Hood Sixth-Graders Benefit From Extended Learning Opportunities

HUNTER MCGEE
NUTFIELD NEWS

Launched at the start of the school year, an Extended Learning Opportunities program has yielded excellent results for sixth grade students at Gilbert H. Hood Middle School, according to school officials.

The program includes extended learning time in the areas of math, reading, science and social studies, said math teacher Russ Manchester, who gave a presentation on ELOs at the School Board's May 23 meeting.

"It seems to have worked out very well for us this year; students are participating, things are going great, students seem to love it," said Manchester, a leader in the ELO program.

He added, "It's kind of a relaxed atmosphere for teachers and students, everybody gets to work together. It's different, but there's a lot of learning taking place"

Principal Austin Garofalo, who introduced Manchester before the presentation began, said Manchester is a dedicated math teacher, with 15 years of teaching experience in the school district. In addition, Manchester is also adviser to the National Junior Honor Society.

During the presentation, Manchester said students receive effort and conduct scores on their report cards, but no traditional grades are given for the extended learning opportunities.

In the program, teachers use data to match the students' needs with the appropriate learning opportunities.

"We reteach and reteach the content skills," he said, adding that students are given ample exposure to content and project-based STEM learning. "It goes beyond what we dealt with in the traditional classroom meeting time."

Every student was placed in either a language arts or math ELO at some

Derry Rotary Offers Gift to Police For Finding Lost Community Members

HUNTER MCGEE
NUTFIELD NEWS

Thanks to the Derry Rotary Club, the Derry Police Department could soon be receiving special devices for locating community members who go missing.

The Rotary Club recently purchased 10 of the Personal Locating Units, or PLU's, at $399.99 each for a total of $3,999, according to officials.

"The Derry Rotary has generously purchased 10 PLU's to donate to the department to further our program goals," Town Administrator David Caron wrote in a recent staff report.

At press time, councilors were scheduled to consider accepting the 10 PLUs at their Tuesday, June 6, meeting.

Caron wrote that the Derry Police Department requires that a personal locating unit be worn by "the community member who may be at risk of wandering or becoming lost."

Caron went on to write that the PLUs can be purchased from the company, SafeyNet Tracking System, individually for approximately $500 each.

One of the goals of the program, as developed by police, is to provide community members with a PLU at no cost.

Under the Town Charter, the Town Council can accept gifts from private sources that become available during the fiscal year, according to the staff report.

"It is anticipated that any future search efforts for a person wearing one of the PLUs will be substantially reduced in time and scope, and will result in a substantial savings of manpower," Caron wrote.

Other items on the agenda include a proposal for the town to apply for the purchase of 14 bullet proof vests under the Bullet Proof Partnership Program.

Police were recently notified by the Bureau of Justice Assistance that the Derry Police Department is eligible to receive an award under the 2017 Bullet Proof Partnership Program.

The federal bulletproof vest program was enacted in 1998 by the Bureau of Justice Administration to allocate certain funding for police departments throughout the nation.

The funding assists communities with populations of less than 100,000 people and offers up to 50 percent of the replacement cost of

Veterans Honored at Annual Rotary Barbecue

NUTFIELD NEWS

The Boys and Girls Club of Greater Derry in East Derry was filled to capacity with veterans and their family members on Thursday, June 2. The annual barbecue, honoring those who served, was a combined effort of the Derry Village Rotary Club and the Derry Rotary Club, which gave veterans and their guests a chance to stand down, remember, and accept the thanks of their community.

The walkway at the Boys and Girls

Club was lined with the flag these men and women fought under. On one side of the walk, Rotarians staffed a beer tent, while on the other, club members grilled steak tips and shrimp.

The vets and their guests feasted on grilled meats, potato and macaroni salad, and other sides, while a red, white and blue cake waited to be cut. More flags and fresh flowers adorned each table

Rotary members had expected "close to 300" vets and guests, but with more than that showing up, the grillers

State House Fundraiser Benefits the Derry Humane Society

KATHERINE PRUDHOMME O'BRIEN
NUTFIELD NEWS

The Greater Derry Humane Society (GDHS) was chosen as this year's beneficiary at Representative John Burt's Hot Dog Day fundraiser, held on the State House lawn on Thursday, June 1.

According to Paula Dunlavy of the GDHS, it was one of the most successful fundraisers the organization has ever had, raising approximately $4,000.

The Greater Derry Humane Society has been caring for animals in our community since the 70's, but does not currently have a building of its own or any paid staff. It consists of a network of dedicated volunteers, many of whom open their own homes to animals in need and provide foster care until the animals find their forever home.

Local animals are brought to GDHS volunteers in several different ways. Sometimes, loving owners can no longer care for them and find comfort in knowing that their pets will have a better home environment in foster care. They assist local animal control officers, who bring unclaimed dogs from as far away as the southern United States. Dogs are more likely to be adopted in New England than they are in southern states.

