Utilities Committee Look at Expanding Aggregation Plan

PAUL CONYERS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Utilities Committee came together on Dec. 5 for a lightly attended meeting during the holiday season. Chairman, Lynn Wiles, had some new information about the community aggregation plan after talking to Town Manager, Mike Malaguti, on behalf of the energy subcommittee.

"The draft aggregation plan was submitted for legal review," said Wiles, who expected to have the legal process completed within a week and did not expect any complications. "I think once we have that, then we can start planning the next steps, which is scheduling the public hearings."

If approved, the first public hearing would be with the Town Council before bringing the aggregation plan before scheduling a more continued on page 5

Zoning Change Will Allow Mental Health Hospital Plan

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Town Council approved a zoning amendment allowing hospitals as a permitted use in the Gateway Business District during the Dec. 18 meeting. Allowing a plan for a mental health hospital to move forward.

It was explained by Assistant Town Manager, Kellie Caron, that currently they have a definition of what a hospital is as part of their zoning codes, however, they don't have any place that it is an allowable use, outside of Planned Use Developments.

"Recently this has presented some challenges," she said, explaining that they have had discussions with potential developers, who are looking to bring those types of uses to town.

One of the potential uses could be a psychiatric hospital. Representatives from Solution Health spoke to the Town Council during the public hearing, along with Deputy Health and Human Services Commissioner, Morissa Henn.

"My clients are looking to develop a medical facility that caters to behavioral health treatment," Ari Pollack, an attorney representing the entity, said during the meeting.

He said since the town's zoning administrator determined it was considered a hospital, it was determined that they needed to get a zoning amendment.

Town Council Chair, John Farrell, told the Planning Board during a meeting when the proposed amendment was discussed, that he had asked for the process to take place like normal, with the zoning change being vetted through the board process, who mak-

Judge Rules in Favor of Minimal Fines on Political Ad Conviction

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Debra Paul, Publisher of the Londonderry Times and the Hudson Times, will be paying the fines related to being found guilty on five of six misdemeanor charges of not complying with RSA 664:16's political advertising disclaimer requirements.

At the sentencing hearing, on Wednesday, Dec. 20, the state attorney general's office sought to have Paul pay nearly $4,000 in fines and have her perform 100 hours of community service despite the ads identified as political ads.

Derry District Court Judge, Kerry Steckowych, agreed with Paul's attorney, Tony Naro, and issued a minimal judgement of $100 per infraction.

The sentencing ended a year-and-a-half ordeal for Paul that started on Aug. 24, 2022, when Attorney General, John Formella, in the Election Law Unit announced that Paul had been arrested on six misdemeanor counts related to Penalties for Political Advertising for publishing political advertisements that did not comply with State election laws.

The state had been threatening Paul with up to one-year at the county house of corrections and a fine of up to $2,000 per infraction.

The state argued that Paul was warned twice, in 2019 and 2020, after the state had received complaints starting with Town continued on page 6

Woodmont Medical Offices Move Forward with Planning Board Approval

PAUL CONYERS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Planning Board had a full plate on Dec. 13 as they looked to clear a long backlog of old business.

One set of requests from Dec. 6 involved an application for the formal review to construct a 30,000-square-foot two-medical office building in the Woodmont Commons area at the intersection of Main Street and Woodmont Avenue. Engineer, Robert Duval, from TF Moran was at the meeting with Chris Nickerson of Nickerson Designs to give a presentation.

“We’ve been in front of the board a couple of times now here. We’ve been through the design review process, we’ve been through Conservation, we’ve been through the Heritage Commission,” said Nickerson. “The work that we’ve done to date has fully incorporated any comments the board has had for us in the past.”

He highlighted changes in building windows and eliminating some parking spaces to improve building aesthetics. The plan also accounted for expected increased traffic in the area.

“Traffic is looked at

as a whole for Woodmont, and there’s an allocation,” said Duval. “We’re still under by hundreds of trips, the allocation set up for this.”

The site plan will require a separate subdivision of the property and four waiver requests. Board members had a few questions about the modified project, with Ann Chiampa wondering if the complex would regularly host “any type of ambulance.”

“The facilities that we’re talking about are not a licensed facility in the state of NH,” said Nickerson, clarifying that the complex is legally no different than a set of office buildings. “No in-patient care or anything of that nature is planned here.”

Other questions mainly focused on the placement of roadways, with reassurances that interruptions to traffic through Woodmont Commons would not see a significant impact. Elevation changes in the area and narrow streets did pose a problem with some connections, making them difficult to redesign, especially with a connection to the Exit 4 Park and Ride meant to serve Woodmont.

“When COVID hit, that Park and Ride was turned into a site for all the COVID testing and shots, and it essentially never reopened,” said consultant, Kevin Smith. There are no plans to reopen or to remove the Park and Ride. Smith could not say whether the site will have an impact.

Ray Breslin of 3 Gary Drive was at the meeting with a question regarding possible environmental issues.

“Most of the water in the retention pond is pumped across Michaels Way, I’m wondering if that is what is going to continue for the stormwater running off this parking lot,” asked Breslin. He was worried about groundwater contamination.

Director of Public Works and Engineering, John Trottier, assured Breslin that the plan had catch basins, pumps, and detention ponds to keep contaminated water away from local water sources.

The board voted to conditionally approve both the subdivision and site plan.

