He said its located at the Rockingham Road and Vista Ridge Road intersection. Foisie explained that the bank would essentially be a phase 2 of the project, however, it would be pad site ready.

In terms of landscaping, Foisie said the "site will be landscaped to meet the town's landscape requirements."

He stated that they will have more than the 15 feet of required green space on the right hand side and would have evergreen and other shade trees.

Foisie said when they originally went to the Planning Board for a larger project, it was noted that they were lacking some landscaping in the rear. Also noting that there are residential properties in the back and they decided to add more trees for screening.

Foisie explained that while they have architecture renderings of the medical facility so far, but not the bank. He said "we expect the bank to match the same architectural standards."

The plan is to use brick base for the building along with using two tone color and also two tone material.

Foisie said there are two wetland pockets, which will be impacted, and the plans went in front of the Conservation Commission already to hear their comments.

He explained that the Conservation Commission didn't have any comments related to those wetland pockets, however, they were concerned about the adjacent wetlands and wanted to make sure the snow doesn't drain into them. He added that the agreement would be if they get excessive snow that they remove it off site.

"We were willing to put a note on the plan to make sure that happens," Foisie said.

Heritage Commission Chair, Krystopher Kenney, said he was in favor of the design noting it has many of the features the commission looks for.

"I personally like the design," Kenney said during the meeting.

Heritage Commission Vice Chair, Art Rugg, said he thought having different shades of gray would also help.

When asked about the timing of the project, Foisie said their hope is to receive approval before the end of the year so they can break ground.

When asked about signage, Foisie noted that they would be looking to have a monument sign, but the proposal would be within the town's regulations for signs.

Kenney said they would have to go through a separate approval and permitting process for the signage.

The Commission voted to continue the application until Nov. 16.

Wedding Announcement

Declan Battles & Abigail Hadfield

Declan James Battles, son of Christopher and Erin Battles of Londonderry, was married Saturday, Oct. 14 to Abigail Anna Hadfield, daughter of Joshua and Jennifer Hadfield of Pipersville, PA., in a ceremony at the Endicott Estate in Dedham, MA. Nancy Lawrence officiated.

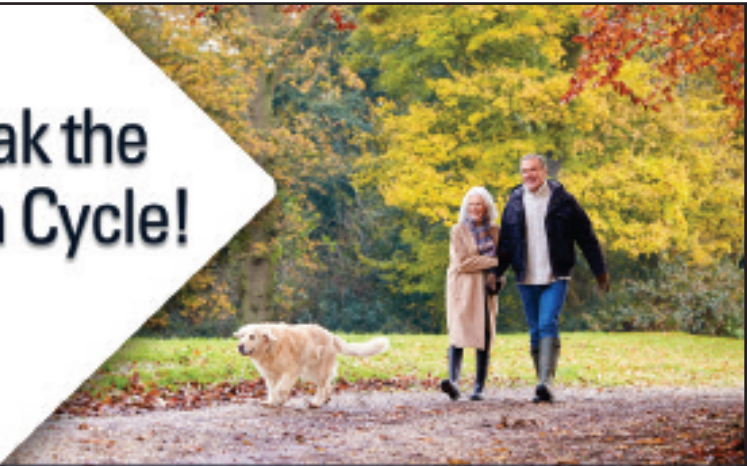

The bride's father gave her in marriage. Emily Hadfield and Amanda Rubeli were maids of honor; Robin Leckey and Laura Leckey were bridesmaids.

Best man was Conor Battles. Isaac Owens and Jonah Puskar were groomsmen.

A reception was held at the Endicott Estate with family and friends. The couple will honeymoon in Punta Cana come December. They reside in Revere, MA.

Mr. Battles graduated from Londonderry High School in 2016, and went on to earn a B.A. at Suffolk University in Boston. Mrs. Battles graduated from Emerson College with a B.F.A in 2020. The couple met in 2018 while both attending college in Boston, and were engaged in June 2022.

Fire Department Names LeBlanc as New Deputy Chief

PAUL CONYERS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Town Council opened its Oct. 2 meeting with a thank you to the fire department after they safely extinguished a small working fire in town earlier in the day.

Recently promoted Fire Chief, Bo Butler, gave a rundown of the situation.

"We had a building fire this morning at 29 Red Deer Road," said Butler. "This was a kitchen that occurred in a one-and-a-half story split frame home, a wood home. We were able to keep a small issue small, by limiting the fire to the room of origin."

The fire department had to call off-duty personnel to contain the fire. There were no injuries, and the firefighters rescued a cat from the home. The fire is still under investigation.

Butler updated the Council on filling open positions created by his elevation to Fire Chief.