Representative Burt said he was very impressed with the GDHS, and explained that he chose them as the beneficiary because he was "in awe of how they operate. They are a true grassroots organization. All of the volunteers want to help the animals, and [they] do it for the love of the animals." The Goffstown Republican has been hosting this event every June since 2011, raising nearly $26,000 for local groups that help animals throughout New Hampshire.

The Hot Dog Day fundraiser began as a protest against the law requiring permits to have campfires on private property. Burt argues that the law should be repealed, and says that most people don't get permits because they don't realize they are required by law.

In a speech during the protest, he promised representatives who cast votes to repeal the law a picnic on the state house lawn, where he would cook hot dogs for anyone who supported his efforts. He was soon informed that such an offer, despite it being small, could be considered bribery to vote a certain way and was strictly prohibited. Not wanting to be associated with anything unethical, Burt immediately offered a hot dog to all representatives, simply as a friendly gesture, rather than in connection to the their votes on the bill.

Burt was then faced with a different kind of bill: one for hundreds of hot dogs. He realized that he had to do some fundraising, since he could not afford so much food by himself. However, as a politician, he is also prohibited from fundraising for his own personal needs. Fundraising for other causes is acceptable, though, and raising funds for cats and dogs seemed like a natural fit for this event. If there is one thing that people on all ends of the political spectrum can agree on, it's that puppies, kittens, dogs, and cats are adorable.

Soon, dozens of representatives were offering to bring side dishes and paper plates, and private companies were donating hot dogs. On the day of the event, attendees happily gave donations to not only cover the cost of the cookout, but to support New Hampshire organizations caring for animals in need as well. The Greater Derry Humane Society is always looking for new foster homes, donations of food, and other services. If you would like to get involved, visit them online at www.derryhumanesociety.com, or call (603) 434-1512.

Amanda Weishaar Named VFW's Teacher of the Year

AMANDA LEMIRE
NUTFIELD NEWS SUBMISSION

Marketing teacher Amanda Weishaar was recently awarded the 2016-2017 Teacher of the Year Award by the VFW of Derry, Post 1617. She was also named Teacher of the Year by New Hampshire District 7.

Weishaar was nominated for these awards by Pinkerton Academy's Dean of Faculty, Bev Lannan, for her innovative methods of teaching within Pinkerton's marketing program. During her Marketing One and Marketing Two classes, Weishaar holds her students to high standards while still allowing them the freedom to choose the topics and types of projects they are interested in. Her application of real-world situations to her curriculum allows her students to gain experience campaigning and having responsibilities that they have in their careers one day.

Not only are Weishaar's teaching styles useful for her students' advancements, but for her own achievements as well. She loves her career and believes her passion is a huge part of why she received the Teacher of the Year Award. "I have always had a strong passion for marketing and have always believed in quality education. Being able to teach about marketing through various campaigns and real-world projects is so much fun for me."

Weishaar also believes that the approach she takes to teaching compels students to put the focus of grades aside concentrate instead on their responsibility to complete tasks to the best of their abilities. She said, "Too often, students think that the only thing colleges care about are grades, sports, and other clubs. However, they don't realize that in the real world, companies actually praise corporate responsibility."

It is because of this passion, encouragement, and practical teaching techniques that Weishaar received recognition at the local and state levels.

Pinkerton Academy's Wooden Bat Project in Full Swing

NOELLE TARDIFF
NUTFIELD NEWS

Steve Sackmann, Pinkerton Academy's woodworking and manufacturing teacher, and Astro varsity baseball coach Stephen Campo recently donated several wooden, "Pinkerton made" baseball bats to the Hampstead Association of Softball and Baseball.

Sackmann, looking for a way to connect Pinkerton's wood shop program to the community at large, developed the idea for his woodworking students to create wooden baseball bats for the Hampstead Cal Ripken League baseball players, ages 11 to 15. It introduces a peer-to-peer perspective to the class, as they are providing a product that is hand-made by students, for students.

"For me, it is a huge component of teaching my students to engage in teamwork and collaboration. The actual construction of these bats is very precise, and it teaches my students about tolerances and measurement. It has all the components of the perfect lesson," Sackmann said about the project.

For the past 30 years, wooden bats have been replaced by aluminum and composite metal bats at the youth, high school, and collegiate levels. Players today do not experience the feeling of a wooden bat making contact with a ball or the sound of the bat when a ball is struck. However, with the help of Sackmann and his students, Hampstead players will now have the opportunity to give these old school bats a try. Hampstead baseball is part of the Quintown League, and has enjoyed a rich tradition over many years, offering its players spring league baseball, summer tournament teams, the Cooperstown Dreams Park team, fall baseball, and winter clinics.

Though this project was part of a pilot program this year, Sackmann explained that he plans to perfect it and put it into full swing next fall with his advanced students. He hopes to make it an annual opportunity for any sports league interested in working with Pinkerton Academy.