The Planning Board is tentatively scheduled to meet again on Monday, Jan. 3, at 7 p.m. in the Mosse Hill Council Chambers.

School Board Hear Budget Proposal From Special Ed Department

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The proposed special education department budget was presented to the School Board during its Dec. 5 budget workshop meeting.

It was noted by Director of Pupil Services, Kim Carpinone, that about one third of the students in the district receive support from public services in some way, whether it be a IEP, 504 plan, or in another area.

“As of Oct. 1 1,372 of the Londonderry district students get some type of support from pupil services,” she said.

Carpinone also noted that it’s a “volatile budget” as well, with predictions being made in advance for what services students may need as part of their IEP or 504 plan.

“It is a volatile budget we plan in September for students really a year in advance,” she said.

Carpinone said they are proposing an increase of $391,281, based on the contracted transportation services for out of district placements and for IEP needs.

In total, the proposed budget is $4,964,645.

One of the main goals that Carpinone pointed to for the upcoming year is going with the EasyIEP software for when they write IEPs.

“We are planning to move to Easy IEP,” she said, noting that a number of changes have been made to it in the last 18 months by the Department of Education, and “have successfully made a believer in me,” Carpinone said.

Another goal Carpinone pointed to is the retention and recruitment of staff, noting that herself and others are optimistic about a proposed warrant article this year that will ask voters to approve the contract between the school district and the Support Staff union. Among other things the contract would provide benefits for support staff employees, something they hope will make the district more competitive for recruiting in those areas.

It was also noted by Carpinone that they will be continuing to keep an eye on the results of the Special Education Study.

Carpinone also stated during her presentation to the School Board that their in district student population is also increasing, with 11 “students who have multiple disabilities as a primary identification,” 17 have intellectual disabilities “as a primary identification” 120 have Autism “as a primary identification” and another 10 have “a secondary identification of EBD.”

Carpinone was asked about how it’s decided whether or not a student is kept in the district or moved out of the district, Carpinone explained that it’s primarily up to what is written in the IEP plan, which is written by the parents and the school based team.

“An IEP drives placement,” she said.

ZBA Approve Special Exception For In-Home Daycare

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

One of the agenda items during the Dec. 20 Zoning Board of Adjustment meeting was in regards to a special exception request to allow a home occupation for a child care facility at 15 Chestnut Hill Drive, which is located in the Ar-1 zoning district.

"I am looking to get my variance for in-home daycare," Kimberly Birdsall, the applicant for the special exception, told the ZBA during the meeting.

One of the questions raised by the board was in regards to the number of kids they expect to have at one time, if they receive approval.

Birdsall explained that she would leaving it up to the state licensing process to decide what the limit they can have there, but she is estimating to have six kids at a time.

She explained that they would have children there from six weeks old up to six years of age.

"We will be doing some preschool-like activities," she said.

Birdsall explained that she would be the only employee and that she needs to go through the licensing process with the state first in order to open the business. She added that she is currently working at a facility in Manchester to get the needed experience for her license.

"This was the first step," she said about getting a special exception from the ZBA.

One improvement to the property they are looking to make is having a walkway from the patio to the door where people will be entering and exiting, which would be on the side of the house.

Kenneth Birdsall, who owns the single family home, said they were planning on making the improvements either way, but they decided to include it as part of the application since it would impact the potential in home daycare.

Another question raised was about the drop off and pick up and if they would have enough parking on the property to handle it.

Birdsall explained that the drop off and pick up will generally be at different times and that they have a wide and long driveway to accommodate enough cars.

She said the hours for the daycare would be from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m.

There was no request made to have a sign for the in-home business.

The Zoning Board of Adjustment ultimately approved the special exception request without any restrictions.

The next ZBA meeting is slated to take place on Jan. 17 at 7 p.m. es recommendations, before the Town Council has the final say.

Caron noted that the Planning Board voted 7-0-1 to recommend approval of the zoning amendment, with Town Councilor, Ted Combes, abstaining, to reserve his vote for the Town Council.

Henn gave a number of statistics during the meeting, including that about one in five residents of the state are living with a mental health and or substance abuse issue. She said in order to get people the care they need, one of the critical solutions will be to get more beds available.

"We simply do not have enough acute inpatient psychiatric beds in this state," she said.

Henn said the state is "very supportive of the location," and the state would be investing $15 million into the hospital project.

In total, the hospital project is expected to yield 144 beds, for all populations.

It was noted by Farrell and others that while the public hearing consisted of comments regarding the potential proposed project, the point of the amendment would apply to any future uses in the district, and it would still need to go through the Planning Board process before any project is approved or not.

Fire Chief, Bo Butler, said oftentimes when companies come to town, they draw on town services and then the town doesn't get anything in return. He added that as their process through various town boards goes on, he wants to work with them on coming up with a plan in order to have a collaboration together.

Pollack said they would do so and also noted they would be paying taxes, since they would be a for profit hospital. He also noted they expect to create an estimated 270 jobs if their future plans are approved.

Winnifred Loraine Pitts

Winnifred Loraine Pitts, 87, of Atkinson, NH, former long-time Londonderry, NH resident, passed away Wednesday Dec. 20, 2023, at Holy Family Hospital in Methuen, MA, after a sudden illness. Winnie was born April 8, 1936, in Madison, ME and was the daughter of the late Phillip and Frances (Hibbard) St. Peter. She was raised and educated in Madison, prior to relocating to Londonderry in 1963. She had lived in Atkinson for the past year.

