Grange Leader Seeks Town Support for Warrant Article

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry Town Council and Budget Committee were briefed on a proposed warrant article that could provide financial support for the Londonderry Grange.

William Perry, a longtime member and current Grange Master, said he has been involved for 19 years and has led the organization for the past 11. "Our sole purpose is to preserve the heritage of our beautiful hall here in town," Perry explained during the meeting. However, Perry said the Grange now needs help from the town to remain active. "We are in need of help from the town to continue playing an

$900K Morrison Meeting House Warrant Article Being Proposed

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Reverend Morrison Meeting House, commonly known as Lions Hall, resurfaced as a topic of discussion during Londonderry's budget season, which may lead to voters having two potential warrant articles under consideration for the historic structure.

The building has been a point of contention for the past several years and has sit dormant since the Town assumed operations from the Londonderry Lions Club. Recently, conversations have focused on whether it should be added to the New Hampshire State Register of Historic Places.

During the Nov. 17 Budget Committee meeting, Town Manager Shaun Mulholland announced that a citizen petition warrant article is being discussed, with an estimated cost of approximately $900,000. However, no specific details were given during the discussion.

Mulholland explained that funding for the article would likely come from two sources: half from the Unassigned Fund Balance and the other half from property taxes. The money would be placed in a capital reserve account for the building.

"That would be a petition warrant article," Mulholland clarified.

Additionally, Mulholland said the Town is considering proposing a bond for the project. The amount and whether the Town Council will present it as a warrant article for the ballot are still undecided.

During the discussion with Budget Committee members, Mulholland did not identify the citizens drafting the petition. A question raised during the meeting was whether those proposing the article had

Town Manager Asked to Look for Cuts From Proposed Budget

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

During the Monday night, Nov. 17, Town Council meeting, another discussion took place about looking at potential budget cuts from the proposed operating budget for FY 27.

At the previous meeting, the Town Council was tasked with setting the tax rate for 2025.

The discussion took place over how much in unassigned fund balance should be used for lowering the tax rate with some arguing it would have an immediate positive impact for taxpayers now while others were concerned with drawing it down too much.

Originally the idea from some on the Town Council was to use a million dollars in the unassigned fund balance to reduce the rate.

The Town Council ultimately voted 3-2 to use $600,000 from the unassigned fund balance to reduce the tax rate, with the idea that they would also look at reducing the proposed operating budget by an additional $400,000 to get to the million-dollar mark.

During the Nov. 17 Town Council meeting the discussion continued on how to go about looking at the potential cuts. Town Council Vice Chair Shawn Faber proposed that they ask Town Manager Shaun Mulholland to come back to the Town Council with a list of possible budget cuts from the FY 27 operating budget that has been proposed.

Faber explained that the idea would be to have Mulholland come back to the Town Council

Crews Respond to Fuel Truck Rollover, Spill on Exit 4A Ramp

Crews were busy early Monday morning cleaning up over 2,000 gallons diesel fuel on the off ramp at the newly contracted Exit 4A

According to a press release issued by Londonderry Fire Department Battalion Chief Jeff Anderson, at approximately 5:57 a.m. on Monday, Nov. 24, the members of the Fire Department were dispatched to a reported motor vehicle accident involving a fuel truck rollover on Interstate 93 southbound between the power lines and the Ash Street overpass.

Upon arrival, crews found a fuel truck on its roof with an active diesel fuel leak. It was determined that the truck was carrying approximately 2,210 gallons of off-road diesel fuel at the time of the incident.

The driver of the fuel truck was transported to the Elliot Hospital with minor injuries.

A hazardous materials response was initiated at the time of the incident by the Southeastern New Hampshire Haz-Mat team, due to the significant spill, representatives of the New Hampshire Department of Environmental Services (DES), New Hampshire State Police, the Department of Transportation (DOT), and the fuel company responded to assist with containment and mitigation.

Additionally, a pump truck from the fuel company was brought in to offload remaining product before the vehicle could be safely up-righted.