Pinkerton Academy's woodworking program is open to project proposals from the community. If you are interested in proposing a project, you may reach out to Sackmann himself or to Jennifer Haskins, Pinkerton's CTE director.

point this year, either in an enrichment class or a skills type class, Manchester said.

In addition, every student had either a science or social studies ELO and almost every student had both of them a one point during the year, he said.

Only three students didn't have a science ELO and only five didn't receive a social studies ELO for various reasons.

During the program, students participated in various exercises including workshops, informational clubs, read aloud events, he said.

The math work focused primarily on the sixth grade common core standards and included work on fractional and decimal operations. There was also some enrichment with some early integer and equation work to prepare students for seventh grade math.

The social studies work included such projects as CNN for Kids. In this project, students discussed current events, which included some writing and some discussion about what's going on in the world.

And with science, students were given assignments that they needed to collaborate on, along with plan, create, test and improve their projects.

Students who were at the meeting then discussed how the program helped them improve their skills in the various subjects, while also improving their grades.

At the end of the presentation, some slides were shown on the program including a science project on a balloon car and various art projects. And a short video was shown on some of the various projects.

Graduation Wishes

We all have defining moments in our lives that help shape our future as well as our memories. Some happen by chance, but others are an eagerly anticipated part of life. Graduation from high school, graduation from college, first apartment, first real job, marriage, and child birth, to name a few. Pinkerton Academy holds its graduation on June 12, and Londonderry High School's ceremonies are on June 9, sending a multitude of students into the next phase of their lives.

Graduation is an ending, no question, but its other name, commencement, perhaps says it better to look at it as a remarkable beginning, the next chapter. From a parent's perspective, graduation is an in-your-face reminder of the passage of time. The trusting eyes of a newborn and the small hand held on the first day of school now belong to a young adult, likely taller than his or her parents, soon to wear a cap and gown and walk confidently across the Verizon Arena stage to accept a high school diploma.

We rarely see ourselves getting older until something momentous happens; there's no denying that hearing the name of your child announced as a member of the graduating class is one such occasion. For the graduates themselves, this moment marks the end of "childhood." While they may never have it so good again, the graduates are now officially on the path to building lives of their own, whether the next step involves college, work, travel, or military service. They're responsible for their own decisions and for what the rest of their life becomes.

On a small scale, that may mean preparing their own meals and getting somewhere on time. But on the grand scale, it translates to setting goals and developing a path to achieve them, then stepping out onto that path.

It's exciting – and it's serious business. The life we make for ourselves is the only one we'll have. For both parents and students, graduation is a rite of passage. That's what all the robes and decorations and parties signify. It marks a transition again for both student and parent to the rest of life. Not much is more exciting or scary than that.

Our advice to the graduates? Consider where you want to go, literally and metaphorically, as well as where you've been. Think of what has brought you to this wonderful occasion. Be safe. Be bold. Mistakes are inevitable. But don't be afraid to take that leap into your dreams.

Congratulations to both parents and students, and the best of wishes for what lies ahead.

Derry Garden Club Holds Annual Plant Sale

The Derry Garden Club set up hundreds of plants that had been thinned out from area gardens for their annual Plant Sale held on Broadway in front of the Masonic Temple on Saturday. Everything from annuals to cactuses was on sale with proceeds from the sale helping the club and the many things they do for the community. The club will be accepting pots to be recycled for next year's sale at the Marion Gerrish Community Center, 39 W. Broadway, on June 17 from 10 a.m. until 12 p.m. All pots must be 4 inches or larger. The fiscal year 2017 award may be used for National Institute of Justice compliant armored vests, with funds available for use until August 31, 2019, according to police.

"Based on our history and current needs, we have projected that we will need to purchase fourteen bullet-proof vests during this time frame," Capt. George Feole wrote in a recent staff report.

Feole went on to write that police anticipate that the Bureau of Justice assistance will award the police department $5,600, or half of the cost of the estimated 14 bul-leproof vests. Following the purchase of the vests, the BJA would then reimburse the police department for up to 50% of each vest after the purchase has been made, Feole wrote.

Local Historian Makes Final Talk

He spoke to fifth grade students from Chester Academy about the many marvels in the historic site, including brothers Stephen and Abel Webster who engraved many of the head stones. Firefighters Fight Muscular Dystrophy with Boot Drive

K. PRUDHOMME O'BRIEN
NUTFIELD NEWS

On Friday, June 9, at 2 p.m., this year's annual Fill the Boot fundraising campaign is being hosted by members of the Derry

Muscular Dystrophy will kick off in Derry at the Derry Fire Central Station. The Fill the Boot fundraising campaign is being hosted by members of the Derry Firefighters L4392 and Professional Firefighters of New Hampshire, along with the Muscular Dystrophy Association (MDA).

Members of the Professional Fire Fighters Association Local will greet motorists on the street, shoppers, and others all over New Hampshire throughout the summer, collecting donations to support MDA's mission of funding research to accelerate treatments and cures, as well as caring and empowering kids and adults from day one to live their fullest lives.

