Town Council, Looks at Possible Derry Sports Betting Locations

MAC LEATHURBY
NUTFIELD NEWS

As reported last month, the Derry Town Council is interested to stay in front of a new revenue opportunity for the town, now that sports betting is legal in the state of New Hampshire.

This past July, Governor Chris Sununu signed a bill into law, legalizing and regulating sports betting in the state. Although, sports betting in the town is also contingent on voter approval, but since there will be a limited amount of sports betting locations and competition for these locations, the Derry council members want to be proactive in planning for this potential opportunity.

Sports betting will be organized and regulated by the New Hampshire Lottery Commission and only 10 licenses will be granted throughout the state. Derry Town Council member, Brian Chirichiello, who is also a N.H. State Rep was the co-sponsor of this sports betting bill and he believes the distribution of funds from betting would help the state education system — which could use the money.

Chirichiello pointed out that having a sports betting retail location in Derry would likely contribute to the town's economic development — where a good sized business establishment might be developed for folks to have some food and drink, and watch sporting events while being able to place legal bets.

For Derry, it could mean bringing sports betting to an appropriate site to create a win-win for the town and sports betters — as well as provide a good match for the sports betting industry. So, last month, the Town Council tasked town officials to consider and research areas for possible locations where a sports betting area might be best located.

At their meeting on Sept. 17, Town Councilors listened to these town officials about the details that might help them best understand what town zones are best suited for the sports betting industry.

Governor's Transportation Meeting Goes Over Derry's Part in Exit 4A

IDAN VINITSKY
NUTFIELD NEWS

The Governor's Advisory Commission of Intermodal Transportation (GACIT) held a Public Hearing in Londonderry last Thursday (Sep. 12). It was the fourth out of 20 hearing that will be held around the State in September and October, in order to discuss the update to the state's Ten Year Transportation Improvement Plan of 2021-2030 and hear the public's opinions and concerns. In December, after revisions, the Ten Year Plan will go to the governor and it will be adopted into law in June, 2020.

Following a presentation by Peter Stamnas, Director of Project Development for the Department of Transportation, who spoke about the department strategies for the Ten Year Plan, such as addressing major project cost increases (one of them being Exit 4A), Nate Miller, from the Southern New Hampshire Planning Commission presented the region's projects.

Miller said that based on the revenue projections that the DOT has put together for this Ten Year Plan cycle, the SNHPC is working under a framework of about $8.5 million for projects in the region and that the commission has two goals: advocate to NHDOT that the major projects that were happening in the region, like the I-93 expansion, were competed and fully funded in the TYP and taking a hard look at the projects that were in the current TYP and whether they had the funding needed to get them to the finish line.

Miller said they have identified multiple projects that were clearly underfunded in the current TYP and that the commission is committed that the $8.5 million go for the funding of these projects, in order to bring them closer to where they should be and avoid creating future issues by putting new projects in the TYP, while current ones

Chamber Names Citizen, Business, and Nonprofit of the Year

The Greater Derry Londonderry Chamber of Commerce recently proclaimed they are proud to announce Melanie Davis as the organization's 2019 Citizen of the Year.

"The Citizen of the Year award, among the highest honors bestowed in our region, recognizes an individual in the Greater Derry Londonderry area who has contributed to the betterment of the community through volunteer service and civic leadership," said Greater Derry Londonderry Chamber of Commerce President Ashley Haseltine.

Melanie Davis often contributes to the region through behind-the-scenes work and supports numerous causes throughout the year.

The Business of the Year award, recognizes a company in the Greater Derry Londonderry area who has contributed to the betterment of the community through volunteer service and economic contributions.

This year, the award went to Scott and Julie Hayward, owners of Tupelo Music Hall, who often support non-profits in the region and focus on building relationships with other local businesses.

Tupelo Music Hall began as small venue in Londonderry before moving to the 700 seat space it occupies today.

For the first time, this year the Chamber is presenting the Nonprofit of the Year award. The award will be presented to the Community Caregivers of Greater Derry services people of all ages throughout many towns in Southern New Hampshire. They support the elderly and disabled through their Volunteer Care-Giving Program, the Loaner's Closet for Durable Medical Equipment and Project Upkeep.

The award will be presented at the Chamber's Annual Dinner to be held the evening of Thursday, Oct. 3, at Birch Wood Vineyards in Derry. The Annual Dinner is the organization's signature event and attracts more than 200 members of the local business community to network and celebrate the accomplishments of the Chamber. The theme of this year's dinner is "Roarin' into the 20s." Tickets are available for purchase at www.gdlchamber.org.

ing. All town officials are invited to attend, as well as business owners and the general public, and all are encouraged to be part of the conversation.

Beverly Donovan, Derry's Economic Development Director, says, "Sometimes we see things on social media about what people like or don't like, but that's not all that helpful – we need to hear from people in real time and this event will be a fun forum for that type of discussion ...and for folks to see what has been developing in our town."

The town has been through visionary processes over the past several decades, and many of the suggestions residents and business owners have made have been implemented.