Fire crews remained on scene for several hours assisting with leak control, hazard assessment, and coordination with environmental and towing contractors. The truck was successfully up-righted at approximately 9:55 a.m. and removed shortly thereafter. The scene was turned over to DES and cleanup contractors once hazards were mitigated. All Londonderry ry Fire Department units cleared the scene by 10:10 a.m.

Apparatus responding to the scene were: Engine II, Rescue I, Medic III, CII, CIII, BC IV, Southeastern NH Hazmat spill trailer, NH State Police, NH DOT, NH DES, Fuel Company representatives, and a Clean-up company.

cil with his recommendation on the previously alluded to $400,000 while also having the least amount of impact on different services the Town offers.

Town Councilor Dan Bouchard, who voted against using the $600,000 from the unassigned fund balance previously to lower the tax rate, said that he was concerned with the fact that they have been getting through budget presentations, and asked when the future date would be for the Town Council and Budget Committee to have conversations with department heads about potential cuts.

He also noted that other members of the Town Council or Budget Committee may have different ideas on the proposed budget, particularly where they could make reductions.

Faber explained that he thinks it makes sense for them to have the Town Manager prepare a list of potential cuts and then they can decide from there.

Council member Ted Combes noted that in past years they have started looking at how to further reduce the budget during their December meetings and that it would be good overall to start looking at potential cuts earlier.

The Town Council ultimately agreed to have Mulholland look at different potential cuts and then come back to the Town Council with the different possibilities.

Planning Board Discusses Appointment Process, Recommends Candidates

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Planning Board recently held a workshop discussion on the process for filling board and committee openings, as members sought clarity on how appointments are being handled this year.

Planning Board Alternate Tony DeFrancesco explained that the Town Council is currently conducting interviews for candidates interested in serving on various boards and committees. Traditionally, the Planning Board has submitted its own recommendations - particularly when moving alternates to full-time positions - before the Town Council made final decisions.

DeFrancesco said he was surprised by the new process and reached out for guidance.

"When I found out about the change, I sent an email and didn't get a response back on what I should do," he said.

This year, anyone interested in serving had to submit an application, and the Town Council began interviews during its most recent meeting. As a current alternate, DeFrancesco expressed interest in becoming a full member but noted that the application deadline has passed.

"I'm not sure if the Town Council knows I'm interested in becoming a full member," he said, adding that alternates previously did not need to apply for full-time positions.

He noted the confusion may stem from the fact that his current alternate term does not expire until next year.

Town Council Vice Chair and Planning Board Ex-Officio said he was aware of the situation and had informed Town Council Chair Ron Dunn. He explained that after consulting with the Town Manager and staff, the Council has the authority to appoint DeFrancesco as a full member if it chooses.

"I think it needs to be brought up by DeFrancesco in front of the Town Council and tell them that you are an option and you've expressed interest," he said.

DeFrancesco confirmed he plans to attend the Dec. 1 Town Council meeting to answer any questions during the interview process.

The Planning Board voted to recommend DeFrancesco for one of the open full-member positions, along with current alternate Ryan Ouellette. The Board also recommended reappointing alternate Jason Knights, whose term is expiring.

Other applicants for Planning Board positions include:

- Ralph Brutus
- Patrick Lawrence
- Cheetham

- John Farrell
- Christa Guiney
- Victoria Kimbler
- Denise M. Nash

OBITUARY

Cathy Sue Graveline

Cathy S. Graveline, 67 of Londonderry, NH, was called to heaven in the early morning hours of Saturday, Nov. 8, 2025, after a brief battle with cancer. She left us peacefully and surrounded by her loved ones. Waiting to welcome her with open arms were her parents Lanny & Lora VandeBogart, her parents-in-law Ed & Teresa Graveline, her brother-in-law, sister-in-law, and several aunts and other relatives.

Born in Londonderry, NH on March 7, 1958, Cathy was the responsible eldest of three siblings, and numerous cousins. She was a talented artist, piano player and singer, and those interests led her to being part of many drama club productions during her time at Pinkerton High School. Prior to graduating in 1976, Cathy entered and won the Miss Londonderry pageant and was first runner-up for Miss New Hampshire the same year.