Muscular Dystrophy (MS) is a chronic condition, usually inherited, for which there is currently no cure. Its victims endure inhibited and diminished muscle strength, often starting in childhood or the teen years. While many people with MS can push through their symptoms and live what appear to be normal lives, others face a life of reduced physical ability and a diminished lifespan.

East Derry Memorial Elementary School fourth-grader David Shortlidge, age nine, served as the MDA New Hampshire State Goodwill Ambassador for two years. When David was diagnosed with Duchenne Muscular Dystrophy at age three, it was a depressing few days for his parents, Joel and Lisa Shortlidge. However, the sadness lasted only a few days, as they chose not to waste any more time feeling sorry for themselves. They chose to focus instead on helping David live his best life.

Coming from generations of firefighters dating back as far as 1875, David dreams of becoming a firefighter one day. Unfortunately, unless a cure is discovered very soon, his father Joel says that that outcome is not realistic.

It's understandable that David admires firefighter so much, as local off-duty and retired firefighters have always been generous to the Shortlidge family. They recently built a new ramp leading to their front door, making it easier for David to walk into the house. In the coming years, he will need to use a wheelchair more often.

Thanks to efforts like the Fill the Boot campaign, David will be able to enjoy his summer with kids just like him, free of charge, at the MDA's Summer Camp at Agassiz Village in Maine. The camp allows children with MS to enjoy the same summer fun that other kids do, including taking rides on a specially designed pontoon boat which allows wheelchairs to roll easily onto the boat from a dock.

The MDA uses their collective strength not only to fund research on this disease, but also to care for individuals from day one and empower their families with services and support. Firefighters across America participate in Fill the Boot events, and have raised more than $24,000,000 in the past year alone.

So, when you see firefighters working hard this summer to promote the Fill the Boot campaign, remember the kids like David in our own community who will benefit from the generosity of the Muscular Dystrophy Association and local firefighters.

Town Moving Forward With Plans to Demolish Vacant House

HUNTER MCGEE
NUTFIELD NEWS

After not hearing from the property owner, town officials are moving forward with plans to demolish a vacant and dilapidated house at 148 Goodhue Road.

Town Administrator David Caron gave an update recently on where the town stands in the process.

"The Town has not received a reply from the property owner and therefore has continued the legal process to enforce compliance or demolish the structure," Caron said.

Last month, Councilors addressed the house that code enforcement officials have said represents a safety hazard, according to officials.

Council members approved a plan at their May 2 meeting, giving the owner of the property until May 12 to remove the structure and bring the property into compliance.

The original owner of the property is Ferdinand Dlugosz III, according to officials and property records.

But it is somewhat unclear as to whom currently owns the property, according to officials.

Since the house wasn't removed within the designated time frame, the town will intervene to bring the property into compliance and the house will be demolished and removed. A lien will also be placed against the property for any costs and attorney's fees incurred, according to officials.

Administrators learned of the house through a complaint filed in November after the property became abandoned, Assistant Building Inspector Robert Wentworth said.

The complaint was made regarding the condition of the structure and because of garbage being dumped on the site, Wentworth said.

He went on to say that the house is in a serious state of failure and has become an eyesore and a public safety hazard. Wentworth said a portion of the rear wall has fallen to ground and the adjoining wall is soon to follow, which will leave the roof system unsupported. In addition to the floor, the interior ceiling systems have collapsed into the crawl-space, making the situation worse, he said.

Officials have sent emails and tried calling the mortgage holder's agent, but have received little or no response, Wentworth said.

Wentworth appeared at the meeting with Code Enforcement Director Robert Mackey, who said the building has been identified by the Property Maintenance Committee in need of removal.

He added that attempts at notifying or getting a response have been ignored.

And the property was found to have asbestos, according to officials.

Any asbestos in the building would have to be abated before the building is taken down, Mackey said.

To demolish and remove the house would cost approximately $8,000, according to an informal demolition estimate.

All costs related to securing the property will be placed in a real estate lien against the property, according to officials.

In the vote on the house last month, Councilor Brian Chirichiello said he was voting against the plan since it was unclear who currently owns the property.

"I think that we don't know who the true owner is right now," Chirichiello said. "We need to do due diligence a little bit better I believe to find that owner and have him do it, so I'm voting 'No.'"

Fundraising Event Slated For Pinkerton on Sunday, June 11

CHRIS PANTAZIS
NUTFIELD NEWS

The first Jen's "Just Be You" Memorial 5K Run/Walk will be held this coming Sunday, June 11 at 9 a.m. at Pinkerton Academy. And proceeds from that event will go toward scholarships for qualified Pinkerton students.

The Jen's "Just Be You" Memorial was established in memory of 2011 Pinkerton graduate and Chester resident Jennifer Janiak, who passed away suddenly in 2015 at the age of 21 from a pulmonary embolism. She lived in Chester with her parents Tom and Janet and her brothers Joe and T.J.