"This past year, Town locals, staff and leadership have worked together to focus on what areas are still of interest to the taxpayers," says Donovan. "...as well as what still fits into the Master Plan, and what are the things about downtown Derry that will attract businesses and visitors to consider Derry to live, work and play."

Donovan points out, "It has been a very positive process - over recent past - focused on what Derry is already doing right, and at the same time, what do visitors view as the opportunities that we may be missing. I think businesses in Derry will find our visitors really think we have a lot of great things happening here."

Donovan is also alluding to the actions of UNH's Cooperative Extension's program - "First Impressions." The program has teamed up locals from Derry, NH and Moultonborough, NH and the two towns explored the other's downtown area to reflect upon what could be improved from an outsider's perspective.

"First Impressions" is an assessment program set up to examine a downtown area through the eyes of potential residents, visitors, and businesses. The idea of the program is to help communities learn about their opportunities and empower them to take steps to improve their downtown.

Locals from Moultonborough recently spent a day walking around downtown Derry, making notes and uploading photos, eating in local restaurants, making assessments of the things that are important from an outsider's perspective.

Donovan commented, "We sometimes get used to things and don't see them in the same light after a while. Someone new will have fresh eyes; our friends from Moultonborough did and we will discuss their thoughts at the event."

What's in store for the future of Downtown Derry? The goal is to move forward with Derry and discuss all the ways we can make the downtown area a more vibrant, and lively place. The event encourages voices from all of those who want to get involved in this event, so put this on your schedule for Monday Oct. 7.

sis on zoning areas that might be a good fit for sports betting if the voters in Derry approve this initiative.

Donovan pointed out, "There are pros and cons about where we recommend that sports betting should be permitted. We would need to have correct zoning in place at the right time though, if Derry is one of the 10 sites chosen for this."

It was pointed out by Robidoux that the Town staffing had held meetings to evaluate different location possibilities. Residential zones were ruled out as this type of zoning was deemed inappropriate for sports betting. Donovan noted that the downtown zone may not work for different reasons including parking, and in context of other area businesses types. Town Council members discussed that sports betting does not make sense for downtown Derry.

Other zones deemed as non-optimal choices were those in close proximity to historic sites like the Robert Frost Farm area; there is also property in an Industrial I zone that was acquired via a mitigation process and is now owned by the State of New Hampshire and that would not work.

Robidoux and Donovan overiewed the staff report section that recommended the General Commercial zone near Exit 3 might be a good location choice as it's also easily accessible from Route 111 - so that area might also be attractive for residents from nearby communities like Windham, Hampstead, Salem and Plaistow.

Other zones that may make sense with good location potential would include Industrial III or Industrial IV. Jim Morgan, Town Councilor said, "Ryan's Hill is dying for an anchor and I like that the zoning around the Ryan's Hill area might work."

Councilor Brian Chiri-

chiello pointed out that the State of N.H. has specific criteria to follow when choosing the 10 communities for a sports betting license.

Chirichiello said to the board, "Where we are trying to bring economic development in town, this could be a good thing for Derry and I know for fact that people from Manchester want this, people from Londonderry want this and people from Salem want this, so we should consider to stay ahead of the game – as the State wants the retail sports betting business to be located at only 10 locations across the state."

"The state is more than likely going to spread them out," he said. "And there are probably a lot of other people going after this. The town can decide if that's what they want."

The final vote about sports betting will likely come from voters at the polls next spring.

Pinkerton Headmaster Looks Forward to Leading School to the Future

MACK LEATHURBY
NUTFIELD NEWS

Headmaster Dr. Tim Powers is especially enthusiastic to be working with the faculty, staff, students and board of trustees this academic year at Pinkerton Academy.

Powers started his role as Pinkerton's permanent headmaster this past July after replacing Griffin Morse in March of 2018 as the interim headmaster.

Powers is well-prepared to move the school to the future, "We will continue to focus on discovering ways to make Pinkerton even better and be sure everyone feels like a part of the community as we continue building on areas where Pinkerton already excels."

Powers has set forward an interesting message for the 2019-2020 academic year — Small Acts, Big Impact. This theme is intended as a meme for the whole academy team as a top of mind idea.

Julia Mitchell, the school's Director of Communications points out, "One of the aspects of this message — Small Acts, Big Impact — is that it implies that the first step in creating more harmony and kindness is by looking at gratitude within. And that is a message we want to express at Pinkerton. Researchers have found that by making gratitude a habit, people can begin to change the emotional tone of their lives creating more space for joy and connections with others."

The new Headmaster has already overseen significant campus impact during the past year at Pinkerton — helping direct new road construction projects that are underway as well as supporting the new athletic fields built this year including an expansion of field facilities with new opportunities for women's sports.

Powers considers the expansion of athletics as well as academics to be an important step along his vision for Pinkerton that help the academy lead the way in N.H. with top notch academic and athletic programs for both men and women. Prior to becoming Headmaster, Powers was the Dean of Students and Pinkerton's Athletic Director, so he has been immersed in these types of student priorities and efforts.

For much of his teaching career Powers taught mathematics, so he full well understands what you can do with Algebra and Geometry courses. Pinkerton's academic program is rich with STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Math) curricula. Powers is excited about Pinkerton's emphasis on broad based STEM study options. He feels it's important to expose student to STEM offerings as this area will benefit all types of students in the future.

