Committee Look for Potential Extensions to Water System

PAUL CONYERS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry Utilities Committee met on March 5 to discuss the continuing water situation people in town are facing.

Hoping for aid from state officials, Town Manager, Mike Malaguti, praised efforts by members of the Utilities Committee and town residents for their work in moving an expansion of the municipal water supply forward.

“Guests from the state who have participated in similar projects talked about how they’d never seen such a community effort, they’ve never seen the town staff and the town boards and committees coming together in a professional manner to provide accurate and timely information about a project like this,” said Malaguti. “Great feedback, and it’s a great look for Londonderry.”

According to initial vote tallies, funding for an extension to the water supply system on High Range Road was

Voters Approve $3M Article for High Range Water Line

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Londonderry voters approved the water infrastructure warrant article with a vote of 2,738 to 1,536 during the annual Town Elections last week.

Ahead of election day, the Londonderry Town Council held an information session on March 4, a week before Election Day to discuss the water issue in town, particularly when it comes to PFAS.

It was explained previously by Town Manager, Mike Malaguti, that Saint-Gobain has certain obligations to replace the water infrastructure within the consent decree area, however, the town proposed to do a water main all the way down High Range Road, which would form the foundation for a larger water public system in town, and help with PFAS remediation in parts of town that aren't part of the consent decree.

The total warrant article, after it was amended at the Deliberative Session called for a total of $23.75 million price tag, with $2.95 million needed to be raised, and the rest coming from grants, and from Saint-Gobain.

The $2.95 million will come from a PFAS remediation loan fund through the state.

It was explained previously that if $2.95 million needs to be raised, the first year's annual principal and interest would be $215,000. Malaguti noted that if the full $2.95 million isn't needed they wouldn't take out the full amount.

The loan will be 1% interest during construction and 3.5% after, and would be a 20 year loan, which was previously agreed on by the Town Council.

One of the speakers at the presentation was NH Department of Environmental Services Commissioner, Robert Scott, who explained that there have been parts of town impacted by PFAS and he said overtime "We found that these chemicals can be harmful."

He said that Londonderry is an interest to the department because it has one of the highest densities for contaminated private wells in the State.

Scott explained that over the next couple of years between federal and state resources "There's an unprecedented amount of funding available for water projects."

State Rep. Bill Boyd, who Chairs the NH Drinking Water and

Groundwater Trust Fund said the warrant article is a "once in a lifetime generational opportunity that you have to tackle PFAS contamination and develop a vision for how Londonderry wants to plan its water supply."

He said since the Trust Fund was created they have allocated close to $168 million in grants and loans to "help create a water access and infrastructure to bring clean portable water to communities impacted either by water contamination or to protect and to enhance existing water sources for future generations."

NH Speaker of the House, Sherman Packard, who represents Londonderry, said he thinks that the town is in a good spot to get millions of dollars from the State, if the warrant article was approved but if voters didn't approve it "the whole project could be put in jeopardy."

Brandon Kernan, an Administrator for the Drinking Water & Groundwater Bureau, explained while there are some things that can remove PFAS he said it comes with a "a whole host of other challenges relative to water quality and just logistical and cost when you look over the long term."

He said the money could be spent on long term infrastructure like what they proposed in Londonderry instead.

Kernan also noted that one of the advantages of being on a water system, versus a private well, is that the State monitors it to make sure the water is safe to drink, and private homeowners wouldn't need to do anything to ensure that.

Malaguti explained that "this is a supply project."

"It is an effort to get the supply into the heart of Londonderry; this also happens to be one of the most heavily contaminated or if not the most contaminated area in Londonderry," Malaguti said.

He also noted that they have been working on the issue for a number of years, saying after they became aware of the problem with PFAS in town he said "the Town Council took steps and the community took steps to raise awareness."

One of the things that took place was the creation of the PFAS Task Force, which created a final report, identifying sources of contamination, ways to remediate it, among other things.

The Town Council also had a Utilities Committee created, and the town worked with DES to create a rebate program, in order to get relief for people.