But for a few years selling real estate, Winnie spent most of her life as a homemaker raising her three children. She made a mean apple pie winning the only two pie contests she entered; her strawberry shortcake was pretty good too, with real whip cream, "not that stuff in a can." In her later years she and husband Ed worked for FEMA helping people after (mostly) natural disasters. Her most memorable experience was in New York City after 9/11.

She also enjoyed painting and spending many winters seasons in Venice, FL. She will forever be remembered as a loving wife, mother, and grandmother and great grandmother.

Members of the family include her loving husband of 67 years, Edgar Pitts, two sons and their wives, Thomas (Celeste) Pitts and Philip (Lisa) Pitts; one daughter, Susan Cooper. Seven grandchildren, Eric, Lisa, Jessica, Michael, Laura, Travus and Jonathan; and five great grandchildren, Ben, Luke, Jimmy, Rosalie and William.

The family will be planning services for a later date. The Peabody Funeral Homes and Crematorium of Derry, NH is assisting the family with arrangements. To send a condolence, please visit www.peabodyfuneralhome.co.

Welcome the New Year and Get Involved

Nutfield Publishing is celebrating 24 years of being in business.

On January 1, 2000, the first issue of the Londonderry Times was mailed out. At that time, it was a monthly newsletter, which soon blossomed into bi-weekly and then to a weekly news publication.

The start of the New Year is traditionally a time for reflecting on the past year and resolving to do things differently in the days ahead.

We've started the New Year by continuing to publish the Londonderry Times and by adding The Hudson Times. When reporting on town and school district activities, whether they are official stories and or not, we make sure that all of our readers are informed of all of the decisions being made and discussions that are taking place in each of their hometowns. It's not unusual for news stories to appear first and only in our papers. Yes, we may have made errors, but we can say in the 24-years of producing newspapers we have only run a handful of corrections each year.

We are dedicated in producing quality product, and put great care into what it looks like along with recognizing that timeliness and accuracy are the hallmarks of what a newspaper offers its readers.

While it takes no effort at all to complain about what goes on at town hall or the school district, it can be so much more rewarding to participate in the process. Make positive changes, make truly lasting impacted full resolution by getting involved.

Filing period for public positions begins in mid January and there are open seats that often go unchallenged and the same people keep getting reelected.

This is either a case of residents feeling the jobs are getting done satisfactory or it's that it's too much trouble to run.

The latest tax bills brought an outpouring of comments on social media directed toward elected officials.

In the past we've heard, "If you don't like it, move," we know that is not the answer. We've also heard "A Yes vote means higher taxes," That's correct too, but there needs to be some middle ground somewhere between those comments.

Perhaps a better solution is attending the budget hearings and deliberative sessions that are coming up in January and February. Make a point of attending those events and speaking your mind, politely and reasonably, with facts. At the very least, let your elected officials know what you think, no matter the subject, and encourage your neighbors to do the same.

Best of luck with your resolutions, no matter what they may be, from all of us at Nutfield Publishing to all of you, our best wishes for a happy and healthy New Year.

World Rules-Based Order Under Duress

To the editor,
Since WWII the US and allied countries have developed and implemented a "rules-based international order" in the world, which has kept world civilization safe from destruction.

But the world order is now being threatened by Xi Jinping of China who claims sovereignty over the South China Sea, threatens to attack Taiwan, is conducting genocide against Uighur Muslims, imprisoned many dissidents and started a COVID pandemic in the world.

Putin of Russia went to war against Georgia and is now attempting to conquer Ukraine in a bid to expand the Russian empire in Europe, and he has thoughts of occupying Poland and other European countries. He continues the dictatorship in Russia.

North Korea continues to threaten South Korea and the United States with nuclear war.

Iran sponsors terrorist groups in Yemen, Syria, Iraq, Lebanon and Gaza; and it threatens Israel with annihilation.

The US must continue to support our allies against the forces of tyranny and evil through defense agreements to prevent the collapse of the "rules-based international order". A collapse could lead to a major war with many millions of people killed and the doubling of US defense budgets.

Vote Trump

To the editor,
My intention with this Letter to the Editor is to remind my fellow Londonderry voters of several of the "Promises Made and Promises Kept" accomplishments as to why you should vote for Donald Trump in the upcoming primary of Jan. 23.

- Built the world's most prosperous economy, where middle-class family income increased nearly $6,000, and unemployment for women hit its lowest rate in nearly 70 years

- No new wars and reduced American involvement in several conflicts

- Brought jobs, factories, and industries back to the USA as we hit record stock market numbers and record 401k's

- Greatly strengthened the southern border, ended asylum fraud, shut down human smuggling traffickers

- Substantially reduced drug abuse and drug related deaths

- Rebuilt the military and created the United States Space Force

- Created energy independence by unleashing America's oil and natural gas potential

Were you better off then, or now? You know, that I know, that you know the answer.

If you were able to attend a local Trump rally, or watched one from around the country, you saw America-First Patriots of all ages, blue-collar & white-collar workers, and both genders, stand in support of a proven leader who received respect from our allies, and stood strong against our foes.

Our beautiful country can return to its greatness, but only if the right person is elected as president.

Please join me in voting for Donald Trump on Jan. 23.