Last year Powers helped support the Career And Technical Education (CTE) department with a unique STEM Conference that was one of the first such programs in the N.H. Approximately 120 ninth grade girls attended the "STEMspiration" conference that partnered girls interested in STEM careers with organizations highlighting careers in the field. Women from 18 Mentor Companies including BAE Systems, Fidelity Investments, UNH and Harvard University, and Autodesk.

Powers says, "STEM academics have been a big part of Pinkerton's curriculum and important areas such as Artificial Intelligence technology is already here today and this technology will need people to run with it. We understand that the future is bright for students in STEM areas and are preparing our students in that regard — whether a student's future direction is college, technical training or in the workforce directly after their time at Pinkerton."

Powers also supports

Pinkerton Academy Headmaster Dr. Tim Powers and Julia Mitchell, the school's Director of Communications are excited about the future of education.

that STEM might be well served to add the Arts to the acronym making it STEAM. "STEAM" represents STEM plus the Arts — humanities, language arts, dance, drama, music, visual arts, design and new media.

Teachers working in cross-curricular STEAM settings involving the arts often see their students making connections between concepts and solving problems with critical thinking in new and exciting ways. And teachers are demonstrating this with active engagement, so their discoveries have become visible in enthusiastic "aha" moments. Pinkerton is set up to leverage STEAM activities with the academy's broad based curriculum that also include programs immersed with critical thinking and communications efforts.

Powers says he sees excellent job force opportunities in the future with Pinkerton's emphasis on "critical thinking" curriculum. He also makes a good case that area town's with students at Pinkerton are getting good value for their money — for their student's education is being addressed with an effective teaching staff.

He says, "Our teachers are evaluated to see how students do over time and we evaluate teaching staff not just for their popularity with students and parents, but also by examining how effective our students really are in their areas of study."

Powers points out that this is an important year for Pinkerton as they are involved with their accreditation timeline findings. This means that visits with the New England Association of Schools and Colleges (NEASC) are in progress. NEASC is an accreditation organization set up to promote school excellence, empower students and support school systems improvements. NEASC is made up of commissions which work in close partnership with schools to ensure a quality education for all students.

Pinkerton's efforts with the NEASC global standard of excellence attests to Pinkerton Academy's high academic quality and integrity and that is just one of the many things that keeps Headmaster Powers busy these days.

A Change of Season

Orange has never been a favorite color, but about this time every year, our thoughts turn to multiple things orange.

Pumpkins. Changing leaves. Hunting vests.

The color is a sign of the shift in seasons.

Monday, Sept. 23, was the first day of autumn, and the change of seasons is a hard one to miss this year. Even the warm days have a different feel it's warmth that tells of the end of summer, not the ongoing intensity of July and August. The darkness falls early now, as that set the stage for us to prepare to set our clocks back on Nov. 3. There's no mistaking the cold bite of the evening air or the sound of the furnace clicking on for the first time in months.

We can still enjoy plenty of days of wearing flip-flops and shorts, but their time is running out for the year. The trees in local orchards are full of apples, and if that's not a sure sign of fall in New England, we don't know what is. Take advantage of that bounty and plan a trip to pick apples and set aside some time to bake pies and make cider and sauce. We're fortunate to have the chance to taste the real thing, literally in our own backyards.

Driving around this week, a table piled with small pumpkins and mums came into view just another sign. Stop by any local garden center or farmstand, and you're sure to find a colorful display of mums and cornstalks, something it's hard to resist buying to decorate a front porch or mailbox. You can't miss the shift. The season is changing. And that means Halloween will be upon us before we know it there's that orange again.

We don't need a calendar to tell us about the crispness in the evening air, the yellowing of the light. And the trees are giving us a preview already of the glorious display to come in the weeks ahead.

It's a perfect season to take a walk not too hot or cold and very few bugs. Visit your town conservation areas and discover the hidden treasures of the woodlands you and your neighbors have preserved. Soon enough, your outdoor exercise will be directed at raking those colorful leaves whose time has come.

All in all, it's a wonderful time of year, a time when nature's bounty and beauty are on display for everyone to enjoy. And as New Englanders, we know what comes next.

Suicide Awareness Walk Takes Place in Memory of Nathan Folley

The Nathan Folley 5k Memorial Walk supporting the Nathan Folley Memorial Pinkerton JROTC Scholarship took place at Pinkerton Academy on Saturday morning, Sept. 21 start.

About 50 participants were at this year's walk to help support the efforts of Nathan's mom Karen DiGregorio and the school's JROTC efforts to award a scholarship to a cadet each year in Nathan's name.

Nathan passed away when he was a freshman at Pinkerton in 2010 and the walk was developed last year in order to help remember him with a scholarship and to create awareness about suicide, depression and mental illness, to provide education to the community, and support to those affected.

Peer-to-peer efforts have proven to be most effective in prevention of suicide in teens prompting the School Counseling department to promote students trained in suicide prevention that will start going into sophomore health to teach their peers the warning signs of a student struggling with suicidal thoughts or a mental illness. Students who are interested in being trained in suicide prevention will have the opportunity.