"We've had a deputy chief position open up, a battalion chief position open up, and a lieutenant position open up," Butler explained. Current battalion Chief, Phil Leblanc, was chosen as the new Deputy Chief. The other two positions will be filled in the coming week. "It's important that we move as swiftly, but as diligently as possible when filling these roles."

Butler was also confident about the department's application for Staffing for Adequate Fire and Emergency Response (SAFER) grant from the federal government.

"The deadline on the SAFER grant passed last Friday, and as of this time, we have not been told no," said Butler. "Often times that's looked on as a good thing, it's easy to say no."

The FEMA grant would fund four firefighters for the town, helping to alleviate some ongoing staffing issues.

Budget season is fast approaching in Londonderry, and Town Manager, Mike Malaguti, raised the possibility of making the position of Town Treasurer appointed, rather than elected. A similar amendment failed last year. Current Treasurer, Kathy Wagner, was at the meeting to give her perspective.

"[Electing the Treasurer] is an antiquated law, it was done in the 1700s when towns were first being incorporated," said Wagner. "Now the towns have gotten so much larger, our budget is over $40 million!"

She expressed her belief that financial experts are often in a better position to handle such a large budget, adding that Londonderry now has a finance department to manage many of the finer details of every budget season.

Wagner also reassured the public that oversight would not be an issue, as "any resident can come down and see the town's books anytime."

However, she did emphasize that she wanted the Treasurer to remain a local resident, but worried that many talented people don't want to run in today's often stressful electoral environment.

"We don't want to get rid of the position, but it needs to be modernized."

Athletic Fields

a professional company to examine the fields and then come up with a plan on how to prioritize the fields.

"This is a proactive measure and would minimize or eliminate the likelihood of a much larger issue in the future," Lauzon said.

School Board Chair, Bob Slater, said he thinks it's similar to what they did a few years ago with their buildings and he thinks what they put together is a good "starting basis."

Slater said they should create their own scope of work and get comparable quotes from other companies.

When asked, Facilities Director, Alan Miller, said some of the issues that some of the fields have include things like "depressions in various spots," and some that aren't leveled, which causes fields to become unplayable when there is enough rain.

Slater said the plan will help them with long term planning.

"This helps us for longterm in another area," Slater said.

Slater said he thought going forward with the study would be a good idea.

"I think this is money well spent," he said.

Also during the meeting, the School Board approved the retirement of Brian MacDonald, a custodian at Londonderry Middle School and the resignation of Madison Taylor, a support staff member at South School.

The next regularly scheduled School Board meeting is set for Nov. 7 at 7 p.m.

Have a Safe and Happy Halloween

Halloween happens on a Tuesday night this year, a midweek treat for the young, and a fun-filled reminder of years of trick or treating for those of us well past the days of going door to door for candy with a pillowcase.

For many of us, regardless of age, Halloween is our favorite holiday, a day we look forward to for weeks or even months. For children, there's something about dressing up, heading out after dark and walking up to neighbors' homes, while filling a bag with free candy and other treats that can't be beat.

The day is not about horror, it's about the fun. We can expect police to be out in force on that night, as the little ghosts and goblins, witches and princesses, devils and zombies, and let's not forget all the super heroes parading along local streets. It means that our usual midweek activities like shopping or heading home from a tiring day at work can put children at risk as they go about their rounds.

We want take this opportunity to remind everyone to drive especially careful on Halloween, paying close attention to pedestrians both during the day and night. We also want to remind parents that children's costumes should feature light colors or reflective tape so they can be seen in the early darkness that the season brings. It is important to make sure young children travel in groups, under adult supervision, with everyone carrying flashlights or glow sticks.

The New Hampshire State Police offer the following tips to make Halloween safe as well as spooky:

Keep costumes short to prevent trips and falls.

Use make-up instead of a mask, making sure not to obscure vision. Instruct children to stop only at familiar homes where the outside lights are on.

Tell children not to enter the homes or cars of strangers. Remind children not to eat any of their treats until they return home.

Keeping safety and common sense in the forefront, and focusing on having fun on what we hope will be a crisp and clear fall night is after all, what makes good memories.

There's something special and very New England about the sight of a lit pumpkin on the porch in the Halloween dark.

Go a head, put on a mask or a witches hat as you prepare to answer the door when it rings.

If you want to get especially spooked, just remember what happened a few years ago, when trick-or-treating was postponed while we shoveled out from an early and damaging snowstorm.

Planning Board Grants Use Permit For Eversource Plan

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

During the Oct. 2 Planning Board meeting, a public hearing was held regarding an application for a conditional use permit for 3,063 square feet of temporary wetland impact and 19,037 square feet of wetland buffer impact for equipment access and work pad placement within the Conservation Overlay District for the proposed replacement of existing structures along the existing 326 Transmission Line Right of Way.