Respectfully,
Brian Crowley

Write In Joe Biden

To the editor,
My 91 year-old Korea War veteran father gave me permission to submit a letter to the editor that he recently had published in the Philadelphia Inquirer.

It reads as follows: (Presidential Praise)

"The media continue to tout polls that indicate low approval ratings for President Joe Biden. I don't believe them. They have never asked me, not anyone in my extended family who, for the most part, give him an enthusiastic thumbs-up. Last Wednesday, the stock market hit a record high, but the Inquirer and other publications chose to give front-page priority to the House Republicans' ridiculous and wasteful impeachment inquiry. The media are complicit in pushing not only the false impression of Biden's poor performance but also the age factor.

Let's look instead at some of Biden's accomplishments: inflation is now under control, unemployment is at an amazingly low 3.7%, and job creation has been rising steadily since he took office. Despite what

Town Council Send $490K Pickleball Warrant Article Forward

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Town Council was tasked with deciding on whether or not they should send a warrant article to the ballot, asking voters to approve raising and appropriating funds to build pickleball courts in town during its most recent meeting.

During a previous meeting, members of the town's Pickleball Task Force presented its findings and recommendations to the Town Council and Budget Committee.

The task force got different quotes for various work that would need to be done to bring the courts to town.

For six courts, estimates came in at $360,000 to $560,000, and for 10 courts, the estimated cost is $490,000 to $740,000 to build the courts.

Unlike last year, when a warrant article failed asking voters to approve funds for engineering to be done, this time they were looking to secure funding to build courts.

Pickleball Task Force Chair, Brian Samolyk, said previously they were looking for a warrant article coming from the Town Council instead of a petition warrant article.

"I need the Town Hall backed warrant article the citizens' petition we know where that's going to go nowhere," he said.

One question raised during the meeting came from Town Councilor, Ron Dunn, who asked if they would be looking at getting any donated services to help the process.

Samolyk said they talked to several vendors, and were told if and when they get the funding they could discuss it further about helping. He added that the main expenses would be for the site work.

"We're talking significant money," he said.

Budget Committee Chair, Patrick Cassidy, asked if they were to go with a warrant article of six courts, and if they get more funding through donations if they could get 10 courts instead.

Town Manager, Mike Malaguti, said the language is critical, if they were to explore that option.

Cassidy suggested they should have an amount on the warrant to accommodate at least six courts, but have it worded so they could get up to 10 courts if they are able to get more funding.

The Town Council approved sending a warrant article to the ballot with a total allocation of $490,000. No vote was taken on whether or not they would recommend the warrant article during the meeting.

Utilities

extensive meeting to get input directly from Londonderry residents. Colonial Power and Freedom Logistics have already submitted a notice of intent to regulators in Concord, although the Utilities Committee had not yet gotten a response from the state.

"It sounds like the whole process is gaining some traction," Wiles noted.

There was a similar discussion on forming a heating oil and propane community aggregation plan, although most of it was informal, and the Chairman referred to it as more of a "discussion" than a plan. The Town Manager is still reviewing the possibility of gas and oil aggregation, as were town attorneys.

Committee member, Mike Speltz, was doing work on solar battery storage for Londonderry.

"I sent an email to a company in Texas that sent us an inquiry, but I haven't heard back from them, and it was several weeks ago," said Speltz. "I had the impression they were going to get back to me, I'll ping them again."

It was unclear how serious the original pitch for a solar plan was. If approved, the town could lease land for solar generation and storage.

Speltz also gave an overview of his search to find state or federal grants for Londonderry.

"There's a lot of grant opportunities out there, I've been reviewing them as best I can, I haven't found anything that is really a close fit other than a block grant we're already working on said, Speltz. However, he did mention that many grants for low and medium-income towns might fit some of Londonderry's low and medium-income households. "I've been looking for an opportunity to get something going for their benefit, or even a mix. I'd certainly be willing to travel up to Concord just to have an office visit up there."

He promised to talk with the Committee State Representative Liaison, Ron Dunn, who couldn't make the meeting while raising the possibility of contacting the NH Department of Energy for more advice.

The Utilities Committee is scheduled to meet on the first Tuesday of every month at 7 p.m. on the first floor of the Moose Hill Council Chambers. All subcommittee meeting dates are published on the Londonderry town website.

Fines

Council Chairman, John Farrell, and the late Town Moderator, Tom Freda, as well as a local resident, Laura Morin.

During the sentencing hearing, Judge Steckowych heard pleas from community members for leniency on the infractions.

Londonderry State Representative, Kristine Perez, and Attorney, Kevin Coyle, both spoke on her behalf. Both expressed all that she has done for the residents in the communities.

Dozens of letters supporting Paul were also presented to the judge during the hearing.

Senior Assistant Attorney Generals, Myles Matteson and Matthew Conley, did not feel that Paul felt any remorse for her actions, but told the judge they were not asking for jail time, but felt $3,800 in fines and 100-hours of community service would satisfy the state. They also requested that an additional $3,800 be paid if Paul was arrested within the next two years.

Paul's Attorney, Tony Naro, argued during the trial in early December that the ads in question were clearly "political ads" and they were all marked as to who was paying for them and felt $100 per infraction was all that was needed.