One question raised was how quickly those in the consent decree area could expect to start getting town water, if the warrant article is approved.

Scott said he thinks depending on how the vote goes they would be able to have easier negotiations with Saint-Gobain especially when it comes to them doing a water line connection instead of Individual entry systems.

"I think the coming couple months will be really telling," Scott said.

Another question raised was whether or not they could expand the consent decree.

Malaguti explained that they studied it and looked at it closely but noted that environmental cases can be litigated for decades.

"We do not believe the state will reopen the consent decree," Malaguti said.

Scott went back to the funding sources saying one of the big factors for not reopening the consent decree is that they have a window to use the additional funding and that "within a few years that will be gone."

Butler Replaces Rugg as New Planning Board Chair

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

During the March 13 Londonderry Planning Board meeting, the Board was tasked with picking its Board officers for the upcoming year.

"I started to add the years up and I've been Chair for 19 years and I think it's time for a change," Chair, Art Rugg, announced during the meeting.

He said a couple of years ago, Planning Board member, Jake Butler, had approached him and said one day he wanted to potentially be the Chair, and asked what he would need to do.

"I worked with him. Kelly has worked with Jake and he said he is prepared now to take on the duties of Chair," Rugg said.

He said the one provision would be that Butler told him he wanted him to stay on as Vice Chair for now.

The Board unanimously approved Butler as the new Chair, and Rugg as the new Vice Chair.

He discussed the role of the Chair and said he would serve in the capacity in a way "We can all be proud of."

"Through new leadership, it's my full intention to build upon the foundation that Mr. Rugg, and other previous boards have created to guide future development for the town of Londonderry," Butler said.

He also thanked Rugg for his years of service to the Planning Board.

"I want to thank you for your relentless commitment to the town of Londonderry for so long," Butler said.

He also noted that Rugg has been on the Board for 28 years.

"That's institutional knowledge that you can't replace," he said.

Other officer positions selected during the meeting included Lynn Wiles, who was picked as the Board's Secretary, and Jeff Penta, who was selected as Assistant Secretary.

Penta and Butler were selected to serve as the Planning Board representatives on the CIP Committee, and Rugg will continue to be the Planning Board representative on the Heritage Commission.

The next Planning Board meeting is set to take place on April 3 at 7 p.m.

Conservation Consider Slowing Rate of New Trail Construction

PAUL CONYERS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry Conservation Commission met on March 12 to discuss the planned construction and marking of new trails at Musquash to alleviate what Conservation Chair, Marge Badois, called "congestion." Two trails were completed recently recently finished, and another has been proposed.

"I was just concerned when I saw the plan for the new trail, that it was adding a lot more to our open space," said member, Deb Lievens. "I think we need to be careful about over-trailing. The bikes worry me a little bit more than the average person, the bikes are more likely to disturb animals and create an impact."

Biking in the area has grown more popular over the last few years, with the Mountain Bike Association offering help with trail construction more than once. Maintenance of older trails was another concern.

"There's a lot of trails out there and before we build new ones, let's make sure we have maintained the old ones," said Alternate Commissioner, Mike Speltz.

Speltz proposed working with the Historical Society to make signs for recently acquired land at Lithia Springs.

"You've got two Lithia Springs signs that are designed, but we haven't had them made, because nobody wants to pay for them," he said. "They haven't really jumped at the idea of spending money on a sign."

They noted that the Historical Society and the Heritage Commission had smaller budgets, and it was not clear whether sign-making was part of their scope. Another sign-making project at Mack Apples was relatively expensive.

Badois reported the beavers around Red Fern Circle have returned to the area with the warmer weather.

"They had stopped building their dam while the water was frozen, now they're able to get around, and residents were wondering if our beaver guy can come back," she said. "Do we want to reengage with this?"

Beaver dams obstructing the flow of water have been a problem for homes in the Red Fern area for the past few months despite a recent trapping effort. Commissioners unanimously favored another beaver removal project to stop the problem from getting worse before the spring and summer months.