It was explained by Conor Madison from GZA, who was representing Eversource, that they were proposing to replace 11 utility structures throughout town, including off Dan Hill Road, Elwood Road, and Wiley Hill Road.

"This is similar work to what we have seen in the past," he explained, noting that every year Eversource goes out and inspects every single one of their lines.

Madison said they would be going with a wood pole to steel pole replacement as part of the project.

"We're not replacing any lines, adding in any new lines or clearing any trees for this work," he said.

Madison stated it would be about five feet higher than the original ones because of the new electrical standards.

"We do have new electrical standards today," he said.

Madison also noted that the Conservation Commission voted to recommend approval of the project during its previous meeting, and they would likely be beginning in the middle of October and need to be done in March.

Town Council Chair, John Farrell, spoke during the public meeting saying, "I have spent hours of my life that I will never receive back with Eversource about trees and right of ways."

He asked that as part of the conditional use permit that the Planning Board add a condition that they let all of the abutters know through door knocking and other means what they are planning on doing, to which the board agreed to do.

"So they're informed, so people like myself and the state legislators don't have to go out there and have meetings in the snow again like we did last year," Farrell said.

He said in the past few years things have dramatically changed, which has caused communication issues.

Members of the Planning Board questioned what the communications plan would be for this particular project.

Ed Kendrick from project services division of Eversource explained that at the beginning of the proposed project there were letters sent out letting abutters know what would be happening.

He explained that they made appropriate notifications for people who live on the line and they sent out mailers and did some door knocking in the area.

The Planning Board approved granting a conditional use permit.

Planning Board Chair, Art Rugg, concluded by suggesting that they try to connect with as many abutters as possible.

"People appreciate the personal contact," he said.

Fall Festival

Students, families and friends attending the third annual Fall Festival at Matthew Thornton Elementary School had plenty of activities to take part in last Thursday evening. The event started with the annual "Candy Crush" race around the school and continued with a farm animal petting area, games, races, a corn maze, a photo booth, dancing and dinner. Middle school students Aiden Hocking and Bridget Quinlan were the winners of the race this year.

Conservation Discuss Parking, Hazards, Harrassment, Hawks

PAUL CONYERS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Conservation Commission discussed ongoing business, starting with a long-awaited report regarding the Hickory Hill entrance to the Musquash. The Commission has been hoping to put a parking lot at the entrance, for some time, with delays based on the presence of rare plants in the area.

“We have to move the plants, we need to replant them,” said Conservation Chair, Marge Badois. “I know other sites where they’ve had luck replanting plants.”

The Commission received a communication from The Nevins, who are looking for permission to cut down “hazardous trees” from a property in the community. It isn’t the first time such a request has been made.

“We printed out the definition of ‘hazard’ the last time we had a go around,” said Badois. The board rejected the original claim to remove the trees, questioning whether small trees can be classified as hazardous under Londonderry regulations. Complicating matters is a variance at The Nevins complex, and members agreed that more clarification was needed before making a final decision on the matter.

The NH Association of Conservation Commissions is holding its annual meeting on Saturday, Nov. 4. The meeting teaches new members of Conservation boards across the state fundamentals of the job, from wetland zoning to invasive species control. Badois recommended attendance for new members.

With budget season coming up, the state of finance for the Commission was a prominent topic of discussion.

“We have $560,661.43 in our account at this moment in time,” said Conservation member, Deborah Lievens, adding that “we have some outstanding bills that have gotten lost in the shuffle.”

Lievens normally conducts a financial report once a month, although she had fallen behind and was waiting for a September report. There have also been communication issues between the Conservation Commission and the Town Manager over some questioned charges that are still being resolved. Lievens expects to hear back to resolve the matter soon.

A grant meant for Londonderry Conservation has gone into the wrong bank account. Lievens promised to “stay on top of the problem” and believes it happened due to a change in the bank system, although it isn’t entirely clear what went wrong.

Ranger, Glenn Aprile, reported that rail trail volunteers were recently harassed.

“Volunteers were cutting the grass, and some kids didn’t like the debris coming out of the lawn mower,” said

Aprile. “They put logs in front of the lawnmower, then started throwing rocks and sticks in front of the guy. One of the rocks hit the lawnmower.”

The two kids involved in the incident were caught and given a two-year ban from anywhere on the rail trail.

Red-tailed hawks are getting sick from eating poisoned mice. The police department is warning residents against using rodenticide poison to get rid of rats.

