

Pinkerton Academy Announces Valedictorian and Salutatorian

ALEX MALM
NUTFIELD NEWS

With the Class of 2022 set to graduate from Pinkerton Academy it was announced that Ryan McMahon would be this year valedictorian.

“To me this distinction is a testament to the amazing support I have received from my family, friends, and the Pinkerton Community,” said McMahon. “I have certainly worked hard for the past four years, but it is because of my friends, family, and teachers that I have been able to succeed in high school. Without their constant encouragement and support- and reminding me to have a little fun once in a while- I never would have been able to achieve this. I am so excited to walk across the stage on graduation night with my peers, and I am grateful to them for always inspiring me to keep going during the challenging times we have faced during our high school careers.”

McMahon said that one of his favorite moments from his time at Pinkerton “Has to be the homecoming dance this year.”

“After not having one for a while, it was great to be able to plan it with student council and see it come to life in the fall,” said McMahon. “I think that students really enjoyed having it outside despite the dust bowl that we created on the make shift dirt dance floor on the quad(it made it memorable though). The dance was a great way to start off the year and get back to a sense of normalcy on campus.”

Asked what his most difficult moment was during his time at Pinkerton, McMahon said “I can’t pinpoint one moment that I would call the most challenging of my high school career, but in general I struggled with balancing my mental health and workload.”

“For most of high school I chose to prioritize getting the “A” over feeling happy and enjoying my experience,” said McMahon. “I would stay up late and wake up early, and felt the need to be always be doing something productive. Once the pandemic shut school down and I was forced to slow down and reflect I decided to make a conscious effort to do more things simply because I enjoyed them. Whether it was going to the movies with friends or spending time with my family, I found I was a lot

Sandown Selectmen Looking for Bids on New Salt Shed

ALEX MALM
NUTFIELD NEWS

SANDOWN - During the May 23 Sandown Board of Selectmen meeting one of the agenda items was an update from Public Works Director Arthur Genualdo.

One of the items that Genualdo discussed with the Board of Selectmen was in regards to the new salt shed.

Genualdo said that they have been working on the site work that needs to be done before they put it up and said that they got two quotes from a company for the shed. He said that they were for two different types of roofs.

“It’s the same quote, same price, just two different roofs,” said Genualdo.

Town Administrator Lynne Blaisdell said that technically anything over $10,000 would be subject to go through the sealed bid process.

“This is certainly over that,” said Blaisdell.

Board of Selectmen Chairman Jonathan Goldman said that if they didn’t also see it then technically it’s not public yet.

“If we don’t see it then it’s not public,” said Goldman.

Genualdo explained that other companies aren’t in the area and would have to ship the buildings. He said he wasn’t sure if they would install it for the town or not.

Blaisdell said that they usually have a request for proposal, advertise it in general and also contact companies that they know are usually interested to get quotes.

Blaisdell added that the request for proposal would

Edward Garone Honored for 50-Years as Derry Police Chief

CHRIS PAUL
NUTFIELD NEWS

It wasn’t hard for folks at the Golden Anniversary celebration for Ed Garone’s 50-years of service as the Derry Police Chief to figure out why such a large venue needed to be used. Garone has made a lot of friends and touched an awful lot of lives during his time as Chief of Police.

It’s an accomplishment that perhaps no other chief will ever come close to, and as far as anyone speaking at the event could tell, no one has ever accomplished it until that night.

Hundreds packed the function area at Double Tree Hilton in Manchester on Wednesday, June 1, for a night of honoring Chief Garone’s major milestone.

Ed and his wife Blanch Garone were welcomed to the event by a lineup of officers from the street to the hall where the festivities were taking place.

happier when I spent a little less time doing homework and spending more time with the people I love.”

A Hampstead resident, McMahon's three older sisters have all graduated from Pinkerton and his brother is currently a junior.

During his time at Pinkerton he was involved with a number of activities including benign Student Council President, being the NH Association of Student Councils (NHASC) Central District President, being a member of NH Legislative Youth Advisory Council and working at Patchwood Farm in Sandown.

McMahon will be attending the University of Pennsylvania in the fall and will likely be majoring in Health and Societies.