"There may come a point where we may decide this isn't a viable solution, but we need to give it a fair chance first," said Speltz. "Let's try trapping them and see what happens."

Nobody was sure what the next step might be if trapping did not work.

There have been complaints about target shooting in Musquash, something only allowed during the hunting season with a license from the state Fish and Game Department.

"It does bring up a concern, they were mentioning that it was very close to the trail," said Badois. "We're going to have to start paying attention."

The Londonderry Conservation Commission is scheduled to meet again on Tuesday, March 26, at 7:30 p.m. in the Moose Hill Council Chambers.

Has the Minority Become the Majority?

The residents of Londonderry have made it through another local election cycle. With the unofficial results tallied, a couple of things are very clear.

Good weather brought voters out in droves this year, about 4,400 voters, the highest total in over two decades.

Voters were willing to take a risk with a relatively unknown candidate over a four-term incumbent for Town Council and a large number of votes were cast against the future tax burden of the Moose Hill Addition and Renovation project.

We also saw that, for a second year in a row, people are not interested in going from an elected Town Treasurer to an appointed one.

The notion that a majority of residents want to play pickleball was defeated. The price of nearly a half-million dollar for about 10 courts was more than residents were willing to spend.

There were also a number of citizen petitions that passed on the town ballot. Five of six of these articles saw overwhelming support. The only one to fail was Article 21, the Town Manager Plan, which was a bit ambiguous, resulting in a number of voters leaving it blank.

Residents spoke loud and clear that they want to see more transparency in town with meetings times being made more available, recordings being made of every meeting and public comment being allowed in all meetings.

The idea that Planning Board members need to be elected rather than appointed also passed by over 1,000 votes.

All of the citizen petitions that passed were made "advisory only" during the Deliberative Session, so voters a left to hope our town government will proactively work to make these changes official nonetheless.

During the Town Managers "State of the Town Address" at Deliberative, Mike Malaguti spoke of a small group of individuals with an agenda and a battle for the soul of our community.

We hope the Town Manager will take note of the number of residents that came out, and how many of them are in the minority.

We don't think this is the last we'll see of the kindergarten expansion plan or pickleball court proposals, but maybe a much lower price tag on both would help persuade voters.

We also hope that this is the last we've seen of the Town Treasurer matter being brought to voters. Two defeats in two consecutive years ought to send a strong enough message to the Town Council to just leave this one alone.

It was certainly refreshing to see so many voters come out this year; although 25 percent of the voters isn't great, it's a lot more than we've seen in recent years.

Thank You For Support

To the editor,
I am writing to show my sincere gratitude for your support in the recent election. It is with great honor and humility that I am now serving on Town Council, and I am deeply appreciative of the trust you have placed in me.

It has been an absolute joy to get to know those whom I've met over the course of my campaign. People have shown genuine excitement and hope for what I'd bring to the Council. When the grind of campaigning got me down, it's the people, who energized me, who reminded me of what this hard work was for. Your votes gave me the opportunity to represent our community and work towards the betterment of our town. I am committed to serving with integrity and dedication, always keeping the best interests of our residents at the forefront of my decisions.

This truly was a group effort. I'm so grateful to all who put in the hard work and time, who donated, and supported my campaign. Those who attended my "Community Conversations", those who came to grab a coffee with me, and other public events. I'm so thankful to my supporters who greeted me on election day as I was standing outside the polls. It was a long day, but to get to see faces both familiar and new, wishing me well, was the icing on the cake and a great way to end the election. There is truly so many people to thank, I couldn't begin to list them all in 500 words.

I assure you that I will work tirelessly to address the concerns and aspirations of our community. I am eager to collaborate with all of you to create positive change and progress in Londonderry. Your voices will be heard and your input will be invaluable, as we strive to build a brighter future for our town. It's going to be hard work, it's not going to be easy, but we'll get there.

Once again, thank you for entrusting me with this responsibility. I am deeply grateful for your confidence and belief in me.

Sincerely,
Shawn Faber

Thanks to Voters

To the editor,
To the greatest citizenry, in the greatest town, in the greatest state of the greatest country the world has ever known, the Londonderry Fire Department says, 'Thank You.'