As a natural-born caregiver, Cathy knew she wanted to be a nurse from a young age. She used her winnings from the pageants to help pay her tuition to nursing school in Brattleboro, VT, and graduated with her LPN. She spent nearly 20 years working at Catholic Medical Center in Manchester, NH. The following 25 years were spent being a Respiratory Therapist, a Nurse Liaison, an educator, working in both skilled nursing and assisted living. Her favorite of all though, was her final job prior to retirement - pediatric home care.

Cathy was everyone's Nana, everyone's Auntie, everyone's bonus Mom - titles that she took very seriously and held very dear. Any way she could be of service, offer encouragement and support, make someone feel just a little more special or better than they were feeling, Cathy would jump at the chance. She was able to touch so many people, just by offering her love. She had unconditional love for those who were not readily offered it elsewhere in their lives. She loved without judgement, or requirement. She seemed to always know when someone needed just a little extra love, and gave it freely and abundantly.

Having recently retired, Cathy found joy in thrifting, crafting and gardening. Her greatest joy in life though, was her family. Whether it was a special homemade birthday dinner, seeing something in a store that she felt like you needed to have, or just making sure everyone in the house had their favorite snacks, she cared for her family in ways that showed great thought and care, even over the little things.

Cathy could regularly be found dancing with the dog in the kitchen, singing at the top of her lungs in the car, or elbow-deep in her most recently thrifted "treasures" - the smallest things brought her the biggest joys.

Blessed with a large and loving family, Cathy is survived by her devoted husband of 38 years, David Graveline and their most goodest boy Griffin, her daughter Amy Gossel (husband Alex Lima) and granddaughter Layla Hirsch, her son Adam Gossel (wife Christina) and grandson Colin, and her daughter Sara Graveline and her fur child Loki. Also, brothers Jeff VandeBogart (wife Dawn), Mark VandeBogart (wife Tammy), nieces Rachel Lavertu (husband Kenny), Ashley Syrett (husband David) and their children, and nephew Kyle VandeBogart (partner Jill Ferris), and numerous aunts, cousins, and friends. Cathy is also survived by her deeply caring and outstanding church family at Londonderry Christian Church, where she was active in the Worship Team for a time, and assisted in the nursery.

Cathy will be deeply missed in a way that words don't seem to do justice. She was a bright light to all who were fortunate enough to have known her. Following cremation, no services for Cathy will be held at this time. Instead, a celebration of her life will be had in the Spring. In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to the Community Hospice House in Merrimack, NH directly from their website hhhc.org by clicking the menu drop down in the upper right corner, and choosing "DONATE".

active role in our beautiful community," he said.

Perry outlined plans for a warrant article to secure funding necessary to maintain and improve the hall, noting that COVID significantly impacted their operations.

He emphasized their mission: "We encourage all to come in and be members of the Grange." Perry added that they are non-partisan and non-denominational and strive to maintain that stance. He also noted the hall was added to the Historical Registry in 2004.

While the Grange hopes to encourage more community groups to use the hall, Perry said upgrades are urgently needed.

"We are asking for help from our community," he stated, explaining that their financial resources are limited and all income goes toward annual operations, leaving little for improvements.

Recruiting new members has also been challenging. Perry said the vision is to create a meeting space for all - a central location for gatherings in town.

The proposed warrant article would fund ten years of operating costs, allowing the Grange to focus on repairs and membership growth.

"For a ten-year period is what we're looking at," Perry explained, noting that the hall currently cannot open during winter due to lack of insulation and other issues.

He also cited safety concerns, such as tripping hazards in the driveway, which force the parking lot to close during Old Home Day.

Town officials requested a detailed breakdown of annual expenses and revenue.

Councilor Deb Paul suggested pursuing grants and opening the hall during events like Concert on the Common to raise donations.

"There are several ways to draw more attention to your building," Paul said.

Councilor Ted Combes added that charging for parking during concerts could help generate funds.