“I hope to become a doctor and also do policy work to address the vast inequity in our healthcare system,” said McMahon. “I am a firm believer that knowledgeable professionals should be making policy- not career politicians.”

Casey Ames

This year's salutatorian from Pinkerton Academy is Casey Ames.

“I am very proud to be salutatorian, as it took a lot of hard work, late nights studying, and dedication to get here,” said Ames. “However, I mainly feel grateful for all the support I have received over the years. I wouldn't be where I am without my family and friends pushing me to do my best and motivating me when I felt overwhelmed. I would especially like to thank Ryan McMahon, our valedictorian, for always supporting me throughout our high school years, as his help in and outside of school has made me a better student and person.”

Ames said that her favorite moments from her time during her time at Pinkerton “are just all the little moments, like sunbathing with my friends outside of my Chemistry classroom, eating cup ramen with stirring rods from my teacher, or just lounging around on the senior patio on a sunny day.”

Casey Ames

“These are the moments I cherish the most and will miss the most when I leave for college, and I'll always hold them close,” said Ames.

Ames advice for incoming students is to “spend time doing what makes you happy. I spent a lot of my early high school years burying myself in schoolwork and sports, but when the pandemic hit and these were both taken away, I realized that I had spent hardly any time making close friends and doing the things I love.”

“When I started putting time into improving my mental health, handling my stress, and quitting the things I didn't love, high school became so much more fun and memorable,” said Ames.

Ames said that one of the most challenging moments during her time at Pinkerton was deciding to quit basketball.

“I was the starting point guard for varsity basketball as a sophomore, but midway through the season, I tore my ACL and had ACL reconstruction surgery,” said Ames. “My recovery took 11 months, and when I returned to the court, I knew that I had lost my love for the sport and I couldn't risk another injury. At the end of my junior year, I decided to be the team's manager as a senior. It was an incredibly difficult decision as I had dedicated so many years to the sport, but it was one that made me a stronger, healthier person.”

Ames, who lives in Auburn, was involved with a number of activities at Pinkerton including Tower Writers' Guild, International Club, Leadership Council of Athletics, NHS, and Student Senate.

“I love tutoring, so I volunteer to tutor my peers through NHS. I've tutored in a variety of subjects including chemistry, biology, physics, algebra, geometry, calculus, statistics, psychology, and French,” said Ames.

Ames will be attending Northeastern University this fall and will be majoring in Biochemistry on the pre-med track. After college, she hopes to enter the medical field as either a doctor or physician assistant. She also hopes to one day own a golden retriever.

Chester Board of Selectmen Hear Concerns About Carkin Street

ALEX MALM
NUTFIELD NEWS

CHESTER - During the May 26 Chester Board of Selectmen meeting one of the agenda items was in regards to concerns of flooding on Carkin Street.

Kim Chaze, who recently moved to the neighborhood and who originally brought the concern to the Board of Selectmen said that he wanted to emphasize the gravity of the situation.

Chaze said as an example there has been flooding issues that have caused issues for people's basements. "There's been issues of flooding that have traveled to other adjacent basements," said Chaze.

Chaze explained that he feels that it is a safety and health concern and that the Board of Selectmen should take immediate action. He said that he feels that the issue isn't getting the attention it deserves from the town.

"It's really not getting the action it appears to deserve," said Chaze.

Board of Selectmen Chairman Chuck Myette said that he appreciated him coming in and bringing the issue to their attention and that they have done some research regarding the issue. He said that it has been added to the Capital Improvement Plan.

"It's been identified and has been put on the CIP," said Myette.

With that said Myette said that it's not the only issue they have and said that it didn't come up this year on the priority list.

"We certainly heard from others the past couple of weeks on the issue," said Myette.

Myette also noted that Road Agent Mike Oleson also looked into it and said that they need an engineer to look at it to get proper drainage on the street. He said that they also need to look at easements for some properties there.

"The first part of it we have started on," said Myette.

Myette also said that they are trying to get some costs for it and see where funds could be available for it.

Selectmen Stephen Landau said that he didn't hear about any of the issues that have been brought up before while he has been on the Board of Selectmen.

