Celebrate Your Freedom to Read

Banned Books Week is October 1-7, this annual event celebrates the freedom to read and its purpose is to celebrate the freedom of reading what you want. The week focuses on the attempts to keep that freedom away from Americans by removing or restricting access to any books that self-proclaimed book banners think we should not be allowed to read.

While most challenges involved with books are aimed towards libraries and schools, it's every American's responsibility defend every other American's freedom to read. Each of us has the right to read what we choose. Banned Books Week reminds us that no one should be allowed to tell us what we can't read.

Don't take your freedom to read for granted. There are people eager to tell you, libraries, and schools what they should make available for us to read and what they should keep away from us. In plain English, that's called censorship. No other word applies, and there is no place for it in American

We recognize that parents may not consider all books appropriate for children, which makes perfect sense. As long as parents apply their standards and moral viewpoints to their own children, we applaud their efforts at working to instill their values in their offspring.

Imagine if you didn't have the right to select your choice of books; if the books available were only those allowed by government sanctioned censors. According to the American Library Association, 480 books were challenged in 2019. Some books that made the top 10 challenged books were, "Brave New World" by Aldous Huxley and, "To Kill a Mockingbird" by Harper Lee, which make the list just about every year. "The Hunger Games" trilogy, and, "Captain Underpants" series, made it to the top 10 this vear as well.

Books are challenged for a variety of reasons religious belief, concern about profanity, slang, or sexual content. But in all cases, the attempt to ban a book from public access, involves someone saying he or she has the right to tell others what they cannot read. We can't accept that.

This week, in honor of Banned Books Week, do something to celebrate your right to think for yourself. Read a book, any book you want. The freedom to read is as important as the freedom to speak. This also includes papers and how we get different perspectives on the issues facing our world. Hold tight to your freedoms before you lose them one at a time.

Voter Checklist Errors

To the editor,

I would like to extend my gratitude to Christine Fitzgerald for providing the information on the voter checklist.

On the Londonderry website, there are three people listed. If this is true, and there are three people as website shows, then it is ridiculous that this is not a pristine listing.

In the real world if you are failing at your job, you are given a warning and then fired. I hope before the 2024 Election this list is pris-

I also disagree with the fact that if someone shows up to vote and does not have the proper identification of proof they are allowed to vote and then they are checked after the fact. This is not a good procedure. If you have moved into Londonderry or anywhere for that matter, you have at least one thing to show proof. It is fraudulent to allow this to continue. Dems bus people in to vote and they use this Loophole. After they vote it is too late to go back and remove their choice. It's fraud.

Born in Lowell, MA, on Nov. 16, 1941, she was the eldest daughter of the late Richard Edward Tarrant and Ruth Abigail (Coughlin) Tarrant. She enjoyed a loving and adventurous 50-year romance with her husband and best friend, Paul Joseph Frederick. Gail lived most her life on Christian Hill in Lowell, raising two children there while working at Raytheon and Teradyne.

In their retirement, Gail and Paul moved to Litchfield to be closer to their children, grandchildren, and greatgrandchildren. After Paul passed in 2013, Gail continued to seek adventure, taking up line dancing and developing a special friendship with Ed Duchesne of Hudson, NH.

Gail loved everyone, and will be remembered as a selfless caregiver. A vivacious party-planner, she relished singing and dancing, cooking, and over-feeding her many friends and family. She hosted a famous annual Christmas party for many decades, and entertained loved ones at her boat slip on Lake Winnipesaukee until 2013.

She leaves behind her beloved family: daughter Paula Frederick of Londonderry and son Paul J. Frederick, Jr. of Concord; grandchildren Matthew (Adriana) Gitschier of FL; Courtney (Chris) Healy, Ian DeLorme, Meghan DeLorme, Joshua Lariviere, Jr., all of Londonderry, NH, and Zackary Frederick of Windham, NH; greatgrandchildren Autumn Healy, Christopher Healy, and Mason Gitschier; and many adoring cousins, nieces, and nephews. She also leaves behind her two beloved sisters, Barbara Battis and brother-in-law Jim Battis of Hudson and sister Margaret McDonough and brother-in-law Chris Mc Donough of Litchfield

In addition to her cherished husband and parents, Gail was predeceased by her sister and brother-in-law Ellen Tarrant Harper and Joseph H. Harper, Jr.; brother and sister-in-law Richard E. "Dick" Tarrant, Jr. and Patricia Courtney Tarrant; brother John H. Tarrant; motherin-law Matilda Frederick and brothers-in-law Billy Frederick and Leo Frederick; son-in-law Joshua Lariviere, and former son-in-law Mark DeLorme.

Calling hours were held on Wednesday Oct. 4, at Dumont-Sullivan Funeral Home. A funeral Mass was held on Thursday, Oct. 5 in St. Francis Assisi Church, 9 St. Francis Way, Litchfield NH at 10 a.m. She will be inurned with her husband at a private ceremony in the future.