Wellness Winners Londonderry Middle School sixth-grade students Genevieve Bostick and Ryder Burns were the winners of two bicycles raffled off during the annual Wellness Day held at the middle school. The winners are pictured with LMS Principal William Van Bennekum. The bikes were donated to the school by Walmart and the walk-a-thon that was conducted throughout the Wellness Day brought in over $3,000 towards the wellness program.

the things needed for a kitchen. She added that her biggest concern is that the project will be over $3.5 million.

"I'm a senior, we can't afford 3.5 or anywhere near it with the way our taxes are now," she said.

Dennis Martin, on the other hand, suggested they could tear it down, arguing that fixing it would ultimately be like "putting a band-aid on it." One suggestion he pointed to is putting an outdoor ice rink there, it could also be used for other events.

Longtime Lions Club member, and 40-year resident, Gerry Gulezian, said the building has been the meeting place for the Lions for 52-years. He added that he has heard the talk of a water stream under the building and said there is no truth to that.

Gulezian said the best thing that could be done with the building is to return it to the Lions.

He also mentioned that in the end, residents will be paying taxes on a building they don't currently pay into.

Ann Chiampa, a member of the Planning Board and Londonderry Historical Society, said she was disappointed to hear some people talking about tearing the building down, saying there is a lot of history there.

"That breaks my heart to think that it would be just torn down because people think it's old," she said.

Others throughout the meeting also mentioned the historical significance of the building, and called for the building to become a official historic building.

Later in the meeting, Paul also noted, that if they take their time they could have people put together a group to collect donations from different large businesses in town, to ease the tax burden on community members, "who knows we could raise a lot of money that way".

One question raised was whether or not the forum was held in reaction to the forum conducted by a resident in town.

Kirsten Hildonen, the administrative support coordinator for the town, said it was her idea in response to that meeting, saying there was no staff working on the project there and they wanted to give people a chance to talk to them face to face.

"You could have spoken to the town first," Perez said.

Wholley noted that he would be happy to bring people into the building for a tour and said since there is a chance that many people have never been inside the building, they may be looking into having an open house style forum to gather feedback from the community.

"Perhaps there's a lot of people in town who never even set foot inside the building," he said.

He also noted that the design so far is just conceptual and that no decisions on the future of the building have been made so far.

Another suggestion raised was fixing the floor to get it usable and then allow the Lions Club to resume using the building.

Wholley said if they were to spend money to fix the floor, some people may say they would want to rent it other than the Lions, which could cause them to go on a different path and make things more complicated, but said at this point nothing is off the table.

"That puts you on a different path," he said.

done. He said that with the new administrator and fire chief, he has received the support to propose new changes to the fee schedule something that hasn't been done since 2008.

Johnson said that they were ultimately looking to be able to recoup most, if not all, of the costs to the town when they perform inspections similar to the system in place for the building department, "So the taxpayers aren't paying for me to go out to do inspections."

For example he said that right now the fire and sprinkler inspections are $30 however, he said sometimes he spends multiple days on site.

Johnson said that they looked at 10 different communities with the goal of being in the middle of the road.

Some of the changes he pointed to include for commercial re-inspection fees. He explained that before they had the reinspection fee at $195 while sometimes the original fee was only $75.

"I don't think it's fair to charge $195," Johnson said.

Going forward the new fee for re-inspections will be the original cost.

Another change he pointed to is fire alarm plan reviews which will be going from $30 for new installation to $1 per device. He pointed to an example of a building in town with over 20,000 sprinkler heads which cost $30 for the inspection despite it taking multiple days to complete.

The Town Council ultimately approved the changes to the fee schedule.

OBITUARY

Terry Glynn Smith

Terry Glynn Smith rested from a lifetime of service on Oct. 20, 2023. Terry's friendship with Jesus strengthened him as a devoted husband to Lisa, a proud father to Josh, and a servant-hearted volunteer for many ministries throughout his life.

Born in Jackson, Tennessee to Lyman and Anne, Terry grew up enjoying the outdoors with his twin Gary, brother Mike, and sister Christy. Terry met Lisa during grad school at Vanderbilt before beginning a career in commercial real estate. After a brief but blessed time in Texas, Terry and his family moved to NH where he found over three decades of joy and friendship. Terry served at church, Habitat for Humanity, Makeover Ministry, Helping Hands Outreach Ministries, and beyond. He was a patient mentor and a passionate leader.

Terry's persistent search for a diagnosis finally received a definitive answer (amyloid disease) just months before God replaced his ailing body with an imperishable one. Terry's friends remember him as a wise man of character, forbearance, and faith. Naomi, Terry's granddaughter, remembers him as kind and loving. Terry's daughter-in-law Rebekah remembers his authentic compliments, eye for beauty, thoughtful generosity, and encouragement. Terry gave Josh a love for words and a model for fatherhood. And Lisa remembers Terry's unyielding love and devotion.