Landau said that he also went and drove on the road to see how it is.

He said that the road isn't in worse shape than some of the other roads in town that they have problems with.

"We do have a concern for it," said Landau.

Landau said that they ultimately need to come up with a way to come up with the funds for it before they can fix the problem.

Oleson said that because they are going to be moving water it means that they have to run it by the NH Department of Environmental Services.

"Those are things I have to work through," said Oleson.

He said that he can't promise a time frame for when everything can happen.

"It's going to take time it's not something you can just snap your fingers and fix," said Oleson.

Chaze argued that it should be done soon.

"This needs to be moved to the top of the heap," said Chaze.

Sandown ZBA Approves Variance For Main Street Home

ALEX MALM
NUTFIELD NEWS

SANDOWN - During the May 26 Sandown Zoning Board of Adjustment meeting one of the agenda items was in regards to a variance request to allow a proposed lot to be sized at 95 percent of the required minimum lot size by soil type to support a four bedroom home.

The property is located at 171 Main Street and is owned by Robert Nickerson.

Bill Hall from Civil Design Consultants explained that they are proposing to subdivide the current lot into two different lots. Hall noted that they would be able to meet all of the other requirements of the zoning ordinance other than soil-based lot sizing requirements.

Hall explained that the proposed new lot would be 68,941 square feet where 72,561 square feet is required because of the soil types.

Hall explained that the proposed building location that was on the plans was not final and the exact location of the home is unknown as of right now. He said that it is also the case for the exact septic location.

One question that the Board asked Hall was whether or not he was aware if there were similar state requirements that they could compare the town's requirements to.

Hall said that he wasn't familiar with what the state's requirements are for it but would look into it for the next Board meeting.

The Board ultimately unanimously approved the variance requests. Also during the meeting the Board held a public hearing for an application for a variance for 23 North Shore Rd., which is owned by Giuseppe Naimo and Theresa Timura.

Naimo explained that he was looking for a variance to allow a home addition to be 23 feet from wetlands where 50 feet is required.

The application was previously granted in May of 2017 but has since expired.

It was explained by Naimo that he is looking to put a 24x24 foot home addition on top of an existing portion of the driveway. Naimo said that it is the same proposal that got approved back in 2017 except it wouldn't be as tall and go up to the third floor.

Naimo explained that there wouldn't be any more impacts to the wetlands surrounding the house that would be created and that the home isn't near any abutting properties.

It was also noted by Naimo that the property would be improved from creating a larger and that the Town would also benefit from the extra tax revenue.

The Board ultimately approved the variance to build the addition with a unanimous vote.

Graduation Wishes

We all have defining moments in our lives that help shape our future as well as create memories. Some happen by chance, but others are an eagerly anticipated part of life; graduation from high school, graduation from college, first apartment, first real job, marriage, and childbirth, to name a few. Pinkerton Academy and Londonderry High School's ceremonies will hold their graduations on June 10, sending a multitude of students into the next phase of their lives.

Graduation is an ending, no question, but it's also a commencement. Perhaps it is better to look at it as a remarkable beginning, the next chapter. From a parent's perspective, graduation is an in-your face reminder of the passage of time. The trusting eyes of a newborn and the small hand held on the first day of school now belong to a young adult, likely taller than his or her parents, soon to wear a cap and gown and walk confidently across the stage to accept a high school diploma.

We rarely see ourselves getting older until something momentous happens; there's no denying that hearing the name of your child announced as a member of the graduating class is one such occasion. For the graduates themselves, this moment marks the end of "childhood." While they may never have it so good again, the graduates are now officially on the path to building lives of their own. Whether the next step involves college, work, travel, or military service, they're responsible for their own decisions and for what the rest of their life becomes.

On a small scale, that may mean preparing their own meals and getting somewhere on time. But on the grand scale, it translates to setting goals and developing a path to achieve them, then stepping out onto that path.

It's exciting – and it's serious business. The life we make for ourselves is the only one we'll have. For both parents and students, graduation is a rite of passage, that's what all the robes and decorations and parties signify. It marks a transition again for both student and parent to the rest of life. Not much is more exciting or scary than that.