No decision was made on the warrant article during the meeting.

Thanksgiving: A Time to Pause, Reflect, and Give Back

When schoolchildren are asked what Thanksgiving means to them, they typically respond with thoughts of food or being thankful - not shopping.

Yet, Black Friday dominates the headlines, pushing us toward early Christmas deals instead of focusing on family time. Retailers have blurred the seasons for years, with Santa displays appearing before Halloween has ended.

Is getting first in line for a discounted TV or a pair of socks really what defines the holiday spirit? Should consumerism overshadow our sense of gratitude? While we all appreciate a good sale, especially in today's economy, Thanksgiving should be about slowing down, sharing a meal, and appreciating what we have.

Norman Rockwell's portrayal of families gathered around the table may seem like a distant image, but most of us still take a few hours to connect with loved ones. That time is precious. It reminds us of life's simple blessings - a roof over our heads, food in the fridge, clothes in the closet, and yes, even the technology that keeps us connected.

We may not have everything we desire, but we enjoy freedoms that we may take for granted - the right to speak freely, worship, and vote. We also have family and friends who fill our lives with laughter and love.

Thanksgiving is also a reminder to look beyond ourselves. Many in our communities lack the comforts we enjoy. Food pantries are in dire need of donations, and homebound residents often go days without human contact. Even small gestures - like dropping off cookies, sharing a meal, or offering a ride - can make a significant difference. These acts help build the caring, compassionate community we all wish to live in.

It's easy to focus on what we lack or to be overwhelmed by the negativity that surrounds us daily. Instead, let's concentrate on the good - the people and moments that truly matter. Gratitude is not just a feeling; it's an action. As John F. Kennedy said, "As we express our gratitude, we must never forget that the highest appreciation is not to utter words, but to live by them."

At Nutfield Publishing, we are thankful for your support in bringing local news to your community. We encourage you to support our advertisers and to motivate others to do the same. Like PBS, we rely on readers like you to help us continue our work.

This season, take a break from the holiday rush. Spend quality time with those you cherish. Give thanks - and give back. That's the true spirit of Thanksgiving.

Prostate Cancer Awareness

To the editor,
"At least it's the good cancer," "it's easily treatable," or "if caught early, you'll be ok." These are things men with prostate cancer hear from well-meaning folks. I get it, nobody really knows how to respond to someone who's been diagnosed with prostate cancer. Those comments are meant to be supportive but to those of us diagnosed, it often feels like our disease is being minimized and dismissed.

The truth often is much different. First, there is no such thing as a "good cancer." Hearing the words "I'm sorry to tell you it's cancerous" is a very frightening thing. A million thoughts and questions go through your mind, and you quickly realize you don't remember anything else the doctor said after the word cancer.

You suddenly need to educate yourself in current treatment methods, medical terminology, how to choose an oncologist and so on. This is your body and your life, and you'll soon have life altering decisions to make. Doctors, hospitals, medical opinions, etc... all have an impact on decisions, but you have to be your own best advocate - nobody cares as much about your life as you.

Treatment of prostate cancer typically falls into two categories - surgery to remove the prostate if contained, or radiation to "kill" cancer cells if spread beyond the prostate along with medication to lower male hormone levels which feed prostate cancer. Side effects can include impotence, inability to control bodily bathroom functions (both ends), mood swings/depression, loss of muscle mass, osteoporosis, weakness and exhaustion, gynecomastia and others. There's no way to predict until after treatment begins.

According to the American Cancer Society, 1 in 8 men will be diagnosed with prostate cancer during their lifetime. 1 in 44 men with prostate cancer will die from it. About 315,000 cases of prostate cancer will be diagnosed in 2025 - almost the same amount as breast cancer for women at 320,000. In 2020, an estimated 375,000 men worldwide died of prostate cancer - more than the 268,000 women who died from breast cancer.

I'll never consider myself "cured." Just a few surviving cancer cells can metastasize throughout your body. You live every day wondering where and when it will happen and hope you die of something else before it does.