The FY25 Budget Process (which ultimately concluded with the March 12 Town Vote) was the new Command Staff's first. Throughout the process, and without any experience to fall back on, it was our community who assisted in guiding our Leadership Team by allowing us grace as we figured out protocol & procedures, supported us as we stumbled, and, most importantly, challenging us by asking earnest questions to solicit earnest answers. We are blessed to have a community of free-thinkers who are critical in their thought process and intentional with their understanding of the matters at hand.

Receiving unanimous support from the Town Council and Budget Committee indicated to us that our message for the 'why' behind the four firefighters during the budget process was tracking. We sincerely thank both of these elected bodies for your leadership & willingness to maintain an open yet prudent mind.

Further affirmation came from our citizens, who publicly (and privately) complimented us on our approach and how we presented our case to Town Leadership. This culminated on March 12, when the question for the four firefighters received overwhelming support from the voters.

We vow to our citizenry to remain flexible through strategic thinking and tactical action; we will adjust and continue to adapt to meet the needs of our hometown while refusing to live in an echo chamber filled with lethal confirmation bias that stymies creativity and critical thinking.

Thank you for all your support!
Respectfully, Humbly
& Accessibly Yours -

 port for my run for School Board.

This was a big turnout of over 4000 people. We the People run our cities, towns and government. Not those sitting in our local and national buildings, which we pay for.

Make your voice heard every time you have the chance to vote and get out there and do it because your vote really does count but only if you show up. So thank you to the people of Londonderry, even though I didn't get a place on your School Board, but it was a pleasure meeting and running for the first time in a position to represent my community.

Spread the word and get people active, it's our town and as taxpayers we're responsible for who we elect to represent us.

Middle East Peace Is A Myth

To the editor,
 A two-state solution for Israel, a strategic U.S. ally, and Palestine most likely was permanently derailed by the Hamas terrorist attack of Oct. 7, 2023, and the overwhelming Israeli response in Gaza.

The hatred of the Jews of Israel permeates Arab societies. A survey found 74% of Middle East Arabs hate Jews. This is prominently documented by the preaching of a Muslim cleric as follows:

Egyptian Muslim cleric Muhammad Hussein Ya'qoub stated Muslim's feelings in January 2009 when he said "If the Jews left Palestine to us, would we start loving them? Of course not. We will never love them. Absolutely not. The Jews are infidels - not because I say so, and not because they are killing Muslims, but because they imitate the sayings of the disbelievers before. How deluded they are." Ya'qoub also said "The Jews are enemies not because they occupied Palestine. They would have been enemies even if they did not occupy a thing."

Israel must be supported so it can be prepared for ongoing conflicts and potential warfare.

The U.S. provides about $3.5 billion annually in military foreign aid to Israel to support our strategic doctrine in the Middle East. Private U.S. citizens, including a few million Jews and about 60 million Evangelical Christians provide support to Israel.

Great Speech?

To the editor,
 A mentally compromised shell of a man, leader of the free world, ranted and raved his way through a scripted and teleprompted State of the Union speech. Was it a great speech? If you base your opinion on the fact that he didn't fall up or down the stairway on his way to the podium, it was a great speech. Did his screaming and yelling presentation show you a man of power and strength? Or a failing old man trying to portray something he is not? Then it was a great speech. Where he has had great difficulty putting words together to form a sentence, little of this happened. Why? A teleprompter he used made thinking unnecessary. Does that make for a great speech? A noticeable miscue occurred when he went off script.

Obviously it was not on the teleprompter. He had to think. Not his strong suit. He lifted a memento honoring a young woman recently murdered with her name clearly spelled and mispronounced it. Was this another Joe miscue or a failure of his handlers?

I ask readers. Did Joe say anything that makes you and your family feel less traumatized? Did he address the table issues that concern all of us? Is he leading America in the correct direction? He now travels the Country campaigning for reelection. You can be certain his handlers will avoid stairways and unscripted speeches. Only questions and answers that have been rehearsed will be allowed. This has always been part of the act.