Our advice to the graduates, consider where you want to go, literally and metaphorically, as well as where you've been. Think of what has brought you to this wonderful occasion. Be safe. Be bold. Mistakes are inevitable. Don't be afraid to take that leap into your dreams.

Congratulations to both parents and students, and the best of wishes for what lies ahead.

Grieve and Then...

To the editor

We are all grieving AGAIN after recent massacres, especially for children and targets of hate.

Our children, church, synagogue and mosque worshipers, shoppers, all of us should not have to fear that we'll be the next victims.

Every country has criminals, domestic abusers, suicides, racial supremacists and gender-identity haters and some mentally ill people who are psychotic. But only in American do we have such a high degree of killings by guns.

No civilian needs military-style, tank-penetrating, human flesh-tearing, high-capacity gun. Universal background checks (including at gun shows and private sales) and a reasonable waiting period make sense. Most Americans agree on that I believe.

Can laws keep guns out of the hands of all the wrong people? Certainly not. But isn't saving some lives better than doing nothing? We know that traffic lights do not prevent all traffic deaths. They save many lives. Most people don't question that limiting some of our driving freedom saves lives, right?

I think that public servants should be responsive to citizen majorities, not beholden to big donors from corporate gun manufacturers and their lobby groups.

Please tell Governor Sununu and your State Reps and Senator not to wait for the next mass murderer or spouse killer to get a gun.

I grieve if once AGAIN our elected officials do nothing more than grieve and pray and tell us they care more about 'freedom' than our lives.

Amen!

Garone

Ed and Blanch shook hands with anyone within arms reach, thanking them, joking, and sharing remembrances as they made their way to the head table.

State and local officials, friends, family, fellow chiefs of police and fire and residents lined up during the evening to thank Garone and shower him with accolades.

Garone was hired as the Derry Police Chief back in 1972, when he was just 28-years of age, and has since dug extremely deep roots in the community.

He has lived in Derry for 56 years and he and Blanche raised his son Michael and a daughter Vicky in town.

Besides his role as the chief, he's also been a longtime member of the Derry Rotary, participating in nearly all of their fundraising events.

Deputy Police Chief George Feole was the Master of Ceremony at the event and introduced over a dozen speakers who addressed the large crowd.

Ed was presented a custom made badge to begin the event, marking his years of service.

U.S. Senator Jeanne Shaheen; U.S. Congressman Chris Pappas; State

Senator Regina Birdsell, Senate President Chuck Morse and Senator Lou D'Allesandro all spoke briefly to begin the event.

Derry Town Council Chairman Joshua Bourdon and Councilor Phyllis Katsakiores both spoke with fondness on the relationship the council has had with Garone over the years.

As they finished speaking, Councilors told the Chief they had voted to name the Police Station after him and the building would now be marked with name Edward B. Garone. The announcement brought tears to the eyes of Garone, who was speechless.

Other speakers included: Chief Joseph Hoebeke; Robert Quinn; Eddie Edwards and Mark Doyle; Chief Bradley Russ (retired) and Executive Director Maureen Sullivan; Chief Charlie Reynolds (retired); Curtis McKenzie; and Chief David Goldstein.

Longtime good friend of Garone, Art McLean, was the final speaker of the evening. He spoke of all the things Ed has done outside law enforcement.

He said that "Eddie" has been involved in every organization in out community of the last 50-years. He spoke of the 48-years Garone has been involved in the Derry Rotary and served in every capacity.

He was president of the Viviana Leon Memorial Fund and the Derry Veterans Assistants Fund. He also was a chairman of a board that helped the town raise $500,000 for the Boys and Girls Club of Greater Derry building.

He finished with two final thoughts, he said,

"Over the past 50-years, there has been nobody more important to Derry NH than Ed Garone. He's been the most important person in town for the last 50-years." He added, "Of all the people I've met in my life, Ed Garone is the finest man that I have had the privilege of ever knowing."

Hampstead Conservation Commission Discusses Beaver Issues

ALEX MALM
NUTFIELD NEWS

HAMPSTEAD - During the May 18 Hampstead Conservation Commission meeting one of the agenda items was in regards to the beavers in town.