I hope this message convinces men to request a PSA test by age 45 (earlier if a family history.) It isn't foolproof, but it's currently one of the best "easy" ways to monitor for prostate cancer. It provides a baseline level for comparison as you age. Early detection increases the odds of survival by catching it before it invades other areas of your body.

If someone you know has been diagnosed with prostate cancer, offer to help if/when the person needs it - rides to the hospital, someone to talk to when the depression hits hard or even just help with physical chores at home. It's an emasculating disease at best, and a killer at worst.

Leach Library Opens Food Pantry

Leach Library has taken a step to help residents facing food insecurity by opening a new Food Pantry. Located on the lower level, the pantry is available during regular library hours for anyone in need, no questions asked.

Community members have begun donating, and the response has been heartwarming. The pantry accepts non-perishable food items such as canned vegetables, beans, soup, rice, pasta, cereal, shelf-stable milk, baby formula, and cooking essentials like oil and spices. Household items such as toiletries, personal hygiene products, and cleaning supplies are also welcome. (Please

Utilities Committee Questions Expanding Role Under New Administrative Code

PAUL CONYERS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry Utilities Committee met on Nov. 4 to review a draft of the town's administrative code, raising concerns about the scope of its responsibilities.

"This is the section involving boards and committees that we're looking to bring before the Town Council in January," explained Administrative Support Coordinator Kirsten Hildonen. She emphasized the need to confirm the Committee's duties before finalizing the draft: "Advise the Town Council and Town Manager on matters related to public utilities serving Londonderry, including water, sewer/stormwater, gas and energy infrastructure."

One sticking point was stormwater management. The Committee's original charter referenced solid waste, not stormwater.

"I think we need to have a conversation with the Conservation Commission over who owns it," said Utilities Chair Lynn Wiles. "I'm not sure if this is the right group of people to own stormwater, though I'm not sure it's not the right group."

Committee member Mike Speltz noted that utility infrastructure already carries stormwater and warned that water contamination remains an ongoing concern.

The draft code listed a broad range of responsibilities, including reviewing utility-related plans, capital improvement projects, system expansions, policy input, ordinances, inter-municipal agreements, infrastructure planning, evaluating emerging technologies, solid waste services, and assisting with grant opportunities.

Members expressed concern that the code gave the Committee an enormous scope.

"This is not something you have to do every meeting, of every day," clarified Hildonen. "You can stay in this little corner of the territory all you want. If that's where you want to focus your efforts, you can. This gives you greater boundaries for what you can engage in and what advice you can be asked for."

The code also outlined Town Manager support, including "staff liaison support, town-issued email addresses, webpage postings, and technical assistance" as resources allow. Hildonen stressed that the code governs members' roles when speaking for the Committee, not as private citizens.

"This is sort of like a job description," noted alternate John Mahon. "I'm wondering if we should be looking at, or maybe you guys should as part of your process, whittling this down."

The draft further directed the Committee to adopt its own rules and procedures.

"Robert's Rules of Order? No, but you should have some sort of rules and procedure, like who gets a seat at the beginning of the meeting if a member is absent," said Hildonen.

"Can you send that out to me, and I'll get it out to everybody else?" asked Wiles. "I'm not concerned about the scope of the charge, but I just want everybody to be cognizant of the scope of the charge."

There's a lot of things there."

Hildonen promised to share all relevant information and review the language to simplify the description.

"I'll try to get it out to you quickly," she said. "Let me do a little work on this, and I'll get back to you."

The next Utilities Committee meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, Dec. 2, at 7 p.m. in the Moose Hill Conference Room.

"Other than the fact that they have a warrant article they're proposing, they haven't asked us for any input, help, or guidance," Mulholland stated. He added, "It's not what I would call a collaborative effort."

Mulholland and Finance Director Justin Campo expressed concern about raising tax funds for a reserve account without a clear plan for the building's future or intended use. "You don't have a plan," Mulholland said.

As for the Town's potential warrant article, Mulholland said figures will be ready by the Dec. 15 meeting for formal proposals.