Have you noticed Joe no longer exits Air Force One via the long grand staircase? He now uses a forward positioned much shorter staircase. Seldom used by Dignitaries, but necessary for the handicapped. With all the table issues still with us and getting stronger, Joe will see to our getting more chips and candy in our bags Hallelujah, hallelujah at last at last!

approved by Londonderry voters during the recent election.

"This pipeline is going to help the region," said Utilities Secretary, John Ferreira.

The Town Manager added, "It needs to be a community decision where and when [the water pipe] goes next." While the High Range Road extension is designed to serve homes most impacted by Saint-Gobain's PFAS contamination, town officials intend it to be the first step in a much more extensive expansion to the town water supply in the coming years.

While Utilities' energy subcommittee has not had a meeting recently, Chair, Lynn Wiles, assured everyone they were "still moving forward with the Community Power Aggregation Program."

"There's no sense of urgency to do this, I think we have enough time to make some educated decision on how we move forward," said Wiles.

A public hearing on the project is expected to get local feedback, although no date was set.

The Twin State project to bring hydroelectric power down from Quebec was declared a "dead deal" for the time being, following news from the Town Manager. While the details were unclear, there were apparently cooperation issues between local American and Canadian power suppliers.

Neither the Town Council nor the Utilities Committee was committed to the Twin State proposal, despite several meetings and some preliminary interest.

"It sounds like a great idea, clean power, but we need to think about what we have in the state of New Hampshire and who has control of it," said alternate member, Ray Breslin. "We need to think about what power is being used, particularly hydro-power here in the state of NH."

He questioned why they had little control over potential, local sources of power, and raised the possibility of asking Donald Kreis from the NH Office of the Consumer Advocate to come in to explain the situation in more detail at a future meeting.

"We need to listen to somebody who is in the middle, like the consumer advocate," said Breslin.

The Utilities Committee is scheduled to meet again on Tuesday, April 2, at 7 p.m. on the first floor of the Moose Hill Council Chambers.

Band Members Collect Used Instruments for Tri-M Society

The Londonderry High School chapter of Tri-M Honor Society held a Band & Orchestra Instrument Donation Drive on Saturday, March 16, in the High School main lobby and collected over 50 instruments in a wide-range of conditions. The group collected flutes, clarinets, saxophones, trumpets, trombones, tubas, violins, violas, and cellos to donate to communities and schools in New England that might need the instruments. Students went through the instruments and categorized them by their condition. The hope is that these instruments would help to foster a student's desire to explore music, who can't afford to buy an instrument.

LONDONDERRY SPORTS

Five Players Represent Lancers in Senior All-Star Game

BLAKE SANTANA
LONDONDERRY TIMES

On the heels of the school's first Division I hockey championship, there was still more hockey to be played for five Londonderry seniors with the annual Senior All-Star Games in Exeter. This year, unlike in past years, the teams were mixed with Division I, II, and III players on all four squads. Gone were the days of Division I and Division II being in one game and Division III being a separate contest. All players who played for the same squad during the season were placed on the same team for the tournament, with Londonderry's crew being assigned to Team White 1.

Team White 1 had players from Londonderry (James Kircaldie, Mike Maloney, Owen Carey, Jayden Hamilton, Brendon Morin), Manchester (Joey Velez, Lukas Tate), Somersworth-Coe-Brown (Gio Green, Tully Keefe, James Sawyer), Spaulding (Trevor Brennan),

Jayden Hamilton

James Kircaldie

Brendon Morin

Mike Maloney

Owen Carey

Pembroke-Campbell (3, Cameron Plante, Patrick Chamberlain, Liam Cripps), and Kearsarge-Plymouth (Jack Swanson, Brennan Johnson).

This season, due to the introduction of a round-robin tournament, the day was divided into 25-minute running-time games where everyone got to play each other once. Team White 1's first matchup of the day was against Team White 2. The two teams battled hard, but it was Team White 2 that emerged with the win in the first game, as Team White 1 would stay on rink 2 to take on Team Red in game two.