Tim Lovell the Chair of the Conservation Commission said that he didn't think they would have many issues with them this year but as of recently it has become an issue again. He said that he didn't think it would be much of an issue because of the dry season.

"The last two weeks they have come in strong," said Lovell.

Lovell said that it has backed up the water in different spots. He said that his biggest concern is the covered bridge, which said was "really eye opening."

"My concern is always Hampstead and the bridges," said Lovell.

Lovell said that it is a lot of work to repair them.

It was pointed out during the meeting that the beavers are considered a protected species meaning that the beavers can't be hurt.

In other news Lovell said that the Hampstead Civic Club had requested some documents to put in the welcome bags for new Hampstead residents.

Lovell said that Conservation Commission member Jim Wilkinson designed cards for them with information about the Conservation Commission.

Lovell said that they are delivering 300 to the Civic Club that will be passed out to new residents in town. He explained that the packages have information about different organizations in town and not about businesses.

"It's all about Hampstead type things going on," said Lovell.

Lovell said that they had 400 cards made to see how they go and said that the price was about $100.

"It was very reasonable," said Lovell.

Lovell said that he also may drop off some of the cards at the Library for people to take.

Also during the meeting Lovell said that one of the jobs of the Commission is to do inspections of the properties that they manage in town.

"We're responsible for the properties we manage in town," said Lovell.

Lovell said that every year organizations ask that they look at the properties to see if there are any problems that they see. He said that the biggest problem usually is people not knowing the property borders for the different lots.

He said that one home that they put some of the land into conservation during the past winter has appeared to be expanded past what is allowed.

Lovell explained that he gave them permission to use some of the land for gardening.

"I have no problem with agricultural uses," said Lovell.

He explained that they have also built stone walls, brought in topsoil and have a permanent fence. Lovell said that based on the deed the property owners think that they own that part of the property.

Lovell said that they are going to make sure where the correct property lines are by having the original land surveyor James Lavelle come in again. He said that they need to put some steel spikes in there so it is determined where the property lines are.

Lovell said he didn't think that the organization was doing anything malicious.

"Their hearts are in the right place," said Lovell.

Chester Planning Board Debates Old Bonds and Plans

PAUL CONYERS
NUTFIELD NEWS

CHESTER - The Chester Planning Board Committee opened its June 1st meeting with new bond estimates for the Southwood Road project. Town Planner Andrew Hadik announced that the north road of Southwood near the center of Chester was $10,000 lower than initially expected. "The mobilization cost was found to be exceedingly high" according to Hadik, who noted that lower bond estimates extended to related bonds. Specifically, "The original estimate for redoing the wearing course in phase two was $115,000 and is now $90,000." Similar cost reductions are expected for later phases due to overbudgeting.

Asphalt costs were up, although aggregate costs went down, lowering the overall prices estimates despite inflation. Hadik mentioned numerous phone calls over the original estimates and revised numbers have been double-checked by several sources, including local construction partners.

There was some debate on when to complete each phase of road resurfacing. The Board voted to approve the reduced estimated bond amount from the first, second, and four phases of the project.

The Planning Board also went through a checklist for the acceptance on Jenkins Farm Road, Wilcombs Way, and Hemlock Lane. "The subdivision is complete; everything has been built to plan on the approved specifications" according to local engineer Mark Goodrich in a letter of review covering all three projects.

The Board dealt with the three projects individually based on recommendations and after paying all necessary fees to the town of Chester by the end of June.

Jenkins Farm Road could be more difficult over a debate regarding who controls nearby open space. 150-acres in the back of Jenkins Roads opened the possibility of a dispute with the Conservation Committee in the future over the possibility of surveys and monitoring. However, as the project has already been approved, the Planning Board ultimately voted to move forward with a recommendation to the Board of Selectmen after working to remind property owners where conservation land begins.

Work on Wilcombs Way, off Sandown Road, had issues related to erosion control on a homeowner's hillside. As will Jenkins Farm Road, there is an issue between who owns the land and who is responsible for installing and maintaining erosion control. While the dispute remains unresolved, the Board was assured that the problem is solvable, and they voted to recommend Wilcombs Way improvements to the Board of Selectmen.