Calling hours were held on Tuesday, Oct. 24, in the Peabody Funeral Homes and Crematorium. A celebration of Terry's life was held on Wednesday Oct. 25 at Orchard Christian Fellowship, Pillsbury Rd., Londonderry. Donations in memory of Terry may be made to Helping Hands Outreach Ministries, 50 Lowell St., Manchester, NH 03101. To send a condolence please visit www.peabody-funeralhome.com.

Local Spooky Spot Benefits St. Jude Hospital This Year

Local resident, Chris Casey will be holding a “Skeletons for St. Jude” fund raising event at his home at 41 Wilshire Drive. Casey has taken his love for the holiday into something that will help benefit others this year.

Skeletons for St. Jude is a nationwide fundraising effort of home haunters that use their Halloween displays to raise money for St. Jude Children’s Research Hospital supporting children and their families impacted by childhood cancer. Their goal is to raise as much money as possible to help get sick children well and out of the hospital, so they too can enjoy these fun Halloween and holiday displays.

A St. Jude fundraising sign can be found on Casey’s front lawn for those interested in donating. A QR code on the sign will direct those to a way to donating.

This year St. Jude is striving to break the half-million dollar mark, so Casey is encouraging residents to stop by for candy, a scare and to donate.

Lancers Notch Fourth Shutout of Season in Hudson

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry High School Football team will head into the final game of the regular season boasting a 7-1 record after easily taking care of the Alvirne Broncos in a 40-point shutout.

The Lancers squad traveled to Hudson on Friday night, where they dominated the now 4-4 Broncos in a rather one-sided contest.

Londonderry put up 351-yards on offense, 114-yards in the air, and 237 on the ground.

The defense had another stellar game, shutting down the AHS offense and giving up just 38-yards and allowing only one third down conversion. They also recorded 29-sacks, Cam Brutus led the team with five solo sacks.

On offense, senior running-back, Jake

Schena, carried the ball for 100-yards, his longest run of the night was for 48-yards.

Leading in catches, senior Connor Truesdale had two receptions, for a total of 47-yards, and junior Ethan Wheeler made one for 39-yards.

Junior quarterback, Sam Ogden, had four completions for 55-yards in the air.

After a fairly lengthy Senior Night celebration for the Broncos, the game began with what could be the home team's biggest play of the game. Londonderry's first drive, after the opening kickoff, resulted in Alvirne taking advantage of an errant throw by LHS QB, Conor William, for the games first interception.

The turnover wound up being harmless, with LHS forcing a three-and-out and leading to Lon-donderry's first touchdown of the evening.

The Lancers second possession led to seven plays and 57-rushing-yards finishing with Brutus running five-yards into the end-zone. Junior kicker, Blake Thompson, added the extra-point for a 7-0 lead at 5:29 in the first.

In the team's third possession, Ogden and Schena combined for a three-yard run for the second touchdown of the game. Thompson added the point after, giving Londonderry a 14-0 lead to start the second quarter.

Londonderry had three more drives ending in touchdowns in the second quarter.

Brutus, in at quarterback, had a seven-yard pass completion to Mason Paquette for the third touchdown of the evening.

Ogden added another seven-yard pass completion, this one to Conner Truesdale, who was waiting in the endzone for the reception and the 28-0 lead at 3:22 in the second.

The final scoring drive of the first half ended with seconds left on the clock and junior QB, Alex Villa, handing the ball off to junior Carson Palma at the 12-yard line, who carried the ball to the end-zone.

Thompson missed on his fifth attempt of the night, but the Lancers headed off the field for the halftime break leading 34-0.

In the second half, the Lancer eased up on offense, scoring once in the fourth quarter.

Freshman quarterback, Sully Daron, handed off the ball to junior Caiden Malek for a 31-yard carry to the end-zone, giving LHS a 40-0 victory.

The team will finish the regular season on Friday night, at 7 p.m., at home with a Senior Night game against the 6-2 Salem Blue Devils.

Field Hockey Team Win at the Seacoast, Finished in Windham

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry High School Field Hockey squad finished their season last week with a very nice first round win over Win-nacunnet, but then fell to the number two seed in Windham.

The Lady Lancers entered the first round of the Division I playoff as the number 10 seed and needing to beat the seventh seeded Winnacunnet Warriors on Tuesday, Oct. 17, to move on.