Naro commented after the sentence, "While we were disappointed with the verdict, we are thankful that the court adopted our sentencing recommendation. Deb Paul has dedicated her life to the community. She has been, and will continue to be a tireless advocate for the First Amendment and the right of the people to be informed. With the court adopting our sentencing recommendation, Ms. Paul can finally move on from this and continue her work. With local news vanishing from our communities, I hope the residents of Londonderry, as well as local businesses, not only continue to support her paper, but increase that support in 2024."

Paul is also happy to put the ordeal behind her, saying, "I was happy that the judge agreed with my attorney on the size of the fines and negating the community service. I believe the time my husband and I put into these papers each week speaks for itself."

She added, "This is an issue I hope is cleared up at the state level. It has been my contention that the law targets newspapers unfairly, while leaving other forms of print advertising such as direct mail and signs unaffected."

Note: Publisher, Debra Paul, was not involved in the writing of this article.

Town Council Officially Move Treasurer Question To Ballot

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

After voters rejected a charter amendment changing the town's Treasurer position from an elected position to an appointed one last year, the Town Council agreed to move forward with putting the question on the ballot again this year, during its Dec. 18 meeting.

Town Manager, Mike Malaguti, said they first needed to get approval from the Attorney General and other entities to make sure the language was in compliance. After receiving a letter from the Attorney General giving the town the OK, it triggered a seven day window for the Town Council to decide if they want to put it on the ballot or not.

"The council does need to decide yes or no in terms of the amendment to the town charter," Malaguti said.

Current Town Treasurer, Kathy Wagner, who has expressed her support for moving to an appointed Treasurer position, noted that the position wouldn't be going away.

"The only difference that we're asking for is that the person be appointed versus being elected," she said.

Some of the concerns raised by Wagner, and Finance Director, Justin Campo, is that currently there are no background checks done on those who are candidates for office, which would be different if the position was an appointed one, and there are also concerns about someone being elected who has no experience.

"I worry that without this appointment we're at the mercy of who's the most popular person at the time of the election," Wagner said.

Dan Bouchard spoke during the meeting saying that even if they were to move to an appointed position, and do a background check on the individual, it doesn't mean someone won't do something wrong.

He also noted that they should take more time before putting it back on the ballot, saying that people may be upset about it being on the ballot again after voters rejected it last year, which could lead to negative consequences for other warrant articles, suggesting people may vote no down the ballot.

"Last year the people spoke, is what I'm saying," he said.

Town Councilor, Jim Butler, said he doesn't just represent people who vote, but rather needs to look out for the interests of everyone in town. He said he's concerned that they could end up with someone as Treasurer who has no accounting experience.

"That would be a disservice to all the taxpayers," he said.

Butler said he has listened to those who voted and those who didn't vote for it.

"I want to make sure that we have someone there who has some type of expertise or some type of training in that area," he said.

Town Councilor, Ron Dunn, said based on the conversations he has had, people are split on where they stand on the issue.

"I think that we should hear from the voters one more time to affirm what they have to say," he said.

It was noted that while the Town Council agreed to move the question to the ballot, there will be another opportunity for the Town Council to decide if they will recommend it or not.

School Board Get Briefed on Proposed Food Services Budget

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The School Board and the Town's Budget Committee were presented with the proposed budget for food services during its most recent budget workshop meeting.

"We are looking at a total budget of $2,041,000," Director of Dining Services, Krystle Connell, said, noting that the budget is a self-sustaining fund.

Connell explained that as part of the budget, they will be spending down a large amount of its fund balance, which is larger than normal due to getting additional revenue at the height of the Covid-19 pandemic. It was noted that the state determines how much should be in the fund balance from the dining services account.

She noted they saw big changes to the state reimbursement rates for the current school year.

"There have been significant changes to the reimbursement rates this school year," Connell said.

For free and reduced breakfasts, the state reimbursement went up by two cents, but the rate for paid breakfasts went down by 12 cents.

For lunch, the free reimbursement rate went down eight cents and reduced lunch rates went down three cents. The paid reimbursement rate from the state for paid lunches went down 37 cents.

Connell explained that the change is due to school districts having increased fund balances for their food services and there is no timeframe for if or when the reimbursements will go up again.

"We did not increase meal prices for this school year," she said.

It was noted by Connell that they don't have enough data yet to determine if they will raise the costs for meals next school year, noting that the discussions would take place in the spring.

In order to spend down some of the larger than usual fund balance, Connell said they are proposing to allocate about $300,000 in equipment needs.

A total of $165,000 is being budgeted for combi ovens at Matthew Thornton, North School, and Londonderry Middle School. At South School $14,000 is being budgeted for an electric oven and two burner stove, and $30,000 is being budgeted for four warmer cabinets with three going to Londonderry Middle School and one to Matthew Thornton.

Connell explained that the equipment they are looking to replace are over 15 years old and generally require a lot of maintenance. She added that they are also looking at adding new cafe tables for all of the elementary schools as well.

One question raised was in terms of costs and supply chain issues.

Connell said "food costs have evened out," but noted that they continue to have some supply chain issues with things like paper materials for example.

Letters

Continued from page 4 the doomsayers claim, the economy is doing well. Just visit the malls, look at on-line sales numbers, and any other measure of economic activity and you can see how people continue to spend. Another point: I'm a veteran who has used the VA health system for over 20 years. I have never seen the system run as efficiently as it does today. With help from the GOP, the Biden administration could do more to protect the environment, and possibly get the border situation under control. I'll add the fact that Biden is an honorable man, especially when compared with his likely opponent in 2024. Let's give Joe Biden the credit he deserves."