Recently, Governor Chris Sununu recognized Pinkerton students and staff for Suicide Prevention Training, last year Sununu recognized 15 Pinkerton Academy students and members of the School Counseling Department with commendations for their work in suicide prevention and contributions to student safety and mental health awareness.

These efforts are part of larger efforts by the school's Prevention Specialist, Julie Donovan, who was at the walk on Saturday with four students who have been trained to educate fellow Pinkerton students on the warning signs of suicide in their peers.

The National Suicide Prevention Lifeline number is 1-800-273-(TALK) 8255, and the Crisis Text Line is Text 741741.

Derry Residents Urged by Officials to be “SepticSmart”

JILL JAMRO
SUBMISSION DERRY
PUBLIC WORKS

“Don’t overload the commode: only put things in the drain or toilet that belong there” — just one piece of advice from the Derry’s officials who want residents to be “SepticSmart”. September 16th through the 20th is the US Environmental Protection Agency’s seventh annual SepticSmart Week, and according to the EPA, more than one in five households in the United States, or 60 million people, depend on septic systems to treat their wastewater. Here in New Hampshire, the NHDES says approximately two-thirds of all New Hampshire homes are served by individual onsite septic systems, typically septic tanks and absorption fields that serve single-family residences.

SepticSmart Week is a nationwide initiative through the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) to raise awareness about the need for proper care and maintenance of septic systems. Failure to maintain a septic system can lead to backups and overflows, and those can result in costly repairs, polluted waterways and risks to public health and the environment. Proper care and maintenance are critical to septic system function and long-term performance.

Tips for septic maintenance include:

* Protect It and Inspect It: Homeowners should have their system inspected every three years by a licensed contractor, and have their tank pumped when necessary, typically every three to five years. Many septic system failures occur during the holiday season. Therefore, EPA encourages homeowners to get their septic systems inspected and serviced now, before inspectors’ schedules fill up around the holidays.

* Think at the Sink: Avoid pouring fats, grease and solids down the drain. These substances can clog a system’s pipes and drain field.

* Don’t Overload the Commode: Only put things in the drain or toilet that belong there. Coffee grounds, dental floss, diapers and wipes, feminine hygiene products, cigarette butts and cat litter can clog and damage septic systems.

* Don’t Strain Your Drain: Be water efficient and spread out water use. Fix plumbing leaks and install faucet aerators and water-efficient products. Spread out laundry and dishwasher loads throughout the day. Too much water at once can overload a system that hasn’t been pumped recently. If you have a sump pump, do not have it discharge to your septic system.

* Shield Your Field: Remind guests not to park or drive on a system’s drain field, which could damage buried pipes or disrupt underground flow.

SepticSmart Week is part of EPA’s year-round SepticSmart program. In addition to educating property owners, the program is an online resource for industry practitioners, local governments and community organizations, providing access to tools to educate clients and residents. For more information, visit epa.gov/septic-smart.

A larger project that was presented by Miller is the Derry – Londonderry Exit 4A.

Dave Caron, Town Administrator of Derry, approached the committee members and asked to reaffirm the town’s continued support for the Exit 4A project. Caron said that Derry and Londonderry have partnered in this project to relieve traffic congestion and provide additional economic opportunities for the region.

He added that the towns have taken an unprecedented step of investing significant local dollars into a new interchange in the federal highway system and to relieve traffic congestion to state highway 102. When the project is completed, said Caron, the communities will each appropriate and spend $5 million towards this project.

Caron said that he is happy that after a multi-decade study on this project, it is now finally moving forward. A meeting with the special committee for the project was held on Wednesday (Sep. 18) and Caron said he hoped they will find a way to make a funding necessity, which will allow the town to send the documents to the federal highway administration for a record decision. In a recent Town Council meeting in Londonderry, Town Manager Kevin Smith said that the cost of this project ballooned from $50 million to $90 million. However, the state will be funding this addition and stated that it will not go to the municipalities for more money. Construction on Exit 4A is currently planned for Fiscal Years 2021 through 2024 and as Stamnas said, the funding increase for these kinds of projects are a main strategy in the new Ten Year Plan.

Miller later informed that the Manchester Transit Authority (MTA) and Co-Op Alliance for Regional Transportation (CART) will be merging, effective Sep. 30. Existing projects for both bodies will need to be merged before the Ten Year Plan is finalized. Miller stated that the SNHPC continues to support the transfer of $800,000 per year from the state’s Surface Transportation Block Grant (STBG) program to STBG funding, to support section 5310 Purchase of Service program for elderly and disabled transportation around New Hampshire, including CART’s Derry-Londonderry Shuttle.

Former SportsZone Owner Faces Alleged sexual Abuse Charges

IDAN VINITSKY
NUTFIELD NEWS

Dennis Reed, the former owner of SportsZone in Derry, was indicted earlier this month on 11 counts of aggravated felonious sexual assault.

Reed, who is 75, was charged with sexual assault of a child and he is scheduled to be arraigned in Rockingham Superior Court on Wednesday, Oct. 4.