Strategic Plan May Prioritize Rooftop Solar and Renewable Energy Goals

PAUL CONYERS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Utilities Committee met on Nov. 4 to hear an update on the town's Strategic Plan from Administrative Support Coordinator Kirsten Hildonen.

"Thanks to anybody who has submitted anything so far. I've put it together into a document that we can work on editing, amending, talking about, and if you'd like, add to it," said Hildonen. "Remember, this is a living thing that we're going to be working on for a while, so if you think about something later on, please do not hesitate to tell us."

The current draft of the Strategic Plan includes sections focused on energy, with an emphasis on rooftop solar for municipal buildings.

"There are certain things that need to be done for new facilities before we start retrofitting older ones. That would more likely be where it would start," said Hildonen. "We could also discuss and evaluate the use of parking lots as solar facilities."

She stressed that the Strategic Plan is intended as a short-term roadmap for Londonderry.

"How does this fit in with the State of New Hampshire's plan moving forward?" asked Committee member Mike Speltz.

According to Hildonen, the plan is entirely local and not tied to state priorities. The goal is to increase Londonderry's use of renewable energy to 50% by 2030 if possible.

"The only issue I have with this whole thing is that there's no cost structure to it," said Secretary John Ferreira.

Hildonen explained that the plan is "still in the information-gathering stages" and that a detailed cost structure would come only after Town Council approval.

"Until you do those other things, you won't be able to know what you're buying, and won't be able to put a dollar value on it," noted Speltz.

Beyond solar power for municipal buildings, the Strategic Plan includes a proposal to sponsor a solarize program to solicit bids from solar installers for Londonderry businesses and residents.

"It's been used in the state before, and in fact, we've done it in Londonderry before," said Speltz. "Basically, what we do is we contract with a solar installer and say, 'Look, if we bring a large number of jobs to you in this one location where you have all the financial advantages of bringing your material and people into one place to do everything at once, will you cut us a deal on the cost of installation?' We spend a lot of effort getting people to be aware of it and signing up for it."

Committee member Anne Fenn asked if the town could provide additional incentives to encourage property owners to invest in rooftop solar. Other members noted that a small incentive already exists.

The Utilities Committee agreed with the solar objectives outlined in the Strategic Plan.

The next Utilities Committee meeting is set for Tuesday, Dec. 2, at 7 p.m. in the Moose Hill Conference Room.

High Range Road Water Extension Hits Key Milestone at Royal Lane

PAUL CONYERS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry Utilities Committee reported significant progress on the High Range Road water line extension during its November meeting, marking a major step forward in the town's long-term infrastructure plan.

"The main is fully installed all the way up to Royal, and it's been pressure tested," said

Administrative Support Coordinator Kirsten Hildonen. "As of last week, they'd completed about half of the services from the water main to the curb stop. They still anticipate being done with them all by the end of this year."

Additional work is underway along Old Nashua and Old Derry Road. "All of these areas that currently have work going on, including the work going on at Old Derry Road, will be factored in to the special assessment we're looking to create to support people being able to connect more quickly to the water infrastructure that's going in," Hildonen explained.

Committee members emphasized the importance of expanding water access in this part of town, noting rapid development in recent years. "Committee-wise, I think it's huge, what we've accomplished with that in the last two to three years," said Secretary John Ferreira. "It's gone from zero to where it is now."

Looking ahead, Hildonen expects several warrant articles related to water infrastructure to appear on the March ballot, including $500,000 for the capital reserve fund and $400,000 for the water special assessment fund. "The number of infrastructure programs that we're going to be able to do a year, and the time it's going to take to get them underway, that's going to let that fund get built up, and get paid back," she said. The Town Manager plans to fund both proposals using the undesignated fund balance, which consists of leftover revenue and unspent funds from prior years.

The special assessment fund is designed to help homeowners connect to new water mains. Committee members discussed creating a special assessment district to make connections easier for residents near the new infrastructure.

"What is the current status of the money for High Range Road?" asked Alternate Ray Breslin. "I think you said at one point that there's a substantial amount left, but what is it at currently?"