Lady Lancers Basketball Cruise Through Final Weeks of 2023

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry High School Girls' Basketball team started the Winter sports season with four straight wins, with just one of those games being close.

The Lancers tacked on two regular season victories on their home court to finish out 2023, to continue the regular season with an undefeated record, then hosted a Holiday Tournament where they finished with a 3-0 record.

On Tuesday, Dec. 19, Londonderry was able to outlast the Portsmouth Lady Clippers in a 64-62 nail-biter.

The LHS squad began the contest with a three-point lead in the first quarter and headed into the second period at 18-15.

Heading into the half, sophomore star, Sammy Sullivan, scored four, three-pointers, to help her team to a 40-26 lead by the end of the second.

The Lancers kept up the pressure on both sides of the courts in the third quarter to head into the final period with a comfortable 56-36 lead, but that's where LHS let PHS back into the game.

The Portsmouth squad outscored Londonderry 25-8 during the final stretch, but held on to secure the team's third win of the season.

Sullivan led her team in scoring with 20-points, including four three-pointers, and four-points in the first and fourth.

Fellow sophomore, Brooke Eacrett, had another solid game, finishing with 16-points and scoring in every quarter.

Junior guard, Mia Giampa, added 11-points to the LHS tally, including three, three-pointers.

Three nights later, at home for a Friday night game, Londonderry dominated the usually unbeatable Bishop Guertin Cardinals, 60-42.

The Lancers allowed just four baskets to the Division I defending champions in the first half, to take a 28-7 lead by the end of the half.

In the second half, BG was able to gain their footing back a bit, but not enough to overcome their 21-point deficit.

Londonderry was fouled 13 times in the second half and scored 15 times out of 20 attempts from the foul line.

Sullivan had her second consecutive 20-point game, scoring in every quarter. The sophomore forward was sent to the free-throw line 16 times, scoring 10 times.

Freshman guard, Gemma Murray, had a big night, tallying 18-points against the BG defense, scoring eight-points in the first quarter and ten in the second half.

Eacrett came away with 10-points in the game, including four from the foul line.

Over the Christmas break, the Londonderry girls continued to dominate, finishing the Holiday Tournament they hosted with a 3-0 record over teams from throughout New England.

Head coach, Jon Doherty, commented, "We had competitive games across the board. Bedford and Londonderry both went 3-0. The team played fantastic all week, we still have a lot of growing to do, but I am very proud of this group."

The Lady Lancers will start 2024 with another home game, they will take on Keene (3-0) on Friday night, Jan 5, starting at 7 p.m.

on the seacoast and the other in Nashua.

The team's week leading into the holiday break began with a 74-50 loss against the Portsmouth Clippers, at Portsmouth High School, but in Nashua, against the Bishop Guertin Cardinals, the Lancers claimed their first victory of the season, ending the year with a 58-57 win.

In the loss at the coast, on Tuesday, Dec. 19, the Lancers had trouble scoring in the first quarter, but came back in the second and trailed 34-24 by halftime.

In the third period, the Portsmouth defense once again made it difficult for LHS to score and led 58-34 going into the final quarter.

In the fourth, Londonderry was able to keep pace with the Clippers crew, but were not able to gain any ground and wound up falling by 24-points for the team's third defeat.

Junior Jameson Seaman led Londonderry in scoring with 12-points.

Senior Ty Miles and junior Mason Paquette each had eight-points in the loss. Senior Ryan Williams and junior Blake Thompson each contributed five points.

Following the team's third consecutive loss to start the season, the Lancers secured their first win of the season when they traveled to Bishop Guertin on Friday night, Dec. 22, winning in a tight contest.

Miles finished with 17-points to lead the Lancers in scoring with Paquette and Seaman contributing 11-points each.

Junior Matt Luongo had 10-points in the victory.

The Lancers will begin 2024 with a tough home game against the Bedford Bulldogs (3-0) on Tuesday night, Jan. 2, followed by a road game against the Keene Blackbirds (2-2) on Friday night, Jan. 5.

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry High School Wrestling team ended 2023 with some fixed results. The Lancers lost to the Concord High School Crimson Tide on Tuesday, Dec. 19, but then traveled to Lowell Mass., where one of the key wrestlers finished with a championship title.

In the final home dual meet of 2023, the LHS

Londonderry wins came in the 157-, 175- and 190-pound weight classes: Jonathan Millis had a fall victory over Jeydon Wilson at 5:50; David Pento Jr. quickly pinned Carl Sirrianna in less than a minute; and Patrick O'Connor registered his fall over Isaiah Puckett at 3:15.

The Londonderry team placed 28th overall, scoring 89.5 points with the winner from Newtown Conn. posting 215.5 points.

In the 150-pound bracket, Manny Perez finished in sixth place. Perez started his day with a 13-2 Major Decision in the first round, won his second match 7-

In his sixth bout of the tournament, Perez was narrowly defeated 4-5 followed by two more losses in his final two matches.

In the 190-pound bracket, senior Lancer Patrick O'Connor had a fifth-place finish.

O'Connor began the day with a quick pin at 2:11 of the bout, followed by three more consecutive wins. A 7-0 decision, a 1-0 victory and a 2:38 minute fall.

In his fifth bout, O'Connor fell at 3:31 and then lost his sixth match in a very close 2-1 decision.