Londonderry was able to defeat the WHS squad in Hampton, with a slim 1-0 win to move onto Windham High School in the quarterfinals.

The only goal scored in the defensive battle at the coast was by senior Ashleigh Leone and sophomore Alison Chambers, on a corner assisted by junior Ava Widisch with just 5:52 left in game.

Sophomore goal tender, Abbigail Cook, had seven saves to keep Londonderry in the playoff picture, while the Warriors tender had four saves.

Three days later, in Windham, the Lancers had the very difficult task of upsetting the number two-seeded Lady Jaguars.

The Windham squad finished the regular season with just one loss, one tie, and 14 wins, putting them at the top of the bottom half of the playoff bracket.

Londonderry had a strong start in the quarterfinal match-up, controlling the ball and getting the first goal of the game.

Senior Taylor McKinnon had a shot from about 15-yards out, setting up a goal by Widisch from the right side at 7:53 in the first.

Despite the quick start, Windham was able to tie the game three minutes later on their first corner in the match, leading to a 1-1 score.

Windham went up 2-1 with 24-seconds left in the quarter on the Jags second corner of the game.

In the second period, the LHS defense was able fight off three more corners to start the period and kept the game within reach.

In the second quarter, Chambers nearly tied the game on the team's first corner of the game, but the ball sailed too high, and into the net.

The third period had LHS continued to play strong on defense, keeping the score within a goal leading to the final period.

The fourth quarter had Londonderry come out with a very good offensive push, but Windham ended the game by taking control of the ball and scoring two more times for the again 4-1 finish to the Lancers season.

Lancers Girls' Soccer Team Head Into DI Playoffs

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry High School Girls' Soccer team finished the regular season last week with a win and a loss and will head into the Division I playoffs as the #14 seed.

As the #14 seed, they will need to take on a very tough Bedford Bulldogs team (#3), on the road, Wednesday night to keep their season rolling.

The Lancers began their final week of the regular season at home against Windham High School, on Tuesday, Oct. 17, where they were able to walk away with a 2-1 victory. The win was Londonderry's sixth victory of the season and it was the Jaguars 9th loss.

Both of the Londonderry goals came in the first half.

The first points put up were on a beautifully executed centering pass from the left corner by junior forward, Audrey Hughes, to junior Reagan Anderson, who blasted past the tender from just outside the box at 21:05 in the period.

Lancer goal number two came at 17:05 in the half, when junior Jaelynne Kelly sent another perfectly placed ball in front of the net, off a corner kick, where it deflected off a Windham defender past the Jaguar tender.

The Windham squad

made it a one-point game at 32:28 in the second half on a corner kick of their own. The kick was also well placed to the right side of the net where a Jags player was waiting, putting it past junior tender, Reagan Delude.

The Londonderry defense and Delude held on to preserve the 2-1 victory.

The Lancer keeper made five saves in the first half and another four saves in the second half.

Two days later the LHS girls traveled to Timberlane Regional High School to take on the Owls, who had only lost one game all season.

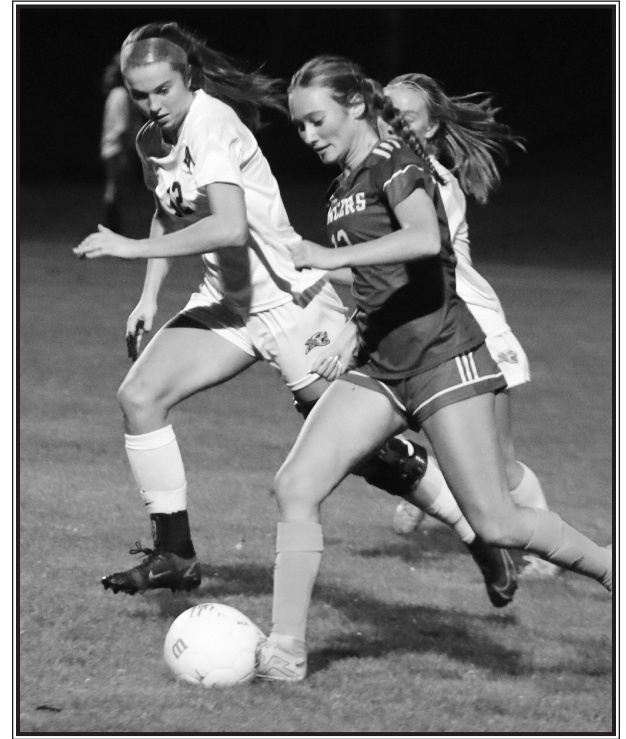

Despite the overwhelming disadvantage, Londonderry kept the game within a goal, losing 2-1.