The final checklist covered the project at Hemlock Lane near Maynard Dog Park. The project has several pending issues, such as a letter from the bank and further engineer approval. Selectmen Liaison Chuck Myette reminded the Board that "if we don't have [the relevant paperwork] we will deny" the project. The Planning Board voted to recommend the Hemlock Land plan only with certain conditions, including further engineer approval, bank approval, and town council approval.

Derry Conservation Commission Hears Update On Mixed Use Development

ALEX MALM
NUTFIELD NEWS

DERRY - After presenting in front of a joint meeting between the Derry Conservation Commission, Zoning Board of Adjustment and Planning Board Tim Peloquin presented to the Conservation Commission during their May 23 meeting.

The plan is in regards to a special exception to allow grading and drainage/storm water management activities associated with a proposed mixed use development to occur within the outermost 75 feet of the Prime Wetlands buffer at 74 Rockingham Rd. Since it is in the West Running Brook district a joint meeting was needed.

Peloquin explained that since the joint meeting between the boards and the commission one of the things that they did was change the type of plantings that are in the buffer zones. He said that it was asked that they use local plantings.

"We have incorporated those into the plan," said

Peloquin.

It was asked by the Commission that when construction begins if they can have a fence for the buffer temporarily. It was asked if anyone has put up a snow fence as the temporary buffer.

Peloquin said that he thought it would be a good idea.

"That is a great note," said Peloquin.

Another question that was asked by the Conservation Commission was about the plantings in the retention ponds.

Peloquin said that he didn't know about that yet.

Conservation Commission Chairman James Degan asked about the plan for snow removal. He said he would like to see the owner haul the snow away.

"I like to see a lot of it hauled away," said Degan.

Another question that was brought up during the meeting was if there would be any disturbance in the buffer zones.

It was pointed out that they should make it clear that there will be no disturbance to the trees in the 75 foot buffer range.

One question that was asked during the joint meetings between the two boards and the Conservation Commission was how many condos were going to be in each of the buildings. There would be about 114 in total plus a community center and commercial.

"Are some of those workforce housing and affordable housing," asked Planning Board member Richard Tripp.

Peloquin said that the plan isn't to have any of the housing be workforce or affordable housing.

Planning Board member Mark Connors during the joint meeting asked if the community center is necessary. He asked if they are adding it into the plan to be more in line with what they are asking for in the West Running Brook district.

"Are we creating impacts that aren't necessary," said Connors.

Peloquin said that it has an impact.

The Commission also asked during the meeting if they would consider solar for the project.

Peloquin said that they would consider it particularly for the roofs.

It was also pointed out by Peloquin that they also had received comments from the Technical Review Committee. He said that they are almost done with most of them.

"We are 90% done addressing the technical review committee comments," said Peloquin.

also include a quote for installation as well. She said that they should all go to the Selectmen's Office first if they are going to do a seal bid process.

Goldman said that since they already got one quote, he thinks it makes sense to get two or three other quotes with the same information they gave the original company. The rest of the Selectmen agreed.

Genuardo also gave the Board of Selectmen an update in regards to the hiring of a laborer.

He said that he spoke with an applicant and had a conversation for about two and half hours and went through what he expects for a laborer.

Genuardo said that he has experience in landscaping and has done other construction related jobs and is familiar with the different equipment.

"He seems like a very decent kid, I felt comfortable with him," said Genuardo. He also added he would be the only hire in at least two months.

"I'm bringing it forward to you to hire him," said Genuardo.

The Board of Selectmen ultimately approved the hiring of Josh Bilodeau who will start off by making $20 for the first 90 days of his employment and will make $21 an hour after that.

Pinkerton Baseball Squad Off to Division Semi-Finals

CHRIS PAUL
NUTFIELD NEWS

The number two-seeded Pinkerton Academy Baseball team made it through the first two rounds of the Division I playoffs last week and will meet the Exeter Blue Hawks in the semifinals on Wednesday.

The Astros managed a 10-run shutout over the Spaulding Red Raiders in the first round of the playoffs and then edged out Winnacunnet with a one-run win in the quarterfinals to move on in the playoffs.