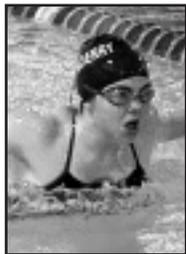

O'Connor went on to win his final bout of the tournament by forfeit to take the fifth-place spot.

OBITUARY

Aud Raastad Segalini

Aud Raastad Segalini, 84, of Londonderry, NH, passed away on Dec. 18 after years of bravely battling an aggressive and rare neurological disease.

Born in Oslo, Norway, Aud dedicated her life to serving Jesus and serving others. She met her husband, Jim, in England and they wed in 1961, just six months after meeting. Jim's military career moved them from England to TX, then to NE, ND, and VA. Finally, they moved to NH, with three children in tow. And in each place, Aud created a beautiful, warm, and loving home for her family.

Aud was a courageous, loving, and supportive mother and wife. She maintained an interest in the passions and professions of her children and grandchildren, right up to her passing. She also engaged her mind with theology, politics and current events, and faithfully subscribed to "The Union Leader" newspaper. Most of all, she was a person of prayer, regularly speaking to God about her concerns and those she loved. Aud fervently believed that God heard her and spoke to her, and He did.

For decades, Aud counseled and mentored women from her community, praying with them and seeking guidance from Scripture. She was also admired for her exceptional and elegant hospitality when frequently hosting friends and family in her beautiful homes. She made faith the foundation of her family and the compass she chose to direct her life. As a mother figure and confidante to so many, Aud was often affectionately called "Mamma," the same name her children called her.

Aud was predeceased by her father, Ansgar, her mother, Ruth, and her husband, Jim, to whom she was married for 60 years. She will be dearly missed by her daughter, Nina Segalini Sutton, married to Clement (Chip) Sutton; daughter, Kristin Margrethe Coffin, married to Peter Coffin; and son, Erik John Segalini, married to Jennifer Segalini. She also leaves behind 5 grandchildren, each of whom she loved deeply: Jesse, Brenner, Ryan, Allison and Natalie.

In lieu of flowers, please consider honoring Aud with a donation to the work of the Windham Presbyterian Church Deacons Board, 1 Church Rd., Windham, NH 03087. Checks can be made to "Windham Presbyterian" with the memo line: "Deacons Fund/Segalini."

Funeral service was held on Saturday, Dec. 23, at Windham Presbyterian Church, 1 Church Rd., Windham, NH.

Interment was held at NH State Veterans Cemetery in Boscawen, NH on Thursday, Dec. 28.

GREENWorks: Time to Add an 'R'? Reduce, Reuse, Recycle – REFILL

New Hampshire Department of Environmental Services In an era when environmental sustainability and community well-being take center stage, refill stations have emerged as a modern and popular solution to address both concerns. A refill station (sometimes called a “refillery”) is a retail store to reduce single-use plastic production by promoting the reuse of one’s own containers. These stations usually supply consumables like dried fruit, grains, spices, detergents, cleaning products, hygiene items, and water. Using refill stations as part of a lifestyle routine not only reduces plastic pollution but also conserves resources from the production of plastic packaging. Think about all of the laundry soap containers you’ve thrown out or recycled over the years. The production of plastic bottles and containers requires substantial amounts of fossil fuels and water, further contributing to greenhouse gas emissions and resource depletion; not to mention the energy required to manufacture and transport the products.

These refilleries can also stimulate local economies, garnering a sense of community, providing jobs, and attracting people from all over. Shopping alongside other sustainability supporters is a great way to meet like-minded people and build your community. Due to these stores being a relatively new concept, there aren’t many of them around. Having so few of these stations will result in people traveling out of their way to visit, creating economic growth in that area.

Ready to Refill?
Generally, to purchase items in one of these stores, you would bring your own reusable container (glass jar, empty plastic container, an old Tupperware container, etc.), fill it with whatever product you need, and pay for what you have. It’s that easy. Many stores also offer some reusable containers for purchase or donated by others.

So, there are many benefits to switching to refillery products, but where can you find one? It does take a little looking around. Here’s what we found: The Refill Station in Portsmouth prides itself on being a low-waste shop, committed to reducing its plastic footprint. The store provides a wide variety of different household and personal care products; and even delivers with your own containers.

Witching Hour Provisions in Hopkinton is not your average coffee shop. Not only do they sell fresh brews, but they also host a refill station for home cleaning and hygiene items.

For food refills in Concord, the Concord Food Co-Op gives you the option to buy certain foods and drinks with your own containers. Foods like grains, flour, nuts, coffee, etc., can be bought in your own reusable container, and you get to decide how much you want to take home with you! Also in Concord is Bona Fide, which has over 30 refill options including detergents, soaps, and hygiene products.

Make-Your-Own Refill Stations

Want to save some money? Yes, refilleries are a great idea and very effective, but depending on how many of the products you need, they can rack up a high bill. Luckily, some household and personal care products are inexpensive and easy to make at home. All it takes is a quick internet search from a reliable source and you can find quick and cheap recipes for common products like soaps, lotions, shampoos, and cleaners. For example, this easy and cost-effective laundry detergent recipe below only requires 3 ingredients, and you can make it in bulk.

Homemade Powder Laundry Detergent

Ingredients:

- 4.5 ounces shaved bar soap
- 14 ounces Borax
- 14 ounces washing soda

Instructions:

- Thoroughly stir all three ingredients together for several minutes.