Jaelynne Kelly got the Lancers only goal of the game on a free kick.

Delude managed four, first half saves and an impressive 10 stops in the second.

The Lancers first game of the Division I playoffs is scheduled for Tuesday, Oct. 24 at 3 p.m.

If the Lancers manage to get by the number three seed in Bedford on Wednesday, Oct. 25, they will move onto the quarterfinals on Sunday, Oct. 29, at 3 p.m. at either Concord or Nashua North High School.

Junior captain Audrey Hughes makes her way along the sidelines at home against Windham.

LHS Boys' Soccer Head Into Playoffs as #5 Seed

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry High School Boys' Soccer team finished the regular season at 12-4, with a win and a loss last week and will head into the Division I playoffs as the number five seed.

The Lancers began their final week of the regular season at Windham High School, on Tuesday, Oct. 17, where they battled to a 0-1 defeat. The loss gave Windham its 13th win of the season and Londonderry suffered its fourth loss.

The only goal in the game came off a rebound in the first half, at the 38th minute.

Junior Lancers keeper, Noah Celio, kept his team in the game with three saves, while Windham's tender was able to make five saves and preserve the win.

Head coach, Todd Ellis, remained optimistic, saying, "This was a hard fought game on both sides. I thought we gained confidence and grew stronger as the game went on. We made an unfortunate mistake towards the end of the first half, however, we created many opportunities and had good chance to tie and even move ahead."

In the final game of the regular season, Londonderry bounced back with a strong, 2-0 home field victory over the Timberlane Owls.

Londonderry began the evening by paying tribute to their 13 upper classmen at the annual Senior Night game held on Thursday, Oct. 19.

The team's first goal of the game was scored by junior forward, Brett McKinnon, and assisted by fellow junior Zach Mantegari in the 38th minute of the first half.

In the second half, McKinnon added an insurance marker with an unassisted goal in the 71st minute.

Senior Lancers keeper, Jason Reilly, made three saves in the shutout, while the Owls tender had four stops.

Ellis was happy to move onto the playoffs, saying, "Timberlane did a great job of challenging us, and adding to some of the pressures that come with senior night. When we play to our abilities and strengths, block out all of the extra noise, we are something to watch."

The Lancers first game of the Division I playoffs is scheduled for Tuesday, Oct. 24, at 3 p.m.

The fifth-seeded Lancers will take on the Exeter Blue Hawks (12th seed) at home.

A win will have them traveling to Manchester to play either the Central Little Green (#4) or Manchester Memorial (#13) on Friday, Oct. 27 at 3 p.m.

Lancers Girls' Volleyball Finish Regular Season at 13-5

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry High School Girls' Volleyball squad capped off an excellent season with two more wins to wind up as the number five seed heading into the Division I playoffs.

The Lancers had three games in the final week of the regular season winning two and dropping one and giving them a 13-5 record.

The team's week started with a Senior Night battle against the Salem Blue Devils, on Monday night, where the Lancers needed to bear down in each and every set to come away with a match win.

Before the game, LHS seniors Ally McGonagle, Liv DeFazio, Sarah DeFazio, Abby Harrington, Libby Bono, and Mea Bizzarro were honored for their efforts on the team in the Senior Night ceremony.

In that hard-fought match, Londonderry came away with a slim 3-2 victory for their sixth consecutive win and their twelfth victory of the season.

The first set was very competitive, seeing a number of lead changes and a dozen ties. Salem scrambled back from an early 14-10 deficit and Londonderry fell behind in the final points of the game for a 24-26 loss to open the match.

The second match also went to the Blue Devils, winning by a far greater margin, at 12-25.

Behind by two, and facing a straight set loss at home, Londonderry dug deep to claim three straight sets and the senior night victory

The final sets scores went 25-23, 25-15, and 15-9.

Highlights for Londonderry included: Abby Harrington getting 18 digs and five aces; Sarah DeFazio tallied 31 assists and five aces; Ally McGonagle posted 12 kills and four aces, while Mea Bizzarro managed 11 digs and three aces.

On Wednesday night, Oct. 18, the team traveled to Hollis-Brookline High School where they battle one of the best teams in the division, losing in three close sets.

The Lancers lost 25-23 in the opening game, 25-21 in the second set and finished with a 25-19 defeat.

Ally McGonagle had 18-digs and six aces in the match. Abby Harrington tallied five aces and five digs and Sarah DeFazio finished with 21 assists and four digs.

On Friday night, in Londonderry, the Lancers finished the regular season with win number 13 against the Exeter Blue Hawks.

The straight-set victory had LHS winning 25-21 in the opening set, commanding the second with a 25-11 outcome and finishing with a 25-16 win.