"Jen had a love of reading and writing and had just achieved a double major in english and journalism from Boston University," said mom Janet. "She had many interests and passions, always followed her dreams, and was an inspiration to 'Just Be You.'"

The mission of the Jen's "Just Be You" organization is to help others who have similar dreams and passions by awarding an annual scholarship in Jennifer's honor to a Pinkerton graduate going on to pursue a degree in english or journalism. Two deserving Pinkerton Academy seniors will be awarded scholarships at the first 5K on June 11.

The forthcoming 5K Run/Walk is expected to include many walkers and strollers as well as runners. The course will run from the Pinkerton track across the street to the main segment of the campus and throughout the academy's campus. The majority of the course is on pavement, so strollers are welcome.

The race will be timed by Lancer Timing using chip technology. Folks interested in participating may register for the 5K through the events page at the website <http://jen-sjustbeyou.org> or directly at the registration site at <https://www.runreg.com/jens-just-be-you-memorial-fund-5k>. Registrations will also be accepted on the day of the race beginning at 8 a.m.

There will be prizes given out to the top male, female, youth and Pinkerton Academy Class of 2011 finishers. A disc jockey will be providing entertainment, and T-shirts as well as water and snacks will be available. Donations of gently-used or new children's books will also be collected at the event. The cost of race registration is $30.

"The Jen's "Just Be You" Memorial would love support for our cause and we hope for a wonderful day to celebrate Jen and help carry on the charitable and loving spirit that she had," said Mrs. Janiak.

Drag Racer Talks with PA Students About Perseverance

On Thursday, June 1, Drag Strip Racer Tony Schumacher addressed Pinkerton Academy Career Technical Education (CTE) students. Schumacher gave demonstrations behind the automotive classroom, and gave a presentation on being a champion. The event was open to all students, with mechanical, engineering, architecture, science and math students being most represented. Schumacher tours the nation with his race sponsor, the U.S. Army, to show students what a career in their branch of the armed forces can offer.

Lady Astro Lax Crew Sees Hopes For a Title Repeat Evaporate

CHRIS PANTAZIS
NUTFIELD NEWS

After narrowly edging the arch-rival Londonderry High Lady Lancers in Division I quarterfinal-round tournament play in enemy territory during the middle of last week, the defending state champion Pinkerton Academy Lady Astros had their hopes for a title repeat fall away in the semifinals.

The fifth-seeded Astro crew wound up being one goal better than the fourth-ranked Londonderry Lancers in a 7-6 decision in the quarters at LHS on Wednesday, May 31. But they fell to the top-seeded Bedford High Bulldogs in the semis at Exeter High School on Saturday, June 3 as their hopes of repeating as D-I champs withered on the vine.

Anybody who enjoys watching high-quality girls' lacrosse had themselves one heck of a time at any one of the three meetings between the Pinkerton and Londonderry High teams this spring.

The Pinkerton girls won on April 28 with a score of 6-5, but the Lady Lancers rebounded in the rematch on May 18 with a 11-7 win.

The rivals then met up in the quarterfinal tournament battle in Londonderry on the final day of May on Wednesday. The Lady Astros squeaked out a 7-6 decision in that contest to continue forward in their defense of their state crown.

The academy crew led 5-2 after one half and then drove its advantage up to 7-2 in the opening minutes of the second period. But fourth-ranked Londonderry came bounding back to score the final four goals of the match, falling just short in dropping the one-goal decision.

The hosts drove out to a 2-0 lead during the first, tightly-played nine minutes, with Erika Tsatsilas scoring off a free position with 18:07 to go and Sarah Duarte managing the same feat less than two minutes later.

But then the Lady Astros turned the tide entirely, scoring five consecutive goals before the half ended.

Those goals were potted by Kiley Davis, Dani Tompkins, Meghan Michaud, Tompkins again, and then finally Davis a second time with just 19.6 seconds showing on the game clock.

The Pinkerton advantage

bulged to 7-2 during the opening three minutes of the second half thanks to the scoring efforts of Tompkins and then Davis.

Londonderry got those two markers back during the next seven minutes to slice their deficit down to three goals with 16:37 remaining, with Camille Lamont getting the first of those and Duarte the second, both off of free shots.

LHS goalie Kaitlyn Marchant then placed her team on her back as Pinkerton attempted to pad its lead again. Marchant made five saves in a row - with the Lady Astros then hitting the crossbar - during a key span of eight minutes. And the Lady Lancers fed off of their keeper's performance by climbing closer to the goal of victory on goals by Samantha LeClair with 3:11 to go and then Kiersten Hoglund with 1:26 remaining on the game clock.

But Pinkerton got the ball on the next face-off when an infraction was called on LHS, and the defending champions were able to run off the remaining time and win 7-6.