- You can take this a step further and blend the mixture in a blender or food processor to create a powder that will dissolve easily even in cold water. (Just be sure to let the dust settle before removing the lid of your blender or food processor so you don’t inhale the fine particles.)

- Store in a sealed container with a small scoop and you now have between 32-64 loads of soap. 1 Tbsp is recommended per small load, but you are encouraged to use more for large/heavy loads.

Whether you start shopping at refilleries or making your own products at home, this is a healthy habit to adopt in 2024. Small changes like this can reduce waste and conserve resources, all while fostering a feeling of togetherness and community.

OBITUARY

Colonel Thomas Gerard Furlong

Colonel Thomas Gerard Furlong, 78, of Gorham, ME died peacefully at the Maine Veterans' Home in Scarborough, ME, on Dec. 22, 2023 with his beloved wife, Barbara, by his side.

He was born on Jan. 30, 1945 in Norwood, MA, eldest son of Thomas Daniel Furlong & Natalie Clancy Furlong.

As a youth, he served as an altar boy at Saint Catherine of Sienna Church where he also attended grade school. He went on to St. Sebastian's Country Day School in Newton where he furthered his passion for football, hockey, & baseball. Meanwhile, he took great pride in working in his family's business, Furlong's Candies & Ice Cream in Norwood.

He graduated from Providence College in 1966 as a commissioned Marine Corps officer with a bachelor's degree in economics. From there, he trained for one year at the Marine Base in Quantico, VA, before shipping off to Vietnam in 1967. As a 2nd Lieutenant, he led his Battalion through the harrowing shelling and ground attacks at Con Thien, an exposed position also known as a virtual "meat grinder" & "Hell on the Hill of Angels." Many years later he would receive letters from his "boys" thanking him for his bravery & leadership. After Tom's passing it was learned from his Military DD214 report that Tom had earned numerous medals of achievement, including the prestigious Presidential Citation which was only awarded to ten Marine units throughout the entire Vietnam War for extraordinary heroism in combat action. Sargent David Hobbs served with & for Tom and shared that Tom led his troops from the front lines without fear & with great professionalism.

Tom remained in the Marine Corps for 20 years. He served on active duty in Washington D.C. & later rose to the rank of "Colonel" while commanding the base in Weymouth, MA.

Thomas established himself in his civilian career in the transportation industry, thereby earning awards for his distinguished service.

In 1996, he met & married "the love of his life," Barbara Condike-Furlong. They lived in Lakeville, MA before moving to Maine, a cherished place, replete with childhood memories of canoeing adventures with his father.

Tom was a devoted father to his children, James Matthew Furlong & Paige Elizabeth Furlong. He loved his children & grandchildren beyond measure. He & Barbara attended many Marine Corps reunions & grandchildren's ball games. An avid runner, Tom completed several Marine Corps & Boston Marathons.

Beyond his many accomplishments, Tom was best known for being "the nicest guy on earth." He was one tough Marine with a soft touch: humble, compassionate, & extremely polite. If ever there was "An Officer & a Gentleman," Colonel Furlong was it.

Thomas was predeceased, as a young boy, by his brother, Matthew Furlong; his parents Natalie & Thomas Furlong; & his sister, Judith Thistle. In addition to his wife Barbara, he is survived by his son, James Matthew Furlong & his wife Tara; his daughter, Paige Elizabeth Furlong, & her husband Tim Beland; his grandchildren, Lieutenant Jonathan, Matthew, Colleen, & Jordan Furlong; & Kaelyn Beland. He also leaves behind his sisters, Natalie Emerson, Jane Rawley, & Marcia Fowler and many beloved nieces & nephews. "Tommy" will be missed for being the epitome of what a big brother should be. His family will remember him most for having his boots on the ground, & his heart on his sleeve.

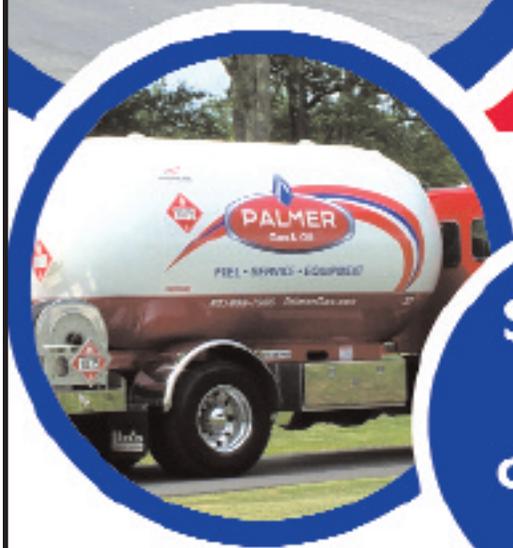

Visiting hours will be on Jan. 5 from 4 - 7 p.m. at Roberts & Sons Funeral Home, 30 South St., Foxboro, MA, 02035. A Mass of Christian Burial will take place on Jan. 6 at 10 a.m. at St. Mary's Church, 58 Carpenter Street, Foxboro, MA. A full military burial will follow at Highland Cemetery in Norwood, MA.

Contributions to Thomas's memory may be made to The Alzheimer's Association, 225 N. Michigan Ave., Floor 17, Chicago, IL 60601, Federal Tax ID 13-3039601.