The second game started strong for Team White 1, as Owen Carey found the back of the net, beating Winnacunnet's Owen Helton on a rebound opportunity to make it 1-0 heading into the break halfway through the second game to allow the ice to be cleaned. Unfortunately for Team White 1, Joe DeKarski and Jack Wilkinson were able to find the back of the net in the second half of the game, giving Team Red a 2-1, come-from-behind victory.

In the third game, which served as a defacto third-place game with both teams entering at 0-2 and both teams playing on rink 2 being 2-0 heading into the final matchup, Team White 1 took on Team Blue, and won 3-2 in a thriller that was never really out of reach, despite Team Blue losing Kolin Melanson to an injury after their second game.

Team White 1 finished in third place on the day, going 1-2 in the round-robin and having a goal-differential of -2. Team Red finished in first place, going 3-0 and having a +3 goal differential. Team White 2 finished in second at 2-1 with a goal differential of +2, and Team Blue finished in fourth place with an 0-3 record and a -3 goal differential. All six games that were played on Sunday finished as one-or-two-goal contests, and all six games were competitive down to the final horn. All in all, a great way to end the season for the five Lancer seniors who already added a Division I Championship to their mantle on March 9.

Shamrock Shootout Takes Over High School Courts

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The third annual Shamrock Shootout 3v3 Tournament, sponsored by the Athletic Leadership Council, took place on Saturday, March 16, with Middle School teams taking the court in the morning and High School contingents finishing the contest in the afternoon.

Each game had a six-minute time limit with the first team to reach 11-points moving on.

There were no foul shots in the game and two-points were given for anything good from outside the three-point arc.

There were nine middle school teams and 12 teams in the high school contest battling for bragging rights and gift cards in a half-court three vs. three tournament.

The winning team in the morning session was CBG-Elite, with height helping them to the championship.

WR Academy battled the "Leprechauns" in the finals for the victory, a team consisting of Tyler Brown, Ethan Munro, and Matt Doyle.

Student Awarded Silver DAR Outstanding Cadet Medal

Congratulations to Theo Stevens, a junior at The Founders Academy Public Charter School in Manchester, NH, for receiving the Silver DAR Outstanding Cadet Medal for his academic excellence, dependability, good character, adherence to military discipline, leadership, and fundamental and patriotic understanding of the importance of cadet training.

Theo received the award on Feb. 8, 2024, at the United States Naval Sea Cadet Corps Harlan R. Dickson Division Annual Inspection and Awards Ceremony held at the Army Reserve Center in Londonderry, NH. The medal is awarded to a cadet for participation in a non-ROTC or non-JROTC military-affiliated cadet program.

Chapter regent for the Molly Stark Chapter, DAR in Manchester, Trish Jackson, presented the award to Theo in front of families of other sea cadets.

"Theo is an outstanding representation of our school's mission. He is committed to finding ways to be a leader in the community and demonstrates good character in all of his endeavors. I'm proud of him for his accomplishments and look forward to seeing what the future holds," says Cassie Hayes, Dean of School.

The DAR National Defense Committee

strives to preserve the American heritage of freedom, to protect the U.S. Constitution, and to ensure the survival of our national sovereignty. The committee advocates a strong military defense and unwavering faithfulness to the ideals of the Founding Fathers as set forth in the U.S. Constitution.

The Founders Academy is a public charter school for students in grades 5 through 12 that is free and open to all New Hampshire students. The Academy develops leaders who understand and apply the lessons of the past, demonstrate exceptional character and lead by example. The Academy recognizes the importance of balance in the development of the whole person, and respects each student's journey.

Principled leadership is fostered by means of a curriculum of classical studies that includes analyzing the lives of great men and women of history, mining the rich classical ideals of the Western tradition, and tracing the evolution of the precious and costly idea of liberty.

The Founders Academy is currently accepting applications for the 2024-2025 school year. To learn more about The Founders Academy or to apply for admission, visit www.the-foundersacademy.org/