The accusations came from a teenager, who described to the police how Reed, allegedly, abused her both with emotional manipulation and sexual exploitation. The teenager was part of a SportsZone girls’ basketball team at the time.

The alleged incidents happened between 2004 and 2007 (when the victim was 15- to 18-years-old) and Reed, who was both the owner and a coach at the facility those days, is accused of using his position of authority to sexually assault the teenager on numerous occasions, at the SportsZone, as well as in his own house and in a movie theater.

The lawsuit, which was filled by the victim (now 30-years-old) over a year ago, states that she joined the Shooting Stars local AAU basketball team when she was 10 and met Reed for the first time during try-outs. He then, told her he was the coach of the older team, took her aside and spoke to her privately. Two years later, when she started taking private basketball practices from Reed, she claims he groomed her for sexual activity, giving her gifts and other things.

Later, when she was 15 and was hired to work in the SportsZone concession staff, the victim says Reed started touching her sexually, before and after her practices with him. It continued until after she turned 18.

Reed sold SportsZone to Joe Goodwin in April 2018. The Assistant County Attorney Kristin Vartanian said that anyone with information about the case should contact Detective Kimberly Bouse of the Derry Police at (603) 432-6111.

Getting Outdoors Safely During This Year's Hunting Season

MIKE BYERLY

Fall is upon us and it is a wonderful season to get out in the woods to walk or bike. The mosquitos are disappearing, the temperature is cooler and soon the leaves will be changing colors.

Fall is also one of the busiest hunting seasons in New Hampshire and some conservation properties that host trail networks are also good areas for hunting. Some people choose not to go into the woods during hunting season for fear of being accidentally shot; however, many others continue hiking following some basic guidelines to stay safe.

Here's what you need to know to hike safely this Fall. First, learn about timing of the allowable hunting season for various species. While there is hunting at various points all throughout the year for a variety of animals, the ones that apply most in southern New Hampshire are deer, turkey and pheasant.

The archery season for deer and turkey runs from Sept. 15 through Dec. 15. A lot more people hunt with guns than bows, so the risk is lower than during firearms season, which for deer runs from Nov. 2 to Dec. 8 and for turkey from Oct. 14-20. For more details about the hunting season, check out the NH Fish and Game website.

To avoid you or your dog being mistaken for a deer or other animal, wear bright colors, ideally blaze orange. If you don't have blaze orange, then use another bright color. Definitely avoid earth tones.

And get some color on your dog. Speaking of dogs, it is best to leash them during hunting season even if at other times you let them run off leash.

The next tip is to stay on established trails. People on hiking trails can spook wildlife, so hunters generally stick to deeper, quieter woods. Stick to well-used trails for safety.

Next, if possible, avoid hiking at dusk and dawn. It is better to go during the middle part of the day. Deer and hunters are most active at dusk and dawn. Hiking at midday will reduce your chances of encountering hunters.

Lastly, make noise while hiking to make your presence known to hunters, and to differentiate yourself from the sounds made by animals. You can talk, whistle, sing or shout out periodically. When you hike with dogs, place bells on their collars.

Another strategy is to walk on properties where hunting is forbidden by town ordinance. In Derry, hunting is not allowed at Broadview Farm, Shepard Family Conservation Area and Albert W. Doolittle Conservation Area.

Conversely hunting is allowed at Town Forest – Ballard/Olsen Road, Cole Marsh/Joshua Morse Property, Weber Town Forest, Gulf Road Property, Corneliusen Farm and Quail Hill Conservation Area.

In Londonderry, hunting is prohibited at the Kendal Pond Conservation Area, the Town Center Trails and Adams Pond/Moose Hill Orchards. Hunting is permitted at other areas including the very popular Musquash Conservation Area and Bockes-Ingersoll Forest.

Derry Village Rotary Club Hosts Second Oktoberfest Oct. 5

NUTFIELD NEWS

The Derry Village Rotary Club is hosting its 2nd Annual Oktoberfest on Saturday, October 5, 2019, from 12pm to 6pm in the field at the Boys and Girls Club of Greater Derry. On Oktoberfest day, there will also be shuttle buses running between the Boys and Girls Club and nearby Calvary Christian Church where overflow parking will be provided.

Oktoberfest is an exciting, outdoor, family event for everyone to enjoy! And 100% of proceeds will benefit local charities in the Derry area. Ken Olson, Derry Village Rotary Club member is spearheading the festivities for the club this year and he has helped put together quite an event for the public to turnout for a good time.

"We wanted to create a fun event for the whole family, and we added some things we think folks will really like. This Oktoberfest event is even bigger and better than our successful Oktoberfest last year and it will have something for everyone... this will be real cool community celebration," says Olson.

"It's a big-time family happening with all kinds of entertaining activities," Derry Village Rotary Club member Gordon Graham added.

Olsen says that Oktoberfest will be an action packed and fun-filled day with a live band, and a DJ. The day will also be filled with all things authentically German, especially when it comes to beer and food. So, there will be a variety of food trucks with authentic German fare, though there will also be barbecue, tacos, burgers, dogs and other cool food treats.