Hildonen could not provide an exact figure but confirmed that the project has used all $2 million in state ARPA funds, plus an additional $2 million in ARPA funds allocated to the town. She noted that more funding remains available. "We have to go through ARPA funds first, both town and state, then we have to use up our loan, then we use the grant funds. That's a nonnegotiable order set by the state," she said, adding that the project is still within budget. "There is funding left."

The next meeting of the Londonderry Utilities Committee is scheduled for Tuesday, Dec. 2, at 7 p.m. in the Moose Hill Conference Room.

Senior Resources Committee Prepares Boston Post Cane, Jim Green Awards

PAUL CONYERS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The November meeting of the Londonderry Senior Resources Committee saw its members review their plan to find a recipient for the Boston Post Cane Award.

"So far, we've only had one person apply," said Chair Sherry Farrell. "It's just one woman; a neighbor reached out and submitted her name right away."

The Committee agreed to coordinate with the Town Manager on the Boston Cane Award, which is designed to go to the oldest resident.

Farrell stated that there was a need to update the Senior Resources webpage to inform residents about including both the Boston Post Cane and Jim Green awards.

It was recently announced that the Post Cane will go to Cecile Fortin and the presentation is scheduled to take place during the Monday night, Dec. 1, Town Council Meeting.

Recently, the Committee created a memorial plaque in honor of the Committee's former Chair, Jim Green, who passed away last March.

"Our first plaque to Jim Green is now hanging in the corridor," said

Farrell. "People have noticed it; it's quite a tribute. People are asking, so we want to make sure that we're going to follow through on this now, in honor of Jim."

Plans for how to announce a Jim Green award remained ongoing, with continuing debate on an official name for the award.

"I think under the nomination period should be a little bit clearer. Nominations will be accepted from Jan. 1 through April 30 for the preceding calendar years. It's to recognize someone for acts within the previous calendar year, and that give a four-month period to nominate," said Police Department Liaison Patrick Cheatham. "Some type of take-home little plaque would be really nice. It doesn't need to have the picture of the person or the picture of Jim on it, but it could just be something under $100 like with a trophy that says 'Jim Green Award.'"

The award would be given for "acts of service" to the town. Members also agreed to connect with Fire Deputy Phil LeBlanc to get more information about the Fire Department's award process.

"You want to be as broad as possible with an award like this, and you want it to be simple," said Cheatham.

Looking beyond their plans for awards, Senior Center Manager Ilona Arndt gave a quick update on the Senior Center. She indicated that the Senior Center was growing increasingly active with the upcoming holiday season, including the Fireman's Thanksgiving, which reached capacity.

"There's only so many people we can handle," said Arndt. "100 people; it filled up in like two days."

Cheatham suggested holding two seatings for the 2026 Fireman's Thanksgiving to meet the high demand.

"With two seatings, Fire could do the first one, the Police Department could do the second on," said Cheatham. "I could probably get you guys five to ten officers for that, easily."

Arndt hoped to bring new programs to the Senior Center, looking into different resources for those not involved in Senior Center operations.

"I want to serve the 7,500 seniors that are not members of the Senior Center," she said. "There's a lot more people out there."

Conservation Steps Up Role in Master Plan and Strategic Planning

PAUL CONYERS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Conservation Commission met on Oct. 28 to discuss increasing its involvement in the town's Master Plan process, particularly in areas related to land use and natural resources.

"We'd like to give input from people with knowledge on those topics," said Chair Marge Badois. "I think we're going to want to be involved in that, especially the natural resource chapter."

Badois encouraged members to participate in the Steering Committee's upcoming Natural Resources Workshop. "Does anybody know someone in the community that would be good?" she asked. "I'm asking you guys to think of people." Commissioners suggested inviting individuals who worked on the town's previous Open Space Plan.