"The pivotal factor was the team believed we could come out on top," said PA coach Rob Daziel. "Even down 2-0 they still played with confidence. We also executed our defensive game plan very well. The girls knew we just needed everybody to work together and focus on what we do well, which they did."

The Astros finished the match with a 16-9 advantage in shots on net, with LHS keeper Marchant making nine saves her big contribution to her side's effort.

"We just executed very well for the majority of the game today versus the last match-up," added Daziel.

But the Astros' continuing hopes of remaining atop the Division I mountain faded away Saturday night on Eustis Field at Exeter High's Bill Ball Stadium, despite the fact that the Pinkerton crew exhibited all the fight one would expect from it in a 14-11 defeat.

As was the case with the previous match, Pinkerton fell behind early and then made an push to battle back and eventually take a lead.

Bedford took a 3-0 lead in the first six minutes of play, but the Astros responded with five of the next six goals for a 5-4 lead with 8:52 remaining in the first half.

Lauren Lisauskas made it a 3-1 contest with 17:17 to go in the half after being set up for the tally by Emily Sharretts.

Five minutes later Madison Daziel scored to make it a 3-2 contest, but Bedford got that tally back just 21 seconds later to make it a 4-2 game.

Consecutive goals from Avery Drouin, Daziel, and Tompkins during the next three minutes got Pinkerton its one and only lead of the evening with 8:52 to go in the half.

During that remaining span of half Bedford bagged two unanswered goals to carry a 6-5 lead to halftime. And the Lady Bulldogs had also benefited greatly from the fine play of their senior keeper Emily Burton, who made six big saves during the first 25 minutes.

Bedford then started the second half in the manner in which it began the match, by scoring three straight goals in claiming a 9-5 lead. But

White-Hot Astro Spikers Tally the Top Spot in Division I

CHRIS PANTAZIS
NUTFIELD NEWS

The 2017 season has been downright exceptional for the Pinkerton Academy boys' volleyball squad. And the ultimate goal for coach Colin Walker and his talented Astros is unquestionably a state championship as the state tournament forges forward this week.

Coach Walker's warriors completed their regular season last Tuesday, May 30, by defeating the visiting Souhegan High Sabers by a 3-0 count in Derry. That win was the academy team's 11th consecutive success, and it enabled the locals to finish up at 17-1 with the top seed in the state tourney.

Pinkerton claimed its ninth shutout of the campaign that evening, dealing the visiting Sabers game defeats of 25-13, 25-9, and 25-15 in sending the opponent home to Amherst on a downer.

Cobi Moore tallied 16 service points and six service aces, Brian Castle bagged 10 assists, Ty Behsman was good for seven kills, and Sean Galusha contributed five kills and one block.

By notching the top seed in the division, Pinkerton received a bye in the first round and was left waiting for the winner of the preliminary-round tourney match between eighth-ranked Mascenic of New Ipswich and John Stark Regional of Weare. The subsequent quarterfinal-round match between PA and that victor was slated for this Tuesday, June 6, in Derry, after Nutfield News press time.

Coach Walker's contingent began its current season by winning its first six matches before suffering its one and only loss to Massachusetts opponent Andover on April 21.

The Astros went 1-1 against Bay State teams this spring and a perfect 15-0 in New Hampshire, reeling off that exceptional 11-0 run to end the regular season.

The Timberlane Regional Owls from Plaistow also finished up with a 17-1 record, but they got the second seed in the tourney because their lone loss came to the Pinkerton contingent in the locals' Hackler Gymnasium back on May 24.

Unified Track and Field Competes at State Meet

CHRIS PANTAZIS
NUTFIELD NEWS

Pinkerton Academy's unified outdoor track and field squad took on the best unified contingents in New Hampshire at the state unified championship meet at Alvirne High School in Hudson last Tuesday, May 30. And the locals put forth a very solid overall performance with some strong individual and relay efforts.

Coach Mike White's Astros finished a highly-respectable seventh out of the 11 teams gathered on the Alvirne track that afternoon. The Londonderry High unified juggernaut won the state title for a jaw-dropping fifth consecutive time.

New Hampshire high school unified sports combine special needs students with their typical peers under the auspices of the New Hampshire Interscholastic Athletic Association (NHIAA), and Pinkerton teams have performed well in unified sports during the high school fall, winter, and spring seasons since the NHIAA began the program some years ago.

This time around, the academy's spring track and field crew received its top performances from Zach Vigroux in the boys' partnered long jump (second place) and the boys' partnered 200-meter dash (third place), and from Bithoy Abdelmalek in the boys' partnered shot put (third place).

Other point-producing, top-six finishes were delivered by Trinity Roberts in the girls' 200 dash (fifth), Cassie Pappas right behind Roberts in that race in sixth, Abdelmalek in the boys' partnered long jump (fifth), and Vigroux in the boys' partnered shot (sixth).