Olson points out, "And what would Oktoberfest be without great German beer? We have imported kegs of authentic Oktoberfest beer from Bavaria. Both Spaten and Weihenstephaner beers will be available on draft. And, for those who may want something different, we are offering Citizen Cider's flagship cider, Unified Press."

Now if anyone has ever been to an Oktoberfest in Germany, they will recognize that Spaten and Weihenstephaner draft beers are some of the most treasured secrets from great German breweries that you won't find often here in America. It is a real coup that Olson got some kegs of these draft beers for this area's Oktoberfest celebration.

Weihenstephaner beer comes from the oldest brewery in the world and from a product making tradition that is hard to match; this is a German beer that is top notch in all ways. Spaten has been a leading German beer for hundreds of years. They played a crucial role in establishing the superior worldwide reputation for German beer that is only allowed by law to be brewed from malt, hops and water. That law is known as Reinheitsgebot and Spaten has brewed its beers in strict adherence to this purity law providing quality you can taste.

Olson has worked with other Derry Village Rotary club members to support a marketplace filled with local crafts, a Kinderfest — kids celebration with face painting, bounce houses, and a petting zoo. Village Rotary Club member Graham says, "And there will be a variety of competitions such as beer stein hoist, a wife carry, a keg toss and an big event tug-of-war featuring some some of Derry's finest!"

Everyone can now purchase tickets in advance for a savings at beerfests.com <<http://beerfests.com/>>. Tickets will also be available at the door and 100% of proceeds go right back into the community.

Olson says, "The Derry Village Rotary Club celebrated its 25th anniversary this year. We are looking at this Oktoberfest event to also meet folks interested in joining our club. We think folks in the community will find our new home at the Pinkerton Academy Astro Cafe attractive for meetings and social events."

If you, or anyone you know of, might be interested to check out the Derry Village Rotary Club membership and in giving back to good causes, please reach out to Ken Olson for details. kevin@olsonelectric.com

Londonderry's Morgan Torre Crowned Miss Greater Derry 2020

IDAN VINITSKY
NUTFIELD NEWS

Morgan Torre, of Londonderry was recently crowned as Miss Greater Derry 2020 and will prepare to compete for Miss New Hampshire in April.

Torre, a 2019 Londonderry High School graduate, is currently a freshman at Suffolk University in Boston, Mass. She competed in Miss Nashua/Auburn, where she placed second runner up and in Miss Londonderry and Miss Manchester, where she was first runner up. Last month she was crowned Miss Greater Derry in front of a packed Opera House on Aug. 24, in an event that was postponed from June.

She beat eight other competitors for the title, and also won the People's Choice award, as well as the Suzanne Knox Talent Award, for her twirling performance. In total, Torre received $2,500 in scholarships from the Miss Greater Derry competition.

"This whole year I'll be doing events to promote my social impact initiative, which is the dangers of texting and driving", she says in an interview. "The whole point of me being Miss Greater Derry is promoting a community service platform and that is the one I chose."

As part of her mission, Torre created a Facebook page called Look Up. The page is dedicated to her platform: "I'm trying to spread the word about texting and driving and I'll be going to local events all year." She was in the police booth at Derryfest last week and explains that her message is "look up, just drive, and stay alive" and that people who wish to help her should just share this message as much as they can and encourage their friends and family to not text and drive.

Torre says she recently developed a large poster, full of statistics about texting and driving and that she hopes to educate the public on how dangerous it really is. "That's my main goal this year", she announces. Another major goal will be, of course, preparing for the Miss New Hampshire competition next spring. She will be competing there with the winner of all the other local events, from all across the state.

The Miss Greater Derry competition started for Torre and the other competitors back stage, with a private interview with a panel of five judges, who ask each competitor questions for 10 minutes. "They ask you about yourself and current issues", explains Torre. "They want to get to know you and see how educated you are, how good of a person you are and how will you be in this job. It really is like having a part time job, where you are up to community service and you get to do something you really love with it."

Following the private interview, there was a talent show on stage and an extension of the interview, where each competitor is asked an "on stage question" – one question that the judges did not get to ask inside those 10 minutes back stage. Torre was asked what she thinks the penalties should be for a first and second offense of texting and driving and answered she believes the fines should be increased from $100 to $500 for first offense and $1,000 for the second. "Raising these fines will deter people from texting and driving and make our roads safer", she answered to the judges' question.

She then gave a 10-second social impact statement about texting and driving and why it is important. The final part of the competition was a walk in evening wear, before Torre was crowned as Miss Greater Derry 2020. She was very excited on stage and said after winning: "It feels amazing. I've been waiting for this all year. I've worked really hard and did a lot of preparation and it feels like it paid off. It means the world being Miss Greater Derry."

Varsity Field Hockey Team Keeps Unbeaten Streak Going at 6-0

NUTFIELD NEWS

The Pinkerton Academy Varsity Field Hockey team kept its undefeated record unblemished last week with a couple of extremely tight victories. The two latest wins brought the team's season record to a superb 6-0 start, leaving them tied with Londonderry for the best DI record.