In the overwhelming victory over Spaulding on Thursday, June 2, at home, PA's Tom Rioux pitched a complete game, two-hit shutout to help his team with a 10-0 result.

Lorenzo Corsetto went three-for-three at the plate with two RBIs and two runs. Riley Beaulieu was two for two at the plate with two RBIs and a run, while Rioux helped himself with two hits and a run.

Lorenzo Corsetto went 3-3 against Spaulding.

Conor Stacy was one-for-one with two RBIs also.

The game was scoreless until the bottom of the third when singles by Brendan Horne and Cole Yennaco led to a run brought in by Jacob Albert.

The game sat at 1-0 through five until the Astros bats came alive in the bottom of the sixth for nine runs.

Six singles, five walks and two sac flies finished off the Red Raiders in six innings.

The Pinkerton offense had a total of 11 hits in the game.

Three days later, on Saturday, June 4, at home, Pinkerton needed a run in the final frame to dispatch of the number seven-seeded Winnacunnet Warriors in the quarterfinals.

Senior ace Liam Doyle pitched a complete game, getting 10 strikeouts and allowing one run on seven hits.

The Astros took a one-run lead in the fourth frame after Jackson Marshall led off the inning with a single. Cyle Archer came in as a pinch runner and was driven home on a two-out triple by Rioux.

The Warriors tied the game in the sixth when they led off the inning with two singles and a fielder's choice.

Pinkerton got the walk-off win in the seventh after loading up the bases with a walked batter, a hit batter and a single by Yennaco.

Albert brought in the run needed for the win with a hard-hit ball and an error by the first baseman.

The Pinkerton bats only needed three hits for the victory. They will now play the number six seeded Blue Hawks in the semifinals on Wednesday, June 8, in Nashua at Holman Stadium.

Astros Track Athletes Take Honors at Meet of Champions

CHRIS PAUL
NUTFIELD NEWS

The Pinkerton Academy Girls Track and Field contingent was able to come away with a number of first place finishes while competing against the best athletes in the state.

The Lady Astros sent a number of Track and Field standouts to Sanborn Regional High School on Saturday, June 4, to compete at this year's Meet of Champions.

The meet featured the top athletes from the three state divisions with the hope of competing in the New England Championship in New Britain Connecticut on June 11.

The top six winners of each event at the MOCs would be moving to the New England's.

Junior captain Briana Danis defended her state discus title with a throw of 124'9". The toss was about nine-feet longer than the second-place finisher from Mascoma High School (115'10").

Danis also had a second-place finish in the Shot Put with a throw of 37'7". She was just an inch shy of the first-place throw by Paulina Huckins of Newfound.

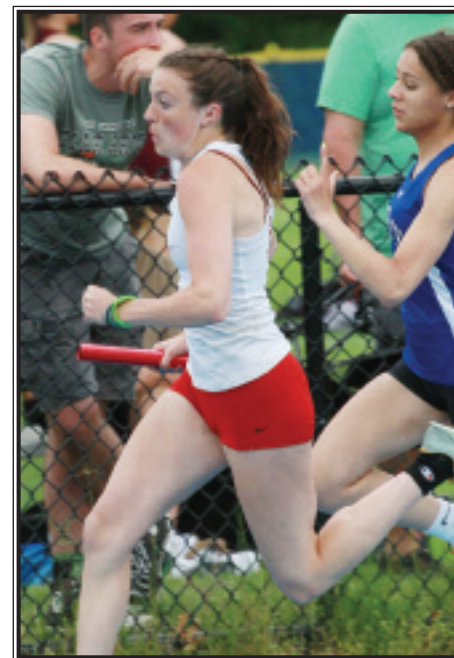

Junior Jordan Wheaton was just 3/10th of a second behind the top finisher in the 100-meter Hurdles with her time of 15.29.

The 4x400-meter Relay team of Eva Roberts, Grace Jellow, Madison Connors, and anchor Hannah Sippel were just 4/10th of a second faster than the Exeter team to take first place in that race.