Pinkerton also bagged sixth place finishes in the 4x100 and the 4x200 relays. The 4x100 quartet included skilled runners Myles Laird, Caitlin Jordan, Abdelmalek, and Kirsten Monteforte, while the talented 4x200 crew consisted of Dan Sullivan, Pappas, Vigroux, and Reagan Kolinski.

PA Baseball Squad Wins by Shutout and Falls by Shutout

CHRIS PANTAZIS
NUTFIELD NEWS

The 2017 Pinkerton Academy baseball squad's hopes for a state championship fell by the wayside with a slim, quarterfinal-round shutout loss to the Spaulding High Red Raiders in Rochester last weekend.

The Astros had advanced to the quarters with a 9-0 hammering of the visiting Alvirne High Broncos from Hudson in first-round play two days before.

Coach Steve Campo's fifth-ranked Astros had no trouble vanquishing the Bronco bunch in Derry on Thursday, June 1, exploding for six runs in the third inning and then plating three more in the sixth.

The hosts bashed out some 13 hits in the success, with pitchers Rich Marique and Derek Hiscox holding the frustrated Alvirne side to just three safeties.

Connor Jenkins smacked out three hits including two doubles and drove in two runs in helping to pace the PA offense. Mike Jellison also knocked three hits and drove in a pair of runs, and one of his hits was a triple. And winning pitcher Marique contributed two hits and two RBI to his cause.

Marique went six innings on the hill, allowing two hits and six walks while striking out seven.

Then on Saturday, the academy crew made the fairly lengthy bus trip out to Rochester to take on a simmering Spaulding squad which had won seven of its previous games.

And the hosts squeaked out a 2-0 victory over Pinkerton that day, plating both of those runs in the latter half of inning number one.

Astro pitcher David Unkles pitched quite a good game overall, throwing all six innings in which his team took the field and holding the Red Raiders to just five hits while striking out eight and walking just two. But that bottom of the first wound up stinging.

Unkles' offense couldn't get churning in this big contest, and it only produced four total hits in losing a shutout. Jenkins smacked two of those safeties, bagging a double with one of those shots.

Girls Lax

the Lady Astros wouldn't let the top seed run away with the match, getting to within two goals of their opponent at 12-10 and 13-11 before the Lady Bulldogs capped off the win to end Pinkerton's season.

The academy side got second half goals from Meghan Michaud (2), Drouin (2), Lisauskas, and Davis. And earning a gold star and the "Super Warrior" tag for both Pinkerton tourney contests was senior star Drouin, who played both games extremely valiantly despite obviously battling a painful hip flexor injury.

Veteran standout Megan Jarvis and the Pinkerton girls' lax squad got past Londonderry in the D-I tourney but couldn't best Bedford.

MOVING ON UP

Graduating Pinkerton Academy seniors and standout cheerleaders Gemma Schena (left) and Kendra Hicks have both decided that their academic and cheerleading futures lie at Southern New Hampshire University, where they'll continue working with coach Michelle McCarty. The two Lady Astros signed their letters of intent to attend SNHU in a ceremony at PA late last week.

Pinkerton Softball Wins But Then Falls in D-I Tournament

CHRIS PANTAZIS
NUTFIELD NEWS

A pleasing victory over Merrimack followed by a pretty frustrating loss to Spaulding of Rochester last week left the Pinkerton Academy softball squad a bit short of its goal of a 2017 Division I state championship.

The fifth-seeded Lady Astros bested number 12 Merrimack by a 7-4 tally in preliminary-round play in Derry last Wednesday, May 31. But then on Saturday, June 3, coach Kristen Abbott's Pinkerton crew saw a solid lead evaporate late in a tough, 6-4 loss to the host and fourth-ranked Spaulding High Lady Red Raiders in Rochester in quarterfinal-round play.

In the defeat of Merrimack during the middle of last week, Pinkerton rebounded from an early deficit to snare the solid victory.

The Lady Tomahawks went up 1-0 in the top of the first inning, with the Lady Astros plating the tying run in the latter half of the second.

Pinkerton notched another run in the bottom of the fourth to snag a 2-1 lead, but Merrimack scored twice in the top of the fifth in snaring a 3-2 advantage. But the Lady Astros knotted the score at 3-3 in the bottom of the fifth before scoring four more times in the latter half of the sixth in claiming a 7-3 lead.

The visiting Lady Tomahawks got one of those runs back in the top of the seventh, but 7-4 was where the final score wound up.

The teams combined for 21 total hits, with Pinkerton smacking 11 of those. Hannah Frazier drilled three of them and Alyssa DiMauro and Carrie St. Peter each lashed out two. DiMauro and St. Peter each drove in one run, and St. Peter struck out some 14 batters in tallying the pitching victory.

But the academy squad saw its season end three days later over in Rochester, despite the fact that the locals grasped a 4-0 advantage heading into the bottom half of the fifth inning.

The host Lady Red Raiders scored twice in the bottom of the fifth and then four more times in the latter half of the sixth to get to what would wind up being the 6-4 final score.