Highlights for the Lancers included: Ally McGonagle getting 10 kills, seven digs, and five aces; Riley Campo accruing seven digs; Libby Bono getting six kills; and Gabby Pedrick adding three kills to the team tally.

As the division's number five seed, the Lancers are able to host their first two matches in the playoffs, provided they get by the 12th seeded, Bishop Guertin, in the first round on Wednesday, Oct. 25.

A win over the Cardinals will have them hosting a quarterfinal match on Friday night, Oct. 27, at 6 p.m.

GREENWorks: Invasive Plants – More Deadly than You Think!

With autumn here and plants slowly fading, you may think that invasive plants aren't as much of a concern. However, invasive plants are just as prominent as ever in this season since many of these plants regrow year after year. It's important to learn about what plants are invasive and how to dispose of them properly to prevent growth and spread of invasive species.

What are invasive species anyway?

Invasive species include any non-native species that can pose direct impacts to the ecological health of an ecosystem. They can be particularly harmful for the environment by taking resources away from native species and even outcompeting them. This can allow invasive species to take over an area without fulfilling a role or purpose in the ecosystem. Aside from this invasive plants can be problematic for residents trying to recreate outside.

Common invasive plants in NH

It's important to be aware of invasive plant species in NH and to not be further spreading invasive species. By knowing a few species to look out for, you could prevent damage in the ecosystems and protecting native plant life. While there are several invasive plants in NH, here are a few common ones. For a complete list please go to the NH Guide to Upland Invasive Species or refer to resources from the NH Department of Agriculture, Markets and Food.

Purple Loosestrife: is a purple perennial flowering plant that can grow from 2-6 feet tall. While it normally grows near waterbodies, it can adapt to a variety of environments. This plant is extremely invasive and can resprout from broken stems, unground roots and plant fragments.

Japanese Knotweed: is a shrubby herbaceous perennial that can grow up to 8 centimeters a day during spring. The plant has a rooting system compromised of intertwined rhizomes that give it an edge in out-competing other species; it can even regenerate from root fragments.

Multiflora Rose: is a perennial woody shrub that can grow to be over 15 feet in height and 10 feet in width. As a climbing vine, it can reach 25-30 feet tall. An adult plant contains around 500,000 seeds, and these seeds remain viable for 10-20 years after being produced, allowing it to spread rapidly.

Oriental bittersweet: is a perennial woody vine that threatens native plants because it climbs on other plants, taking their resources. Bittersweet has glossy and round leaves that grow to be around 2-5 inches long, as well as recognizable orange roots. While it's usually found in grasslands, it can adapt to forested and shady areas.

You can never be too careful

While these are just a few examples of invasive plants, there are so many more invasive species that can harm NH ecosystems. If you see a plant that you are unfamiliar with in your backyard, make sure to look it up. When it comes to invasives, remember that you can never be too careful!

How do I get rid of invasive plants?

If you notice an invasive plant species in your backyard, it's important to remove and dispose of it properly so that it doesn't spread throughout the area. There are different ways to remove invasives, so you should decide the best method depending on the spread of the invasive in your area.

Physical removal

The most basic way to get rid of invasive plants is to physically remove them. While this method does sound straightforward, it can actually be difficult since you have to ensure that all parts of the plant are removed. Once removed, you should bag up the plant and put it in the garbage immediately. Composting is an option for SOME invasive plant species, but, if done incorrectly, it could allow them to regeminate if their seeds are combined in the compost mix. If you compost in your backyard or garden, the invasive plant can find its way back into the ecosystem and further harm native species. It's recommended to put the invasive plants in the trash unless you are working with a commercial composting facility that has agreed to accept them. By being thorough with removing invasives, you can help preserve and protect our ecosystems, one plant at a time.

Chemical removal

While physically removing invasive plants is manageable with a small number them, removing a cluster of invasive plants can seem overwhelming and even impossible. In cases where you have a larger number of invasive plants, chemically removing them may be an easier option. However, some chemical options can be harmful to native plant life. One chemical that controls the spread of invasive species is glyphosate, which is a non-selective chemical that kills everything it touches. Although glyphosates may kill native plant species, it may be necessary to use if an invasive species is widely distributed throughout an area.

There are also other chemical options to remove invasive species that are more selective in what they kill. Triclopyr is one example of a selective chemical, which means that it only controls certain types of plants. Whether you decide to use the selective chemical option or need to use something more heavy-duty to rid invasives, make sure to read labels, apply appropriately and follow directions on the chemicals, both for the environment's safety and your own! Refer to the NH Department of Agriculture, Markets and Food for more guidance on chemical and pesticide usage.