The Lady Astros, who came off three lopsided wins over Manchester Memorial, Central and Timberlane the week before, had to fight off Bishop Guertin (2-2) on Wednesday, Sept. 18, at Stellos Stadium to get a narrow 2-1 win.

Kate Bennet gave the visiting Astros the lead with 67 seconds left to play in the first half, and after the Cardinals put in the equalizer in the game, it was Lauren Lisauskas, with Emma Johnston's second assist of the afternoon, who got the game winner with just 39 seconds left in regulation time.

Pinkerton Academy's goaltender, Khaliyah Ellis, made seven saves in the close victory.

Back home against Windham, on Friday, Sept. 20, Pinkerton got a 1-0 victory, Mari Shea scored in a first half on a penalty stroke, with 13:40 left in the half. Ellis made seven saves again for the victors, while the visiting goalie had 10 and the Lady Astros managed to hold on to their lead despite some late scares.

"We had very strong opponents this week and we knew it's a big week," said Pinkerton head coach Katie Littlefield. "We've hit our stride. We have had some skilled and physical games, so the girls were a little tired. It's awesome that they dug deep and it was more a mental game. They know they can do it and their bodies and skills will follow."

This coming weekend, on Saturday, Sept. 28, the Lady Astros will be tested as they face another, currently undefeated team, during the annual Mack Plaque contest.

The Astros defense will need to find a way to keep Londonderry's top scorer, senior Courtney Shay, away from their goal.

p.m., last year's Division I runner ups got its second straight win on Friday, Sept. 20, the 35-7 victory at Manchester Central (1-2), brings the Astro record above .500 for the first time this season (2-1).

The Central Little Green nearly scored in the opening drive of the game, but was stopped inside Pinkerton's red zone and then could not convert on fourth down. After handing over the ball on downs, the Astros punished their opposition with a long drive that ended with Jake MacInnis scoring on a four-yard touchdown run and putting the visitors up, 7-0 with about three minutes and a half left on the clock in the first quarter.

David Clark, who is also playing very well so far this season, ran in for a TD from 32 yards in the second quarter, after Pinkerton took full advantage of a Little Green fumble in the early minutes of the that quarter.

After Clark made an outstanding 43-yard catch from PA quarterback Jeff Potvin's pass, MacInnis scored again, on a 12-yard run with five minutes remaining in the half. He still had time in the second quarter to add a third touchdown, just 45 seconds before halftime, in a 14-yard run.

Evan Wilson gave Pinkerton a 35-0 lead in the third quarter with an 11-yard rush. Central only managed to get a late touchdown and avoid being shutout at home.

MacInnis had 84 rushing yards, part of a 318-yard effort on the ground by the winning team. Clark finished with 92 yards.

The Astro squad will now try to even their season record with Londonderry as the Lancers come in on Friday night with a 3-0 start to the season.

Astro Girls Soccer Squad Goes Through Tough Stretch

NUTFIELD NEWS

The Pinkerton Academy Girls' Varsity Soccer team started last week with a great head of steam, after finishing with three straight wins, in which the team scored 18 unanswered goals. That streak was ended pretty quickly this week when the Pinkerton squad lost twice during home games, putting their season record to an even 3-3.

The Lady Astros could not keep up with the undefeated Bedford High School team on Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 17, and the very tough Bulldog squad left Derry with a 5-0 shutout win. Gabby Deangleo scored twice for the winners. Mackenzie MacEachern, Ava Simunavicz and Avery Manni also had goals. Mishela Duka made four saves and Pinkerton had seven shots on goal, but did not score.

Things did not get much easier for Pinkerton on Friday, Sept. 20, when the Astros lost at home 1-0 to Goffstown (5-1), who got a first half goal from Alexa Skinner. The visiting goalie made 10 saves and Pinkerton had 21 shots on goal, but none went in.

Pinkerton freshman goal tender Lindsay Blum finished with six saves for the home team.

Pinkerton head coach Danielle St. Peter was frustrated after the game, "We have been playing well. Bedford kind of got the better of us, but this time we controlled most of the game. We just need to finish. We need to keep working on that. I'm still excited about the team we have. Two losses in a row is tough, but we to be positive about the rest of the season."

Pinkerton Boys' Soccer Squad Fall to Bulldogs and Grizzlies

IDAN VINITSKY
NUTFIELD NEWS

A season of growing pains continued for the Pinkerton Academy's Boys' Varsity Soccer team (1-4-1) with two tough road losses last week.

The Astros boys played the undefeated state champion Bedford Bulldogs on Tuesday, Sept. 17, and after a close first half, with the game remaining goalless for the first 35 minutes, the Bulldogs took a 1-0 lead before the half. After that, the PA squad could not keep up with their rivals, and they conceded four more goals in the second half. Thomas Richmond made four saves on the Bedford side and Owen Belanger six for Pinkerton.

"The Bulldogs applied pressure all day, including up to the final minutes of the game", commented Pinkerton head coach Kerri Boles. "The result was a 5-0 score. This may sound strange, but this was our best performance of the season. We had to deal with a few distractions over the past week, but we put it aside and played great. The score may look ugly, but we played great." Playing well for Pinkerton were Jake Spezzaferri, Giovanni Iob, Harrison McAdams and Dan Humphrey.