With the holiday season approaching, Badois outlined other priorities for the year, including a draft code of ethics, conservation's role in administrative code revisions, budget matters, and the town's strategic plan. Alternate Mike Speltz presented a draft of the Commission's contribution to the strategic plan. "The deadline is Dec. 1. I made this draft up for us; this is the format they're looking for," said Speltz. "This is just a draft that I put together to demonstrate how it could look to the rest of the Commissioners. I certainly invite you to add to this list, but this is where I've gotten started." He promised to send copies to members for review before the next meeting.

Budget discussions also took center stage. "We're doing well," reported Badois, noting income from the Land Use Change Tax and other accounts. Under New Hampshire law, the Land Use Change Tax is a one-time penalty of 10% charged when land is removed from the Current Use Program, which offers tax incentives to preserve undeveloped land.

The tax recently came into play with the Woodmont Commons Planned Unit Development. "Woodmont Commons paid their Land Use Change Tax penalty all at once, which is actually contrary to the regulations," said Speltz. "It should have been paid as they developed each property, then there would have been a payment for that property. The effect of that would be that there are lower numbers on average as that big clump they paid at the beginning would have been spread over multiple years, which would have then meant more money coming in for the Land Use Change Tax."

Commissioners reviewing revenue trends agreed the lump-sum payment likely explains why income "dropped off precipitously" in recent years. It remains unclear whether any corrective action can be taken.

The Londonderry High School Girls' Volleyball squad finished its season with just three losses, making it to the semi-finals of the NHIAA Division I State Championship.

As the number two-seed in the state tournament, the Lancers beat the Portsmouth Clippers (#7) in straight-sets in the quarter-finals, but fell to the Dover Green Wave, the #3 seed, 2-3 in tight semi-finals contest.

The Londonderry squad posted 17 victories this year that included an eight-game and a six-game winning streak during the regular season.

Last week, the New Hampshire Volleyball Coach's Association released their list of All-State teams, which included a number of Londonderry players.

Lancers seniors Annie Williams and Riley Campo were named to the All-State First-Team roster and fellow senior Maddie Normand was named to the Second Team list.

In addition, Williams and Campo also were in the top four of overall votes received and were selected to represent the Granite State in the New Hampshire vs. Vermont showcase.

Seven Student Athletes Sign Their Letters of Intent

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Dozens of family members and friends gathered in the Londonderry High School Café on Monday afternoon, Nov. 24, for the annual National Letter of Intent (NLI) Signing ceremony that recognized the achievements of seven varsity student-athletes and where they would soon be headed to after graduation.

The seven athletes were: Riley Campo, who signed her NLI to play volleyball at Saint Anselm College; Alison Chambers signed to play field hockey at Saint Anselm College; Elisabeth Kearney will be playing softball at Stonehill College; Annabelle Melia is signing her NLI to play Lacrosse at St. Michael's College; Jaylen Stott will be playing baseball at Saint Anselm College; Samantha Sullivan signed her NLI to play basketball at Bryant University; and Khoi Totten will be playing soccer at Saint Anselm College next year.

Athletic Director Jimmy Lauzon spoke at the brief ceremony, saying "These seven talented and dedicated athletes have spent many hours over the years to improve their athletic skills to be able to earn athletic scholarships. Not only are they being rewarded for their athletic ability today, but also their academic success. They are being rewarded the opportunity to get an education at high quality academic institutions because of their dedication in the classroom as well as on the field."

He added, "These student-athletes have left a lasting impact here, they are leaders to their teammates and peers, they have shown the ability to persevere through the ups and downs of their sport as they've battled through injuries, tough losses, and been held to a high standard by their coaches."

Lauzon also took a moment to thank the guidance department for all their hard work helping all our students navigate the college and NCAA eligibility and application process. The administration and staff at LHS for preparing students to be successful on the path they choose.

He thanked coaches for helping to provide them athletic and educational experiences.

He added, "It's extremely important that we take a moment to thank their parents - congratulations to you as well today. In a lot of ways, this is reward for all the hours you've spent driving them to their games, tournaments, showcases, and all the hours you've spent watching them train and play. I am sure you've enjoyed a lot of it, but it's a selfless act to put your child's dreams in front of your own."

After the ceremony,

those attending congratulated the athletes and posed for photos.