The 4x100-meter Relay team of Jordan Wheaton, Madison Connors, Hannah Sippel and Eva Roberts finished in second place with a time of 49.72, nearly replicating their school record earlier in the season and about a half second behind the winners.

Madison Connors was part of the first and second place relay teams.

The 4x800-meter squad of Mimi Preble, Makenna Alden, Izzy Groulx, and Tess Silva finished fourth, taking more than three-seconds off their best time of the season.

Jillian Severance finished tied for fourth-place in Pole Vault, tying her personal record of 8'6".

The Pinkerton boys' team didn't have nearly the same success at the MOCs and senior running star Jacob Spezzaferri was unable to compete after an injury suffered at the finish line last Friday.

The team of Nicolas

Harrington, Ethan Charles, Luke Brennan and Alex LeBlanc took sixth in the 4x400 Relay (3:32.15).

Senior Luke Brennan had an eighth place finish in the 1,600-meter (4:25.63).

Senior Alex LeBlanc finished ninth in the 200-meter (23.30).

George Nigro III had an 11th place finish in the Shot Put (42'10.75").

CHRIS PAUL
NUTFIELD NEWS

The Pinkerton Academy Girls Lacrosse squad easily made it by Dover High School in the quarterfinals of the Division I State Championship, but their hope of capturing a division title was upended in the semifinals by the Bedford High Bulldogs.

The win, moved the team onto a semifinal contest against the #2 seeded Bedford squad at the Bill Ball Stadium in Exeter, where the Lady Bulldog where able to dominate the offense and defense, winning 12-3.

The Lady Astros were able to keep the game relatively close through the first half, trailing 3-0 by the end of the first half.

The Pinkerton offense was able to get within one goal, early in the second half, but Bedford won just about every face off down the stretch, and overwhelmed the Astros, outscoring them 9-3 to move on to the finals with Bishop Guertin.

Schinder was the first Pinkerton scorer, at 23:06 in the second half to get within two.

Lisauskas quickly scored after that to bring the team to with one, at 3-2 at 21:33.

Bedford scored two more times before Lamphere got her first goal to make the game 5-3 at 15:05 left in the game.

From there, Bedford turned up the offense and went on a seven goal streak to end the PA season.

Lady Astros Softball Headed to Semis to Face Exeter

CHRIS PAUL
NUTFIELD NEWS

The Pinkerton Academy Varsity Softball team battled through two games against tough opponents to make it to the semifinals of the Division I State Championships.

The Lady Astros entered the state tourney as the #5 seed and played host to Merrimack (#12) in the first round where they were able to move on after a close 10-9 late-inning comeback.

After starting the game with what seemed to be a rather comfortable 5-0 lead in the second inning, the Lady Tomahawks stormed back with five runs of their own in the fourth inning, three in the fifth and another in the sixth to take a 9-6 into the final frame.

In the bottom of the seventh, PA was able to score four, and claim the walk-off victory.

In that inning, Lily Mason led off with a single and was doubled in by Kennedy Michaud on a line drive to left.

Maddie Schoenberger followed with a triple to centerfield to bring the game to within one.

After a walk and a steal by Stella Kozak with one out, Madi Gibeault finished things with a sacrifice to right, bringing home the two PA runners.

The PA girls had 10 hits in the game with L. Mason going 4-4 at the plate with three RBIs and a triple. Schoenberger was 4-4 with an RBI and a run scored.

Paige Murray was the starting pitcher, throwing five innings and giving up 10 hits and eight earned runs.

Asheigh Lemay was the winning pitcher, coming in to pitch the final two innings and allowing one run on three hits.

With that win, the Asrtos moved onto the quarterfinals, where they took on the number 13 seeded Bedford Bulldogs at home on Saturday.

Pinkerton was able to come away with a 5-3 victory behind Murray and Lemay combining efforts in the circle. Murray once again pitched five and Lemay finished with two. They gave up just five hits in the game, with five strikeouts and three walks.

The teams were knotted at three each headed into the bottom of the fifth, when PA scored two and secured the win to move on.

A single by Lemay drove in the two base runners for the exciting victory.

The Lady Astros will now take on the #1 seed of the tournament at Plymouth State on Wednesday, June 8 for a chance to play for the championship.