The same story pretty much repeated itself at Goffstown on Friday, Sept. 20, with Pinkerton losing 3-0 after a tight scoreless first half. The home team scored twice in a span of four minutes (45th and 49th) and another goal in the last seconds of the game. Richmond had two saves, Belanger six. "Pinkerton had another frustrating day. It's challenging when we are giving up goals, but are struggling to find the back of the net. We need to maintain positivity and stay together during this difficult stretch", said Boles. Playing well for Pinkerton was Michael Curtin, Spezzaferri, Andy MacDonald and Iob.

The team will have a three-game home stretch starting Tuesday against Nashua South, after the Nutfield News went to print. On Saturday, Sept. 28, the team will take on Londonderry (2-3-1) at 2:30 p.m. for the annual Mack Plaque contest between the rival schools.

Pinkerton Cross Country Runner Battle Heat at Manchester Invitational

Pinkerton Academy's Cross Country runners competed on Saturday, Sept. 21, in the 45th annual Manchester Invitational during some very warm end-of-summer temperatures, with the boys' team finishing fourth (out of 34 teams) and the girls 14th (out of 28 teams).

The boys had a team score of 150 and were led by Luke Brennan, as the sophomore ran a time of 16:38 and placed 11th overall. Stephen Connelly, with a time of 16:48, finished 13th and others who completed the race for the Astros were Zach Plaza (21st, 17:01), Nolan Preble (42nd, 17:31), Nathan Steiger (63rd, 17:49) and Ethan Charles (88th, 18:11).

The girls score was 353 and their fastest runner was Meghan Cross, at 30th overall, with 21:09. Following her were Riley Sweeney (65th, 22:24), Molly McGaffigan (85th, 22:59), Olivia Welch (97th, 23:12), Makenna Alden (111th, 23:28) and Kristina Packowski (129th, 24:04).

The Astros' next competition will be this Saturday, Sept. 28, at the Coe-Brown Invitational.

NUTFIELD NEWS

With an annual Mack Plaque contest coming up on Saturday morning, the Pinkerton Academy's Varsity Volleyball team remained perfect, six games into the season, after great wins over strong two teams last week.

The Lady Astros have only dropped one set in their early season wins and on Wednesday, Sept. 18, PA hosted Spaulding High School (3-2) to take another three set win. Pinkerton came out of the gate with great intensity, which helped them secure the 3-0 win. The first set was close and ended with a 25-20 win for the home team, who then went on to close the game with two 25-14 sets.

Ella Dandrade had 15 service points, 12 kills, 19 digs and a block. Ella Koelb finished with 14 service points, five aces and 30 assists. Nicole Valcourt contributed eight kills, Emma Bernard had six, Reese Asselin finished with 19 digs and Lily Heywood with 17.

On Friday, Sept. 20, Pinkerton had another straight sets victory, at Bedford High School (3-2). The game against the Bulldogs was tight one from the first point to the last, with Pinkerton winning 27-25, 25-23, and 32-

Dandrade had eight kills, 22 digs and nine service points. Bernard finished with eight kills and two blocks, Valcourt had four blocks, Sarah Taylor three and also six kills. Asselin finished with 19 digs and Koelb provided 28 assists and four aces. Sierra Edgecomb had 10 digs and Heywood scored 11 service points.

"The girls showed great resiliency", said Pinkerton Academy head coach Todd Royce. "Facing game point five times, the girls stepped back and nailed their serves and eventually battled all the way back to win 32-30 in the final set."

Pinkerton had a game at Nashua North against the Titans on Wednesday, Sept. 25, and will host the Londonderry Lancers on Saturday, Sept. 28, starting at 10 a.m., to open the day of Mack Plaque match-ups between the schools.

Pinkerton Golf Team Remains Undefeated as Fall Begins

IDAN VINITSKY
NUTFIELD NEWS

Pinkerton Academy's Varsity Golf team improved to a very impressive 11-0 record after two meets last week.

The Astros played at Bretwood Country Club's South Course in Keene on Wednesday, Sept. 18, and scored a team total of 200, beating the home team (team total: 204, 7-6 record) and Merrimack (278, 0-11). Jeremy Burke led the Astros with a game of 38, three over the par for the course.

PJ Daniele finished with 39, Cam Leppert with 40, Chris Walder had a score of 41 and three more players, Tylor Pappalardo, Robbie DeFeo and Nick Tufts, all completed their game with a score of 42.

Then on Friday, Sept. 20, in a home match at Derry's, Hoodcroft Country Club, the Astros got a home victory over Nashua North and Salem High Schools.

The Pinkerton team finished with a team total of 198, while North had 214 for the day and the Blue Devils had 216.

Freshman Julianna Megan enjoyed a good day, leading the team with a game of 38 (two over the par). Sophomore Max Lukeman also played well and had a game of 39, same as Tufts. Leppert finished with 40, Jeremy Burke with 42.

Pinkerton had another home meet on Tuesday, after the Nutfield News went to print, against Bishop Guertin and Winnacunnet. They will face Timberlane in Plaistow on Monday, Sept. 30, at 3:15 p.m.