The Lady Astros had scored once in the top of the first and then three more times in the top of the fifth in bagging the aforementioned 4-0 lead.

Pinkerton whacked out a total of eight hits, with Caitlin Hogan collecting three of those and DiMauro driving in two runs for her crew.

Astro Laxmen Thump Souhegan, Advance to D-I Semifinals

CHRIS PANTAZIS
NUTFIELD NEWS

Just about anyone working under the solid assumption that the Pinkerton Academy and Bishop Guertin High School boys' lacrosse teams will meet in the Division I championship match for the fifth consecutive year and the sixth time since 2011 this spring began this week holding firmly to that expectation.

The top-seeded Astros forged ahead to the division's tournament semifinals with an 11-4 throttling of the eighth-ranked Souhegan High Sabers from Amerst in Derry last Saturday, June 3. And that same day the second-ranked BG Cardinals from Nashua took care of business against the number seven Hanover High Marauders to the tune of an 18-6 blowout in quarterfinal play.

As a result of those decisions, PA and Guertin stepped into this week just one win away from yet another D-I title game meeting.

In the quarterfinal-round smacking of Souhegan, longtime PA coach Brian O'Reilly saw his charges bust a 2-2 tie by potting four unanswered goals in the second period en route to a 6-2 lead at halftime.

The hosts then outscored their guests by a 5-2 tally during the second half on the way to the lopsided success.

Sophomore standout Ryan Auger notched eight points for the winning side, scoring five times and assisting on three other goals. His teammate Chad Teresky contributed two goals and three helpers, Tom Sweeney scored twice, Chris Valentine had a goal and an assist, Mason Drouin scored once, and Owen McCormack doled out one assist. Goalie Alex Sturgess made five saves his contribution to the Astros' win.

That victory pushed the locals forward to a semifinal-round battle with the fourth-ranked Bedford High Bulldogs in Derry this Wednesday, June 6, which was after Nutfield News press time.

Sophomore star Ryan Auger had a hand in eight of his PA team's 11 goals in their recent tourney win.

Third Annual Run For Recovery Set

HUNTER MCGEE
NUTFIELD NEWS

Intended to help the Friendship Center and raise awareness for the problem of substance misuse, the third annual Run For Recovery is scheduled for June 24.

The run is set to begin at 9 a.m. from Pinkerton Academy.

With a goal of raising $10,000, organizers are hoping for 500 participants.

This year's the event is being named for Parkland Medical Center, which has pledged a Diamond level sponsorship, according organizers.

Substance misuse is a community problem, said organizer Joshua Bourdon.

"This disease does not discriminate," said Bourdon, also chairman of the Town Council and a recovering alcoholic.

"This disease welcomes all and it's destroying families across the country," Bourdon said.

He said he's experienced firsthand the effects of substance misuse. Before seeking help from the Friendship Center, Bourdon said he was abusing alcohol and was "living a dangerous life."

Bourdon credited the Friendship Center staff members for helping him along the path to recovery.

"They saved my life; I wouldn't be here if it wasn't for them," he said. "I wouldn't be doing the things I'm doing."

Bourdon, who has been in recovery from alcoholism approximately seven years, said he is speaking out publicly to help others who are struggling with addiction. He is also hoping to help increase support for the Run For Recovery.

Through the help of the center, he said he was able to turn his life around.

He added, "with the help of the Derry Friendship Center, I can look in the mirror and smile knowing that I am leading a life of integrity."

Many people in the Derry area have been directly affected or know of others whose lives have been hurt by alcohol or drugs, according to organizers.

"What we are trying to do across New Hampshire, and really across the country, is get the word out about these successful recovery organizations and really end the stigma around those who are seeking recovery," Bourdon said.

Registration is scheduled to begin at 8 a.m. on race day.

A shotgun start is set for at 9 a.m. at Pinkerton, with participants scheduled to run through areas of Derry, Bourdon said.

DJ Hayley will be providing entertainment this year, he said.

In addition, half a dozen or so recovery organizations from New Hampshire and Massachusetts will be setting up tables to provide information and local community leaders will be speaking on the subject, according to organizers.

Sponsors for the event include: La Caretta, Berner Digital Marketing, the Grind Rail Trail Café, The Derry Professional Firefighters Union, Semigen Inc., the Granite House, Broadway Chiropractic, Birchwood Vineyard, Shears and Gears, Bauchman's Towing, Appletree Insurance, Amphora, Derry Village Rotary Club, and the East Derry General Store.

For more than 30 years, the Friendship Center has provided confidential and alcohol and drug free environment for recovery from substance misuse, according to organizers. The center is at 6 Railroad Ave. Four more information call 603-432-9794.

Anyone interested in running, sponsoring or volunteering can contact: Tanya Tarallo Ttarallo@gmail.com, Eric Spofford ericspofford@granitehousesl.com, Patrick J Conway pjc@appletreeins.com, Joshua Bourdon jrbourdon@gmail.com
